UNIVERSITY GETS COLISEUM READY TO STAGE OPERA

Vanguard of Company Will Arrive in Lincoln on Thursday Morning.

HOUSE WILL SEAT 7,000

Eighty-Five Percent of Number Already Sold, Report States.

The vanguard of the Chicago Civic Opera company stage forces arrive in Lincoln Thursday morning to prepare the university coliseum for the evening presentation of Bizet's popular opera, "Carmen."

The opera to be presented in Lincoln was given in Tulsa last Monday night and several baggage cars loaded with "Carmen" scenery and stage properties are expected to arrive in Lincoln early Wednesday.

These cars will carry the portable switchboard used by the opera company, several hundred wardrobe trunks, and a like number of crates of properties and electrical equipment, flat pieces and various stage devices.

The remainder of the opera equipment will arrive from Wichita with the company Thursday noon. The organization is traveling in two special trains, in addition to the scenery cars routed ahead of the company.

Balcony Seats Sold. Almost all seats on the balcony were sold by Tuesday evening, according to John K. Selbeck of the student activity office, but there are still plenty of good seats on the main floor.

The seating capacity of the coliseum this year will be about 7,000, eighty-five percent of which have been sold.

During the last three days eighteen men hired by the university have been transforming the coliseum into a huge opera house. Work upon the floor plan began Sunday morning when the bleachers used at the basketball tournament were torn down.

All day Monday and Tuesday was spent in laying the floor, which neared completion Monday night.

Comfortable Chairs. The officials do not plan to seat as many people this year as they have in years past, but they hope that the new seating plan being introduced will accommodate a far more comfortable crowd than it was possible to handle under the old plan.

Features of the new seating plan include: a smaller number of seats placed farther apart, and the introduction of velvet cushioned chairs.

In past year elevated seats did not begin until the sixteenth row. This year elevation begins in the tenth row, which places the last row at a higher elevation than formerly, and increases the number of "choice" seats.

Work in the coliseum is expected to be completed by Thursday when the members of the cast arrive in town.

CUNEO GIVES TALK AT VESPERS TUESDAY

Instructor Says Students Help Select Teachers in Argentina.

MISS EASTWOOD LEADS

"In Argentina the students play an active part in selecting the teachers," said J. A. Cuneo of the Spanish department at Vespers Tuesday evening.

"Professors are elected by professors and the student representative by the students. The dean is elected by the combined vote of the professors and the students, but the students obtain the help of three or four professors and usually manage to have the majority thus electing the dean of their choice. The dean is forced to give such orders as the students are willing to take. The university formerly based on the American plan failed because it comprised too many regulations."

There are three types of universities, according to Cuneo. The Napoleonic makes classes compulsory and produces professionals. A second type is like Oxford where the purpose is to give the student a cultural background. The scientific type is the foundation of the American universities. There is no compulsory attendance or examinations, in the German system which combined with Napoleonic is the basis of the Argentine university. In this university the student devotes himself to scientific study or a cultural education.

"The responsibility of learning rests entirely on the student. The requirements of the course are listed before he enters and if he can not pass these requirements at the end of the year he flunks," said Cuneo. "The school year begins in March and ends in December. An entire responsibility rests on the student. Most of the freshmen do their research work in the billiard parlors."

The meeting was led by Paula Eastwood, member of the Vesper choir.

Law College Prof Asks Investigation Of 'Cigarette' Fire

Three awnings, hanging over windows on the second story of the law college building, were destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. It is reported that the fire was caused by a lighted cigar or cigarette dropped from the law library on the third floor.

Because of his opposition to having law students smoke while they work in the library, Dr. C. A. Robbins, professor in the college, has demanded an investigation. No intimation was given as to who was suspected, if anyone, and the "investigation" it seems likely, will have no immediate disastrous results to any one law college student.

BURNETT COMMENDS JEWETT'S SERVICES

Chancellor Says Commander Has Endeared Himself In All Circles.

