TRADITIONAL IVY DAY CEREMONIES FULLY ARRANGED

Events Will Be Postponed in Case of Inclement Weather.

SING WILL LEAD OFF

May Pole Dance Is to Be Given First Time in Several Years.

With everything in readiness for the traditional Ivy Day celebration, everyone is waiting for the skies to clear so that it may be carried thru according to previous plans. If the weather is not favorable the Ivy day will be postponed, and will not be held in the Coliseum, as has been rumored by many students. If the weather is favorable the May Queen and all her attendants, whose identities have thus far been kept secret, will be presented in the traditional manner.

At nine o'clock Thursday morning the Interfraternity sing will begin the program. Seventeen fraternities will compete for the cup in the contest which is being sponsored by Kosmet Klub. The song competition for the Greek men will be followed by the entrance of the representative underclassmen who have been asked to carry the daisy chain. Two representatives from each class in all organized houses will carry the daisy chain. They will be followed by the senior women who carry the ivy chain and stand in a circle in front of the girls holding the daisy chain.

Queen Follows Procession

Two pages dressed in white satin suits will herald the approach of the May Queen and her attendants. First will come the freshman attendants, then the sophomore, then the junior, and the senior attendants. The attendants, who have been selected as representative women in their classes, will stand on the steps on either side of the queen's throne. The seniors on the top step. After this little Sally O'Shea and Jimmy Harrie will scatter rose petals along the white path which leads from the walk in front of Pharmacy hall to the arena. The maid of honor will then appear, then Jimmy McEwen with the queen's crown, the queen herself and the two train bearers, Virginia Ann Coleman and Brooke Westover.

The May Queen will be crowned by the maid of honor, both of whom were elected by popular vote.

175 PRE-MEDICS TO GO TO OMAHA FRIDAY

Students Will Make Annual Trip to College of Medicine.

Pre-medical students of the university will make their annual Pre-medical day trip to Omaha Friday as guests of the college of medicine there. About 175 will make the trip with Dr. H. W. Manter, their adviser.

The program, which is in charge of Dr. H. E. Eggers at the medical college, will begin with an inspection trip of the medical college hospital at 9:30 o'clock. Demonstration clinics will be held at which pre-medics can observe actual operations.

At noon a lunch will be served by the college. The feature of the afternoon program will be a ball game between the pre-medics and the freshman medical students.

Many of the pre-medics will remain in Omaha Saturday and visit other hospitals there and in Council Bluffs. Class for pre-medics will be dismissed Friday and Saturday.

Hart Jenks, Guest Star in 'Hamlet,' Developed Speaking Voice in Wilds of Canada Calling Herds of Cattle

BY MOSELLEE KLEEMAN

"It sounds improbable that I developed my stage voice while calling cattle in the wilds of Canada," stated Mr. Hart Jenks, guest star of the University Players and member of the Fritz Lieber Shakespearean Repertoire company, who will play the leading role in "Hamlet" which will be given at the Temple theater from May 2 to 10.

"It is really very unusual when I come to think of it," he added. "My brother and I went in the company of several other boys to Canada to take up some homesteads. There were no people or habitations for miles around. We were often separated from one another by several miles and finding it inconvenient to cover that distance on foot, resorted to calling.

"The atmospheric conditions helped considerably and we found that we could converse at unusual distance with a little training. We kept cattle, too, and applying our discovery to getting them home at night in the easiest way, I could call them over a distance of at least two miles."

When asked if he could still call cattle, Mr. Jenks replied that he could and proceeded to demonstrate. "I almost got in trouble once when I was called for an evening. We were out in the country and seeing some cattle about a half a mile away they persuaded me to show my vocal powers and

JACKSON SPEAKS AT PEP MEETING FOR COMING FAIR

Proclaimed as the largest crowd that has ever attended a rally on the college of agriculture campus, a Farmers Fair pep meeting was held Tuesday night in Ag hall. Ralph Elliott, treasurer of the fair board, presided over the gathering. Stressing organization and cooperation as the two great forces that go hand in hand to promote a successful venture, George Jackson, secretary of the Nebraska State fair, addressed the students in an entertaining talk. Jackson told of his fifty years of experience in county and state fair work.

