

M'MULLEN AND HOWELL PLAY ON ALL-EAST TEAM

Two Cornhusker Stars Will See Action in Clash at San Francisco

WEST HOLDS LAURELS
Presnell and Randels Were Nebraska's Contribution To 1927 Squad

(By Jack Elliott)
Two Cornhusker football warriors will be playing with the team that represents the East this year in the annual East-West game to be played December 29 at San Francisco. They are Edward "Blue" Howell, co-captain and full-back of the 1928 Cornhuskers, and Dan McMullen, stellar guard in the Husker line. Both men have received invitations to participate in this annual battle.

Last year, at San Francisco, the easterners took the short end of the count from the western all-star eleven. Two Cornhusker stars were playing in the eastern lineup that took the 16 to 6 beating from the westerners. They were Glen Presnell, Husker halfback, and Ray Randels, tackle. Randels played the entire game but Presnell was only in for a short time when an injury forced him out.

Andy Kerr Makes Selection.
Coach Andy Kerr of Washington and Jefferson, approached Howell and McMullen when they were in New York after the Army game and both Huskers have accepted the eastern coach's invitation to play with the all-stars.

Andy Kerr of Washington and Jefferson and Dick Hanley of Northwestern will again coach the eastern stars for the game in California.

The two eleven which meet at San Francisco will be made up of players who have completed their collegiate gridiron careers. Their expenses are paid to and from San Francisco and all proceeds of the game are placed in the fund which maintains a charity Shrine hospital near San Francisco.

Howell and McMullen will leave Lincoln December 15 and meet the rest of the squad in the West. Training will start immediately for the big game.

West Coast Gets Laurels.

This season in collegiate football circles finds the western coast with all the laurels. Thanksgiving day and the Saturday following were two big days for the western gridiron eleven. South California and Stanford showed their prowess to

STUDENTS MAY ENTER LOCAL SONG CONTEST

Junior Chamber Commerce Gives Prizes for Tunes And Lyrics

Students in the University of Nebraska have an opportunity to take part in the Junior Chamber of Commerce official Lincoln song contest which is going on at the present time. Two hundred and fifty dollars in prizes will be distributed to the winners.

The contest is divided into two sections. The first section, which will close January 1, is for short lyrics of eight or ten lines. Three lyrics will be chosen and the persons submitting them will receive prizes of twenty-five dollars each. Judges will be selected after January 1 to decide upon the winners.

Songs that are short, clever, easy to learn, easy to sing, and with a rhythm and swing that will arouse instant attention and enthusiasm, are needed, according to the committee. Because Lincoln needs an official song and because of the advertising value of it, importance is being given to the contest.

Will Publish Lyrics.
After the three lyrics have been chosen, they will be published and spread by means of the radio. Then the second section of the contest will be in order.

The second section will last until April 1, when the judges will decide upon the winners. In this section the committee wants tunes for the lyrics which will have been made public. These tunes should

Psychologists Turn Sleuth and Find Hidden Objects by Holding Hands

Lip reading has been recently added as a course in the extension department of the University. The psychology department, however, is delving into what would seem to be a deeper science, that of mind reading.

Mind reading is simply the application of psychological principles, according to Prof. W. E. Walton, of the psychology department. To prove this he conducted an interesting experiment with a student in the psychology laboratory.

A class member was asked to hide an object somewhere in the laboratory while the instructor stepped out. Upon his return the professor declared that he could

CO-EDS HAVE CHANCE AT SUMMER CAMPS

University Women Wishing Employment Are Urged To Apply Soon

Summer camp positions for women are being opened to all co-eds on the university campus, if application for specific positions is made immediately at the university Y. W. C. A. office in Ellen Smith hall.

The two camps where these positions are available are sponsored by the national organization of the Y. W. C. A. and are located at Poland, Maine, and at Okoboji, Iowa. Camp Okoboji, at Milford, Ia., on West Lake Okoboji, is used entirely by conference groups. At present there is no period for vacation groups, and therefore there is no need for any counselors other than swimming counselors. Only those are accepted who can stay for the entire season opening about July 18, and closing the middle of August.

Must Stay Entire Season.
Camp Maqua, at Poland, Maine, on Thompson Lake, forty miles from Portland, is used by conferences and as a vacation camp for young women. Opportunities for counselors are limited and available only to graduate students who have had such preparation in a special field as will qualify them to be resourceful in leading groups. Those are accepted for positions who can stay the entire season, opening July 1 and closing September 1.

At both camps, however, in addition to the limited counselorships, there are general positions open on the regular camp staff, including waitresses, office manager, stenographers, housekeepers, dietitians, store manager and assistant, book store manager, and assistant dietitian and receiving clerk.

Details about the work which these positions involve, including

RIFLE PRACTICE IS IN FULL SWING

Practice at the new rifle range in Andrews hall is now in full swing under the direction of Sergeant C. F. McKinsey. Practice is held only in the afternoons. Varsity team members and those trying out shoot between 1 and 3 o'clock, and girls from 3 to 4:30 o'clock.

With the improved facilities offered by the new range, interest in shooting has increased considerably. Preliminary work, which was given before the opening of the range last Monday, was attended by over fifty girls.

R. O. T. C. officers seem quite willing to offer their services in coaching prospective members of the girls' teams, and threaten to become more numerous than the co-eds themselves. In spite of the instruction, some good scores have been turned in.

