AGGIES GET READY FOR CARNIVAL FETE

1930 Farmers' Fair Bill Has Many Varied Attractions.

NEW FEATURES ADDED

New among the attractions of the 1930 Farmers Fair, which is to be staged Saturday, May 3, is a horse pulling contest, under the supervision of Dwight Anderson, '30, of Ogallala. Twelve teams have entered in the light and heavy classes of pulling to compete for the several prizes, which total $200.

Exhibits at this student fair will feature the various departments of research at the college of agriculture, and they will be from both agricultural and home economics departments. The preparation of these exhibits is supervised by Myrtle White, of Tecumseh, a member of the junior board.

Quilt and Flower Shows. An exhibition of rare and fancy quilts has been added this year. Prizes will be given for the oldest and for the most beautiful quilts. White intimated, a flower show is another new attraction of the coming fair.

Besides these high spots, Manager Frikol stated, there will be such attractions as side shows, a style show, movies, two dances, a tea room, a livestock parade, and a pet stock and rabbit show. Backed by the faculty and supported by the university at large, the college fair is meant to develop and train students, say faculty advisers.

Smith Commends Undertaking. "Farmers Fair puts life, activity and interest in school work," Chauncey Smith expounded in a recent talk. Smith is a member of the faculty in the agricultural engineering department.

With headlines such as the parade, pageant, polo game and exhibits, these "farm minded" students plan, manage and promote their own fair. Many other features, according to announcements, provide a full program. Everything is of student talent. "I think it is the best kind of training for leadership," George Jackson, secretary of the Nebraska state fair, asserted. "It teaches students the value of co-operation."

Horse Show. Emphasizing a light horse show as the feature attraction of the day, fast sport and fancy riding became the order, was a statement made by Cyril Winkler, of Lexington. (Continued on Page 3.)

JACKSON HIGH TAKES STATE DEBATE TITLE

Defeats Auburn in Final Round on Question of Jury System.

WINNERS GIVEN TROPHY

Jackson high school won the state high school debating tournament over Auburn Saturday morning and the trophy offered by the Nebraska Bar association when they proved that the present jury system and criminal trials in the United States should be abolished. The decision was unanimous for the winners.

Jackson and Auburn went into the final round of the tourney by virtue of their defeats over Beatrice and Hastings, respectively, in the semifinals Friday night. The Jackson team claimed the jury system is undesirable, inefficient and declared that there was a more desirable means of securing justice in criminal prosecutions, in presenting their reasons for abolition of jury and criminal trials.

They proposed in place of the present system, a jury of three or five judges, nominated by the people and subject to recall. They argued, during the course of their argument, that sixty-seven professions are automatically excused from jury service. This, they claimed, has lowered the quality of jurors.

Because of corrupt judges and legislatures the jury is an absolute necessity, declared the Auburn debaters. They showed that the jury is called upon to decide upon fact alone and insisted that the jury is an essential part of democracy and basically sound and efficient.

Mrs. M. D. Thompson coached the Jackson team which was made up of Eugene Pester, Myron Bickel and Woodrow Magee. The Auburn team was composed of Beth Langford, Ruth Penney and Marshall Howe.

Richardson Presents Trophy

Prof. Enid Miller of Nebraska Wesleyan, C. L. Clark, attorney, and Prof. J. O. Rankin, University of Nebraska, were judges for the final debate. The trophy was presented by Arthur W. Richardson, who also presided over the debate. The summary of the debate tournament follows:

- First Round. Auburn 2, Beatrice 1. Auburn 2, Fremont 0. Norfolk, Oakland 0. Hastings 2, Stromsburg 0. Jackson, Lincoln 2, Wayne 0.
- Second Round. Hastings 1, Edgar 1. Jackson 2, Omaha North 1. Auburn 2, Norfolk 1. Beatrice 2, Central 0.
- Semifinal. Auburn 2, Hastings 1. Jackson 2, Beatrice 0. Final. Jackson 3, Auburn 0.

Campus Theme Song Of Last Few Days—'Singing in the Rain'

The theme song heard on the campus the last few days seems to be "Singing in the Rain" as the bedraggled students went their weary way from one class to another, vainly attempting to dodge all the raindrops possible. The only redeeming feature the inclement weather offers is the opportunity for the students to display new and startling innovations in slickers bedecked with scenic effects that would cause Jacob of Biblical fame to turn green with envy and sell his famed cloak to some somatic buyer of old clothes.

State Meteorologist Thomas A. Blair refuses to allow the suffering public a glimmer of hope for the next few days with cloudy weather and possible rain reported for today and Monday. Small hopes are held for a successful Ivy day if the gentle pattering of rain does not cease within a reasonable length of time.

Instead of the regular Vespers service in Ellen Smith hall Tuesday at 5 o'clock, a tea will be given, sponsored by the industrial group. Hostesses for the tea will be Harriet Horton, Lyndell Brumback, Alice Weed, Ruth Hatfield, and Georgia Kindscher.

LARGE AUDIENCE APPLAUDS FINAL KOSMET COMEDY

McCleery's Presentation of Clever Plot Appreciated By Last Night Crowd.

CHILES, EASTON STAR

Red Young, 'Flying' Athlete Actor, Handles Lead in Fine Style.

Playing to an audience which was filled with enthusiasm and which responded with hearty applause or laughter, the cast of "Sob Sister" three act musical comedy presented the final showing of a three night run in the Temple last night.

"Sob Sister" was written by Bill McCleery, Joyce Ayres, George Cook and Warren Chiles, and was given under the sponsorship of the University of Nebraska Kosmet Klub. Manuscript was by McCleery, who also wrote "Don't Be Silly" given by the club last year, and music was by Ayres, Cook and Chiles, with several of the lyrics by McCleery.

