KLUB SCHEDULES CAST TRYOUTS IN NEW PRODUCTION

Aspirants for Leads in New
Comedy Will Compete
Wednesday Night.

ALL MUST BE ELIGIBLE

Eleven Principals Will Be Used; Choruses Have Been Selected.

Tryouts for principal parts in Kosmet Klub's 1930 spring musical comedy, "Sob Sister," will be held in Temple 203 Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Students wishing to take part in the annual show are requested to sign the application blanks which are posted in the College Book store.

Eleven principals will be used in the production. Regular eligibility rules will be followed by the Kosmet Klub in the selection of players. Exact dates on which "Sob Sister" will be presented have not been announced by the Kosmet Klub, but work will begin on the show next week. Chorus tryouts were held Tuesday evening and the personnel of the male and female choruses will be released this week by the Klub.

Resume of Parts.
Numerous requests have been made by students who expect to try out for "Sob Sister" for a brief resume of the characters. These are given below in order that those who wish to take part in Wednesday evening's tryouts may have some idea of the roles for which they are best fitted to compete.

The male lead in "Sob Sister" is Bob Hamilton, a young novelist who has received permission to stay in San Menquin penitentiary for a short time in order to get atmosphere for his latest book. According to the author's description he is fairly tall, good looking and clever. The nature of the production demands that he be able to sing.

Mary, the feminine lead, must also be able to sing. She, states the description, "being a leading lady, must be good looking and endowed with personality. Other qualifications are more or less identical with the usual requirements for a feminine lead."

Wiscracker Wanted.
Sparkling wiscrackers are offered throughout the show by Bennie, Bob's partner in San Menquin. Several possible men to fill this role have been suggested by members of the Kosmet Klub, but no talent may be uncovered during the production.

JOURNALISM SENIOR SELLS CLASS STORY

Miss Brinkerhoff Is Given
$200 for Article on Horse Riding.

Martha Brinkerhoff, a senior in the school of journalism, recently received a check for $200 in payment for a story on horseback riding which is to appear in a future issue of the Woman's Home Companion. The title of the story is "Just as in Knowing How." This article was written a year ago in a class in agricultural journalism which was conducted by R. P. Crawford. It is unusual because of its novel approach to the subject, the story being of a practical nature though it is combined with a bit of humor.

The article is 3,000 words in length and has commanded the highest price of any story written by agricultural journalism students, Mr. Crawford said in commenting upon the success.

Miss Brinkerhoff has had a great deal of experience in horse back riding and was an instructor in this sport in an eastern camp.

Vesper Tryouts Will Be Held Again Friday

Vesper choir tryouts, which were to have closed today, will be held Friday also, according to Peggy Hower who is in charge. The trials have been held for the past week in Ellen Smith hall from 12:30 until 1 o'clock each day. The same half hour will be used for Friday's tryouts.

Dr. Guilford, Psychology Professor, Makes Lantern Slides in Spare Time

Last year Dr. J. P. Guilford, associate professor of psychology, started again a hobby he had been interested in when he was a boy—photography.

Lectures in psychology are enhanced by lantern slides demonstrating phenomena, traits, trends, and otherwise dull data, and it is photographing and preparing these slides for his classes that Dr. Guilford enjoys in his spare time. He has an eager interest too, in fine etchings, particularly those of noteworthy architecture.

About a year ago Dr. Guilford happened to discover quite a good camera for four dollars and has spent many interesting and valuable hours photographing with it illustrations in different works of psychology. A number of slides can be made in a few hours in the

Greek Council Clears $200 on Ball; to Aid Kosmet Fire Deficit

More than $200 was cleared by the interfraternity council on the annual interfraternity ball, according to information received late Tuesday evening. Final checkups have not been completed, but the general chairman estimates that $200 is the minimum profit.

The proceeds will go to the Kosmet Klub to assist that organization in the payment of debts incurred in the Playhouse fire, which occurred after the spring show in 1928. A complete report will be presented before the interfraternity council at its next meeting.

SONG JUDGES DENY MISCONDUCT CHARGE

Greek Radio Contest Was Entirely Fair, Say All
Officials.

ANSWER EDITORIAL QUIP

Denial of any malfeasance in connection with the judging of the interfraternity radio singing conducted the past few weeks was unanimously made Tuesday by the three judges, Dietrich Dirks, manager of KFAB; Harold Turner and Roger Robinson. The denial came as a result of a short editorial quip which appeared in the Tuesday issue of The Daily Nebraskan, as follows:

"Maybe there wasn't anything crooked with the results of the interfraternity song contest but even if the Barb council could have won if a judge of the contest, an announcer of the contest, an individual in charge of the contest, and a secretary to open contest correspondence had been its members. That the contest was held on a purely nonpartisan basis and in an entirely fair manner is vouchsafed for by three judges. Protection was made for this immediately after the contest began so that there would be no cause for suspicion, they declare.

