PLAYERS EXPECT LARGE TURNOUT AT FIRST SHOW

Season Tickets Distribution Triples Sales Made In Other Years.

OFFER 'ROYAL FAMILY'

Initial Production Is Work Of Edna Ferber and George Kaufman.

An unusually large crowd is expected to be present at the opening performance of the University Players at the Temple tonight. The number of student season tickets sold with the assistance of Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, has exceeded the total number sold in previous years by about three times.

Promised at 7:30 the curtain will rise for all evening performances, and 9 a. m. for the Saturday showing which is being held in the morning to eliminate interference with attendance at the Pittsburgh-Nebraska football game.

"The Royal Family," the play which is being produced, is a comedy-drama written by the famous writers, Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman. It concerns the intimate daily life of a theatrical family as represented by the grandmother, the daughter, the granddaughter and the son. They all possess an unquenchable love for the stage and display a stubborn disinclination to leave it.

Leads Announced.

Frances McChesney, Augusta French and Dorset Jeake take the feminine leads, playing the parts of grandmother, daughter and granddaughter, respectively. Herbert Yenne carries the most important masculine part as the eccentric son of the family.

Other members of the cast are: Harlan Easton as Herbert Dean; Maurine Drayton as Kitty Le Moyne Dean; Zolley Lerner as Oscar Wolfe; Joy Storm as Perry Stewart; George Holt as Gilbert Marshall; Altha Reade as Della; Edwin Quinn as Jo; Robert Meade as McDermott; Richard Page as the hall boy; Lee Bennett as the chauffeur; Mrs. Norfa Osborn as Miss Peake; Paul Miller as Gunga; and Jo Di Nattis as the belboy.

Appreciation Expressed.

Miss Alice Howell, head of the dramatic department and director of the Players, in expressing the appreciation of the Players for the support they have received, said: "In opening our fifteenth consecutive season, the University Players wish to express greeting to patrons old and new, an appreciation for the many courtesies shown us in the past."

"We welcome the large student group that has responded so cordially to the season ticket campaign. We welcome the faculty members who year after year have made their contributions of interest and helpful criticism. We welcome the citizens of Lincoln, who through their patronage have been an inspiration to us."

CALL IS MADE FOR RIFLE TEAM TRYOUT

Candidates Will Meet in Andrews Basement Friday Evening.

All candidates for the university rifle team are to meet Friday at 4 o'clock in the basement of Andrews hall. The plans for this year's team include tentatively two shoulder-to-shoulder matches with Des Moines and Missouri, as well as the usual telegraphic matches. A new system of awarding letters is being inaugurated this year. Formerly letters were given on a percentage basis but the six men with the highest percentages will receive letters for this year.

The rifle team had their most successful season last year when they had a score of 360 out of a possible 400 for all matches. The team won 84 percent of its matches last year, a record never before reached by them. The scores are shot from prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions.

The team entered the Hearst trophy match last year and won the trophy for the Middle West division. Philip Bartholomew of Nebraska took first place in the shoulder-to-shoulder match at St. Louis last year.

STUDENTS WILL GIVE FINE ARTS MUSIC PROGRAM

Margaret Cannell, soprano, accompanied by Grace Munn, will present the university school of fine arts convocation at the Temple theater on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7 o'clock.

Miss Cannell's numbers will be as follows: "Oh Come, My Heart's Delight," from The Marriage of Figaro; Mozart: "Le Girometta, Si Bella"; The Rose Complained, Franz: "The Disappointed Servant"; Brahms: "Die Matzsch"; Brahms: "In Italy," Boyd; "Provocational Song," Dell' Acqua.

HUSKERS ATTEND SUMMER SESSION OF MATH SOCIETY

At the thirty-fifth summer meeting of the American mathematical society held in Boulder, Colo., from Aug. 27 to 30 the University of Nebraska was represented by the following three men: Prof. M. G. Gabe, Prof. T. A. Pierce and Prof. C. C. Camp, the latter of which presented a paper on the subject "On multi-parameter expansions associated with a differential system and auxiliary conditions at several points of each."

Professor Camp, since he came to Nebraska in 1927, has published four other papers upon various phases of mathematics. The first three of his papers are as follows: "Logarithms of Large Numbers," "An expansion involving P inseparable parameters associated with a partial differential equation," and "Devices for computing rate together with a statistical study of building and loan associations." The last of Professor Camp's papers is one of the few freshman lectures to be published, the subject being "Contributions of Mathematics to Modern Life."

Promised at 7:30 the curtain will rise for all evening performances, and 9 a. m. for the Saturday showing which is being held in the morning to eliminate interference with attendance at the Pittsburgh-Nebraska football game.

DAIRY JUDGES TAKE FOURTH IN CONTEST

Nebraska Team Places High In National Meet at St. Louis, Mo.

The University of Nebraska dairy products judging team won fourth place in a national contest at St. Louis, Mo., held in connection with the national dairy exposition, Tuesday, Oct. 15, in which fifteen agricultural college teams throughout the United States competed.

Guy McReynolds, Fairfield, Neb., was the fifth highest individual in the judging of all products, and Dwight Anderson, Ogallala, Neb., was second highest in scoring ice cream.

In the dairy cattle judging contest, John Munn, Waverly, Neb., was the third highest individual in the judging of Holsteins and the fourth in placing Guernsey cattle.

