Non-Fraternity Group Holds Rally at Coliseum Party Friday Night; Blue Shirt, Yellow Jacket And Sorority Factions Combine

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR TWENTY POSITIONS

Names of Thirty-eight Candidates Appear on Ballots; Seventeen Vacancies Exist on Council and Three on Board of Publications

(By the Rag Man)

Fraternities and sororities on the Nebraska campus have combined in a Pan Hellenic party to oppose the non-fraternity faction with a united front in the spring election to be held Tuesday. Blue Shirts, Yellow Jackets and sororities have merged in a Greek-letter political faction with candidates for each of the twenty offices to be filled at the coming election, according to an announcement made at the close of filing time at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Excitement is evidenced in both political camps, following the non-fraternity party held in the Coliseum on Friday evening. At that time the barb faction announced its slate for the election.

Rumors have been circulating on the campus for the past two weeks that the Greek letter factions were combining, but no reliable report was made until after the filing deadline was reached.

Council Makes Rule

Student Council, sponsoring the election, passed a rule at its last meeting which barred electioneering in the lobby of the Temple, where the election will be held, or in any other part of that building. The Council reminded both factions that the spending of money for political advertising will not be countenanced. Such action will cause the ruling of illegibility for office. Polls in the Temple will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday. An election committee from the Student Council, composed of:

SCIENCE GROUPS END UNIVERSITY MEETINGS

Noted Men Give Lectures at Concluding Sessions Here Saturday

The two-day program of lectures of the annual meetings of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences and the Associations of Nebraska for Geography, History and the Social Sciences ended Saturday morning. The speakers at the general meetings Saturday were Dr. Dayton C. Miller, physicist of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O.; Dr. S. Van Valkenburg, geographer of Clark University, Worcester, Mass.; and Dr. Hattie Platt Williams, sociologist of the University of Nebraska.

Doctor Van Valkenburg, a native of Holland, at the joint meeting of geography, history and social sciences, discussed the possibility of a pan-European state. This, he said, can never come about. An economic organization, binding all these various groups of people together, is a possibility, but Europe can never become a political organization like the United States.

UNIVERSITY EXPECTS MANY PREP TEAMS

High School Track Squads Will Compete Here Next Saturday

With the entry list for the twenty-seventh annual Nebraska interscholastic track and field championships already reaching the secretary's mark prospects for a record breaking attendance loom bright when the Cornhusker prep schools gather in Lincoln Friday and Saturday to vie for athletic honors. Walter Black, secretary of the Nebraska High School Athletic Association, announced Saturday that entrants would no doubt surpass the mark of eighty-eight teams made last year.

Past performances of the 1928 season in Husker high school circles have uncovered some exceptional talent and records of long standing are due for a revision should the week end weather prove ideal. Never a year passes but what some new mark is set and officials in charge of the 1929 affair believe that this year will not go wanting for exceptional performances.

FACULTY PLANS TO HONOR HIGH GREEK GROUPS

Societies in Upper Fourth in Scholarship Will Get Special Award

LETTERS ARE SENT OUT

Convocation Wednesday Eve Seeks to Recognize Best Students

Fraternities and sororities that are in the upper one-fourth in general scholarship average in their groups will be recognized at the Honors convocation Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Grant Memorial hall. The faculty committee on Honors day, of which W. C. Brenke is chairman, has completed arrangements for the convocation. Letters were sent Friday from the office of the dean of student affairs to fraternities and sororities. Nine social fraternities and five sororities will be recognized. The compilation of standings will be made on a different basis than for the scholarship plaques that are given out at the Interfraternity banquet.

Recognize Superior Students

The fraternity or sorority with the largest number of superior students will be recognized rather than the one with the fewest delinquencies. Nonsocial organizations will be recognized provided they have a sufficiently large portion of members in the honored group. The

REGISTRATION OF RESIDENT PUPILS STARTS MONDAY

Students Have All Week to Arrange Courses and See Advisers

FEES ARE UNCHANGED

Statements Not Mailed Out Until Late Summer, Says Registrar

Early registration for the first semester of 1929-30 begins tomorrow and ends Saturday, May 11, at noon. Schedules are available at the registrar's office. Registration next week will be for only those students who are in school at the present time. New students will register next fall, the exact date being September 17 and 18.

