STUDENTS WANT EXTENDED TIME FOR DATE LIMIT

The added time would at least afford opportunity for better digestion of after-the-dance repasts.

George Kennedy, business manager of the Cornhusker, in approving The Daily Nebraskan's campaign, cites that when he was a freshman the 12:30 limit was then in effect. He stated that he can see no reason for ever changing that ruling.

Joyce Ayres was emphatic in his support of The Nebraskan's campaign. "I've been advocating 12:30 closing time on weekend nights for two years. The 12:15 rule has been tried and proven unsatisfactory. There is no reason why it should remain at 12:15 and many reasons why it should be extended to 12:30."

Time is Handicap.

"The present practice of requiring sorority girls to be in their respective houses at 12:15 has not only worked a great handicap on everyone concerned but it has not been satisfactory. The extension of the closing time fifteen more minutes would at least not inconvenience the people which this rule does at present," was the statement of Carl Hahn, vice president of the interfraternity council.

Ralph Ralikes, president of the student council, believes that The Nebraskan's editorial reasons of expediency and convenience are conclusive enough for adoption of the 12:30 time limit.

Stan Day, captain of Pershing Rifles, says: "An additional fifteen minutes to the present required time for sorority girls to be in their houses would certainly abolish the usual check room rush and present an opportunity to get the girls in on time."

Sororities Favor Plan.

Sorority members were just as quick to rally to the support of The Nebraskan's proposition. Replies to a Nebraskan reporter's questions indicated that sororities were solidly behind the movement.

Dorothy Silvis, president of Kappa Alpha Theta, favors the 12:30 limit because it would eliminate the last minute rush. The same opinion is held by others with whom she has talked, she explained.

Marion Rose, president of Panhellenic council, is very much in favor of the proposed change. "When the 12:30 limit was in effect there were not so many girls rushing in at the last minute," Miss Rose explained.

Although pointing out that since her home is in Lincoln she is now affected by university restrictions on dating, Julia Rider, president of Mortar Board, is also very much in favor of the proposal. "I never could see any good reason for changing the deadline three years ago," she said.

girl must be non-sorority and one of sorority affiliation.

The board purposes to acquaint girls new to the school with older girls as well as institutions of the university and the city of Lincoln as a whole. To this end the organization sponsors two large parties, two vespers services, and one church service to which functions big and little sisters attend together.

Plans are under way for the annual signing up of girls who desire to be big sisters to freshmen and new girls next fall and for their initiation on May 15.

FREE THROW TOURNEY.

OMAHA, Neb.—(Special)—A basketball free throw tournament, under the direction of Freshman Coach Duce Belford, was begun at Creighton university this week.

Any student is eligible, except varsity lettermen and freshmen numeral winners. The first round consists of twenty-five free throws, and out of the two hundred or more students expected to compete the ten with the highest score will be selected for the finals.

Fifty shots will be given the finalists. A gold medal will be awarded the winner, and a silver one to the runner-up. No limit has been placed on side bets, either by the contestants or by the fans, it is learned.

Hebrew School in Jerusalem Advances During Its Four Years of Existence

The Hebrew university, located in Jerusalem, has made rapid progress in the four years of its existence toward the fulfillment of its rather unique functions, according to information received from the National Student Federation of America.

The Hebrew school is designed to create a scientific atmosphere so that assistance might be given in solving the technical problems of the Jewish people. The school began solely on a graduate basis so that it could establish a standard for research before attempting undergraduate work.

Degrees Now Conferred.

This year, however, the faculty has commenced offering systematic teaching leading to degrees. The first degrees have yet to be granted and the standard expected of those receiving them will be most exacting, since the equivalent of the "honors grades" rather than "pass grades" of English universities will be required.

The doors of the institution are open to all without distinction of race, creed or sex. Gentle professors have been invited to lecture and to become permanent members of the faculty. Over half of its students come from countries where the full opportunities of obtaining a higher education are denied Jewish students.

Jewish and Oriental Studies.

The faculty of humanities thus far consists of the institute of Jewish studies, the school of oriental studies, and courses in philosophy, history and letters. Jewish and oriental studies are considered the most natural field for oriental work in the humanities at the Hebrew university.

In the field of archaeology, the Hebrew university is fortunate in that it has the advantage of being situated in a region rich in archaeological possibilities. There are, of course, the scientific departments, whose research work is conducted in very much the same as in European universities.

The David Wolffsohn Memorial library, one of the large modern libraries in the Near East, contains over two hundred thousand volumes and many rare books and manuscripts. The library is regarded as second only to that of the League of Nations in the international character of its collections.

TEACHERS HIGH WILL OFFER SUMMER WORK

Instruction to Be Given in English, Math, Science, History, Commercial.

Teachers College high school will offer courses in English, mathematics, science, history and commercial subjects in the summer session beginning June 9 and ending August 1. Credits earned during the summer will be accepted by the University of Nebraska, high schools, and higher educational institutions generally. Several visiting instructors who are noted for their success as classroom teachers will assist the regular teaching staff of the high school.

Pupils from any high school are eligible to attend the Teachers College high school which is located in the Teachers College building. It is an accredited high school and belongs to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. One of its purposes, according to teachers college officials is to serve as a demonstration school for the teachers college of the university. At present the enrollment numbers about two hundred.