Elvin Frolik, present manager of the affair, and Arthur Hauke, manager of the 1928 fair, were other speakers. Chairmen of the various committees gave reports. Music was provided by the college band, directed by William Quick.

ENGINEERS TO SHOW MINIATURE BRIDGE

Railroad Lift Device Will Be Featured on Open House Program.

TO BE HELD THURSDAY

A miniature railroad lift bridge and electric train fashioned after the Yellowstone river bridge in Montana will be one of the leading features of the civil engineering display at the engineer's open house tomorrow night. The bridge is one-fortieth the size of the original and will operate the same way. As the train approaches the bridge lowers, allowing the train to pass, then raises again.

Surveying camp equipment similar to that used on the summer surveying trips will be displayed at the door of the Applied Mechanics building. Model dams and pictures will be shown. The concrete testing laboratory will run a series of exhibition tests on concrete cylinders, paving bricks, structural steel and various types of timber.

Show Explosives.

The chemical engineers will demonstrate the use and manufacture of modern explosives and their applications to modern industries will be shown. The advanced organic classes will demonstrate the preparation of trinitrotoluene (T. N. T.). The chemistry of the petroleum refining industry will also be explained and demonstrated.

Engineering drawing, descriptive geometry, elementary mechanism, and machine design classes in the department of applied mechanics will have an exhibit of drawings and designs made by students during the year. The operation of the drafting machine will be demonstrated by one of the students. Models which students use to copy in making drawings and descriptive geometry figures will be on exhibit.

Feature Model Farm.

A model farm, planned to give the most efficient use of time and labor will be one of the features of the agricultural engineering department. Displays of iron and wood working products made by the students in the forge and manual training laboratories of the agricultural college will be shown. Various types of farm lighting plants will be on exhibit.

Senior Women Will Meet at Armory at About 10:15 Ivy Day

All senior women are expected to meet at the Armory at about 10:15 Ivy Day to arrange themselves in order for carrying the ivy chain. They are asked to wear white dresses.

At the same time the representatives of the lower classes, and all Tassels are asked to meet in the Armory, dressed in paste colors, to organize the daisy chain. Miss Bernice Elwell, honorary member of Mortar Board this year, and Miss Pauline Gellatly, alumnae of Mortar Board will be in charge of organizing the daisy and ivy chain processions.

THIRD ISSUE OF 'WITH FIRE AND SWORD' APPEARS

Unknown Editors Pick New Members of Innocents Society in Sheet.

ACCUSE ADMINISTRATION

Selection of May Queen, Maid of Honor Is 'Announced.'

"With Fire and Sword" appeared on the campus again Tuesday. The third issue of the pamphlet leveling accusations at the university administration and certain students was circulated Monday night and Tuesday morning. Mystery surrounds the distribution of No. 3 of the publication.

One copy was received by Miss Florence McGahey, registrar, through the university mail Monday evening. The Chancellor's office received one in the same manner Tuesday noon. Copies were found on bulletin boards in several of the buildings when students came to classes Tuesday.

Monday evening all the fraternity and sorority houses were called by telephone and told to have members at Magee's Campus Shop at 11:00 Tuesday as copies would be distributed there at that time. At the appointed time the paper was brought there by a Postal Telegraph messenger.

At the appearance of the boy whose bicycle was laden with the circulars, some hundred students who had congregated in front of the shop made a mad rush for the unfortunate bearer of the letters, and a mad scramble ensued.

L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the university, Dean Thompson, L. E. Gunderson, finance secretary of the university, and prospective Innocents were the targets of the attacks of the current issue.

Mr. Seaton was said to be at the present time a Buick automobile salesman and responsible for the large number of Buicks owned by the university. It was said that since Mr. Seaton has become operating superintendent, he has won valuable prizes as a Buick salesman. It was also said that for some unknown reason Mr. Gunderson had received a gift of a Marquette automobile.

JOURNALISTS PLAN PLAY DAY PROGRAM

Gomon Outlines Complete Round of Activity in Initial Event.

Final arrangements for the first annual Journalism day are taking form, according to an announcement made Tuesday afternoon by members of the Journalism committee in charge. Starting with a program at the Temple building at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, May 8, a schedule has been completed which will terminate late in the evening at the picnic grounds at Seward.