The two teams representing the University of Nebraska were composed of the following men: dairy judging team, Guy McReynolds, Fairfield; Dwight Anderson, Ogallala; Cyril Winkler, Lexington; and Marvin Elgheny, Eddyville. Dairy cattle team: John Munn, Waverly; Guy McReynolds, Fairfield; Dwight Anderson, Ogallala; and Hance Phipps, Lincoln.

The various college teams ranked as follows: Dairy products: Ohio, first; Purdue, second; Iowa, third; Nebraska, fourth; Oregon, fifth. Dairy cattle: Missouri, first; Tennessee, second; Kansas, third; Oklahoma, fourth; Ohio, fifth; Nebraska, seventh.

The dairy team had their most successful season last year when they had a score of 360 out of a possible 400 for all matches. The team won 84 percent of its matches last year, a record never before reached by them. The scores are shot from prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions.

INTERESTS OFFER AWARDS FOR 4-H CLUB MEMBERS

Working through the extension service of the college of agriculture the following prizes are being offered to county champions in 4-H work. The Nebraska poultry interests are offering five trips to the 1930 club week to county champion poultry club workers. The Quaker Oats company is offering a national scholarship of $300 to the national champion poultry club member each year. This money is to be applied toward college education. The Quaker company is also offering medals to county 4-H members.

Harlan Peterson of Valley, a freshman at agriculture college is going to school on money earned in 4-H work. Many other students in high schools are planning to come to the university and go to school the same way.

PANTHERS INVADE CORNHUSKER CAMP

RAY MONTGOMERY - TACKLE OR CENTER

Five of Pittsburgh's stellar football players, who will play against Nebraska Saturday, give the easterners a basis for their hopes of a mythical national championship team. The Pitt squad received an enthusiastic sendoff when it boarded the train last Wednesday to begin its journey into the west country and the home of the mighty Cornhusker.

RAILROAD RATES TO MISSOURI ARE LESS

Burlington Offers Student Round Trip at $13.61, Says Kaufman.

Student railroad rates to the Missouri-Nebraska football game at Columbia, Oct. 26 are the lowest ever offered in the history of the railroads, according to H. P. Kaufman, manager of the Burlington city ticket office. The student rate is $13.61 for the round trip.

Yesterday's Nebraskan stated that round trip rates to Columbia were considerably higher this year than they had been in previous years. This is true in regard to the Nebraska football team which will be compelled to pay the regular fare and a third rate to Kansas City and the double local fare to Kansas City to Columbia, making the fare around $18.13 in all. But it is not true in regard to student rates, according to Kaufman.

Kaufman stated that an erroneous report had been circulated to the effect that the Burlington railroad in Nebraska had brought about the increased rate to the varsity team. This is not true, he stated, since the increased rate is being brought about by the Wabash railroad in Missouri.

The Nebraska football team is the only outstate team visiting Missouri this year which has been refused special rates by the Wabash railroad there. Special rates have been made to the two Kansas university teams which will play in Missouri Nov. 2 and 16, and to the Oklahoma university team which will play there Nov. 28. Although the Wabash has refused the varsity team rates, they have made a special on student transportation.

AMANDA HEPPNER TALKS TO COEDS AFTER LUNCHEON

Amanda Heppner talked at the first luncheon held this year by the girls' commercial club at the chamber of commerce Thursday noon. She discussed "Personal Qualities Necessary in Business and Professions." Among the qualities she stressed were loyalty to employer, and poise.

His stories win real friendships," said the August issue of Outdoor America in an editorial column, "and he introduces them to his readers so charmingly and understandingly that you know them, their problems and passions, loves and loyalties, and come to be fond of them."

Dean Le Rossignol's signature appears quite frequently over stories in the Outdoor America, and a recent story, "A Question of Versatility," appearing in that magazine was well received by the reading public.

Among some of the stories which have made Dean Le Rossignol famous in the realm of literature are "The Beauport Road," "Little Stories of Quebec" and "Jean Baptiste." The dean was recently elected to a membership in the Canadian authors' association.

CANDIDATE CHECK DIRECTORY NAMES BEFORE PRINTING

Alphabetical lists of the student directory have all been posted in social sciences during the past few weeks. Wednesday afternoon the corrections were completed and the lists taken down. The letters to H have all been set up and the proofs are in the hands of the Lincoln telephone company which is checking the numbers.

Faculty lists were posted at noon Thursday and will be left for a day or two. Faculty members are urged to make their corrections at once.

M'CHESNEYS MANAGE TO DIVIDE PUBLICITY

"I'm not a University Player, but thanks for the publicity," explained Helen McChesney, whose picture appeared in Wednesday's issue of The Daily Nebraskan as the feminine lead in "The Royal Family."

Frances McChesney will play the lead role, contrary to misinformation received by The Nebraskan Tuesday.

"It's all in the family, anyway," concluded Helen, sister of Frances.

TASSELS MANAGE SALE OF RED 'N FEATHERS AGAIN

Red "N" feathers will be sold to Nebraska fans before the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game Saturday, according to an announcement made after a meeting of Tassels, women's pep club, Thursday evening.

The Tassels will handle the sale and are requested by Edna Schrock, the president of the organization, to be on the campus at 11:45 Saturday morning. Returns from the sale will be used to outfit the Nebraskans. R. O. T. C. band in new caps.
