OFFICIALS DRAW OUT OF HAT FOR SEASON TICKETS

Cliff Sandahl, Editor of Nebraskan, Initiates New Selection.

ELIMINATES OLD RUSH System Gives Individuals And Groups Parallel Opportunity.

Drawings for season student activities tickets, following the new system adopted this year by university officials, were made Saturday noon by Cliff Sandahl, editor of The Daily Nebraskan. Students may call for their tickets and identification cards any time after the opening of the student activities office at 8 o'clock Monday.

Doors of the student activities office were closed to buyers of tickets promptly at noon, and drawings made at once. Numbers corresponding to those of the envelopes which held the checks and identification cards of individuals and groups were placed in a hat and drawn at random. Requests will be filled according to the order in which the numbers were drawn.

May Secure Tickets. Students who have not yet ordered tickets may secure them any time during the next week at the student activities office. Due to the necessity of clearing the office for the drawings, students were turned away from the office Saturday but sale of tickets was resumed after the filling of the first orders.

Under the new plan for distribution of tickets, designed to prevent the rush which followed the offering of tickets in past years, students were given two and a half days in which to leave their money and identification cards at.

TRIF CLUB ENTERS SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

Home Economics Society Supplements Tassels on Ag Campus.

In supplementing drives made by the Tassels, women's pep organization, the Tri-F home economics pep club will open a one day subscription campaign for The Daily Nebraskan on the agricultural college campus on Tuesday. This campaign for subscriptions will be under the direction of Cyril Winkler, assistant circulation manager of the Cornhusker Countryman.

According to Marshall Pitzer, business manager of The Nebraskan, the campaign carried on by the Tassels during the past week is progressing well. No accurate check-up of results is possible as yet but it is thought by Pitzer that with the continuance of the campaign until next Friday, subscriptions will come in satisfactorily.

CHURCH STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTS YEAR'S OFFICERS

Members of the Methodist student council met at luncheon in the Temple Friday noon for the purpose of electing officers and preparing a program for the ensuing year.

Program plans as outlined consist of one business meeting and one inspirational meeting each month. Noon luncheon meetings, open to all Methodist students and faculty members, will be held monthly.

Special meetings featuring the work of the council and general discussion will be held at varied intervals. The first of these will be held Friday, Oct. 11, at the Grand hotel, where a discussion of student affiliation will be held. Methodist pastors of the city will be present to encourage visitation of students in preparation for Affiliation Sunday, which is set for Oct. 20, in Methodist churches.

Council officers elected were: President, Bernice Hoffman; vice president, Harold Bates; secretary, Cleo Packer; treasurer, Ingerborg Nielsen; religious education, Vera Dunn; vocational guidance, Doreen Bailey; student organizations, Clyde Vost; publicity, Hari Andersen; deputation, Elinor Cooper; social activities, J. Howard Brown; advisor, Rev. W. C. Fawell, Methodist university pastor.

COACHES CHOOSE CATTLE JUDGING TEAM FOR YEAR

The personnel of the 1929 University dairy cattle judging team, as announced yesterday by Prof. Ray Morgan and Prof. C. W. Nibler, coaches is as follows: John Munn, Waverly; Guy McKeown, Fairfield; Hansel Phipps, Lincoln; and Dwight Anderson, Ogallala.

This team will leave Saturday morning for Waterloo, Ia., where they participate Monday in the annual intercollegiate judging contest held in connection with the national dairy congress which will take place there next week. The team will be required to judge five different breeds of dairy cattle in competition with teams from other colleges of the Middle West.

The Nebraska team captured first place at the 1928 contest with a score of 1611 points out of a possible 1800 with eleven teams competing.

The same team will compete in the contest at the national dairy show to be held in St. Louis on Oct. 14.

PHI TAU THETA WILL HOLD SPECIAL PARTY

Methodist Fraternity Has Plans for Benjamin Franklin Dinner.

Methodist faculty members, pastors of the city and Methodist freshmen will be guests at a Benjamin Franklin dinner meeting on Tuesday evening at the Emmanuel M. E. church at Fifteenth and U streets. The dinner has been planned by Phi Tau Theta, Methodist fraternity, which has also arranged a social and religious program for the year.

