UNIVERSITY OBSERVES CHURCH DAY TODAY

Chancellor Urges Students To Help Make Day Real Tradition.

All university church Sunday will be observed today as one of the traditions of the Nebraska campus. Cards have been mailed to all students by Chancellor E. A. Burnett, inviting them to attend the church of their preference.

The chancellor, in his message to the students says: "This invitation to the students of all religious affiliations has my hearty approval. I shall be greatly pleased if the movement results in a marked increase in attendance at all places of worship. This is one of the fine customs that has become an all university tradition, and every student is urged to help make it such."

A number of churches have prepared special services for the occasion. Both the Plymouth and Vine Congregational churches especially invite students of that affiliation to attend church. Special music has been arranged, according to the Rev. E. F. Wyland, pastor of the former. The pastor's theme will be "The Imagination Guides the Race." The university Sunday evening club will meet at 6:30 this evening.

Rev. Ray Hunt, pastor of the First Christian church, states that there will be regular services at the First Christian church with affiliation of students. Fellowship hour will be held at 5:30 o'clock and at 6:00 o'clock Dean Amory Worcester, professor of educational psychology, will lead in a discussion hour.

A special program has been prepared, according to Rev. W. C. Fawell, university pastor for the Methodist churches, as a welcome to all students of the Methodist church.

Rev. Henry Erick, Lutheran student pastor, and Herbert Dickson, Lutheran secretary, announce a special program at all Lutheran churches as a welcome to university students.

Students of other denominations are also invited to observe all university church Sunday by attending the church of their preference.

WHEATLEY WILL PRESENT INITIAL TEMPLE CONCERT

The first of the university school of fine arts convocations will be given by Walter Wheatley, tenor, at the Temple theater at 11 o'clock Tuesday, Oct. 8. He will be accompanied by Miss Beth Miller. His program will be as follows:

Ma La Parpita, Alviriz.
Bird Songs at Eventide, Coates.
Air—from Tosca, Puccini.
Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces, Wilson.
You're Just Mine, Osgood.
Visions, Kreisler.
Dreams, Chenoweth.

CIVIC OPERA COMPANY WILL OFFER 'CARMEN'

SUPPORT ENABLES CUT

Chicago Organization Plans To Appear March 20; Popular Prices

Chicago Civic Opera company will present "Carmen," Bizet's colorful gypsy composition, at the coliseum on the evening of March 20, according to an announcement released Saturday by John K. Selleck, director of student activities.

Enthusiastic support given the Chicago organization on its two previous visits to Lincoln made possible the engagement for next spring, Selleck stated. "I Trovatore," the offering two years ago, and "Faust," last spring's presentation, both played to crowds of more than 8,500 persons, setting a record attendance on each occasion for the tour of the company.

Beginning with a two week's engagement at Boston, following the close of their home season, the Civic Opera company will travel across the continent by way of Columbus, Ohio, and Dallas, Texas. On the west coast they are to play two weeks in the cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, following which their schedule again leads eastward. They will come to Lincoln from Tulsa, Okla., and jump from here to Minneapolis.

"Carmen" was carried last year by the company with good success. This season it is being presented in a number of cities, such as Lincoln, where it has not been given before and is also being repeated in a number of places. A personnel of 250 artists, directors, and staff members are required for the production of the opera.

Produced first in Paris in 1875, Bizet's composition has become one of the most popular of modern operas. It tells the story of Carmen, the treacherous gypsy girl and reveals through its music a tale of adventure, love and fate.

Popular prices will prevail again this year. Despite the fact that $15,000 is required to underwrite the enterprise, prices were lower in Lincoln for the production of "Faust" than at any other city on the itinerary of the company. Ticket reservations and information may be secured from Mr. Selleck in the student activities office in the coliseum.

CHANCELLOR GIVES FACULTY RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Hold Tea for Instructors And Wives.

Members of the faculty and library staffs of the university and their wives were honored at a reception Oct. 4, at Ellen Smith hall, by Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett. A color scheme of yellow and lavender was carried out throughout the rooms. Clusters of various colored fall flowers served as the floral decoration.

The guests were received at the door by Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Oldfather and Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Keim. Assistants in the different rooms were the following deans and their wives: Prof. and Mrs. F. K. Skaymaker, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Clapp, Prof. and Mrs. O. E. Edison, Prof. and Mrs. O. H. Werner, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Seaton and Prof. Mrs. C. J. Frankforter.

