Team Is Due to Arrive in Lincoln at 9 O'clock Monday Morning.

BAND WILL BE PRESENT Larson Urges Students Who Do Not Have Classes to Greet Huskers.

A welcoming rally for the victorious Cornhusker football team will be staged at the Rock Island station Tuesday morning 9 o'clock, according to Eldred "Bub" Larson, president of the Innocents. The Innocents society will sponsor the rally.

ANDERSEN WILL HEAD AWGWAN SALE DRIVE

Release Date of Magazine Is Thursday; Staff Completes Work.

Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity will assist with individual sales of the new August magazine when it is released Thursday according to Harl Andersen, chairman of the organization's committee on sales.

The Awgwan will be released early Thursday morning and sales will start at 8 and continue until 5 o'clock.

A large business and editorial staff has been working diligently for the past month on the Awgwan and that their efforts were not in vain may be definitely proven when the magazine makes its initial appearance of the year Thursday morning.

Weidemann, Visitor in Germany This Summer, Relates Tales of Heidelberg

Student life at the University of Heidelberg is very different from that found in American universities, according to the account given by Prof. C. C. Weidemann who visited the German institution during the course of a European tour last summer.

Classes are run on a somewhat different basis. Although a lecture system like ours is used attendance is voluntary and as long as a student can pass his examinations he is not required to attend any classes.

HERTZLER AIDS PREPARATION OF SOCIOLOGY TEXT

Dr. J. O. Hertzler, chairman of the department of sociology, is collaborating in the preparation of two books this year, The History of Sociology in America, and the second a biographical, analytical, and bibliographical study of the eight leading American sociologists of the older school.

PASSION PLAY WILL HAVE LOCAL CHORUS

Young Directress Comes to Lincoln to Secure Singers. Work on the choruses to sing in the presentation of the Freiburg Passion play, which opens a three days' run in the university coliseum Thursday, Oct. 17, has been begun in earnest under the direction of Miss Dorothy Lewis.

Miss Lewis is a young artist of but twenty-one years and has been with the Freiburg Passion play for some time, in the capacity of organist and pianist. She has broadcast over many radio stations in the country and has played before large audiences, contributing much to the music of the play.

RHODES APPLICANTS WILL MEET MONDAY

State Committees to Pick Five Entrants for Oxford Study. Fifteen applicants for the Rhodes scholarship will meet with the state selection committee in Dean J. D. Hicks' office at the Social Science building Monday afternoon.

Only one man, between the ages of 19 and 25, and unmarried, will be chosen from the state of Nebraska. He will be allowed access to 400 pounds in English money, tenable for two years, beginning Oct. 1, 1930.

Selection will not be based upon an examination, but will be determined by the selection committee on endowments of previous scholarship, moral force and character. Thirty-eight states were allotted single scholarship benefits during 1929.

GRADUATE BOTANY STUDENT WRITES FORESTRY THESIS

Pamphlets carrying the thesis written by J. M. Aikman, a graduate student in the department of botany, on the Distribution of Structure of the Forests of Eastern Nebraska, have been received. Mr. Aikman made the study for his doctorate under Dr. J. E. Weaver, professor of ecology. The thesis embodies a complete study of the forest conditions and types in the eastern portion of the state.

RADIO PARTY HEARS OF HUSKER VICTORY

Temple Holds Enthusiastic Crowd of Supporters of Nebraska.

CROWD CHEERS WILDLY

Play by play returns of the Syracuse-Nebraska football classic were received at the radio football party, sponsored by the Innocents, in the Temple theater Saturday afternoon.

A Victor radio donated by Ross E. Curtice company received the reports which were sent by direct leased wire from Archibald stadium, Syracuse, and broadcast from radio station KFAB.

Jack Elliott was master of ceremonies at the party and manipulated a grid graph which showed the relative position of the ball at all times during the game. The graph, which was mounted on a large standard that extended almost across the entire width of the theater stage, greatly added to the effectiveness of the reports.

THOMPSON EXPLAINS OFFICIAL POSITION

Scholarship Must Not Be Sacrificed According to His Statement. In reporting the statement of Dean of Student Affairs Thompson urging students to support the University Players' productions, the position of the university in regard to house and study rules was not made entirely clear.

Editor of The Daily Nebraskan, The University. Dear Sir: The Daily Nebraskan's reportorial account of my remarks last Wednesday before the Corn Cobs relative to attendance at University plays may leave a wrong impression. Instead of saying that there were no university rules governing the attendance of students at week day affairs, what I believe I said was that I feel reasonably sure that there were no university rules or rules of groups or fraternities that would interfere with attendance at week day plays providing that the scholarship of the student was satisfactory and the proper consent of the group, or of the house mother if it be a sorority, could be obtained.