Mail Vote Counted Fair.
The contest was judged fifty percent on the letters and telegrams received at the station and fifty percent on the decisions of the judges. First fraternities were listed by each judge, so they say, according to his own estimation of their musical talent, each making up his list separate from the others. None of the judges was allowed to place his own fraternity on the list.

When it came to judging the fraternities represented by the judges, the two not affiliated with the particular organization being considered were the only ones permitted to cast their ballots. The average of these two votes, based on a scale of fifty for the highest, comprised the other man's vote.

"It was through the mail vote," declared Dirks, "that Phi Kappa Psi won the contest. Every letter upon receipt at this office was registered by our secretary."

Robinson had charge of counting the mail vote but a record of the count and all letters and telegrams were kept, according to Dirks, and are available if anyone wishes to question the validity of the result.

Robinson said that, although he is in the employ of the radio station as an announcer, he announced only one of the interfraternity broadcasts. He declared that he was duly elected by Kosmet Klub, one of the organizations sponsoring the sing, to have complete charge of the contest.

COLLEGIATE SKATING CLASS
SEATTLE, Wash.—W. A. A. of the University of Washington is sponsoring a women's skate recreation class in the ice arena of their civic auditorium. There are twenty-five women in the class. The more experienced women aid and teach those who do not skate.

Countryman Staff Will Hold Meeting Thursday at 6 p. m.

A meeting of the staffs of the Cornhusker Countryman, agricultural publication, will be held Thursday at 6 p. m. at the college cafeteria, according to an announcement made by Harold Marcott, editor. Trays will be filled at the cafeteria and taken to a room on the second floor where plans will be discussed.

Members of the editorial, business and circulation staffs are all requested to be present.

ORGANIZERS OF PROM PLAN USE OF TWO ROOMS

Double-Ballroom Party Will Need Two Orchestras
Instead of One.

TWO RUNWAYS PLANNED

Prom Girl Announcement Is Set to Take Place in Main Ballroom.

Innovating a new plan for one of the three major parties, the Junior-Senior Prom, arrangements have been made by the committee to present the traditional party in two ballrooms at the Hotel Lincoln with two orchestras yet to be selected.

According to the plan as announced by Don Carlson prom chairman, the annual formal ending the "stiff collar" season will be presented in an entirely new manner. The main ballroom at the Hotel Lincoln and the Venetian room will be connected by two runways, in an attempt to handle the crowd that ordinarily attends the major parties of the university.

Report of the committee was to the effect that the two-ballroom idea would be accepted with enthusiasm by the student body because of its unusualness, its plan of decoration, and the choice of two orchestras for dancing. Arrangements have been made with the management of the hotel to handle a large crowd, as three checking rooms will be available for the students.

Feature in Main Ballroom.
Presentation of the prom girl will take place in the main ballroom at a prescribed bed time when activities can be centered in one room. Dancing will be held in both rooms and entertainment staged in both places. According to representative student and faculty members of the idea of a double-party would be met with approval due to the magnanimity of the occasion and crowd.

Due to the fact that, according to Student council and faculty committee rulings, no out of state orchestra can be brought in to play for any party at the university, the committee felt that the new idea for staging the Junior-Senior Prom would be successful.

Ticket sales for the prom will not begin before Feb. 24 and may be sponsored by activity organizations on the campus. Definite announcement of negotiations for ticket distribution will be made later.

Cyril Winkler, president of the junior class and member of the committee, contracted for the Lincoln ballrooms and is planning for the handling of the crowd at the prom.

Nebraskan Suggests Installing Ticker to Get Yearbook News

Reports from the 1930 Cornhusker staff Tuesday afternoon indicated that the limited space for junior and senior pictures in the yearbook is rapidly becoming more limited. The room for junior photos was cut in third Tuesday when one of the three available spaces was taken by a junior student.

The Daily Nebraskan office, anxious to keep up on the current affairs of the Cornhusker, has suggested that a ticker be installed in the Nebraskan editorial rooms so that the exact status of the junior-senior sections could be determined at any hour of the day. Tuesday morning The Nebraskan reported that three juniors and two seniors might be fortunate enough to have their likenesses portrayed on the pages of the Cornhusker. The Cornhusker, with apologies to the economics department, must be on a down market.

PRESIDENTS OF 18 SORORITIES OPPOSE RULING

Favor Publication of News
Of Sorority Parties in Nebraskan.

MEN ARE INTERVIEWED

Head of Student Council,
Innocent and Barb Give Viewpoints.

That the phellenic ban on publicity for social events of sororities should be lifted is the expression of opinion of seven of the eight presidents of sororities who were interviewed yesterday, making a total of eighteen who favored the revision of the present ruling.

