OMAHA WOMAN TALKS ON RACIAL EQUALITY

Mrs. Crawford Says Negro Wants Only Chance To Advance.

"It is not social equality with the white race, but an equal opportunity for advancement that the negro is seeking," according to Mrs. Charlotte Crawford of Omaha. She spoke at a joint meeting of Sophomore commission Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Crawford stated that there was no such bug-a-bear in the negro's creed as a desire for social equality with the white race.

The speaker, who was formerly a girl reserve secretary in the Omaha schools, and worked with the Y. W. C. A. in Denver, has done a great deal toward encouraging efforts for advancement among her race. She praised the work done by the interracial commissions on university campuses, and considers that they have done much to bring about the most beneficial attitude among students of different races. Almost all of the universities in the United States encourage interracial study groups, she stated.

Race Advances Rapidly.

According to some, the negro has a great deal to do in the way of self-betterment and advancement. Mrs. Crawford added, but we find no other race which has made the progress it has made in the length of time it has had, and the disadvantages it has had to overcome. The speaker pointed out many instances in which negroes had risen to high positions in the field of economics, banking, commerce, science and medicine. There are more than five hundred negro colleges and normal schools in America.

"If we understand the negro and know what he is attempting to do, and the problems he must face, we will be more willing and competent to help him," Mrs. Crawford concluded. "It is not a question of merit, but one of color that the negro is constantly bucking up against."

Aha, Fellow Students! Here's a Real Deadline--The Old Term Paper Bogie!

Another deadline is fast approaching when those students who have been continually postponing the writing of that term paper will have a last chance to redeem themselves in the eyes of their professors.

As the end of the semester draws near the usual horde of students who have always been going to "write it next week" rush to the library with a list of references from which they hope to produce a masterpiece which will represent their constant study in that course.

Although this situation is quite noticeable at the library at the end of each semester the rush does not seem to be so great this year as it has been in times past, in the opinion of the library staff. The more recent tendency of professors

Y. W. C. A. IS GOING TO COLLECT ALL OF OLD PLEDGES

Pledges made for the Y. W. C. A. finance drive held before Christmas must be collected by the end of this semester, according to Sue Hall, president. Four hundred dollars pledged in the drive have not been yet collected, and the Y. W. C. A. is asking for the co-operation of the students in finishing the campaign, she said yesterday.

Two hundred dollars, a part of the budget for sending the president and general secretary to conference, is being raised by the conference staff, of which Helen McAnulty is chairman. The money is made by selling candy, Christmas cards and Japanese prints. The prints were imported just a few weeks ago, and may still be purchased.

PLAYERS PICK FINE CAST IN NEXT PLAY

Curtain Will Rise at First Showing of Comedy on Friday, Jan. 17.

STAGE EFFECTS EXCELL

An unusually excellent cast has been chosen for "The Queen's Husband," by Robert Sherwood, which will be given by the University Players starting Friday, Jan. 17. The king will be played by Maurice Ramsay, the queen by Maurine Drayton, the Princess Anne by Mildred Orr, the young secretary who falls in love with the princess by Walter Vogt, and General Northrup by W. Zolney Lerner. The following supporting cast has been selected: Edwin Quinn as Phipps; Richard Page as Lord Betty; Paul Thompson as Pety; Eleanor Foley, Doris Hosman, and Gertrude Sullivan as ladies in waiting; Art Singley as Major Bient; Arthur Gifford as a soldier; Harlan G. Easton as Dr. Fellman; Jere Mickle as Prince William, and Al Tiffany as Laker.

Royalty at Home.

The play deals with the home life of the royal family of an anonymous kingdom located somewhere in the North sea. The scene is laid in the king's private office in the royal palace. During the second act an entire revolution takes place. Those attending the play are assured of some realistic effects in a revolutionary way by Bob Read, stage manager, who witnessed "Journey's End" in Omaha a short time ago and promises effects equally as good.

"The Queen's Husband" is a pure comedy satire, without a serious moment. Laughs aplenty await those who patronize the Players.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER IS NOW IN PREPARATION

Winter Issue Will Include Brief Stories, Poems And Features.

The winter number for 1930 of the Prairie Schooner, to be published in the near future, is the last number of Volume IV. Three volumes of the magazine have already been published.

According to Dr. L. C. Wimberly, instructor in English of the University of Nebraska and editor of the magazine, this issue will be filled with works of well known men and women from all parts of the country.