Students are requested to get their credit books at the registrar's office before going to their advisers. Identification cards must be presented to get the credit books. After the schedules have been made out at the office of the adviser they should be taken to the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled.

"Registration is not complete until fees are paid." That is the customary edict issued by the registrar's office. However, students can breathe easily for a while because

DEATH CLAIMS DOCTOR JONES

Dr. Guernsey Jones, professor of English history at the University of Nebraska for more than thirty years, died at his home, 1418 L street, at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Doctor Jones had been ill for some time.

His ill health caused him to resign from the University in 1928 when he was granted a title of emeritus professor of English history. He was very well known throughout the state in educational circles and was the editor of University Studies. He was a brother of the late Will Owen Jones, editor of the Nebraska State Journal.

PHARMACISTS FINISH WEEK'S CELEBRATION

Cornhusker Hotel Banquet With Many Speakers Ends Program

A banquet held last night at the Hotel Cornhusker marked the close of the Pharmacy celebration extending through the last four days. A large number of pharmacy students attended the affair, and a number of toasts were given by prominent men.

Merle E. Duryee acted as toastmaster for the affair. Speakers included Will Brookley, secretary-manager of the State Pharmaceutical association; Guy Butler, ex-member of the state pharmacy board of examiners; C. S. Lincoln, president of the Lincoln Retail Druggists association; J. A. Porter, president of the same organization; Raymond W. Cunningham, '27, representative of the students; Regent S. D. Long, a pharmacist of Cowles, Neb.; Prof. J. D. Burt, professor in the College of Pharmacy.

The Pharmacy celebration this year was the ninth annual Pharmacy Week, sponsored by the Pharmaceutical club. Festivities opened Wednesday with a convocation for all pharmacy students. Thursday was featured by Pharmacy Night exhibit, which was attended by the largest crowd in the history of the affair. A picnic at the Auto club park on Friday, followed by the banquet last night, closed the celebration.

Chemists Initiate Three

Three new members were recently initiated into Iota Sigma Phi, national chemical society. They are: Amy Conwell, Berkeley Elliott, and Elizabeth Griest.

HICKS AND UPSON WIN PROMOTIONS

Board Fills Vacancies in Arts and Graduate Colleges; Oldfather and Hamilton Head Departments Left Empty by Two Advancements

ALL APPOINTMENTS ARE EFFECTIVE IN FALL

Resignation of Herman James Who Goes as President Of University of South Dakota in Autumn Necessitates Changes in Faculty

Two professors of the University of Nebraska were promoted to deanships, one was promoted to the chairmanship of a department, and one new professor elected by the Board of Regents of the institution on the campus, according to an announcement made by Chancellor E. A. Burnett.

Prof. John D. Hicks becomes dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Prof. Fred R. Upson, dean of the Graduate college, and Prof. Charles H. Oldfather, chairman of the department of history, Prof. C. S. Hamilton, now of Northwestern university, was elected chairman of chemistry. All appointments become effective September 1, 1929. The various changes were necessitated by the recent resignation of Dean H. G. James, who will become president of the University of South Dakota.

All appointments become effective Sept. 1, 1929. The various changes were necessitated by the recent resignation of Dean H. G. James, who will become president of the University of South Dakota.

Professor Hicks, the new head of the oldest college of the university, has been professor of American history since Sept. 1, 1923. He has been chairman of the department since Sept. 1, 1925. Dean Hicks was born in Pickering, Mo., in 1890. He taught two years in the rural schools of Wyoming before attending university. He received his B.A. degree from Northwestern

APPROPRIATION VETO MAY BE SET ASIDE

A slender thread of hope remains that the University may regain the $115,000 increase which Governor Weaver vetoed via the veto method. Rumors were current Friday that the constitutionality of his action would be contested.