Although Maxine Mathers, president of Pi Beta Phi, does not favor the policy of sororities striving to outdo each other for the sake of publicity, she sees no reason for its being withheld from the columns of The Nebraskan.

"As I see it, publication of accounts of sorority parties will do no harm, unless they take up too much space," stated Ruth Pilling, Alpha Chi Omega president. Miss Pilling advocates the revision of no harm, unless they take up too much space, to make publication permissible.

Rule Reasonless.

That anything which is a part of the university may rightly be published in the university daily is the belief of Kathryn Bauman, president of Kappa Delta, and of Frances Robinson, Sigma Delta Tau officer. Accounts of such events have a definite news value, stated Miss Robinson.

"I don't see any harm in its being published in The Nebraskan. In fact, I can't see any point in its being withheld for people who read The Nebraskan are interested in sorority activities," stated Gretchen Standeven, president of the Student Council.

COED FOLLIES ACTS INCLUDE TOY REVUE

Program of Curtain Skits
Will Be Presented on Saturday.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Gamma Phi Beta's toy shop revue, featuring a jack-in-the-box announcer, a hobby horse chorus, tin soldiers, and original song hits, will be one of the five acts of the Coed Follies, to be presented Saturday, Feb. 15, at the Temple theater under the auspices of A. W. S. Helen McChesney will act as general chairman.

Two curtain skits, one a song and dance act by Alpha Phi and the other a reading and dance hit by Delta Delta Delta, will complete the program for coeds.

Pi Beta Phi will present a pantomime offering of popular magazines, and Sigma Kappa will furnish an act, "College Melancholy," with original songs and dances. A burlesque on the minute men of Lexington entitled "Her Final Sacrifice" will be the Phi Mu contribution.

W. A. S. is to have a unique act, according to Miss McChesney, in which three choruses are involved in the lives of the different types of university girls.

The tickets, which sell for twenty-five cents, may be secured from members of the A. W. S. board or representatives in sorority houses and dormitories.

NEW RULING EFFECTS MUSIC CERTIFICATES

Those Given Now Will Last
Three Years Instead
Of Merely One.

A new ruling governing special certificates authorized by law of the 1929 legislature was announced by State Superintendent Taylor. It is to the effect that certificates issued this year will be valid for three years instead of one year.

All applicants must have earned a minimum grade of 70 percent with an average of 80 percent. This means the applicant's preparation will be given a definite grade. This grade will be averaged with the grade earned in the demonstration of their ability together with the grades earned in their preparatory courses. This must average 80 percent with no grade below 70 percent.

Another rule provides that the certificate may be renewed by earning twelve semester hours of college credit, including three hours in education. This requirement is identical for all other certificates issued by the state superintendent of public instruction.

Examinations will be held at the office of the state superintendent July 15 and Aug. 29 this year, and Jan. 6, 1931. The fee for issuance of the certificate is one dollar. The expense of the examination shall be prorated among the applicants.

Only Two Filings Reported to Date For Prom Girl Post

Two filings for Junior-Senior Prom girl and none for the other offices to be filled in the second semester election were reported from the student activities office in the Coliseum Tuesday. Deadline for filing has been announced for 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, Feb. 14.

Offices to be filled at the election, Feb. 18, are: senior, junior, sophomore and freshman class presidents, Junior-Senior Prom girl, and woman representative on the student council from the college of agriculture.

COUNCIL COMPLICATES MAY QUEEN ELECTION

Change in Date Also Adds
To Task of Picking
Senior Coed.

MORTAR BOARD PUZZLED
BY POLITICS.

Selection of the 1930 May Queen is not to be such an easy task this year, judging from the situations that have arisen within the last few months. With the change in the date for Ivy Day and the recent resolution by the Student Council that a member of the council should be present at the counting of the ballots for May Queen, the Mortar Board society, sponsoring the election, has been unable to reach a satisfactory solution to the problem.

Last spring, following the exposure made by an Omaha newspaper, showing how Alan G. Williams, barb leader, had succeeded in getting his barb queen elected, the Student Council passed a resolution governing future May Queen elections. The following is the text of the recommendation made to the Mortar Board society by the Student Council:

Council's Proposal.

1. That beginning with the school year of 1929-1930, the senior women shall, at an election taking place in March, elect six women from the senior class as nominees for the position of May Queen.

2. That the May Queen shall be chosen by the junior and senior men and women at the regular spring election, held by the Student Council, from this list of candidates.

3. The candidate polling the highest number of votes shall serve as May Queen. The candidate polling the second highest number of votes shall serve as her Maid of Honor.

4. These votes shall be counted by the members of the Mortar Board and at least one of the members of the Mortar Board faculty advisory committee.

5. This election shall hold for one year, at the expiration of that time, Mortar Board, retains the right to change the method of election, providing that the aforesaid method should prove unsatisfactory.