The winter number contains three stories, "The Dappled Fawn" by William March of New York City; "Along a Sandy Road," by Ellen Bishop of Omaha; and "A Morning's Episode," by Doris Eaples of York, Neb.

Other Articles.

In addition to the usual number of poems the next Prairie Schooner contains several articles and essays, one of them a discussion by John D. Hicks, dean of the college of arts and sciences, on "Lincoln, The Defender of Democracy." Norman E. Eliason, instructor in the English department, and Joe Deming, student in the university, are other contributors of short articles. The quarterly will contain the usual feature sections "Crossroads," "Bibliana," and "Ox Cart."

Definite action will have to be taken soon, according to Lawlor, because fraternities are making plans for rushing next fall and we are asking them to await the formulation of rules by the council. There is some talk of having duplicate cards printed to be used by the council.

AG COLLEGE SHOWS RISE IN ATTENDANCE

More Students Register Than During Last of Previous Year.

TIME CUT TO TWO DAYS

Final results of the registration in the college of agriculture show a decrease from the number which was registered the first semester, but an increase over the number registered for the second semester last year.

Five hundred and forty students cleared their registration through Dean W. W. Burr's office before the deadline, which was set for Tuesday, was reached. Six hundred and twelve students enrolled in the college of agriculture for the first semester and five hundred and thirty-four for the second semester last year.

Registration in the agricultural college was especially hurried and hectic because it had to be completed in two days. A week is usually allowed for the undertaking, but registration was postponed from last week because of the meetings of Organized Agriculture, which were held on the campus. It was necessary that the registration be completed by Tuesday so that the slips could be sent to the assignment committee by Wednesday.

Everyone was satisfactorily taken care of according to Dean Burr. The heaviest registration occurred on Monday. Graduate students will register the first two weeks in the new semester according to Dr. F. W. Upson, dean of the graduate college.

AG Y. M. C. A. NAMES NOMINATING GROUP

Wendell Groth Appointed Head of Estes Park Camp Body.

The nominating committee, which will name the candidates for officers of the newly established Y. M. C. A. on the agricultural campus, was selected at the meeting of the university Y. M. C. A. cabinet Tuesday night. The meeting was held in the Temple cafeteria and presided over by Lee Rankin, president of the cabinet.

Prof. T. H. Gooding, of the department of agronomy, and Prof. J. O. Rankin of the department of rural economics, were named as the faculty advisors of the committee. The students named on the committee were: Theodore Menke, Claude Groth, and John Reimers. Groth Heads Delegation.

The appointment of Wendell Groth to the chairmanship of the Estes Park student committee was announced at the meeting. The annual encampment will be held June 6 to 16 this year.

Glen Hutchinson, who has charge of the hospital visitation work, made a report of his activities. Plans were made for sending out "cheer up" cards to the students who are ill.

Hutchinson visits regularly the university men who are in the Lincoln hospital and infirmary. The committee in charge of the Freshman council also made a report of its work.

COUNCIL COMMITTEE ON RUSHING MEETS

Eight Sets of Rulings on Rush Week Discussed By Group Today.

The rushing rules committee of the Interfraternity council will meet at the Delta Tau Delta house today to formulate a completely new set of rushing rules to be submitted to the council at its meeting next Tuesday, according to Charles Lawlor, chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are Fred Grau and Ed Prodkey.

A set of eight rulings were discussed by the Interfraternity council at its meeting this week but no definite action was taken because of several objections to the provisions.

Organizations Make Contracts for Space in 1930 Cornhusker

Contracts for organization space in the 1930 Cornhusker are now being made. Organization representatives seeking space should see George Kennedy, business manager.

The editor reports that the group pictures for the Cornhusker are coming in too slowly. All groups whose pictures are to be taken should make appointments at the campus studio immediately, according to Albert Wahl, managing editor.

SAFETY COMMITTEE EXPLAINS FIRST AID

Power Company Men Show How to Save Lives After Accidents.

E. M. Kennedy, captain of the first aid team of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company, and four members of the safety committee gave a first aid demonstration and talk at the joint meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, and American Society of Agricultural Engineers held in the mechanical engineering building at 7:30 last night. The four committee members consisted of E. V. Shepherd, P. T. Baird, E. R. Ketchum and I. E. Cunningham.

