Objections Overruled

Dr. W. J. Manley of the University of Missouri, secretary of the faculty organization, said there had been considerable agitation for a change in this rule because of the fact that junior college graduates transferring to Big Six schools were prevented from more than one year of conference competition. The rule requires that an athlete must be a resident student one year before he is eligible for varsity teams

With no restrictions on the spring drills, Nebraska's session now under the direction of Coach "Bunny" Oakes, will continue until late in April. Coach Dana X. Bible would not have had a chance to be here for the spring workouts had the old rule of fifteen days provalled.

At Trinity Methodist Church Friday

That impression without expression leads to depression was the concluding formulation of Dr. E.

Stanley Jones in his lecture at Trinky M. E. church Friday night which marked the end of his series of Lincoln addresses. People who go to church only to be impressed while Miss Antoinette Lococo, Fine and who make no effort to express to others what they feel often find that this feeling turns to one of depression, he intimated.

Man's love of God is in coultant conflict with his worldly desires, and the victory of the stronger love murks a man for Christ. The greatest problem facing the church today has to do with the fact that people worship without sacrifice.

"Christianity without its crosses is not Christianity," Doctor Jones leciared. The religion that satis fies the political, social, moral, and economic needs of the world is to be found by sacrificing all for Christ and forgetting oneself.