Moreover, I believe that anyone who is conversant with my attitude on scholarship knows that I would not urge any student, except for illness or sudden death in the family to leave his domicile or interests in the least his study schedule if his scholarship or social standing would thereby be endangered in any way. I certainly would be the last one to urge attendance upon university plays or any other outside activity under such circumstances. There are fraternity and sorority house rules and there are rules of the Association of Women Students which govern all women students.

My request that you publish this letter in order that any wrong impression that may have been received from the account of last Thursday be dispelled. Yours truly, T. J. THOMPSON, Dean of Student Affairs.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Notice of all meetings and student functions will be printed in this column of The Daily Nebraskan if served in the office in the basement of University Hall. Notices should arrive at the Nebraskan office at least two days in advance of the event. Tuesday, Oct. 14. Rally for returning Cornhusker football team, 9 o'clock at Rock Island station.

NEW FRATERNITY WILL AFFILIATE WITH NATIONAL

The Concordia Fraternity, a new organization on the University of Nebraska campus, is an association for Lutheran students and is soon to become affiliated with Beta Sigma Psi, national Lutheran fraternity with its mother chapter at the University of Illinois.

The fraternity does not have closed membership. The purpose of the organization is to band together a group of boys who want to live up to the ideals of their church. There have been several attempts to organize this fraternity here but until this year the efforts have not met with success.

This year, however, according to Rev. H. Brock, Lutheran student pastor and advisor to the fraternity, the club is on a firm footing and is well established on the campus.

FROSH ARE ELIGIBLE TO PERSHING RIFLES

Stanley Day Says Former Ruling Against New Men Revoked.

TRYOUTS ARE TUESDAY. Contrary to the report concerning eligibility of Pershing Rifles, published in The Daily Nebraskan recently, freshmen will be eligible to tryout for this organization. Approximately thirty men will be admitted from the tryouts.

Pershing Rifles is a selective organization co-operative to the R. O. T. C. work taught in the university. Sophomores and freshmen are eligible for membership. Special type drill caps with blue shoulder cord and leather garrison belt are worn by members.

Captain of Pershing Rifles Stanley Day announced Saturday that each man trying out must have a recommendation from his instructor in military sciences. Tryouts will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 5 o'clock on the drill field. If inclement weather is in evidence, the competition will be held in Nebraska hall.

METHODIST COUNCIL HAS FIRST LUNCHEON

Sixty Students Gather to Discuss Problems of Religion. A group of sixty-one persons was present at the initial fellowship luncheon sponsored by the Methodist Student Council.

The purpose of these meetings, as stated by W. C. Fawell, Methodist university pastor, is to furnish an opportunity for Methodist students to get acquainted and deal with vital phases of church life. In addition to Methodist students and faculty members several Methodist preachers from the city churches were present.

Bernice Hoffman, presiding officer, introduced the speakers who dealt with various phases of religious life. Harold Bates spoke on "Church Life at a University Center." Doreen Bailey took up the subject of "How Much Time Has a Student for His Church?" "Between Two Fires" was the subject on which Cleo Packer spoke while Glenn Peathers talked on "How to Succeed in Attracting Student Church Attendance." Mildred Rbor used as her subject, "The Border Line." These speakers represented various Methodist churches of the city.

The leading feature of the luncheon was a speech by Dr. Walter C. Aikman, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, who spoke on "The Student and the Church." His main theme was the relation of the student to the church and the effects which religious devotion had upon his general character. He advised students to imitate the postage stamp in that they should stick to anything which they enter until the end is reached, whether it apply to their church or scholastic life.

FRANCES M'CHESNEY HAS LEAD IN SHOW

Cast for First University Players' Production Is Announced.

TICKET SALE IS LARGE

Francis McChesney, Augusta French, Herbert Yenne, and Dorset Jaik, starring as the members of a theatrical family, carry the important roles in "The Royal Family" which will be given by the University Players for the first time Friday night, Oct. 18, at the Temple.

Miss McChesney, who has often appeared in former university plays, assumes the character part of the old grandmother, Fanny Cavendish, who is the central figure around which the others evolve. Mr. Yenne, also well known to patrons of the Players, takes the main male lead as her erratic son.

