

NEBRASKA FROSH LOOSE TO SOONER IN 2-0 SKIRMISH

Cherry Tackles Dunn Back Of Nebraska Goal in Second Quarter.

MUDDY SOD SLOWS UP

Husker Yearlings Suffer Outdowning at Hands Of Southboys.

Nebraska's yearling team lost to the Oklahoma freshmen at Norman Saturday afternoon 2-0, when Dunn was tackled behind the goal line for an Oklahoma safety. The Husker freshmen battled valiantly on a muddy field that turned the game into a punting duel.

The safety which chalked the game up for Oklahoma was scored in the second quarter through Cherry's tackle. The Sooner frosh marched down the field, coming to a stop of Nebraska's 7-yard line. Sims, Robinson and Walker brought the ball that far and Walker slipped through for an additional six yards, placing the ball on Nebraska's 3-yard line.

With the pigskin a yard from a touchdown, the Nebraska freshmen held, making the Sooners relinquish the ball on downs. At this point Cherry made the deciding tackle behind Nebraska's goal.

According to statistics, the Huskers were outdowned 8 to 4. Dunn's punting brought the Nebraska kick average above Oklahoma's with an average of 35 yards for thirteen kicks.

Husker Captain

Captain George Farley.

Capt. George Farley, Cornhusker halfback, scored all thirteen points in the Husker-Sooner game Saturday in one of the greatest ball lugging exhibitions turned in by the Nebraska back this year. Farley with Red Young and Bud McBride carried the work of the ball taking department.

HUSKER FANS STAGE FRIDAY NIGHT RALLY

Coach Bible and Members Of Staff Give Talks; Squad Attends.

Husker fans gathered Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock forming a parade at Seventeenth and R streets, led by the university band, and marched down Sixteenth, and fourteenth streets to the coliseum, where a rally was staged in anticipation of the Husker-Sooner game. Plans for a bonfire on the drill field had previously been abandoned on account of bad weather.

Coach Dana Bible and other members of the coaching staff, with the exception of Freshman Coach Rhodes, who is in Oklahoma with the freshman squad, attended, and gave short talks. The entire football squad of sixty-seven were present. Captain Farley introduced members of the Husker team to the fans. It was hoped that "Bennie" Owen, who has coached the Sooner gridsters for the past twenty years, and is now athletic director of Oklahoma university, would be present, but Owen could not attend.

Edred Larson, president of the Innocents society, was in charge and started the program by introducing Coach Bible. Bible, in turn, introduced other members of the coaching staff. Coach Henry F. "Indian" Schulte concluded the rally program with a talk on school spirit. Yell King "Mike" Charters, led the Huskers in yells.

Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, conducted sorority house rallies, ending up at the coliseum at 7:15 o'clock. The Tassel, women's pep organization, and the R. O. T. C. band helped to make the rally a success, according to Jack Elliott, member of the Innocents committee in charge.

Sidelights on the Husker-Sooner Game

It took just exactly four plays for Oklahoma's Sooners to score a touchdown on Nebraska following the opening kickoff. The plays included two which netted a first down, a pass from Warren to Mills good for 50 yards, which placed the ball on the one-yard line, and a drive over center by Crider.

Then to make matters worse, Nebraska was offside on the try for point, which made it count, despite the fact that the kick was wide.

An entire game without Clair Sloan, perhaps Nebraska's greatest offensive back, was the unusual sight offered to Cornhusker grid fans. Apparently Coach Dana Bible is saving his swift protegee for the K Aggies game at Manhattan next week.

Three tie games out of six in Nebraska's unusual record of the year.

Nebraska's first five passes in the game were completed, a record performance for the Husker machine this year.

Three ends who will offer all-conference team selectors a problem this year were on the field Saturday. They were Hokuf, Morrison, and the redoubtable Tom Churchill, of considerable past fame. The three of them are all adept artists at their positions.

OKLAHOMA HARRIERS TRIM HUSKER SQUAD

Sooner Trotters Get Best End of 24-35 Score With Nebraska.

Oklahoma's harriers were too much for the Nebraska team Saturday afternoon, winning the meet with a low total of 24 to Nebraska's 35. Dawson, the first man to breast the tape, put on a thrilling finish, with Griffen chasing him clear up to the end of the race. Griffen made a valiant effort to overtake the flying Sooner, but apparently Dawson had plenty in reserve, for he successfully put off the challenge. The winner's time was very fast, completing the course in 26.43.