Mr. Kennedy described the various first aid bandages while the committee members demonstrated with triangular bandages. The methods for stopping the flow of blood in arterial and venous bleeding were shown and the locations of the main vessels were pointed out. The use of the tourniquet was also described.

The setting and bandaging of simple and compound fractures was described and shown for various bones. Also the methods of lifting and carrying an injured person were demonstrated. Artificial respiration for a drowned person or one burned by an electric current was shown.

The purpose of first aid is not meant to infringe on the work of the doctor, according to Mr. Kennedy, but to carry on what work must be done immediately to save the life of the person or to cut down the pain until the doctor arrives. Often in case of a shock or drowning, a person who has quit breathing can be brought back to life by immediate first aid and artificial respiration.

The Agricultural Engineers canceled their scheduled meeting to attend the demonstration.

NINETEEN SKITS ARE SUBMITTED TO BOARD

Sponsors of Coed Follies Will Select Six or Seven of Them.

Nineteen skits have been submitted to the Associated Women Student board for the Coed Follies which are to be held on Feb. 14. Six or seven of the groups will be selected for presentation, the number depending upon the length of the skits. Announcement of the selection will be made Saturday noon, and published in the Sunday Daily Nebraskan.

Two of those submitted are curtain skits, and the rest are acts of several minutes length. The acts will be judged for cleverness and adaptability to staging, according to Helen McChesney, chairman of the Coed Follies. Three of the manuscripts which were submitted without the names of the authors, are asked to be identified by the committee.

All copy and songs for skits should have been written out in full, according to Miss McChesney, as it will enable the judges to choose those which may be most successfully staged. Gretchen Standeven is president of the A. W. S. board.

THIRTY-SEVEN TURN IN CONTEST PAPERS

Chancellor's Essay Compet Will Distribute Six Prizes for Work.

LEADERSHIP IS SUBJECT

Thirty-seven essays were turned in yesterday by 5 o'clock which was the deadline for Chancellor E. A. Burnett's contest. "What Qualities of Leadership Should a College Student Develop?" is the subject of the literary discourses. One hundred dollars in prizes is offered by the chancellor for the best essays. The winner of the first prize will receive $40, second prize winner will get $25, the writer of the third essay will receive $15, and the writers of the next three best essays will get $5 each.

Three Will Judge Papers. The purpose of the contest was to have students give more thought to the qualities that make for ultimate success in the world. The essays were limited to one thousand words. They will be judged by a group of three.

Harold Holz, former secretary of the university alumni association and T. A. Leadley, of the Nebraska Farmer, acted as judges last year. A. E. Sheldon, secretary of Nebraska State Historical society, was to have acted as a judge but illness prevented him doing so. The judges for this year have not been chosen as yet.

Audrey Musick won the first prize last year. Munro Kezer took second and Alan C. Williams third prize. The subject of the essays last year was "The Obligations and Rewards of the College Student."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY GIVEN NEW QUARTERS

May Not Have Money for Moving for Years Yet, Reports Curator.

The Nebraska State Historical society collection will probably be moved into the new quarters provided for it in some time within the next five years according to E. E. Blackman, curator of the museum.

When asked concerning the report that the collection was to be moved from its present location in the basement of the library to the capitol, Mr. Blackman said that the place had been provided but that the $4000 which would be required to move the collection was yet forthcoming and that there was very little chance of it's being provided within three years.

Present Home too Small. The present quarters are very inadequate in size for the collection and a move to the new would be very helpful to the proper care of the collection. Mr. Blackman said that he hoped that the change might be made next summer but saw very little chance of that being done.

The money for the proposed move must come from the state legislature. The legislature will not meet again until almost a year from now. Since the contracts must be let and the money provided for furnishing the rooms for the collection, it is probable that the money for the actual moving will not be appropriated until the following session of the legislature. This will make it at least three years before the moving can begin, unless the legislature takes unexpected action in favor of the society.

METHODISTS PREPARE FOR SPORT FESTIVAL

Trinity Church Will See Skiing, Skating Party Friday Evening.

A sports party for all Methodist students on the campus will be held at Trinity Methodist church at 8 o'clock on Friday evening. It is being sponsored by the Methodist Student Council and is the second of a series of parties that will be held this year.

Skiing, sledding, a regular snow fight, followed by a hockey game, guessing contests and many other affairs will feature the party that will take place indoors. Novelty refreshments will be served for a charge of ten cents.

