

LEWIS DRAFTS PLANS FOR R.O.T.C. COMPET

Military Track Meet Will Get Under Way Following Holiday Recess

PRESENT RECORDS GOOD

Plans are virtually completed for the military track meet to be held immediately after Christmas. Jimmy Lewis, assistant director of the intramural athletic department...

The meet starting Monday, January 7, will be run according to the following schedule during the first week:

- Monday—Company A and Headquarters company, 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock. Tuesday—Company B 9-12 o'clock Company C, 2-5 o'clock. Wednesday—Company D, 9-12 o'clock; Company E, 2-5 o'clock; Company F, 3-8 o'clock.

The events included in the program for this meet are 50 yard dash, 50 yard low hurdles, 35 yard high hurdles, shot put, 35 pound weight throw, pole vault, 256 yard run, broad jump, high jump, and a relay race.

The soldiers will have some good records to aim at. The best time recorded for the 50 yard dash is 6.2. Eight men are joint holders of this mark.

Ragains and Pierson are co-holders of the 35 yard high hurdle record, their time being 4.7. Ragains is sole holder of the 50 yard low hurdle record, having run the sticks in 6.8.

Four men have cleared the bar at five feet, three inches in the high jump. Tomson's jump of 19 feet is supreme in the broad jump.

Ostian holds the pole vault mark of ten feet, three inches. Hurt has made the best marks with both the 35 pound weight and the 15 pound shot, tossing them 37 feet 4 inches, and 35 feet, 3 inches, respectively.

E. Wyatt has the best time for one lap on the indoor track, having negotiated the distance in 31.9.

Home Economics Professor Writes

Story, 'Christmas in Florence, Italy'

Continued From Page 1. Gilbert's wonderful bronze doors to the octagonal baptistry, about which Michael Angelo said 'they are fit for the gates of paradise.' 'We look out to see what mornings in Florence are like. Near is the huge medieval tower of Palazzo Vecchia, where Saonarola was imprisoned; between, are rippling pink roofs on top of each other, and high up little gardens, and areas where clothes are drying among the chimney pots; the blue sky above; the giddy rushing Arno below.

The first madonna, painted by Cimabue is here, stiff rigid, blackened by age, but with the dawn of sympathy and feeling in her restrained beauty. The most wonderful examples of art of Lucia Della Robbia and Donatello are here, and the loveliest of Fran Angelico's angels. A nation might well be proud to boast as many illustrious names in literature and art as this one small city.

METHODISTS GATHER FOR LUNCHEON MEET

Dr. Hinson Speaks Before Students and Faculty at Holiday Affair

About one hundred Methodist students, pastors, and faculty members attended the all-Methodist Christmas luncheon held at the Grand Hotel, Thursday noon. Dr. Charles Fordyce, chairman of the department of educational psychology, presided at the meeting.

Dr. A. O. Hinson, district superintendent of the Beatrice area, gave the principal speech. His message was a brief Christmas message, and he devoted his remarks largely to an appeal for peace.

Refers to Out State Students. Dr. Hinson also referred to the coming of students from all over the state to the University, and declared that he hoped all these young people might go back to their home towns for the holidays with a real spirit of love and service.

Christmas music was played by the Wesley Foundation orchestra, before and after the address. Three-minute talks were given by representatives of the Foundation groups. Dorothy Norris spoke for Methodist student council; Dorothy Van Denbark for Kappa Phi, Harold Woods for Wesley Players, and Professor Quick for the orchestra.

A vote of thanks was given by the group to Mrs. Rokej, manager of the Grand Hotel, for the palatable meal which she had prepared for the occasion.

Ben Franklin's Paper Is Two Centuries Old

Two hundred years ago this week, young Benjamin Franklin, a printer in Bradford's office in Philadelphia, had a great idea. He was going to start a real newspaper. Bradford's Mercury was a poor excuse, easily to be improved on.

So sure was Franklin of his plan that he began arranging for a printer to assist him. Word got to Sam Keimer, another job printer in Philadelphia, and he, on December 25, 1728, issued the first number of the Universal Instructor in All Arts and Sciences and the Pennsylvania Gazette.

Franklin then wrote articles for

FARM ORGANIZATIONS CONVENE IN JANUARY

Nebraska Agriculturists Plan Four Day Program Of Speeches

AG STUDENTS ARE HOSTS

Ag students will return from the Christmas vacation to find the Agricultural College Campus in possession of the more progressive farming people of the state. The tentative program of Nebraska Organized Agriculture, scheduled for January 7, 8, 9 and 10, has just been made public.

The meeting of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation will take place Monday and Tuesday, January 7 and 8. Matters ranging from a permanent program for the organization to the question of reforming the state system will be discussed in the nine addresses listed.

Will Hold Joint Meeting. The Nebraska Crop Growers association will meet Tuesday and will continue Wednesday. Wednesday afternoon a joint meeting will be held with the livestock men.

Nebraska improved Livestock Breeders association will begin its program with a sheep program Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday will be occupied with a horse program in the forenoon and the joint cattle-pasture program in the afternoon. Thursday morning will be taken over by the hog program.

The Nebraska State Dairyman's association and the Nebraska Dairy Development society will have a combined program, meeting Wednesday and also Thursday forenoon. The Poultry Improvement program will be in progress at the same time.

Other Organizations on Schedule. The State Horticultural society, the Milk Goat Breeder's association, the Honey Producer's association, and the Farm Equipment association complete the roll of organizations having programs during the week.

The three day Home Economics program promises to be of interest to all women who attend Organized Agriculture, with round table discussions, singing and addresses.

The third annual Master Farmer presentation dinner to be held Tuesday evening will be a feature of the week. Governor Weaver will present the medals.

A Farmers' Family Fun Feed, the sixth one held in connection with Organized Agriculture, will be the one single event of universal interest to all who attend the meetings. This will be served by agricultural and home economics students under the direction of the Home Economics Department.

The week's meetings will be brought to a close with a general meeting in Student Activities building at 2:00 p. m. Thursday. Medals will be presented to the champion meat judging team by R. C. Pollock of Chicago. Chancellor E. A. Burnett will speak on "The University Program." Dean H. L. Russell, head of the Wisconsin the Mercury, ridiculing the new publication, and as a result was able, in forty weeks, to buy the enterprise at a low price. For more than forty years Franklin was owner of the paper, title of which was shortened to Pennsylvania Gazette. Most of that time he was its active editor. The Gazette suffered the privations of other papers during the Revolutionary period, suspending for short periods. In 1821 it was bought by three printers, given a new type dress, a new subscription price, and the name changed to Saturday Evening Post, and struggled along until bought by C. H. K. Curtis and built into the magazine with the largest circulation in America.

PROFESSORS MEET AND NAME OFFICERS

The Nebraska Branch of the American Association of University Professors met for dinner at the University Club last evening for election of officers and election of the delegate to the national convention.

Chancellor Burnett discussed faculty relations within the University and took up interesting developments not formerly discussed publicly. New faculty members were invited to join the association.

You can be a Key Man later, too. The world confers its key positions on many men. It must. There is more than enough important work to be done. Here is the man with the bent for machinery; he is building a career for himself as a designer of ingenious almost-human automatic machinery for making the nation's telephones. Here is the analytical man with the mind for figures; he is dis-