Sprague came into the last lap, with Dudley, a Sooner man, thirty yards in front of him, but Lonnie made up that distance just after they hit the homestretch. Dudley, however, pulled out and won fourth place by a shade. If Sprague had put in his bid just a trifle stronger, the point score would have been somewhat closer.

Etherton, who finished seventh, was fighting for a higher rating clear up until the time his opponent breached the tape. As it was he came within a step of taking the race from his Sooner opponent. Just after Etherton finished, the last two Missouri harriers crossed the finish, to hand Nebraska their second defeat of the season. Williams of the Nebraska team was unable to finish, due to a cramp that he got just before he reached the gates of the stadium.

Due to the way other teams have run against Nebraska this year, it appears that Oklahoma has the strongest team in the Big Six. With a man like Dawson, they are bound to go a long way toward winning the championship. Before the race, Coach Schulte said that twenty-seven minutes would be plenty good time, but three men ran the race in less than that time.

All of the Nebraska men ran very good races, but it seemed that each time, one of the Oklahoma men had a little more in reserve. The order in which the men finished: Dawson, O. first; Griffen, N. second; Moore, O. third; Dudley, O. fourth; Sprague, N. fifth; Barrett, O. sixth; Etherton, N. seventh; Davidson, O. eighth; Phillips, O. ninth; Garvey, N. tenth; and Fullrott, N. eleventh.

NEBRASKA WILL OPEN DEBATE SEASON HERE

University's Forensic Team Meets Oxford Group Thursday Night

USE QUESTION OF JURY

University of Nebraska opens its home debate season, Thursday, Nov. 21, when the Nebraska team meets the Oxford university debating team from England, in St. Paul's M. E. church at 7:30 o'clock. The Nebraska team takes the negative side of the jury question, "Resolved, that the jury system is unnecessary for justice."

The three English debaters are just now completing the western swing of their debate tour of the United States, meeting Leland Stanford, the University of California and Pomona college before invading Nebraska. They come to Lincoln from Hastings, where the team will meet Hastings college, Wednesday, Nov. 20.

The Oxford debate this year will be the one international debate of the season. Last year the Nebraska team entertained the University of Sidney, Australia, debaters.

Give Team Personnel.

The University of Nebraska team is composed of Evert M. Hunt, Alan G. Williams and Frank B. Morrison, and that of Oxford university, B. J. M. MacKenna, W. J. K. Diplock and Richard Acland.

MacKenna was born in Bray, County Wicklow, Ireland, in 1897. He received his early schooling at Belvedere college, Dublin, and Clongowes Wood college, Salina, both Jesuit schools. After taking the degree of bachelor of arts at University college, Dublin, he spent a year in the University of Berlin studying classics. The past three years, MacKenna has been a student at Oxford, writing a thesis on the Greek novel and studying law.

Have Versatile Man.

Athlete, scholar, politician and journalist complete the record of W. J. K. Diplock, another member of the Oxford team. He has studied four years in chemistry at Oxford, and is now reading law and studying journalism. He has been coxswain for the Oxford crew in three important races. He is a staunch Tory in politics. Besides being a member of the staff of two Oxford papers, Diplock has written a biography of the prince of Wales, articles on the royal family and is now writing on "The Future of Oxford."

Richard Acland comes from a famous English family, tracing back to the time Charles I made baronets of them for financial assistance and for defense against Oliver Cromwell. Colonel Acland, an ancestor, raised an army to fight American colonial rebels, but was captured by General Gates on the Hudson. The last five generations of the Acland family have sat in parliament. The grandfather of the debater was in Gladstone's cabinet and the father in the treasury department at the start of the late war. Young Acland is studying to be a barrister.

Nebraska Men Experienced.

The three members of the University of Nebraska team are experienced debaters. Evert M. Hunt is a senior in the college of law. He has had four years of college debating experience and was a member of the Nebraska team that met Sidney last year. He is a member of Sigma Nu and Delta Sigma Rho, debate fraternity.

Alan G. Williams is a junior in the university, taking prelaw. He has been prominent in campus activities during the last two years, being identified with the organization of the nonfraternity students at the university. Last year he was a member of the Nebraska team that met the University of Colorado and Drake university.

The third member of the Nebraska team, Frank B. Morrison, was a member of the Kansas State Agricultural college debate team before coming to Nebraska where he has been a member of the Cornhusker teams also. Morrison is a junior in the college of law, a member of Pi Kappa Delta and Delta Sigma Rho, debate fraternities, and Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity.

