

BIG SIX STARS WILL MEET SOUTHERNERS

Bearg Announces Lineup of Team That Will Play in New Year's Clash

Lineup for the Big Six team was announced Friday by Coach Ernest E. Bearg. This group of stars selected from schools in the Big Six conference will meet an all-star Southwestern conference team in Dallas, Tex., on New Year's day.

According to Bearg, some of the players whom he selected to play on the Big Six were unable to do so. Among these, Berry of Oklahoma was forced to decline the position offered him on this squad because of injuries. Hauser of Kansas and Drake of Oklahoma could not play with the Big Six because the date conflicted with basketball season at the two schools. Barr of Kansas Aggies turned down the bid because a conference ruling has made him eligible for another year of varsity competition.

Practice in Dallas

The first practice of the all-star midwestern team will be down in Dallas on December 26. Those who will play on the Big Six are:

Ends—Ashburn, Nebraska; Brown, Missouri; Rudi and Krewer, Iowa State.

Tackles—Lyon, Kansas Aggies; Hamilton, Oklahoma; Smith, Missouri; Owen, Kansas.

Guards—Holm, McMullen and Zuber, Nebraska; Shannon, Kansas.

Center—James, Nebraska; Pearson, Kansas Aggies.

Quarterbacks—Cooper, Kansas; Diebold, Missouri; Anderson, Kansas Aggies.

Halfbacks—Mehrie, Byars and Rosenheim, Missouri; Haskins, Oklahoma.

Fullbacks—Howell, Nebraska; Lindblom, Iowa State.

cheer about it like we can in football."

Dr. George Condra, beloved to Nebraska students, praised Mr. Bearg and the clean sportsmanship for which he stands. He lauded Coach Bearg and his work at Nebraska during the past four years. He urged every more cooperation and support for the team and coaches.

Then Toastmaster Joyce introduced Coach Bearg, but he could not finish his introduction. Led by "Chick" Dox the banqueting men gave Bearg the yell, "He's a man" for the last time at Nebraska.

Coach Bearg thanked the students for the support they had given him and his teams during his four years at Nebraska. He said there seemed to be a "marvelous spirit" at Nebraska and he would never forget the rallies that were held before the big games.

Bearg Says Satisfied.

"I have had four profitable, pleasurable years here and under no consideration would I take anything for them," he stated. He then introduced the members of the athletic board, the coaching staff and the team. He read a telegram from Captain "Blue" Howell and Dan McMullen who expressed their regret at not being able to be present at the banquet. They are on their way to the Pacific coast to play on the East team at the annual East-West game.

It fell to the lot of Captain Elmer Holm to announce the captain for 1929. The ballot was kept secret even to the football team. Holm tore open the envelope and walked over to hand the football to the new captain, George Farley. Captain Farley expressed his gratitude for the honor bestowed upon him and promised to work for the success of next year's team.

Vandeville acts, the R. O. T. C. band and Beck's orchestra furnished entertainment for the affair.

Junior-Senior Prom Applications Are Due

Applications for membership on the Junior-Senior Prom committee must be submitted at the Student Activities office before 5 o'clock, on Tuesday, December 18, according to Eldred Larson, president of the student council.

Twelve juniors, six boys and six girls, will carry on the committee work as formulated by the Student Council at a recent meeting.

UNIVERSITY BOXERS WIN THREE CLASSES

Ostran, Dingman, and Poet Take Firsts in Meet At Omaha

University of Nebraska boxers took three class titles in the state amateur championship meet of the Midwestern A. A. U. held in Omaha Friday.

Harold Ostran, in the 126 pound class, won a close decision over Earl Paul of the Omaha Elks club, then won on a foul in the first round, then outpointed Gerald Cherry of Wayne State Normal for the title.

Poet Takes Match

Prospective welterweight contestants relinquished their chances for the title when Curtis Poet, Nebraska entrant in the 147 pound class, entered the meet. In a bout with Frank McClelland, Omaha middleweight, Poet knocked out his opponent in the first round.