Conflict with the Interfraternity banquet has caused initial plans to be altered to some extent, according to Neal S. Gomon, general chairman. Members of the school wishing to attend the banquet will be able to participate in most of the activities of the day with sufficient time to attend the Interfraternity function as well.

Invitations Sent Out.

Personal invitations to attend the Journalism day program will be sent to a variety of student in the school of Journalism and all students registered for Journalism courses. These invitations will be mailed Friday morning, according to the chairman of the ticket sales committee. Tickets for that day will be sold in Journalism classes during the latter part of this week and the three days preceding Journalism day.

Tickets will be placed on sale for $1, which will provide for a luncheon at the Annex cafe at noon and a picnic dinner at Seward in the evening. Pastebards may also be obtained in the office of the editor of The Daily Nebraskan.

Journalism day is sponsored by the school of Journalism and is intended to create a spirit of fellowship between and among the students in the school. Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, and Theta Sigma Psi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, are in charge of the arrangements.

BIG PROGRAM IS SCHEDULED FOR NIGHT OF FAIR

"Though the polo game, feature attraction of Farmers Fair, has been scheduled during the afternoon of May 3, a variety of entertainment has been placed on the program for the evening," Elvin Frolik, manager of the fair board, pointed out in reviewing activities for the day.

There will be the side shows and concessions, the manager said. The program will be given again in the evening, as will the Snorpeum and Follies, and the style show. There will be two dances, one in the activities building and one in the open air. Buildings containing the exhibits will be open until late. The tea room will be open until 7 o'clock.

JAPANESE GARDEN IS NOVEL FAIR FEATURE

Committees Complete Work On Many Attractions Of Annual Event.

DISPLAY RARE QUILTS

With a flower show and a quilt show as new features, the exhibits at Farmers Fair will be of unusual interest, Myrtle White, '31, Tecumseh, declared as he reviewed his plans which are already becoming materialized. White, a member of the junior fair board, has complete charge of all exhibits during the fair.

Farmers Fair swings into action at noon Saturday, May 3, on the college of agriculture campus, when a half mile parade leaves for downtown Lincoln and encircles the business district.

Having a Japanese garden as the center of attraction, the flower show will be a true beauty spot, according to Hollis Vankleek, '32, Lincoln, who is arranging the novel floral display.

The flower show will contain a display appealing to wild flower preservation in Nebraska. There will also be a plant material identification contest for which prizes are to be given. Vankleek announced. One entire side of the tent which will house the show is to be given over to a display emphasizing home beautification, a landscape exhibit, and an arrangement of bouquets.

For the oldest and most beautiful quilts, in the quilt show, several prizes will also be given. White said. Many rare quilts will be displayed. It is expected. The exhibits at Farmers Fair will be educational and extremely interesting, Myrtle White stated as he emphasized the value of these features of the annual college fete.

"The purpose of these exhibits is to show what work is being done in the various departments of research," he added.

In animal husbandry exhibit points will be shown in the production and feeding of animals. All stock will be in the barns for observation after the livestock parade. Different types of meat will be displayed in a special exhibit.

Forge and wood work will be presented in agricultural engineering displays. Farm implements, both new and old, will be shown. Tractors will be in operation.

A display of field crops is to be presented in the agronomy exhibits. An entomology booth will be (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6.)

MATTSON WILL TALK ON STUDENT UNION

Ivy Day Orator Proposes to Point Out Merit of Project.

ADDRESS TO BE BRIEF

Russell C. Mattson, 1930 Ivy day orator, in his address Thursday at the Ivy day convocation will advocate a union building on the university campus.

The oration will take about ten minutes and in that time Mattson will attempt to show the need and the possibilities of a union building which, he explains, would be a general convocation hall and a center of men's activities. In pointing out the need of a building of this type the speaker will show how many other schools, many much smaller than the University of Nebraska, have built and are now using a union building.

Mattson, in taking this subject for the oration, departs from the usual custom of idealistic Ivy day speeches. The general tradition is to use an abstract subject but the speaker for Thursday will deal in the concrete.