Cast of Characters. Miss French is the daughter, Julie, who is at the height of her career as a Broadway star, while Miss Jaik is her daughter, Gwen, who is just beginning to take ingenue roles. The other members of the cast are: Harlan Easton as Herbert Dean, Maurine Drayton as Kitty Le Moyne Dean, Zolley Learner as Oscar Wolfe, Joy Storm as Perry Stewart, George Holt as Gilbert Marshall, Alta Jo, Robert Reade as McDermott, Richard Page as the hall boy, Lee Bennett as the chauffeur, Mrs. Nora Osborn as Miss Peake, Paul Miller as Gunga, and Jo Di Nattie as the bell boy.

MORRILL HALL TALK

Minerals on Exhibition in Museum Are Described. Beginning with the first Thursday in October, the museum again resumed the weekly radio talks concerning the museum. These are delivered by F. G. Collins, assistant curator of the university museum in Morrill hall, at 10 a. m. each Thursday.

This first talk concerned minerals, particularly water. Mr. Collins mentioned bearing a woman who seemed to be conducting a party of friends through the museum, say that she could not get a "kick" out of the mineral exhibit. Owing to the fact that museum workers had recently completed two years work in labeling this section of the exhibits, Mr. Collins said that he felt a trifle disappointed and points out a few of the many interesting things to be seen there.

COLLINS GIVES FIRST MORRILL HALL TALK

ROMANCE IN MINERALS.

The curator said: "Beyond almost every mineral specimen, there was a most interesting, often a highly romantic story. One such story is rather appropriate this morning. As people walk by the mineral cases we frequently hear the remark, 'Why, here is a bottle of water. What on earth is that doing among opals and corundum?' The little phial of water is there because it is quite in its place. A mineral you will remember is by definition a natural substance, without life and of consistent behaviour as to its size and shape, or as we say its crystallization. Water is all this and so is a mineral and has to have its place in a mineral gallery."

ORGANIZED MUSEUM TOURS BEGIN TODAY

Marjorie Shanafelt Will Lead Two Afternoon Entertainments. The Morrill hall art gallery and museum will be open every Sunday afternoon for the benefit of the public. The first organized tour through the art galleries will take place Sunday afternoon. Guides will be provided to instruct the visitors.

Afternoon museum programs will be under the direction of Miss Marjorie Shanafelt. The first showing Sunday afternoon will be for juveniles and the second for adults. "Naturalized Plant Immigrants" is the title of the three reel picture which will be shown in the Morrill hall auditorium at 2:45 and 4 o'clock.

In connection with the museum programs organized tours among the exhibits will take place under the guidance of E. G. Collins, assistant curator of the museum. The tours will start at 3 o'clock.

LITERARY MAGAZINES HONOR LOUISE POUND

Nebraska English Teacher Aids New Publications in Advisory Way. Miss Louise Pound of the department of English has been placed on the advisory board of the new quarterly Folk-Say: a Regional Miscellany.

The quarterly is devoted to the lore and letters of the west and issues from the University of Oklahoma. Others on the advisory board are J. Frank Dobie of the University of Texas, Percy MacKaye, and Edwin Ford Piper of the University of Iowa.

Miss Pound is also on the advisory boards of the new quarterly American Literature, published by the Duke university press, and of the New England Quarterly of History and Letters, published at Harvard. She is the contributor of the articles on American Dialects and American Ballads in the last edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, which has just appeared.

Her article on A Recent Theory of Ballad-Making was printed in the summer issue of the publications of the Modern Language association.

JOURNALS COMMENT ON WEAVER'S TEXT

Favorable comment in both American and foreign scientific journals is being made of the book recently off the press written by Dr. J. E. Weaver of the department of botany. The new book, Plant Ecology, is being adopted as a text in a number of institutions. Dr. Weaver completed the text earlier in the year, and the first printings were out in July.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA GRADUATES MARRY; BOTH WILL TEACH AT PEKING

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lau of 3131 Orchard street have recently announced the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Mr. Kwei Chen, professor in the National University of Peking, China.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Chen were graduated from the University of Nebraska with high honors, and before his return to China Mr. Chen took post graduate work in the University of Wisconsin. He received fellowships in philosophy both here and at that institution. An autobiography of Mr. Chen appeared last year in the Dial, and his English verse and fiction have appeared in a number of American periodicals, among them the Century, the Bookman and the Nation. He is now teaching British and American literature at the National university, with courses in philosophy at two private colleges. Mrs. Chen, last year an instructor in a Peking college, is now giving courses in Chaucer and classic mythology at the University of Peking.
