MANY WORK OUT ON COLISEUM DIAMOND

Between Sixty and Seventy Try for Position on Baseball Team

Baseball practice is in full swing at the Coliseum every afternoon with some sixty or seventy men working out daily. Sloan, Armitzen and Pickett are the most promising pitching candidates while Halbiensen, Williams Snugg and Gaston have been showing up well on the receiving end. Sloan has shown up a little better than the other two candidates in side and has quite an amateur record to back him up. However, no idea can be obtained of the candidates until they are placed in a same out-of-doors and Coach Rhodes is making no choice until he has seen his men in action.

Davey Coming Out
Davey, one of Coach Black's baseball men, reported for practice yesterday for the first time. Stone, a wrestler, will report later and be a candidate for catcher.

The men were getting some regular work at hunting practice Tuesday afternoon. Sloan, Armitzen and Pickett were throwing them while Snugg, Williams and Gaston were giving time on the receiving.

Dickers for Games
An attempt is being made to schedule two games with non-conference foes on the spring training trip. Coach Rhodes wishes to see his team in action and give them a taste of competition before they meet Oklahoma. It will enable him to get an idea of where to place his men and will also give the men the added confidence of having played together before they engage a conference foe.

Nearly every candidate for pitcher this year is able to play some other position on the team. This will simplify matters for Coach Rhodes quite a bit as he will not be forced to carry such a large number of utility men on the trips, using pitchers instead.

Pet Porcupine Has No Use for Mere Students

Vermilion, S. D., March 5.—Whipping his spiky tail in pent-up anger at college students, museum curators and man in general, "Porky," the latest addition of animal life to the University of South Dakota museum, gnaws away fiercely at bark and cabbage beside him in his wire cage.

"Porky" is a large North American porcupine which was recently presented to the university museum. The bristly animal is now on exhibition in the museum and attracts considerable attention by his ready show of ferocity. The museum curator explains that "Porky" didn't want to come to college. "Porky" doesn't get the idea of all this business of books and higher education. The ferocious little "pin cushion" does not believe in the popular talk about him. The popular idea that porcupines can discharge their quills at intruders is all bosh, according to "Porky." Porcupines must actually strike with their tails or bodies in order to penetrate their needle pointed weapons into the hide of an enemy.

In the early days of pioneer life the porcupine was the one animal which the people did not hunt for game. It was a common understanding that the bristling little animals should be protected because they were the only creature which could be readily killed with a club by a person lost, starving and without weapons.

TRACK MEN DRILL FOR ANNUAL ILLINI RELAYS

Husker Cinder Artists Have Long Program of Indoor Meets on Deck

Back from the annual Big Six indoor track championships, in which Nebraska representatives placed fourth, preparation for the opening of the 1929 relay season was the order of the day, Monday, when Coach Henry F. Schulte's trainees got into their track boots on familiar territory once again. Although the wearers of the Scarlet and Cream were forced to be satisfied with a fourth place, Cornhusker track aspirants were not at all disheartened and resumed training with vigor.

Hard luck strode in the wake of the Nebraska athletes at Kansas City. The smallness of the track and the unfamiliar boards, or which they had to run, kept them from record performances. "Bill" Fleming, after leading the field in the semifinals heat of the high hurdles, was disqualified, which kept the Nebraska total down.

The annual Illinois relays is the next scheduled event on the Husker roster, Coach Schulte being determined as to whether he will take a team to the eastern meet or not. The Illinois affair is one of the highlights of the Big Ten indoor season and draws the leading performers of the country, included among the events is the all-around, which is made up of seven events, the 75 yard dash, 75 yard high hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put and the 880 yard run. "Choppy" Rhodes was the winner in 1928. Cook, Bevard, Lamson, Jackson, D. Kranse, Rhea, Frahm, Lambert, Rowley, Eisenhart, Peiz, Smutney, Hokuf, Dear and Kreisinger will compete Wednesday, March 6, in the all-around events in an effort to make a selection for the trip.

Following the Illinois indoor carnival, which is scheduled for March 16, the relay schedule is as follows:

Texas Relays, March 29, S. M. U. Relays, March 30, Kansas Relays April 20, and the Drake Relays April 26-29.

Who are planning to enter the Business World

What Other College Men Have Done With Kresge

"Graduating from Western Reserve University in 1921, I began business life with an idea that I was fitted for menial work. I left my comfortable desk work and started in the stockroom. Then I worked successively as floor manager, assistant manager, and manager. I then received my biggest promotion, and today I am happily located in an executive position, with increased responsibilities. The financial return that has come to me exceeds all that I had expected."

Colby B. S. '15—Wesleyan M. S. 1917
—A Phi Beta Kappa man became an instructor until 1920, then assistant head chemist for an Eastern manufacturer until 1922 when he entered the Kresge organization to take the training course, and claims: "Today I find myself receiving a greater income than the teachers and industrial acquaintances who sought to discourage me for making such a radical change of occupation."

A Missouri University graduate enthusiastically relates the following:
"In June of 1923, just after I had been possessed with my much treasured sheepskin, a gray haired gentleman with years of experience said to me: 'Just what the future holds for you will depend largely on the roads you sow during the next few years. Take my advice and sell some good company, begin at the bottom and work your way to the top.' I followed his advice by starting in the stockroom of a Kresge store on December 6, 1923. Today I am managing my first store, happy in the thought that I am on the road to success."

What Others Have Done You Can Do

A Bucknell College graduate writes:
"After graduating from college with the degree of B. S. and M. A. I accepted a position as Chemistry instructor in a small college. After two years as an instructor, I became dissatisfied and decided to enter the business world. I became acquainted with an enthusiastic Kresge manager, who gladly explained their system of training men to become store managers. Shortly after that I started in the stockroom, received promotions according to my ability to earn them, and today, although a successful store manager I am in line for still greater responsibilities. I know of no other organization where a man's efforts will be better repaid than with the Kresge Company."

An alumnus of the University of Michigan class of 1922 says: "The most important problem confronting me the last semester in school was choosing the 'job' that would begin when campus days were over. To make the right start in the business world was my ambition. I turned down several soft snugg jobs, the kind that paid fairly well to start but held no future, for a stockroom job with the Kresge Company which paid little to start but offered a definite future. I combined my education with good common sense and after applying myself diligently, I was rapidly promoted to greater responsibilities. Today I am manager of a good sized store, and gladly recommend the Kresge Company as a means to a definite end, providing you possess the necessary qualifications and a whole hearted desire to succeed."