Last night's audience was both large and appreciative and proved its appreciation by its response. McCleery's witty handling of an unusual plot seemed to strike home and the result was almost continuous laughter and applause from the opening curtain till the orchestra sounded the closing notes.

Doris Powell, '30, Lincoln, in the leading female part of Mary Smith, was excellent. Her solo numbers were well received and her acting is claimed to be as good as that of a professional. Bob Young, '31, Norfolk, well known as a Husker halfback, was good in his role of Bob, convict in San Menquin penitentiary.

The scream of the show, rather than the two screams, were Warren Chiles, '30, San Diego, as Bennie, another convict, and Harlan Easton, '31, Havelock, as a guard in the prison. Both Chiles and Easton played their parts in true comedy style and brought forth one laugh after another from the audience. Chiles' witty remarks and Easton's characterization of a sleepy, not overly bright guard, brought down the house.

Doris Hosman, '30, Omaha, as Miss Caroline Shedd, sob sister, did a nice bit of characterization and succeeded in giving a good impersonation of the real sob sister type. Walter Vogt, '31, Aurora, as Virgil Shedd, her brother and Bob's rival in love with Mary, did a fine piece of work which is deserving of commendation. Others of the principal characters who all were well fitted for their parts and carried them thru nicely were Eleanor Foley, '30, Gothenburg, as Mrs. Smith, Mary's mother; Stanley Day, '31, Oshtosh, as the inspector; Bernard Wilson, '30, Omaha, as the warden; Lowell Davis, '31, Kearney, as assistant to the inspector; and the author himself, as Lefty, an escaping convict.

The entire cast was well selected and showed the effects of eight long weeks of rehearsal and strenuous practice. (Continued on Page 4.)

Candidates Will Compete For Places in Tuesday Eliminations.

15 MEN TO BE CHOSEN

Final tryout this year for aspirants to membership in Pershing Rifles, honorary drill organization, will be held Tuesday, April 29, from 5 to 6 o'clock, according to Stanley Day, captain of Nebraska's company.

The tryout will be held on the drill field if the weather conditions permit. Otherwise it will take place in Nebraska hall. Competition will be open to all basic students in military science. "All the rifle manual with the exception of trick commands will be given to those trying out," said Capt. R. G. Lehman, sponsor of the company. "Men will be chosen according to their quickness and accuracy in handling the rifle," he concluded.

Introduced Last Year. Introduced last spring in an effort to bring together the announcement of honor students of each of the classes and to create a tradition of recognizing superior students, Honors convocation was started. Seniors in the upper 5 percent of the class, students in each of the four classes in the upper 10 percent, student organizations that have maintained high scholastic standing and the winners of the many special prizes and awards during the year will be announced.

Dr. Jay William Hudson, professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri, will be the principal speaker at the convocation. He has selected "The Larger Terms of Culture," for his talk to the Cornhusker honor students. Dr. Hudson is an outstanding scholar and author. "Abbe Pierre" and "Nowhere Else in the World," are among the books he has written.

Burnett to Preside. The convocation will be presided over by Chancellor E. A. Burnett. Deans of the colleges, directors of the schools and a few invited guests will make up the official faculty group present.

Because of the crowded condition of Grant Memorial hall last year, the second honor program will be held in the Coliseum, where amplifiers have been installed for the occasion.

Parents Invited. Following the practice last spring, parents of the students honored for high scholarship have been notified through the office of the dean of student affairs. The notice also carries an invitation to the parents to be guests of the university the evening of the honor program.

Hart Jenks Recalls Early Days in Fine Arts School; Returns as Guest Actor for Presentation of 'Hamlet'

BY MOSELLE KLEEMAN.

"I came down to the University of Nebraska about eight years ago to take a heavy literary course and ended up by becoming an actor," declared Hart Jenks, guest artist who will take the leading role in the Shakespearean production, "Hamlet," which will be given by the University Players at the Temple theater, May 2 to 10.

Mr. Jenks who has just completed his second season with the Fritz Leiber Shakespearean Repertory company after having played three years with Walter Hampden on Broadway who was formerly a figure among the University Players. Mr. Jenks has lately received much favorable comment upon his artistic rendition of Shakespearean roles.

Wanted Relaxation. Mr. Jenks smiled when asked to reminisce. "I had signed up for a rather stiff course and wanted something for relaxation," he declared. "I noticed a Players class with Miss Howell as instructor listed in the catalog and took it although I had not taken the elementary courses and had grave fears of not being allowed to stay in the class. Miss Howell called the roll and when she came to my name, I answered 'present' just as the others had done, but she paused and told me that she wished to see me after class. I at once jumped to the conclusion that she was going to make me give up the class for one of the more elementary ones.

"Imagine my surprise when later she said to me, 'I have been looking for you for ten years. We are going to put on 'Hamlet' some day and you are going to play the lead.'"

Became Instructor. Mr. Jenks immediately became active with the Players and his first appearance was in "Seven Years of Balpatate." He continued to take more and more dramatic work and less and less literary work. Finding that his dramatic work interfered with his outside work, Mr. Jenks gave up the latter and became an instructor in the dramatic department. "It was as an instructor that I really learned the art of drama," maintained Mr. Jenks. "That's where I really learned to act."

Before coming to Nebraska Mr. Jenks had no experience along dramatic lines although he admits that as a child he did take part in one or two plays. "While I was still at the university, Miss Howell and I used to plan about the time when we would put on 'Hamlet' and we even selected those whom we should have in the cast. Of that original cast only Miss Howell, Herbert Yenne and myself are left. The others have gone their various ways but new and equally as good individuals have come in one or two places."