The party guests will be divided into four sections which will be led by Ralph Copenhaver, Paul Fasse, Harold Bates and Bernard Malcolm.

'Y' SCHEDULES W. E. BRAISTED TO GIVE ADDRESS

"The place of the Y. M. C. A. on the Agricultural Campus," will be the subject of a talk given by William E. Braisted, Jr., in agricultural hall tonight. Mr. Braisted is secretary of the national student council of Y. M. C. A. work. He has been spending several days on the campus assisting in the organization of a Y. M. C. A. organization on the college of agriculture campus.

All people interested in the undertaking are urged to be present. Claude Roe, who is a member of the nominating committee, stated, "it will be a promotional meeting, where the preliminary plans for the organization of a Y. M. C. A. cabinet on the agricultural campus will be made."

ORGANIZED GROUPS BUY OPERA TICKETS

Tassels Check Out Exchange Slips at Ellen Smith Hall and Temple.

SPECIAL RATES OFFERED

Exchange tickets to the opera Carmen, which allow students at the university fifteen percent discount if they come in groups of twenty-five, will be checked out to organized groups or sold to individuals from booths in Ellen Smith hall and in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Temple building Thursday afternoon from 2:30 until 5:00.

The large proportion of organized groups can secure block reservations of twenty-five tickets but in order that all students may benefit from the reduced rate, those who cannot themselves organize a block of twenty-five, may come to the booths where the Mortar Board members in charge of the campus sale of exchange tickets will group them with other small groups, or with individuals into the large blocks required for the reduced rate.

Tassels Direct Sales.

Members of Tassels, women's pep organization sponsored by the Mortar Board, are in charge of the sale of the tickets in all sorority houses, and the presidents of all fraternity houses, dormitories and organized rooming houses have been asked to supervise the sale of the exchange tickets in their groups.

Whenever any group has been unable to secure as many as twenty-five persons for a block reservation which entitles the students to the discount, they have been asked to combine with other groups. Tickets in the block orders need not be all of the same price, nor reserved in the same place in the coliseum, for the reduction is given to any block order.

The exchange tickets sold at the booths in Ellen Smith hall, with Mildred Olson in charge, and at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, with Gretchen Standeven in charge, may be turned in for reserved seats in any part of the coliseum either this week in Mr. Selleck's

Whittier Principal Plans Talk Before Honorary Teachers' Group.

Extra curricular activities and student government in the junior high school will be discussed before members of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary teachers' organization for senior women, by C. L. Culler, principal of the Whittier junior high school, at the regular meeting of the society to be held Thursday, Jan. 16, in Teachers' College 320. Members may bring guests if they wish.

Whittier junior high school is one of the oldest and most complete junior highs in the state. A number of unique projects have been worked out there, and the system of student government has particularly attracted the attention of outsiders. Mr. Culler has been principal of the school since it was first organized in 1924, and is responsible for the outstanding work in the junior high school field which has been accomplished at Whittier.

Boy and Girl Placed on Probation For Vivisectioning Frog in Laboratory

Dorothea L. Beiersdorf, '32, Emerson, and Thomas I. Pierce, '32, both sophomore students in the college of pharmacy are under probation because of vivisectioning a frog in physiological laboratory last Thursday.

Vivisection is against all medical and scientific rules, according to Dr. R. A. Lyman, dean of the pharmacy college. He said that frogs are dissected but not until their brains have been numbed by a process known as "pithing."

Assignment of sides for the trial debates will be made sometime Wednesday. They will be voted on the bulletin board of University hall. This procedure makes it necessary for those who seek positions on the team to study both sides of the question which will be, "Resolved: That the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except such forces as are needed for police purposes." The final selections for the team will be announced after the try-out.

Several Debates Listed. Several debates have already been scheduled for the team. The negative team will meet South Dakota university before the chamber of commerce in Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 25, Gustavus Adolphus at St. Peter, Minn., Feb. 26, and a college at Northfield, Minn., on Feb. 27.

Boy and Girl Placed on Probation For Vivisectioning Frog in Laboratory

pleaded thoughtlessness as a cause of the students' actions. Dr. Lyman stated, however, that he thought the actions were more premeditated than thoughtless.

"It is such events as these which give the world the impression that we are cutting up animals alive and causing them all sorts of tortuous pain," Dr. Lyman said. "This is absolutely not true and this is the first case of the kind to occur at this college in twenty-five years."