Mrs. H. E. Bradford and Mrs. Dean R. Leland invited the guests into the east dining room, where Mrs. Charles Robins and Mrs. C. Mrs. Charles Robins and Mrs. C. Mrs. W. M. Foyner presided during the first hour, assisted by Mrs. T. T. Smith, Mrs. Edward Anderson and Mrs. O. K. Bowsman. The second hour of the tea the following presided: Mrs. R. J. Pool and Dr. Louise Pound, assisted by Miss Marjorie Clark, Miss Kate Field and Mrs. H. Y. Lyon.

DEMING ENDS YEAR'S WORK FOR CHEMIST

Nebraska Professor Heads Company Department During Leave

During his one year leave of absence from the University of Nebraska, Prof. H. G. Deming, who has resumed his teaching in physical chemistry this fall at the University, had charge of the department of information of Arthur D. Little, Inc., prominent firm of consulting chemists and engineers.

Professor Deming was in charge of several lines of research, including an investigation of certain organic fluorine compounds, which research will be continued in the University of Nebraska. He edited the Industrial Bulletin of Arthur D. Little, Inc., and contributed a great many brief articles on current progress in chemistry and engineering, as applied to industry.

CHORAL UNION BEGINS TERM'S REHEARSALS

Lincoln Singers Invited to Enroll for Course; No Late Fees.

Invitations are to be sent out to all singers of Lincoln to attend the Choral Union rehearsals which are held at Morrill hall on Monday and Wednesday at 11 o'clock, and on Tuesday and Thursday at 3 o'clock, stated Prof. Howard Kirkpatrick, the director.

Announcements have also been sent to all fraternities and sororities in an effort to secure a larger registration in these classes. No payment of late fee will be necessary to add to this course and it is not necessary to see the advisor.

This semester the Choral Union will study Schubert's Rosamunde, the Messiah, and many modern works, according to Professor Kirkpatrick. At Christmas time the chorus will give the Messiah at a concert to be open to the public.

GREEKS ASSIGNED STUDIOS TO TAKE YEARBOOK PHOTOS

Beginning Monday, Oct. 7, two fraternities and two sororities will be assigned each week to have their pictures taken for the 1930 Cornhusker. In the event that members of the groups do not have their pictures taken during the week which has been assigned to their organization, an extra fee will be charged for the photograph.

The picture will be taken at the same studios which have been employed in previous years, Townsend's at 226 South Eleventh street and Hauck's at 1216 O street. One fraternity and one sorority will be assigned to each studio each week.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS START TICKET SALE

Season Prices Are Reduced To $2.50, Half Last Year's Cost.

FIRST SHOW IS OCT. 18

Season tickets for the University Players presentations will go on sale Monday morning at 8 o'clock. The price of student tickets has been reduced to $2.50, one-half of last year's price. Saturday morning performances will replace the matinees whenever the schedule coincides with football games.

Students may purchase tickets in Social Sciences, the Temple, the Library, and various other parts of the campus. Ten university men have been asked to assist with the sales.

Dates for the plays have been set in cooperation with the department of student affairs in order to be made as convenient as possible for both the students and the faculty. At no time will they conflict with examinations or preparations for examinations.

The plays will start on Friday night and a performance will be held each evening for one week. A Saturday matinee will also be given. When the week-end on which a play is being given is also one on which a football game is played, the regular Saturday afternoon performance will be held in the morning. Students will thus be able to attend both.

Season Opens Oct. 18.

The curtain will rise promptly at 7:30 at the evening shows. The plays will be over by 10:15 or 10:30.

"The Royal Family," by Edna and George S. Kaufman will open the Nebraska theatrical season on Oct. 18. Seven additional plays will be given throughout the year. Although the list is not definitely decided upon, it will probably be as follows:

SEVENTY-FIVE ATTEND PALLADIAN PROGRAM

Pollard Speaks Upon Child Welfare in Public Institutions.

A group of seventy-five persons attended the first open meeting of the Palladian literary society, held Friday night at the Temple. Piano selections rendered by Miss Margaret McGregor and a talk by E. M. Pollard, head of the state departments of public welfare and labor, composed the evening program.