John LeMar, 31, president of the organization, will present the program of the year at the dinner. Introduction of all present has been arranged for through a world series feature of which the university pastors are in charge. A Phi Tau Theta quartet will sing some special numbers and Quinn Lot-speich will present an instrumental specialty.

The united program of Wesley foundation and Emmanuel church has made possible an expansion of Methodist young men's activities through Phi Tau Theta. A monthly dinner meeting will be held at the church. Membership was set at a recent meeting at 100 men as a minimum, and 125 as a maximum.

Any Methodist freshman who has not received an invitation to this meeting can reserve a place as a guest by calling the Wesley foundation. Membership in the organization is based on demonstrated interest in development of vital social and religious life.

CONDRA WILL LEAVE FOR OKLAHOMA TRIP

Dr. George E. Condra will leave Sunday for a trip in Kansas and southern Oklahoma, meeting with the association of state geologists at Ardmore, Okla., Oct. 3 to 5. The state geologists of Oklahoma make a field excursion over some geological area each year, this year the trip being over the Arbuckle Uplift of Oklahoma. Following this field trip, Dr. Condra will speak on the geology of the state geologists at Tulsa, Oct. 7, at an industrial exposition.

HICKS IS CO-AUTHOR OF REVIEW ARTICLE

Dr. John D. Hicks, dean of the college of arts and sciences was co-author of an article published in the July issue of the North Carolina Historical Review, entitled, "The Farmers' Alliance." Dr. John D. Bernhart of the University of West Virginia cooperated. Dr. Bernhart formerly served on the Nebraska staff for two summer sessions.

Medical Students Write New Fight Song to Open First Nebraska Game

When Bible's scarlet clad squad of huskies steps on the field to open officially the 1929 Cornhusker football season next Saturday, they will be greeted by a new Nebraska "fight" song.

Until this fall, Nebraska was without a football song. Sensing the need for such, students of the university college of medicine offered a musical contribution which, according to those who have heard it, ranks with "On Wisconsin," "Washington and Lee Blues" and other collegiate favorites. Page Williams wrote the music for the new song, called "Nebraska Field Song," and assisted Ernest "Dutch" Weyzauller with the lyrics.

"The Nebraska Field Song" will be introduced during the coming week by the varsity quartette and

CHURCHES ENTERTAIN STUDENTS ON FRIDAY

All-University Tradition Brings Contacts With Lincoln Pastors.

RECEPTIONS ARE VARIED

All-university church night was observed in a variety of ways at receptions held Friday night in Lincoln churches. It is an annual event for the purpose of acquainting new students with church organizations of the city.

Three Presbyterian churches of the city combined in a "Pan-Presbyterian Caravan party." About 250 guests toured three churches and were welcomed by each of the pastors. The party entered the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock through the courtyard, which was decorated with Japanese lanterns. In the parish hall Col. F. F. Jewett of the university, told the students of the different church clubs and activities in which they could take part.

Students Follow Band.

Following a band on a truck the guests were taken in cars to the Westminster church. There they were welcomed by the pastor and given red autograph albums with a white "N" displayed on the cover. Games were played, following which the party went to the Second Presbyterian church where songs were sung. The caravan stopped at the university Presbyterian manse for ice cream and wafers. Japanese lanterns and red and white decorations were scattered through the house.

All Lutheran churches combined in a reception at Morrill hall. The Lutheran ministers and professors were in the receiving line and a musical program of violin and vocal solos was offered the 150 guests. The refreshment table was decorated in lavender and pink.

GRUMMANN HAS MYTH BULLETIN NOW PUBLISHED

Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the school of fine arts, is the author of a bulletin titled "Northern Mythology" recently issued by the extension division.

Professor Grumann's study covers the mythology as understood by the Babylonians, through the early Greek and Persian influences up through the centuries to pre-Christian influences.

This booklet also gives information on what people believed about the beginning and ending of the world, mythological geography, and different forms of worship.

It tells of the meaning of the first festivals and on up to our Halloween, including New Year's eve and the beliefs in Santa Claus.

WORK ON DIRECTORY WILL BEGIN MONDAY

First Step in Preparation of Book Comes With List Correction.

Work on the student directory of the University of Nebraska is scheduled to start Monday, with the posting of lists of students whose names begin with A, B and C on the first floor of Social Sciences.