HERE FOR FIVE YEARS

Chancellor E. A. Burnett, in a recent interview bestowing a message of appreciation upon Lieut. Col. F. F. Jewett, who will be transferred at the close of the second semester to the seventh corps area headquarters at Omaha, paid tribute to the officer's accomplishments in the R. O. T. C. department during his command here.

The statement pointed out the honor and esteem in which the colonel is held in university and city circles and mentioned the social position the commander and his wife occupy. "During his five year detail at Nebraska university," Chancellor Burnett points out, "Lt. Col. Jewett has been a moulder of citizenship."

Dr. Burnett's complete statement follows: "As a citizen and a Christian gentleman, Colonel Jewett has endeared himself to all those who have come to know him intimately. With Mrs. Jewett, he has occupied an important place in the social and civic life of the university community. "Lt. Col. F. F. Jewett has been a member of the university faculty for the past five years as professor of military science and tactics. His ability as an officer is indicated by the military efficiency of the R. O. T. C. unit which, under inspection, has ranked in the highest group provided in the war department's classification. The military education offered in the university has taught the obligations of the citizen to his country, respect for law, and some degree of technical efficiency.

"At the request of the university authorities, his detail was extended as long as the rules of the war department would permit. He now goes back to active service with troops.

"In his position as commandant of cadets he has been an efficient officer. His relation with students has been friendly and cordial. His public relations have been ideal. His life among us is proof that an army officer devoting himself to the service and defense of the nation may represent the highest type of an American citizen."

"Our best wishes will follow Colonel and Mrs. Jewett to their new field of labor."

PHARMACY PROGRAM ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Committee in Charge of Week's Celebration Is Selected.

BANQUET SET APRIL 26

With the appointment of members to the general committee, plans for Pharmacy week are progressing under the supervision of R. A. Lyman, head of the department of pharmacy. The committee members are: Charles H. Wilson, chairman, Louise Hansen, Paul N. Stiersel, James W. Stone, and Richard E. Leder.

Previous to this year members of the committee have been selected through an election by the general student body, but this year they have been appointed by the faculty from twenty-eight names submitted by volunteers. The committee being selected from volunteers by the faculty, it is believed that greater efficiency by the members serving will be received.

The program has been slightly altered from that of preceding years, in that the banquet will be held April 26, instead of one of the days set aside for the annual Pharmaceutical week. The reason for this change is that Dr. Lyman will be unable to attend during that week, for he is to attend the American Pharmaceutical association at Baltimore, and from there he will go to Washington, D. C. to be present at the United States Pharmacopoeial convention.

BANKERS OFFER LOAN AWARD TO SCHOLARS

Association Has Two Sums Of $250 Each, to Be Given Annually.

Under the administration of the student loan committee of the university and a Lincoln banker, two loan scholarships of $250 are made annually by the American Bankers association foundation for education in economics. These scholarships are awarded to deserving students of junior grade or above whose major course is in banking, economics, or related subjects, with one specified for agricultural economics.

"Loan scholarships shall be awarded only to deserving students of integrity, intelligence, character, competency, and aptitude whose means of support are dependent wholly or in part on their own labor. Scholarship of the highest rank will not be a definite requirement for a loan scholarship award. However, the foundation desires to encourage students who will become leaders in professional life and does not wish loan scholarships made to mediocre or inferior students," according to the rules for administration of the loans.

University authorities advocate early filing of applications for such loans in order to facilitate the making of arrangements, to permit announcing of the awards as soon as possible. Applications, giving detailed information, must be received by the foundation through the committee on awards of the university.

DR. LAMPE WILL TALK TO GROUPS ABOUT CHURCHES

Dr. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school religion of Iowa state university, will be a visitor at the university and at Westminster Presbyterian church next Saturday and Sunday. Saturday noon there will be a luncheon in the Temple cafeteria at which members of the faculty, university pastors, and the ministers of the city will be present. Sunday evening at 6 o'clock Dr. Lampe will speak at a dinner at Westminster church to which all young people of the university are invited.

