CORN COBS PASS ALL TICKET SALE RECORDS IN DRIVE

Pep Organization Sells 1000 Seats for Players' Productions.

PRICES GO UP TONIGHT

Time Limit on Reduction for Students Is 5 O'clock This Evening.

At a special meeting of the Corn Cobs last night it was decided that the drive for the sale of season tickets to the University Players' productions is to be extended until 5 o'clock tonight. According to those in charge of the campaign the price for student tickets is to be the special price of $2.50 today but after 5 o'clock tonight absolutely all season tickets will sell at $5.00.

At the count last night the Corn Cobs had sold over 1,000 season tickets at the student rate. According to Mr. Hoff, in charge of the ticket sale, the Corn Cobs have made a very admirable showing in the campaign. The number of student tickets sold so far exceeds greatly the entire number of tickets sold last season, most of which were sold to people of Lincoln rather than to students. He expects to see the ticket sale exceed the 2,000 mark by the time it closes tonight.

The sale so far has been confined mostly to the city and the agricultural campuses of the university. Today the campaign will be extended down town and at the Lincoln high school. The high school students and faculty are to receive the same discount in price as the students are getting. The tickets which will be sold in the business and home sections of the city will cost $5.00. A campaign on these tickets will also be staged Saturday.

Assignments were drawn up yesterday under which the various members of Corn Cobs will work today. These assignments are to be found in another section of today's Daily Nebraskan. Names of all Corn Cobs whose names do not appear on the list of assignments are requested to go to the main sales headquarters at the Temple any time today for assignments for the last day of the drive. Supplies may also be obtained by Corn Cobs there.

Receipts and money that are taken in today are to be turned in by the campaigners promptly at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the finance office, 102 Administration building.

Harold Loring, musical director of the Passion Play, has been selected for this position as he has thorough knowledge of orchestration and instrumentation, and a wide experience in the directing of large choruses and orchestras.

As a result of his studious attitude into the history and origin of music, Theodore Roosevelt, while president, appointed Loring to live among the Indians of the west to record their primitive music that it would not be lost and that civilization was entering their lives and changing their modes of living. So well was this task accomplished that President Roosevelt said: "Mr. Loring knows as much about the Amer-

AWGWAN POSTPONES INITIAL PUBLICATION

Delay at Engravers Causes Changing of Release Date to Oct. 17.

CONTAINS NEW FEATURE

Due to delay at the engravers, the October issue of the new Awgwan will not be released until Thursday, Oct. 17, according to an announcement by the editor yesterday.

One of the greatest features of the new book is a new and unusual story by Bill McCleery, Nature of the story and its title are being kept a secret. It has been learned, however, that something different in the McCleery style has been developed which will furnish a ready source of mirth and amusement.

A new feature of the book which is being inaugurated with this issue is a student life section, edited by Don Carlson and Betty Wahluquist. Take-offs and wise-cracking on fraternities and sororities furnish the theme of this new and unusually interesting section.

"Sporting Women" by Virginia Faulkner, another of the many features contained in the October issue of the new Awgwan, humorously portrays a section of intramural activities as viewed from the basement of Grant Memorial hall.

Art work in this issue is exceptionally good. A novel cover page designed to carry out a football theme has been drawn by James Pickering.

The complete staff, to date, of the Awgwan follows: Ray Murray, editor; Dean Hokanson and LaSelle Gillman, associate editors; Marguerite Danielson and Paul Hurd, exchange editors; Bill McGaffin, publicity editor; John Ames, business manager; Ed Faulkner, assistant business manager; George Cook, circulation manager.

Willard Dann, advertising manager; Gene Robb, Doug Timmerman and Chuck Wahluquist, Sigma Delta Chi advisory board; Don Carlson and Betty Wahluquist, student life editors; Lowell Davis, Helen Whitmore and Virginia Faulkner, editorial board; Fayette Norris, Ruth Schille, Jean Sibert, editorial board assistants.

Contributors for this issue are Elmont Waite, Virginia Faulkner, Bob Kelly, Bill McCleery, Rex Wagner, Frances Holyoke, Helen Elsner, and Bernice Palmist. Art contributors are Ruth Haley, Uretta Clime, C. Frolich and Bill Beacham.

AG COLLEGE CLASSES EXCEED PAST RECORD

Enrollment for Junior and Senior Sections Is Largest Ever.

Enrollment for the junior and senior classes in the college of agriculture is larger than it has ever been in the history of the college. There are 143 juniors and 105 seniors registered for the present semester.

This is an increase of forty-four over the 1928-29 record for the two upper classes. Last year there were only 116 juniors and eighty-nine seniors.

These are a few of the choice bits of conversation which echo students of conversation which echo and re-echo in the empty spaces of the Temple theater in the Temple building. Believe it or not they form part of the friendly banter which is carried on by some of the members of Mr. Dwight Kirsch's scenic design class as they work industriously on the stage sets for "The Royal Family," the first play to be given by the University Players one week from today.

Girls dressed in bright red, blue, and green flowered smocks or striped blue overalls walk about with buckets like so many merry milkmaids. But they aren't. For the buckets are full of green paint into which immense brushes are dipped regularly.
