Frontiers of telephony—
old and new

Yesterday the natural course of telephone expansion was to penetrate the nation's frontiers, building new lines and adding new subscribers. Today finds many new "frontiers" for telephone expansion—among them the homes of present subscribers. Upstairs and downstairs, wherever needed, additional telephones are being installed. People are learning that there is added utility in convenient communication. This new field of activity was conceived by commercial development men of the Bell System. Just another example of forward planning to make telephone service more valuable.