In his talk Mr. Pollard took up the various phases of public welfare, dwelling principally upon the care of children in state institutions. According to Mr. Pollard, the state of Nebraska is twenty-five years behind times in her methods of caring for delinquent children.

He had recommended a system for curing the delinquent child before criminal tendencies are firmly fixed and this system is now being given serious consideration. Another topic of interest discussed by Mr. Pollard was a summary of conditions at the university thirty-five years ago.

Rallies Begin Friday and Continue at Intervals Until After Game.

CORN COBS, BAND LEAD

Mustangs Receive Royal Welcome at Hands of Students.

From 5 o'clock Friday when Corn Cobs invaded sorority and fraternity houses to advertise the 7 o'clock rally and sing the new Nebraska field song until the final gun of the S. M. U. game Saturday, Cornhusker pep burst forth in its first enthusiastic demonstration of the season.

Saturday afternoon while the crowd of 20,000 was still swarming into the stadium ramps to find seats, the forty piece S. M. U. band after a parade through the downtown section, filed on the field to play Mustang melodies until the teams trotted out to warm up.

A few moments later the Nebraska R. O. T. C. band of eighty pieces entered and marched around the quarterstretch. As a token of Cornhusker good will toward the Southern Methodist university, Miss Ruth Baker, honorary colonel, escorted by Joyce Ayres and followed by the band, crossed the field just before the kickoff and presented a bouquet of red and white flowers to President Selekman of the visiting school.

S. M. U. a mustang and a giant N. M. U. were patterns used by the cheering section at the initial game.

Activities relating to the game Saturday started at 4:30 o'clock Friday when the advance guard of the S. M. U. supporters consisting of the squad, newspaper men and coaching staff arrived over the Missouri Pacific. Met by a committee from the Innocents society.

WATER STOPS POWER PLANT CONSTRUCTION

Leakage From Broken Tile Delays Cement Work, Stops Cleanup

Flood waters from a broken tile in a storm sewer Friday caused postponement of pouring concrete in the excavation for the new university power plant at Fourteenth and W streets.

The concrete was to have been poured Monday, but the pouring will have to be postponed for three or four days while pumps which started Saturday empty the water out of the excavation, which was completely filled Friday afternoon.

Water from heavy rains Thursday night and Friday morning leaked into the excavation from a break in the 24-inch storm sewer which was only a few feet from it.

COLLINS, BLEU WILL LEAD LECTURE TOURS

Conducted Inspection of Morrill Hall Exhibits Begins Today.

Each Sunday afternoon, beginning Sunday, Oct. 6, organized lecture tours will be conducted through Morrill hall under the guidance of F. G. Collins, assistant curator of the museum, and R. L. Bleu. The regular Sunday afternoon programs for children and adults which were held last year, will be resumed on Oct. 3.

The lecture tours are open to both students and to the general public and will start promptly at 3 o'clock with Assistant Curator Collins conducting the tour through the downstairs while R. L. Bleu lectures on the main floor.

The lantern slide programs beginning the following Sunday will start at 2:45 o'clock for children and at 4 o'clock for adults. The public in general is cordially invited to attend both the tours and the slide programs and a large crowd is expected to take advantage of the tour today.

NEW ENGINEERING STUDENTS ASKED TO HEAR TALKS

All freshman, sophomore, junior and senior electrical engineering students are invited to attend a meeting of the Nebraska branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, held in room 104 of the electrical engineering building, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p. m. Talks will be delivered by the following students who are enrolled in the course: F. V. Peterson, K. R. Dy-sart, and E. R. Robinson.

WILLIAMS WITHDRAWS FROM POLITICAL LIFE

Main Figure of Last Year's Factional Fight Says He Is Too Busy.

BARBS HAVE NO TICKET

With the announcement of the withdrawal from political affairs of Alan Williams, former Barb leader, comes a statement from Meredith Nelson, president of the Barb council, to the effect that that group plans no organized competition in the coming election.

Williams, who achieved fame last year when he engineered the election of a Barb May Queen, gave as his reason for leaving the field the fact that he is too busy to play politics. Nelson, in making public the intention of the council, indicated that it would not be the policy of that body to carry on competition of any sort with the Greek factions, but rather to do all that can be done to erase antagonism and bitterness between Greeks and Barbs.

Satisfied With Situation.

