SUPERIOR CHEMISTS ARE FOUND BY TESTS

Nebraska Professors Find Method of Locating Special Talent

An article of special interest to teachers and of special importance to students of chemistry is published in the January issue of the Journal of Chemical Education.

The article deals with the determination of special aptitude for chemistry in students beginning the study. It was written by B. Clifford Hendricks, associate professor of chemistry at the University of Nebraska and P. G. Johnson, supervisor of teachers' science.

Data was gathered from many sources, including tests given to freshmen registering for chemistry at the University of Nebraska, which seemed to indicate that particular aptitude for chemistry is shown by the tests although ordinary ability is not indicated.

LOYALTY IS KEYNOTE OF LUNCHEON SPEECH

Alumni Secretary Talks to World Forum on Debt To University

ROUND-UP IS EXPLAINED

Loyalty is the quality which prompts one to be true to the things he understands.

This axiom was given by Harold F. Holtz, Alumni secretary as the theme of a talk on the subject "What You Can Do for Your University," at the regular World Forum luncheon, Wednesday noon, January 23, at the Nebraska hotel.

"Loyalty," said Mr. Holtz, "is a fundamental thing in life. As a student, you should be loyal to your University. Merely attending football games and rallies hardly touches on the real meaning of loyalty to your University."

Such loyalty as is expected and served by your institution includes a willingness to think seriously of university problems, and to do all possible to aid in solving them.

INCREASE MAINTENANCE

Additional Operating Funds Meets With Approval of University Head

Chancellor E. A. Burnett, in commenting upon the recommendations of Governor Weaver to the joint session of the legislature, Tuesday, said that he is disappointed that the Governor reduced the Regents' recommendations for capital improvements but is well pleased with the ten percent increase allowed for university maintenance.

The increase of ten percent for maintenance purposes, as recommended by Governor Weaver, will materially increase the efficiency of the University, Chancellor Burnett stated. The amount appropriated for the last biennium was $4,148,230 as compared with the governor's recommendation for the coming two years.

In commenting upon Governor Weaver's slash in the appropriation for capital improvements the chancellor stated that he is disappointed that only $180,000 was allocated.

BOSCHULT SUGGESTS NEW COUNCIL PLAN

Would Organize Inter-Greek Group Similar to the Business Clubs

In a letter to the editor of The Daily Nebraskan, Edgar J. Boschult suggests that a new plan be adopted by the Interfraternity council in regard to its present ineffectiveness and organization.

Boschult briefly outlined the plan that he has in mind. It would make the council akin to the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and other clubs and with the same relationship to the fraternities that these organizations have to the business firms represented in their membership.

An entirely new feature would be the weekly non-day luncheon, which each fraternity's representative would attend. Mr. Boschult points out that if this were held on Monday noons, the problems discussed could be taken up in the evening Interfraternity meeting. His letter follows:

"The present discussion in the columns of The Daily Nebraskan on the ineffectiveness of the organization of the Interfraternity council has brought forth a question and problem not at all new in the minds of many fraternity men. During my six years connection as a representative either active or alumni the lethargy and inaction of the Interfraternity council has always been a glaring defect. Numerous proposals for improvement have been made from time to time, but they have never had hardy remedied conditions."

"I believe with many others that our Interfraternity council has a real function to perform which it alone can do. Fraternities have problems and responsibilities that cannot be handled except by their united action through some sort of an organization like the Interfraternity council. We have responsibilities to each other that are very vital to each of us. An argument for the necessity of an Interfraternity council is however not what is needed, but rather an effective plan of organization under which these things may be accomplished."

Should Be Like Rotary Club "From my little experience, I feel that the Interfraternity council should be like the Rotary Club."

Ahletic Department Polo Team Drills In Secret For Big Clash

Members of the department of athletics polo squad went into a huddle behind closed gates Wednesday afternoon in secret drill for the Friday evening polo classic against the department of military science, one of the feature events of the Cornhusker Carnival, to be held at the University Coliseum.

In closing the gate to all spectators, Coach John E. Selleck stated that hereafter the A. D. squad would do its practicing on the quiet, both to prevent spies from the rival camp, and newspapermen from entering their practice place. Coach Selleck was much perturbed over a Tuesday story in The Daily Nebraskan which told of the trouble in finding a horse suitable for Henry F. Schulte, veteran goal keeper on the athletic team.

"News leaks of this sort must stop," said Coach Selleck tearing his hair. Action of the sport scriber in tipping off the military department to Mr. Schulte's weakness, will cripple our squad for the Friday game," added Mr. Selleck.

While inquiring about the welfare of his squad, Coach Selleck found time to ask about the probable game receipts.