Governor Weaver vetoed a number of appropriation increases and struck out some of the items put in by the legislature. He contended that some of the specific items were added to the bill without a vote in one or other of the houses.

Some of the legislators, whose districts are affected by the veto, contend that the increases were given the three-fifths vote in the legislature as is required by the constitution when the legislature raises the governor's figure. They contend that these increases are not subject to the governor's veto.

The state officers are upholding Governor Weaver's veto and if the veto is to be annulled someone will have to bring the case into court. It was rumored Friday that his would be done.

Dean Thompson Sends Parents Honors Notices

Dean T. J. Thompson has been sending out notices to parents this week. Some parents have been notified in the customary manner that their son or daughter has been doing unsatisfactory work for the last three quarters.

However, the parents of 500 students in the University will receive a different kind of notice. It reads this way:

"The University is pleased to inform you that your son JOHN BROWN has achieved a scholastic standing of such quality as to merit the inclusion of his name in the list of students to be recognized for high scholarship at the Honors convocation to be held on Wednesday evening, May 8, 1929, at eight o'clock in Grant Memorial hall.

"You are cordially invited to be present at this convocation."

The parents of each of the 500 students who receives recognition at the Honors convocation Wednesday is receiving a notice of this kind.

"Ordinarily," Dean Thompson pointed out, "the only thing that parents hear from this office is that their children are doing poor work. They are seldom notified when they are doing fine work."

Some parents may get two or three invitations to the Honors day convocation. Some may have two students in the University but receive only one invitation. Some may get one notice of delinquency and another notice of high scholarship.

Dean Thompson thinks that parents and the public in general may get the idea that no good work is done at the University because only delinquencies are reported to the parents. The upper ten per cent in each college who are the ones that will receive recognition have averages of over 85 percent, he pointed out. This year, for the first time, parents will not only receive notices of delinquency but also of high scholarship.

DAVIDSON SPEAKS AT ENGINEERS' BANQUET

Olson, Loutzenheiser and Walker Win Awards For Scholarship

University of Nebraska engineers held a dinner Friday evening, at which Prof. J. B. Davidson, head of the department of agricultural engineering at Iowa State college and former Nebraskaan, was the main speaker. This dinner is an annual affair at the University held during Engineers' week.

"No profession has a higher ideal of service to humanity than engineering," stated Professor Davidson. "The future gives greater promise to those entering the various fields than the past, the engineer is a specialist in the application and use of labor, materials and power for the production of those material things which the human race desires."

Olson Wins Trophy

Dean O. J. Ferguson presented the O. J. Ferguson trophy to Carl Olson, '29, Lincoln, of the architectural division for outstanding work. The College of Agriculture scholarship was presented to Donald J. Walker, Sheldon, by Prof. E. B. Lewis.

Prof. C. E. Mickey, on behalf of the department of civil engineering, awarded that department's trophy to Don D. DeFord, of Buckingham, Colo. Don Loutzenheiser, '31, Gothenburg, was presented with the Sigma Tau freshman medal. The Sigma Tau picture of J. H. Davidson, class of 1904, was presented to the engineer's hall of fame by Myron Johnson.

VENNER HEADS NEW STAFF OF 'N' BOOK

Mary Nichols Is Associate Editor of Directory for 1929-1930

Announcement has been made of the selection of Robert Venner of Havlock as editor of the 1929-1930 "N" book, published by the Christian associations of the University of Nebraska. Mary Nichols, Kearney, will be associate editor of the publication, and Robert Dobson of Lincoln, business manager.

Other members of the staff include Sarah Pickard and Tobie Steinberg, both of Omaha, Elmer Skov of Riverdale, and Milburn Eastman of Lincoln.

The "N" book, a students' handbook, is a yearly offering of the Y. W. G. A. and Y. M. C. A. of the University of Nebraska, ready for distribution at the opening of the fall term of school. The "N" book is a gift to the newly enrolled students at University of Nebraska and is offered for sale to the other students.