Dr. Lampe is a former university pastor at the University of Pennsylvania. The department of religion of which he is the head is an unusual university department. In the division are teachers who represent the Roman Catholic church, the Jewish church, and the Protestant churches. Dr. Lampe will talk about his department at the Saturday noon luncheon.

LOCATION OF BASKET TOURNEY MAY CHANGE

Officers Are Dissatisfied With Gate Receipts at Meet in Lincoln.

MAY CALL FOR 'BIDS'

After nearly a score of annual state basketball tournaments have been held at the university, a change of location of the 1931 tourney was suggested after disappointment of the state high school board in financial receipts of the 1930 classic.

Unlike state basketball tournament gate receipts of previous years, the 1930 tournament financial result is unsatisfactory to the board. The high school men, endeavoring to better 1931 prospects, may determine the location of future state tournaments by receiving bids from different Nebraska cities.

A curtain of silence surrounding the matter keeps the opinions of the university and board members from the public, but although no statements have been forthcoming it is understood that the state board plans to present a plan to the next meeting of delegates. This plan's nature is relative to putting the tourney on the auction platform by the use of bids.

The lessening of the gate receipts is traced to the smaller number of teams in the tourney and the smaller tourney caused by the regional elimination tourneys held over the state. Only thirty-two schools were represented in the tourney just closed, as compared to hundreds in previous years.

YELLOW JACKETS TAKE ALL MINOR CLASS POSITIONS

Faction Springs Election as Surprise; Opposition Is Poorly Prepared.

BARBS NOT PARTICIPANTS

Can't Be Bothered' States Williams; Says Offices Of No Importance.

BY POLITICUS.

Determined to outsmart their political rivals, the yellow jackets, minority fraternity faction, succeeded in sweeping into office all their candidates at the Tuesday elections of freshman, sophomore and senior minor class officers.

Following the traditions of political factions on the Nebraska campus, the yellow jackets had "everything fixed" beforehand so that when the time came for the election to take place there could be no doubt as to who would win out. Foremost among these "tricks" was the withholding of announcement of the meetings until the day of election, in order that the opposing camps could not possibly organize in time.

It is possible, of course, to do this when the presidents who call the "mass" meetings are of the same fold. All that is necessary then is to see that someone is present who will nominate the candidates and let the president do the rest.

This year, however, the minority faction went a step further—it "buried" its announcement on page three of The Nebraskan Tuesday, making doubly sure that the blue shirts or the barbs, the other two parties on the campus could not possibly see it right of hand.

That the blue shirts had their slates all drawn up and ready to shoot is vouched for by the president of the faction, Stanley Day. But since there was not the organization nor the preparedness to bind them, they were unable to get any place in so far as the offices were concerned.

Barbs Not Interested. But the barbs couldn't be bothered with any ticket for minor class offices, according to Alan Williams, leader of the nonfraternity students. "We have given our views on the folly of continuing with minor class offices," declare Williams, "and we see no justification for their continuance. I view of this fact we do not feel disposed to participate."

Heading the senior list was James Higgins, Schuyler, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa. He was elected vice president. Association officers of the senior class are Harry Pumpfrey, Ohiowa, Phi Kappa Phi, secretary, and Carl Marold, Saguache, Colo., Phi Alpha Delta, treasurer.

Frank E. Smith, Omaha, affiliated with Alpha Theta Chi, topped the ticket for the sophomore class being elected vice president. Don Shaffer, Hooper, Tau Kappa Epsilon, was made secretary, while Orli Barber, Lincoln, Phi Kappa Psi, was chosen treasurer.

As freshmen leaders the following were selected: Don Easterday, Lincoln, Phi Gamma Delta, vice president; Harold Hinds, Weeping Water, Kappa Sigma, secretary; Ralph Spenser, Talmage, Sigma Phi Epsilon, treasurer.