'THE OUTSIDER' WILL PLAY ALL NEXT WEEK

University Players' Latest Production Appeals to College Students

FULL HOUSE IS ASSURED

Ticket sales for "The Outsider" are progressing and point to good houses for the entire run of the show, according to Ray Ramsay, business manager of the University Players. "The Outsider" which shows at the Temple theater every evening next week, with a Saturday matinee has proved to be a drawing card by the number of tickets sold, according to Ramsay.

Although there are still plenty of good seats, fraternities and sororities are urged to make their reservations early due to the fact that the city sales have been progressing to such an extent. "The Outsider" was given Wednesday night at the state reformatory and was received well. Ramsay states that he believes that this production will especially appeal to the university student because of the plot.

is English Play
"The Outsider" is an English play, with an English setting, concerning the lives of two persons in particular. Ragatz, played by Zolney Lerner, is a practicing physician without degree who attempts to cure Lalage, played by Cornelia Ayres, who, according to the story has been crippled from birth.

The story of the play pertains, in some degree, to university students, in that it emphasizes the value of a college degree and whether one was needed in this particular case.

The play was written by Dorothy Brandon, who has been crippled since girlhood. With the New York cast, this play ran for a solid year on Broadway. It is brought to Lincoln for a week's run by University Players. Tickets are being reserved at Ross P. Curtice Music company for seventy-five cents for the evening performances. Tickets for the Saturday matinee are fifty cents.

Burnett Tells Woman's Club of School Needs

That adequate financial support is necessary to the welfare of the University if it is to have a competent teaching staff and proper equipment was stressed by Chancellor E. A. Burnett before a meeting of the Woman's club circle Thursday morning.

The University is judged by the quality and teaching power of the faculty, inspirations to the students, leadership of the alumni, and the confidence of the public in the institution, a co-ordinator to Chancellor Burnett, outstanding educators and an adequate physical plant requires an adequate money supply.

In an effort to cope with the delinquency problem of the new student, a tutorial system is to be employed in the near future. This factor will probably give them a better basis on which to continue their studies, Chancellor Burnett believes.

University Dramatic Club Announces Forty Pledges

Forty people were formally pledged to the University Dramatic club last night at a meeting held in the club rooms in the Temple.

Each pledge recited some form of informal skit in order to display his talent. An informal "big feed" was served as a part of the evening's entertainment. Initiation will probably be some time in April.

Plans were made at the meeting for the first play to be given by the organization.

Decrease in Gate Receipts Is Given as Reason for Proposed Ruling

When the athletic directors of the Big Six conference meet in Kansas City this week end several questions concerning football will be discussed. Broadcasting of football games in the future and freshman football competition will form the backbone of the arguments by the physical directors.

Decrease in the amount of gate receipts is the reason for the idea of discontinuing the broadcasting of games. Some of the directors believe that broadcasting the games cuts down materially on attendance. Others think that attendance is aided, since it increases interest in the sport.

Gish Remains Silent.
Director of athletics Herbert Gish has not announced his views on these subjects, although he will take part in the discussions to be held in Kansas City. It is a question whether Nebraska gate receipts are affected in any great extent due to radio broadcasting of the plays.

Other things to be discussed at the meeting are football, baseball, and track schedules for 1929 and any changes in the schedules. Some of the new basketball rules will also be interpreted.

Sixty Freshmen Are Out For Basketball at K. U.

Sixty freshmen at the University of Kansas appeared for the first basketball practice, and 120 are expected soon by Coach John Bunn. After all candidates have been given a try-out, the squad will be cut to about forty.

This squad will be divided into five teams, and a freshman tournament will be played.

Plans are being made also to give prizes for the three best in a free throwing contest, for 1000 baskets.

Volcano Destruction in Sicily Is Old Occurrence, Says Collins Over Radio

"The recent overwhelming of cities in the island of Sicily by molten rock from the volcano Etna, is no new thing," declared Mr. F. G. Collins, assistant curator of the museum, in his radio talk from the university studio, Thursday morning.

Lava Seen in America
"We read first," he asserted, "of such occurrences about three or four hundred years before Christ. We have historical records of between eighty and ninety outbreaks, of which nineteen happened during the nineteenth century.

SPORTS WRITERS TRY TO PICK GRID MENTOR

Coaches From Everywhere Are Suggested to Fill Husker Vacancy

BEARG REFUSES TO TALK

Following the resignation of Earnest E. Bearg as Nebraska football mentor, sports writers of the various papers in the state have taken it upon their shoulders to prognosticate the appointment of Nebraska's next football coach. Great and near-great football coaches from all over the United States have been mentioned as possible head pigskin tutors.

The Omaha World Herald has as its possible candidates W. Harold Brown, coach of the Lincoln High aggregation, Paul Schissler of the Oregon Aggie, Harry Stuhldreher, formerly one of Notre Dame's famous Four Horsemen, Charley Bachman of Florida, Chick Meehan, New York university; Harry Bowser, assistant to Jock Sutherland, and Dick Hanely of North western.

Schissler Gets Spotlight
According to an Associated Press dispatch Paul Schissler has been nominated to fill the vacancy by Chicago alumni. Schissler appeared in the spotlight due to Oregon Aggie's crushing defeat of New York university.

Even Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's versatile coach, has been said to be under consideration for the position of head mentor at Nebraska.

The Omaha Bee-News announced in its Thursday morning issue that the report that Dr. John Wilcox, Ohio, State, was in Lincoln Thanksgiving day was vigorously denied by Dean T. J. Thompson. Wilcox is not being considered primarily for the coaching job but to be curator