University Has Seven Scholarships, $100 Each, for Outstanding Students

The University of Nebraska now has available seven scholarships of $100 each, to be presented to outstanding students following the Christmas vacation. Applications and recommendations for these scholarships must be made in writing to the chancellor's office before Dec. 1. The names of students receiving these scholarships will be published prior to the Christmas vacation and the money presented to the students before the beginning of the second semester.

These scholarships of $100 each have been made available through the generosity of prominent alumni and friends of the institution.

Henry C. Bostwick Scholarships. Three scholarships of $100 each have been created as a memorial to Henry C. Bostwick, by Prof. F. N. Menefee of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. C. R. Massey of Washington, D. C.

One Hundred Dollar Scholarship. A donation of $100, to be given annually, was first made in January, 1929, by a Nebraska banker, a university graduate, to be used for a scholarship for a worthy student to be selected by university authorities.

Edward Lang True Memorial Scholarship.

The Edward Lang True memorial scholarship of $100 was founded by Charles H. True, '98, of East Chicago, Ind., in memory of his father, Edward Lang True of Schuyler, Neb., to be presented to some worthy student at the discretion of university officials. The student may be registered in any of the colleges of the university.

Jefferson H. Broady Scholarship. Named in honor of the late Judge Jefferson H. Broady, formerly a member of the law college faculty and prominent Nebraska lawyer, a donation of $2,000 was made to the university trust fund by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Clark of Guilford, Md., in December, 1928. Mr. Clark graduated from the university in 1906 and Mrs. Clark in 1907. Returns on the fund, $100 per year, are used for a scholarship to a needy and worthwhile student.

W. H. Sawyer Scholarship. The W. H. Sawyer scholarship fund for engineers, was established in 1929 by W. H. Sawyer, '94, of New York City. It is provided that the annual income, $100, shall each year be paid to a student of the college of engineering. Only upper classmen shall be eligible, with the preference for electrical engineers.

Philosophy Scholarship. The philosophy scholarship of $100, presented through the generosity of an alumnus in Chicago, has already been awarded for this year.

Unless otherwise indicated, the scholarships are available to any undergraduate student of the University of Nebraska but preference will be given to students in their junior and senior years.

The basis of award will be scholarship itself, and future expectations of usefulness, as indicated by accomplishments during the student's university course.

It will be considered had form for students who can afford an education or whose parents or relatives can afford an education to apply for one of these scholarships. This regulation is following the traditions of large eastern universities.

Students who are already holding scholarships, fellowships or positions with regular salary from the university are not eligible to receive one of these scholarships.

The faculty may recommend in writing to the chancellor such students as seem worthy of the scholarships. Students may also file their own written applications.

AVIATORS SPEAK TO AREONAUTICAL CLUB

Inspector Says Many Plane Pilots Who Smash up Are Unlicensed

Richard Lees, district supervising inspector of the department of commerce, and Sergeants McMillan and Smith of the photographic section of the aeronautics division of the United States army, spoke at the special meeting of the American Aeronautical association in the mechanical engineering building Friday night.

Mr. Lees explained the work of the department of commerce, telling of the various airplane tests carried out. Anyone traveling by airplane should ask to see the aviator's license because the greater part of airplane crashes are due to unlicensed pilots, according to Mr. Lees.

"Aerial photography" was the subject of Sergeant McMillan's talk. Aerial photography is an excellent means of mapping a country because the layman can easily locate himself, and the map is much more accurate, according to Sergeant McMillan. Aerial maps of a country can be made in a few hours that would require several weeks if surveyed and plotted.

Following the talks four reels of motion pictures were shown on Lieutenants Wade, Smith and Nelson's round-the-world flight which was made several years ago.

DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES FINAL HARRIER RACE

Weather Man Interferes in Scheduling of Greek Distance Runs.

Unless the weather man again frowns on intramural athletics, the final hare and hound race of the year will be run Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock, according to an announcement today from the intramural athletics office.

Director Rudolph Vogeler today warned all fraternities which do not have an average of at least eight men in each race to make up their average in the final run. Unless the average is eight or above, the team's points do not count.

Announcement of the starting place will be posted on the bulletin board of the south dressing room in the stadium.

The Tuesday before Thanksgiving, Nov. 26, will be the date of the first all university cross country run, in which fraternity men and Barbs alike can compete. Medals will be given to the first six men. The first place winner will get a gold one. Two silver and three bronze medals will go to second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth finishers, respectively.