PROM GIRL ELECTION WILL OCCUR TUESDAY

Winner of Honor Is to Be Decided Next Week;
Many Enter.

With the application of two university coeds for the traditional honor of prom girl, several sororities last night indicated that they would enter the race for the feminine laurels. According to rumor Helen Meister, Delta Gamma from Omaha, has been entered in the contest, the election of which will take place next Tuesday morning, Marjorie Williams, Omaha, is the other senior woman whom sorority members have said will be entered from Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

No definite check on the exact number or identity of those who have filed can be had due to recent student council ruling that identity of those filing cannot be known before the filings close Friday at 5 p. m.

According to eligibility rules, any university coed is free to enter the contest if she has made twenty-seven hours during the last semester.

Players Eat and Eat, Audience Gets Hungrier and Hungrier at New Play

Food and more food! That is what those who are taking part in the University Players production of "Enter Madame" get. A real meal is served on the stage, and to all appearances it is more than a meal. It is a banquet.

"Stage property and stage scenery is worked out on the theory of illusion," declared Robert Reade, stage manager for the players. "Everything on the stage is prepared with the specific purpose of making the individual who is sitting in the last row think that he is gazing upon a room in which he might live himself."

A Colorful Meal.
The food which seems so beautiful to the audience is selected with considerable care. The most important thing is to get colorful food; and as a result such things as lettuce, carrots, and apples have been used. Mashed potatoes are used to take the place of the oft referred to truffles, which, according to Mr. Reade, have not yet been identified.

"You should see the way Edwin Quinn, who plays the part of the Italian chef, works when he serves the meal," laughed Mr. Reade. "He no sooner gets all the dishes on the table when he has to serve the food and then remove the dishes again."

Those who don't get to eat on the stage receive their share later on. Paul Thompson, who takes the role of the doctor, stands during the entire banquet, but he is amply rewarded when the play is over.

Some of the other stage properties which prove to be quite different from what they first seem are the tapestry and the curtains.

WILLIAMS VOICES PROTEST TO NEW PLAN OF PARTIES

If Ayres' Idea Is Approved,
Sponsorship of Barb
Group Will End.

AFFAIRS CUT TO FOUR

Fewer Functions, on Closed
Dates, Is Substance of Latest Scheme.

Voicing his opinion Tuesday evening, Alan Williams, chairman of the Barb council, expressed himself being opposed to the new variety party plan which has been presented before the Student Council by Joyce Ayres. If the plan is accepted by the Student Council and approved by the faculty committee on student organizations the present All-University parties will be discontinued and the Barb Council will be left without any duties.

Williams stated that in the expression of opinion he voiced sentiments of the Barb council as a body. The Barb Council will meet Wednesday evening to discuss the plan as it has been briefly described in The Nebraskan, however.

Four Events Suggested.

Under the Ayres plan, four parties will be given during the year. These will be typical all university functions, fraternity and sorority attendance guaranteed by the closing of party nights to all Greek-letter functions. The committee in charge will be made up of four representatives from the Student Council, four from the Barb Council and the four class presidents. "I don't understand what is meant by an 'all-university' party," declared Williams. "The implication is that we have failed in our attempt to give true all university parties. I'm sure the Barb Council would welcome and appreciate any suggestions as to how we could improve our parties and make them truly 'all university'."

The All-University parties, according to Williams, have been prepared to satisfy all students. Stage shows were offered for students who did not dance and a well known orchestra was always secured for the dancers.

Barbs Predominate.

"Naturally a greater part of our attendance is from the nonfraternity class," continued Williams.

FARM STUDENTS VIEW PICTURES BY BELDEN

Films of Animal Life Are Shown by Wyoming
Photographer.

Motion pictures of animal life were shown at Agricultural hall Tuesday during two general convocations on the college of agriculture campus. A large number of students saw the pictures, the first showing being at 11 o'clock and the second at 4 o'clock. The pictures will again be shown at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Charles J. Belden, of Pitchford, Wyo., noted for his studies in animal photography, took the moving pictures which constitute some of his most recent work. Belden specializes in still photography and many of his pictures have appeared in prominent photographic magazines.

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, head of the department of animal husbandry in the college of agriculture secured the pictures for the convocations. Belden is operating a large cattle and sheep ranch in Wyoming.

CRAWFORD PLANS ADDRESS ALUMNI ON CHARTER DAY

R. P. Crawford, professor of agricultural journalism, will address members of the Sioux City alumni club of the university at the annual charter day dinner to be held there Friday. The members of the committee which are planning the dinner are: Howard Benedict, Robert Rannard, Miss Edith Girardot, Miss Ethel Bernham, Earl Bohl, H. L. Rice, Miss Ruth Kendall and John Powers.