"I am well satisfied with the situation in school this fall," Nelson continued. "There seems to be less bitterness toward the Barbs than there was last spring. If the council can make the parties a success, one worthwhile end will be attained."

"While it is not the intention of the council to engage in political battles, I am planning a campaign for the merging of the Barb council and the Student council into one group, with half of the representatives elected by Greeks and the other half elected by Barbs. A council like that would eliminate politics to a considerable degree."

NEBRASKA GEOLOGY GRADUATES SCATTER

University Men Locate at Many Points; Some in South America

From Nebraska to far-away Colombia, South America, recent geology graduates from the University of Nebraska have located, filling in the gaps between these two points with geologists in the oil fields of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Mexico.

The most recent list of placements coming from the office of Prof. E. F. Schramm of the department of geology, shows the wide scattering of spring graduates. Truman C. Harman is located at Cartagena, Colombia, South America, employed as a geologist by the International Petroleum company, Ltd., Tropical Petroleum company.

Location of other graduates is as follows: Paul M. Phillippi, Department of Public Works, state capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska, stationed at Crookston, Nebraska; Russell Weingartner, instrument man, Dixie Oil company, Wichita, Kansas; Vinton Bray, geologist, Hausbeck Petroleum company, Taumaca, Tampa, Mexico, stationed at Laredo, Texas; Harvey Whitaker, geologist, Skelly Oil company, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Nels Geogeson, assistant, geology department, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa; Gale Calder, Department of Public Works, state capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska; Allan Reiff, geologist, Producers & Refiners corporation, Tulsa, Oklahoma; William Stucky, geologist, Skelly Oil company, Anthony, Kansas; Charles Casebeer, geologist, Coline Oil company, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Neil McDowell, geologist, Gulf Production company, Houston, Texas; William E. Kauffman, geologist, The Texas company, Wichita Falls, Texas.

RECORD CROWD SEES NEBRASKA HOLD MUSTANGS

Scarlet and Cream Gridders Outplay Visitors, But Fail to Score.

LINE HOLDS UP WELL

Morrison Uses Variety of Plays; Aerial Game Is Unsuccessful.

Nebraska's Scarlet and Cream Cornhuskers and the Mustangs of Southern Methodist fought to a scoreless tie before a football crowd of 20,000 fans in the opening game of the season on Memorial stadium field Saturday afternoon. Led by Captain George Farley, Red Young and Claude Rowley, the Cornhuskers played a brilliant game against the crew from Dallas and rolled up eight first downs during the opening half to the four accounted by Southern Methodist. The Nebraska eleven resorted to line drives and went through the Texas forward wall for a total of 183 yards during the opening stanza.

One of the outstanding events in the Husker-Mustang season opener was the performance of Coach "Bunny" Oakes' forward wall which held the Texans almost powerless in drives through the line. Elmer Greenberg, Ray, Richards and Dutch Koster were responsible for the poor showing made by the Mustangs during the opening half. Maasdam, center, played a great game in the center of the line and brought a big hand from the stadium when he intercepted a long Southern Methodist pass early in the closing quarter and raced forty-five yards down the field.

LARGE CROWD VISITS ALL UNIVERSITY PARTY

Affair Is Complete Success Financially, Barb Council Says.

Seven hundred and eighty-six people attended the first All University party, sponsored by the Barb council, at the coliseum Saturday. The affair was a success financially and those in charge of the party were well pleased with attendance.

The coliseum was attractively decorated with modernistic lighting effects. The early part of the evening program followed. A one act comedy monologue given by LaSelle Gilman was well received. Mr. Gilman is the author of the Barb council at the coliseum Saturday. The affair was a success financially and those in charge of the party were well pleased with attendance.

The affair was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Stone, Dr. Laura Belle Pfeiffer and Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Oldfather were guests of honor. Leona Lewis and Esther Boyer had charge of the refreshments. The decorations were the work of Marie Broad and Jack Epeneter. Alan Williams arranged the finances. The chaperones were entertained by Ruth Hatfield. Grace Pechous had charge of the music and Violet Lee arranged the program.

The signs were the work of Floyd Petersen, Glen Reichenbach had charge of the check stand. Meredith Nelson, chairman of the Barb council stated that he wished to extend his sincere thanks to the fraternities for their whole-hearted support.