A Short Cut.

A study of the students of the summer session of the high schools of the University of Iowa and the University of Nebraska shows that by far the greater percent, 27.6, were attending in order to complete the four years of high school work in less than four years while only 7.1 percent were taking the same subject in which they had previously failed.

In 19.7 percent of the cases studied, the pupil was taking a different course after having failed in one, so that he might not fall behind his class in the total number of credits, and 13.6 percent of the pupils were making use of the time during summer although no credit were needed. Four and eight-tenths percent were earning more credits than they needed for graduation from high school and the same percentage was taking required work previously omitted.

Variety Offered.

Courses offered during the summer session are: beginning typewriting, beginning shorthand, English 5, English 6, English 7, algebra 3 geometry 2, botany, physiology, modern European history 2, United States history 1, and constitutional government. Registration will begin at 9 a. m. Monday, June 9, and continue until Tuesday noon, June 10. Class work will begin at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

No student will be permitted to carry more than two courses. The tuition for any one course is $5.50, for two courses $10.00. Classes recite only in the morning, which is divided into three periods of 90 minutes length, 7:00 to 8:30, 8:30 to 10:00, 10:00 to 11:30.

Instructors Listed.

The list of instructors and their subjects follows: Miss Gamble, United States history and civics; Miss Lillie Park, modern history; Mr. Johnson, botany; Harry Hoy, physiology; Miss Hagerman, typewriting and shorthand; Mr. Johns, algebra and geometry; Blanche Stevens, English 6; Beatrice Koch, English 7; and Clara Johnson, English 5.

NEW LIGHTS FOR PLANES.

MATHER FIELD, Sacramento—Something new in airplane lighting—a plane entirely outlined with lights—is planned as a spectacular feature for the night attack on San Francisco April 18, "war" headquarters here revealed.

If present plans work out successfully, three planes will be so equipped, and visibility permitting, will be visible from all parts of the city as they sweep overhead.

KANSAS DOCTOR GIVES ADVICE ON BEST DIET

'Eat Foods That Have Been In Direct Sunlight,' Is Statement.

VITAMIN D EXPLAINED

LAWRENCE, Kas.—The necessity for eating food which receives directly the rays of the sun was stressed by Dr. Florence Brown Sherbon here this morning in a talk over radio station KFKU.

"The sun has always been identified with life," she said. "Plants live and grow only when they receive a certain amount of direct rays from the sun. Fortunately plants store sunshine in the form of vitamin D, and human beings and animals live and grow through winter months and cloudy days because they eat this sunshine which has been stored away in the tissues of grains and vegetables and fruits, especially the edible parts of which have grown directly in the rays of the sun, like cabbage, lettuce, spinach, green beans, etc. The greener the leaf the more vitamin D it contains."

"Animals also store sunshine in their bodies in the form of vitamin D. Unfortunately this is not stored in the muscle which is the part we commonly eat, but is stored in the edible organs such as the liver, sweet bread, brains and kidney, and also in milk fat which we eat as butter and cream. The animal will not store much sunshine unless it has lived in the sun and eaten sunshine food. Chickens and other fowl store sunshine in egg yolk (for young) and also in the liver and other glands."

Codfish Valuable.

While the oil from the liver of the codfish has been used for centuries as a medicine it was only recently that scientists have explained its value in that the codfish stores the most concentrated sunshine in his oily liver.

While the sun's rays will burn, they have come so far that we are quite safe from injury most of the time. However, the ultra-violet ray lamps produce rays which when coming into direct contact with the organs may cause serious injury if the organs are over exposed. Therefore, Mrs. Sherbon advises, no one should waste time and money with home treatment with the ultra violet lamp.

"One of the interesting by-effects of the campaign to prevent rickets and malnutrition is the discovery that these children who are soaked in sunshine, and fed sunshine, are very immune to disease, especially colds, flu, pneumonia, and tuberculosis," she concluded.

PRACTICE FRENCH.

UNIVERSITY OF DENVER, Denver, Colo.—Students of the University of Denver will speak a language quite unintelligible to visitors on the campus or to each other, for that matter, if the plans of the French department go through as outlined. This week is French week.

All French students are requested to speak French outside of classes. The orchestra will give programs of French in senior and junior college assemblies. The library will exhibit French books. Everything from heels to toes will be French.

This movement is not confined to the university campus as French travelers will be presented in junior and senior high schools. French films will be shown at some of the theaters. French dishes will be served in restaurants. French programs will be broadcast over radio stations.

All of these activities are sponsored by the several French societies in Denver to stimulate interest in French because the enrollment in French classes in Denver public schools is below the average for cities of this size.

PAINLESS EDUCATION.

CHICAGO, Ill.—A slogan, "If we must have education, let's get it painlessly," swept the campus of Northwestern university recently after Professor Baker Brownell, professor of sociology and literature at Northwestern, said he favored red Morris chairs for classrooms. Professor Brownell told a class in modern life and letters that he wanted the backache taken out of education. He would have a homelike surroundings, a few Morris chairs and plenty of cushions, he stated.