The lists will be posted for correction and will remain up through Tuesday. Other letters throughout the alphabet will follow consecutively.

The directory will be issued about the first week in November, according to Robert C. Venner, editor and business manager. It is published yearly by the Y. M. C. A. The book will contain the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all students and faculty members in the university. Students will be listed by the names of their home towns, and all organizations and the presidents of each will be listed in the volume.

So far, only one member of the staff has been picked by Editor Venner. George Gant has been named as advertising manager. Other staff members are to be named soon.

SCHOLARSHIPS GO TO NEBRASKA STUDENTS

Munro Kezer Gets Wolfe Award; Mrs. Meiler Is Read Winner.

HINMAN RECEIVES NEWS

Munro Kezer of Lincoln, former editor of The Nebraskan and member of the university class of '29, has been awarded the Wolfe memorial scholarship, and Mrs. Margaret West Meiler of Lincoln, is winner of the Guy Reed scholarship for undergraduate students.

According to an announcement received recently by Dr. E. I. Hinman, Doctor Hinman is associated with the department of philosophy and psychology in the University of Nebraska.

The Wolfe memorial scholarship, for graduate students, was established in honor of Prof. Harry Kirk Wolfe, founder of the department of psychology at the University of Nebraska. Professor Wolfe died in 1918, and his friends and students contributed to a fund expected to reach $10,000 for use of students in making graduate research.

The amount of the fund for which the fellowship was established now stands at somewhat below $8,000. Two previous students have been awarded the Wolfe memorial scholarship: Dr. W. H. Workmeister, present member of the department of philosophy staff and Kenneth Braly, now a member of the faculty at Princeton university.

The Guy Reed scholarship fund was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reed of Chicago, who were prominent graduates of the University of Nebraska. The income from $2,000 was designed to aid an undergraduate student. Mrs. Meiler is the first to receive this award.

NEW APPOINTEES TAKE UP WORK IN CHEMISTRY STAFF

Two new appointees in the department of chemistry have taken up their work with the opening of the university. Dr. Cliff S. Hamilton returns to the department as professor of chemistry. Doctor Hamilton was formerly associate professor in the department but has been a member of the chemistry staff at Northwestern university for the past two years. He will have working with him five research fellows stipends for which he is donating to the university the Park-Davis company of Detroit. Doctor Hamilton will devote his time to work in the organic division of the department.

Dr. Mary Louise Morse comes as an instructor in organic chemistry from the University of Minnesota where she recently completed the work for the doctorate in chemistry.

Dr. J. G. Meiler has recently completed his work for the doctorate in chemistry at the University of Chicago. He will serve as an instructor in freshman chemistry.

Murray States Time Of Awgwan Deadline

Deadline for Awgwan copy including cartoons as well as editorial matter is Thursday, Oct. 3, according to Ray Murray, editor of the magazine.

CORN COBS WILL HOLD MEETING TO DISCUSS PROGRAM

As an extensive program is being planned for the first football game it is essential that all fraternities have their Corn Cob representatives attend the Corn Cob meeting in the Temple next Thursday, Oct. 3, at 7 o'clock, according to the president. The meeting is for pledges as well as actives.

A number of new pledges have been accepted into the organization since the publication of a list of pledges in the Nebraskan several days ago. These names will not be published, however, until all of the new pledges have been elected.

Some fraternities have not yet elected their men for this year and in all cases the eligibility of new men must be checked, a process taking considerable time. These factors have caused a delay in the announcement of new Corn Cobs. All fraternities must have their men elected by Thursday, however, according to Stanley Day, president of the organization.

HICKS HEADS RHODES SCHOLARSHIP GROUP

College Must Select Its Candidates if Possible Before Oct. 12.

GOOD ON STATE BOARD

Dr. J. D. Hicks of the college of arts and sciences, will serve as chairman of the Nebraska Rhodes scholarship committee, according to an announcement made Saturday by Chancellor E. A. Burnett. The other members of the committee are Dr. S. Avery, chancellor emeritus; Prof. E. H. Barbour; Prof. M. H. Merrill; and Prof. C. H. Oldfather.

