COED COLONEL'S PRESENTATION IS FIXED FOR BALL

Candidate Elected in Fall Will Be Introduced in Opening Formal.

MAKE CEREMONY PLANS

Coliseum Will Be Darkened At 10 O'clock; Lights Play on Stage.

Presentation of the 1929-30 honorary colonel has been arranged by the military department and will take place Friday evening at the twenty-first annual military ball in the coliseum. The honorary colonel is elected in the fall of each year by the entire student body and is announced and introduced at the military ball, opening formal of the season on the University of Nebraska campus.

Six university women were listed as candidates at the fall election, sponsored by the student council. They are: Opal Ayres, Alpha Chi Omega; Elizabeth Craft, Delta Gamma; Helen Manning, Kappa Alpha Theta; Maxine Mathers, Pi Beta Phi; Blenda Newlin, Delta Eta; and Edna Schrick, Alpha Xi Delta.

The presentation will be staged at 10 o'clock, the party starting at 8:30 o'clock. At that hour the lights all over the coliseum will be extinguished and a series of bright floodlights will be focused on the center of the stage, in the north end of the coliseum.

Two pages, suitably costumed, will make their entrance into the lighted area of the stage. They will stop in the center and after raising their trumpets and sounding a bugle call will step back to the curtain. Each page will take one curtain and draw it back, disclosing the 1929-30 honorary colonel.

Cadet Colonel Appears.
The cadet colonel, Phillip Bartholomew, will march up the steps and join the honorary colonel. They will walk the entire length of the coliseum floor, through a double file of cadet officers and their sponsors. At the south end of the floor they will separate, the honorary colonel walking around one side of the file and the cadet colonel marching around the other. They will meet at the north end of the floor and lead the traditional grand march of the military ball.

Photographers will be present to take pictures of various scenes in the military ball. The presentation of the honorary colonel for many years has caused outstate comment and because of its secrecy is featured in papers throughout Nebraska.

Ruth Baker, Alpha Phi, was elected honorary colonel for 1928-29 and introduced at the ball last year. The scheme of presentation involved the creation of an airplane effect. Miss Baker arrived on the stage of the coliseum in an airplane, her arrival heralded by the flashing of lights on the model landing field and the roar of a plane's motor.

DRAMATIC CLUB HAS NEW PLAN OF TRIAL

All Students Are Eligible To Compete Following Rearrangement.

EXPECT MORE TALENT

Under a new plan of organization, the Dramatic club will hold tryouts Thursday, Dec. 5, at 7 o'clock in the Dramatic club room in the Temple. According to arrangement adopted by the club members, tryouts will be restricted to no one and students are eligible for tryout from any department in the university.

It is the opinion of the majority of members of the organization that more and diversified talent will be acquired with the departmental ban removed. Students trying out will not be expected to memorize their speeches as portions of plays will be given to all to read, and blanks will be filled out with the necessary data for eligibility for membership.

The Dramatic club in the past has staged many popular productions, but according to the new plan, will write and produce their own stage shows. The club is an extra-curricular activity which is entirely elective and work carried on as a group is undertaken during each semester.

KLUSMAN RESIGNS HIS JOB AS CAMPUS NIGHT PATROLMAN

Night campus patrolman, Edward Klusman, resigned his position Monday evening. Operating superintendent, L. F. Seaton announced that there has been no one employed, as yet, to succeed him, and the position will probably remain vacant for some time. Seaton also stated that the officer was to have been re-elected from service the first of the year.

Coeds Shiver in Nervousness as Date Of Colonel Presentation Approaches

As the evening of Nebraska's opening formal draws near, nervous coeds feel rather air-minded, or flighty. On that memorial night the honorary colonel, lady fair of the R. O. T. C. regiment, will be presented before the assemblage of state dignitaries and university students who attend the formal curtain raiser.

Elected in the fall amid the excitement of electioneering and factional voting, the identity of the 1929-30 honorary colonel has been kept a dark and mysterious secret. Six coeds are in the running, but the one who finishes will go down in history as a personality in the military department.

Reveal Presentations.
Particulars concerning the presentation of the honorary colonel which appears in this issue of The Nebraskan. This account, naturally, does not include a description of the stamper of photographers that will appear on the scene immediately after the newly recognized

SCHRAMM ATTENDS GREEK CONFERENCE

Nebraska Professor Goes To Recent Session of Professionals.

Prof. E. F. Schramm, of the department of geology, attended the Professional Interfraternity conference held at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago on Friday and Saturday. Professor Schramm represented all chapters of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary national geological fraternity, at the conference. He is grand vice president of the fraternity.

The organization of the Professional Interfraternity conference is now in its third year. It discusses problems common to the professional fraternities, its chief purpose being to provide mutual aid to various organizations. It was decided at this conference that no honorary fraternity might consider itself one of the group of professional fraternities.

Following its discussion by the assistant dean of men of the University of Illinois, it was decided by the body that all university fraternities should abolish probation or "hell" week. There will be strenuous agitation for its elimination from all colleges which now have such an institution.

Methods of standardizing the large numbers of college departmental papers and magazines were discussed in detail. At present no unity exists between various departments in different universities, and steps will be taken to bring about more co-operation.

A committee was appointed to publish a short concise history of each professional fraternity for the purpose of providing more general information concerning the fraternities than now exists. The conference which was well attended had delegates from all parts of the United States.

GILLESPIE'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Rites for University Man Are to Take Place in Omaha Church.

DIES FOLLOWING CRASH

Funeral of George H. Gillespie, college of engineering senior who died in Hastings Monday afternoon, will be held in Omaha Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be held at Kountze Memorial church.