Those who made the trip to Omaha as members of Rudolf Vogler's team were: Robert Kinoshita, Merrill Smith, Harold Ostran, Harry Dingman, Curtis Poet, and Norris Miller.

The Junior A. A. U. meet will be held in Omaha in January, preliminary to the senior meet to be held in April.

ture of choral study in schools and the "Soldiers' Chorus" brings with it a thrill that few other opera numbers bring.

Scarcely second in long standing popularity, are the Jewel and flower songs from the scene in Marguerite's garden where the innocent page Siebel and the aged Faust, transformed into a young cavalier, vie for the love of the beautiful girl. These numbers, so rich in melody, however, do not overshadow the remainder of the score, which, because of the widely diversified training of the composed Gounod, runs the entire gamut of emotional expressions, the joyous, the triumphant, the passionate, the despairing.

Improve Seating Arrangement

Acoustic properties of the coliseum being pronounced excellent by the large throng that heard the 1928 opera, university authorities are now turning their attention to improving the seating arrangements.

Main floor elevations will be increased to afford each patron a good view of the stage. The plan is to retain the same number of main floor chairs, but improve the vision from the seats toward the rear of the auditorium. This will be accomplished by elevating the rear chairs substantially above the floor level of the arrangement last spring.

No announcement has been made as to the cast of artists that will appear in Lincoln, it being presumed that the roster of principals will be forwarded within the next week.

cast as an interference runner, and a defensive fullback. In the latter position he excelled. Grid fans have been enthusiastic in their praise of Farley's work during the season, as a defensive player. One of his specialties was smearing passes for the opponents.

In the Army game, Farley gave commendable exhibition of football knowledge and experience, breaking up several of Cagle's passes.

Follows Co-Captain Seaman

The election of Farley as sole captain for the next year's Cornhusker team follows a gridiron season played under the dual direction of co-captains Howell and Holm. Co-captain Holm announced the election of Farley at the banquet Friday by placing the pigskin on the banquet table before the former Sioux City athlete.

Farley was the choice of twenty-nine lettermen. Dan McMullen and Blue Howell, en route to San Francisco where they will play with the East team in the East-West grid game, telegraphed their ballots to Lincoln.

MORRILL TELLS OF INTEREST IN FOSSILS

was no money to spare for fossil-hunting trips.

However, he secured the enthusiastic co-operation of a young member of the faculty, Dr. E. H. Barbour, who had but recently come to Lincoln and was struggling to es-establish a natural history museum. One day Mr. Morrill asked the young doctor if he could do anything toward getting fossils for the museum with five hundred dollars. Dr. Barbour replied that much could be done with such a sum.

Mr. Morrill was then, as always, a shrewd business man and did not hand over the five hundred dollars until he had extracted a promise, readily enough given, from the Burlington railway, to provide free transportation for the university party and its fossils. This he did, knowing that then every penny of the money would be spent in collecting the fossils of Nebraska and would not be consumed in expenses along the way.

Excursions Sponsored.

That first excursion was followed by many others, and the five hundred dollars was but the beginning of many thousands of others given just as it was. Meanwhile, the museum and its interests became the main concern of Dr. Barbour's life.

After several seasons of collecting, the accumulation of material outweighed the accommodation of the University was able to provide. The old museum on Twelfth street became so crowded that further collections seemed undesirable and the expeditions, lapsed for a time. Then came the building of Morrill hall, mainly as a museum, and during the season just past fossil-hunting expeditions were once more sent out under the old association of Dr. E. H. Barbour and Charles H. Morrill.

leaves from the north. His second assignment during the war was on the general staff of the eighth division on the Pacific.

Lieut. Col. Jewett's next service was on staff of officers in charge of embarking duty at Brest, France. He was in charge of embarkation of one million troops. After the armistice he supervised the loading of 500 vessels of homeward bound troops in the period of thirteen months.