Under the general regulations which govern the Rhodes scholarships, candidates must first be selected by their own college or university, it being recommended that the selection be completed not later than Oct. 12, 1929. Under the rules, not more than five candidates may be named by the university. These candidates then file applications with the secretary of the state committee, Paul Good, not later than Oct. 19. The final nomination, subject to ratification by the trustees of the scholarships, will be made Dec. 7. The scholar elected at that time will come into residence at Oxford in October, 1930.

A candidate, to be eligible, must be a male citizen of the United States with at least five years' domicile, and unmarried. By Oct. 1, 1930, he must have passed his nineteenth and not his twenty-fifth birthday. By the same date he must have completed at least his sophomore year at some degree-granting college or university. Candidates may apply for either the state in which they have their ordinary private domicile or for any state in which they may have received at least two years of their college education before applying. University of Nebraska students will receive their application blanks from Dean Hicks.

UNIVERSITY TEACHERS RECEIVE PLACEMENTS

Recently placed teachers from the university include Esther Peterson, from the women's physical education department as instructor in the feeble minded institute at Beatrice; Colla Kalling in the Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, Ia.; Martha Curtis, a former zoology assistant in the university, in the municipal museum at Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Guy Puckett in the Moran school for boys at Alacadero, Calif.

Prof. Richard T. Brackett, new instructor in electrical engineering, arrived to take up his duties today. He was delayed in reporting on account of the illness of his wife who was confined to the hospital in Rochester, Minn.

RAILROAD PLANS HOG SPECIAL FOR NEBRASKA SHOW

In co-operation with the college of agriculture, the C. B. & Q. railroad is sending a pork special train through Nebraska during the month of October, stopping at all important cities and towns.

The Nebraska Railway commission granted the railroad permission to operate the train free of charge during the month of October. The work to be rendered is felt to be of great service and interest to the people of this state, and will have an educative value in regard to the breeding, feeding, fattening and marketing of hogs.

Prominent authorities from the college of agriculture will go along with the train and endeavor to make it more interesting for persons who pass through it at the various stops over the state.

FRESHMEN LOSE TO REGULARS IN ANNUAL BATTLE

Varsity Takes Long End Of 12-0 Score With Frosh Fighting.

MISS SLOAN AND WITTE

Husker Team Weakened by Lack of Backs From Grid Lineup.

Varsity and freshmen played their annual game Saturday afternoon at Memorial stadium. The score was 12-0 with the varsity on the long end of the count, although the yearlings put up their usual good fight. The varsity was without the services of Clair Sloan and Dutch Witte, two regular backs.

In the early part of the first quarter the varsity made its first touchdown. Rowley slicing through tackle and cutting back five yards for the first marker. On the try point Rowley placekicked, but the ball struck the goal posts and bounced back on the field. Scherzinger carried the ball over the goal line for the varsity's last touchdown in the third period. A long pass paved the way for the second touchdown with Scherzinger passing to Red Young. On the try point, Bud McBride's placekick was low.

Wally Morrow Stars. Wally Morrow was again the outstanding player for the varsity. His style of running had the freshmen guessing all the time he was playing, although the heavy end seemed to bother him at times. Claude Rowley started the game in big league style, on one jump around end and covering twenty yards before going down. For the yearlings, Mathis showed up as

BUSINESS STAFF OF AWGWAN WILL MEET

Ames and Murray Arrange Organization Session For Monday.

A meeting to organize the business staff of the Awgwan has been called by John Ames, acting business manager, and Ray Murray, editor of the magazine. The meeting is to be held Monday at 5 o'clock in an adjoining room of the Awgwan office in the basement of "U" hall.

All editorial staff members are also urged to report to the Awgwan office between 3 and 5 o'clock Monday.

Advertisers Will Talk. Experienced advertising men will talk at the business meeting Monday and the new business organization will be explained. Applications for circulation manager, sales manager and other business offices of the Awgwan will be taken. The meeting is considered important since the success of the publication will depend largely on the work of the business staff.

Coeds Are Needed. It is important that both men and women students be present for various duties on the business staff of the publication, according to Ames. Stenographers are also needed.

Duties will be assigned at the meeting Monday. It is hoped that the Awgwan will have an efficient advertising sales force this year and to encourage the staff it is possible that commissions will be given advertising solicitors.

"All who are interested in the business staff of the Awgwan should show their interest by attending the meeting Monday," declared editor Murray. "It will benefit them as well as the magazine."