Gillespie's death was caused by a fractured skull which he received in an auto accident near Hastings Sunday night. The Buick sedan in which he was riding with two other companions overturned, hit the guy wire to a telephone post and threw all the occupants of the car clear. Gillespie was the only one injured. His death came Monday afternoon, twenty-two hours after the accident occurred.

Cause of the accident was the extremely bright lights of approaching cars which blinded the driver of the Buick and made him turn out too far to the side of the road. A loose dirt shoulder on the edge of the road resulted in the overturning of the car and the crash down an embankment.

The entire Sigma Nu fraternity, of which Gillespie was a member, is making preparations to attend the funeral. Eight fraternity brothers will serve as pall bearers. They are Arthur Zeimer, Lincoln; John Trout, Omaha; Don Campbell, Stamford; Neal Bailey, McCook; John McKnight, Auburn; Ray Coffey, Hastings; Everett Hunt, Lincoln, and Merrill Plimpton, Glenwood, Ia.

Student Volunteers Will Meet Thursday

The student volunteers will meet at Wesley foundation parsonage Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Blanche Georgia will lead the discussion on the book, "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem," by Helen Barrett Montgomery.

Grimes Reviews Inside Conditions of University of Nebraska in Magazine

"When Nebraskans think of their university, they think first of those great Cornhuskers, the football team that so persistently and disconcertingly crushes the best the east or west or middle-west has to offer. There is a fierce and exulting state pride in that team, and when it loses, there is no farm relief, that's all."

Thus does George Grimes, literary editor of the Omaha World-Herald, write in the January issue of College Humor in his article on the University of Nebraska. The article is one of a series running in College Humor on colleges and universities throughout the country. Grimes entered Nebraska in 1914 and attended school here for three years but did not come back to take a degree.

Beauty Abounds.
Well dressed men, good looking coeds, a fine spirit in the student body, a fairly good faculty despite losses to richer schools and an excellent literary quarterly are some of the things Grimes praises in the University of Nebraska. He laments the lack of traditions and flags unmercifully The Daily Nebraskan.

Sarcastically he tells of May day ceremonies. "Then there is the tradition of Ivy day. This is still stoutly maintained by a faction of plunderbund students who enjoy the committee chairmanships, but it raises little more than a tolerant yawn from everybody else."

Comments on Queen.
"It has its pretty points, however. First of all, with great secrecy the senior girls elect a May Queen. Usually they have the wit to elect a pretty girl. Sometimes they choose one who is just a nice girl. Then the pictures in the Lincoln papers aren't so good and the May Queen never makes the New York Times rotogravure."

Mr. Grimes relates facts that will be news to university students when he tells of the passing of the honorary societies. "Even the venerable T. N. E.," he says, "of sacred memory is only (Continued on Page 2, Col 4.)"

DEBATERS BROADCAST DISCUSSION OF JURY

Nebraska, Denver Forensic Representatives Talk On KFAB Friday.

A radio debate was broadcast over radio station KFAB of Lincoln on the jury question Friday afternoon, Nov. 29. The question was: "The jury system in criminal courts in the United States should be abolished." Nebraska had the second affirmative and the first negative speeches; the University of Denver had the first affirmative and second negative speeches. The debate lasted seventy minutes and was broadcast from the university studio.

The names of the speakers in the order in which they appeared was given. Affirmative, Miss Alma

Brown and Lloyd Pospisbel; negative, Nathan H. Levy and Miss Evelyn Hellerstein. Letters complimenting this debate have been received, according to Prof. H. A. White, president of the debating league. The reports are that the listeners enjoyed these debates and desire others.

Plans are being made to sponsor at least two or three other radio debates this year. The exact time for holding these debates has not been decided upon.

DOCTORS JOURNEY TO CHICAGO FOR ANNUAL SESSION

Dr. Lewis Van Es and Dr. H. M. Martin, both of the department of animal pathology, are in Chicago, where they are attending the annual conference of the research workers of the American Livestock Sanitation association. Dr. Van Es will read a paper on, "Sources of Tuberculosis," before the convention and Dr. Martin will read one on, "Tuberculosis—Typing Results and Typing Methods."

Musgrave stated there was some talk about using a mixed cast of men and women in the Kosmet spring show, but that nothing definite had been decided yet. Three or four different people are writing plays now from which the club will select the spring show, he said. The spring presentation will not be taken on the road as has been the custom in the last few years. Instead it will have a three day run in Lincoln, probably the first week in April.

Activities of the club will be limited to three events, this year, according to the business manager. These are the Thanksgiving Morning show, Interfraternity ball, and spring show. The Interfraternity ball will be sponsored by the Interfraternity council but proceeds will go to the club. No midnight benefit or afternoon cabarets, formerly a custom with the club, will be held this year.

KOSMET CLEARS $300 PROFIT ON MORNING REVUE

Business Manager States His Approval Following Annual Show.

DIVIDE FOR CREDITORS

Sum Helps With Fire Debt And Klub Plans for Spring Comedy.

Approximately $300 was cleared by Kosmet Klub on the Thanksgiving Morning revue recently staged, according to a statement made yesterday by James Musgrave, business manager. He stated that gross receipts were $511 and although all bills are not in yet, the net profit will be in the vicinity of $300. This money will be pro-rated among the club's creditors, Musgrave said.

"The sum cleared on the Thanksgiving Morning show is greatly appreciated by the club," declared the business manager. "It will help in lowering our debt. Because of the fine co-operation exhibited by the people who took part in the show and the splendid interest in the club shown by the large audience which attended the revue, we wish to take this means of thanking them all. I am well satisfied with the crowd which attended and the net profits were able to clear."