The 1929 Ivy day orator, Bruce T. Snyder, spoke on "Unmoralized Power."

Russell Mattson is president of Delta Upsilon and is a junior in the college of law. He was elected at the midwinter elections.

REGISTRAR SETS WEEK MAY 5 FOR NEW ENROLLING

Fines Will Be Exacted for Late Registrations Says Miss McGahey.

FEES ARE DUE SEPT. 3

Military Science, Physical Education Are Required Of All Students.

Resident students intending to return to the University of Nebraska next fall will register during the week of May 5 to 10, Miss Florence I. McGahey, registrar, announced Tuesday.

The usual procedure will be followed. Students will go to their advisers, fill out their registration blanks and will leave them with the dean of their college. No fees will be paid during early registration, but a statement will be sent out to each student in the latter part of August. The student will be given until Sept. 3 in which to remit.

Any student not registered by May 10, however, will have a late registration fee tacked on to his statement. He will also be required to wait until next September when he can register with the incoming new students.

Of importance to both adviser and student are the regulations pertaining to physical education for women and military science for men. A signed statement regarding these two matters is being sent out to each instructor by the registrar.

Physical Education Required.

All women, says the edict, who have not completed the full four semesters of physical education required by the university must register for physical education 53 this coming semester.

This holds true regardless of any excuses or explanations the women students will have to offer unless they have in their possession to show advisers a deferment blank properly filled out and signed by Miss Lee, physical education instructor.

"Please see that all men who have not completed the military science requirements are registered for the work or sent to the department for reprivies before you sign their applications," the advisers are admonished.

Every male student carrying more than six hours must be registered for military science or for physical education unless he can (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3.)

DEVEREAUX OUTLINES GREEK BANQUET PLAN

Fraternity Tables Are to Be Closed on Night of Scholarship Dinner.

Arrangements for the banquet of 600 men are being made by the committee in charge of the annual Greek banquet, was the report made by Dick Devereaux, chairman, at a meeting of the Interfraternity council Tuesday night.

The date for the banquet is May 8, at the Cornhusker ballroom, at which time scholarship plaques and cups will be awarded to the highest ranking fraternities. Scholarship plaques are now being collected from the several fraternities who now hold them, Devereaux said.

A motion was passed requiring all fraternities to close their tables the night of May 8. Devereaux stated that letters are being sent out to fraternities informing them of details of the banquet.

Tickets for the banquet were distributed to the council representatives, and will go on sale Wednesday morning. They are priced at one dollar, which is the actual cost of each plate, according to the report. Other expenses will be paid from the council treasury.

A committee headed by Arthur Wolf was appointed by President Grau to renovate the plaques, so that they will be in presentable form on the night of the banquet. Other members on the committee are L. M. Etherton, Lloyd Jeffries and Richard Bell.

A re-draft of the constitution of the council was read by Frank Srb who heads the committee on pamphlets. A number of copies of the draft will be made and sent to fraternities for consideration. It is contemplated that a pamphlet containing the constitution and other material concerning the Interfraternity council will be printed soon.

May 1, Originated as Day for Hanging Baskets, Means More To Hopeful Innocents, Others

BY EVELYN SIMPSON.

Awakening very early in the morning when Father Sun was just beginning to stretch his arms, yawn, and begin his ride across the sky, the Romeo of years gone by betook himself to the window and scanned the horizon.

The day was clear; after forty days and nights of rain—but then that was another story. After a month of April showers true to the old adage, "May flowers had sprung up over night, and the ground was a veritable mass of white faced violets red faced jack-in-the-pulpits, and bleeding hearts.

Fair Romeo bethought himself of Juliet, saw her face mirrored in the white faced violets and the red faced—that is, among the lacy ferns, and straightway made a decision that has made history. He betook himself outside amid the flowers and wove from the ferns a basket and filled it with fresh, white faces. On a piece of birch bark—but maybe that was Sitting Bull—he wrote a sweet verse—something about the violets reminding him of her.

To his charger, who had been grazing among the newborn clover, he leapt and rode to Juliet's balcony, carrying his basket as he rode. Stealthily he took a true Captain Kidd—but then that wouldn't be right—but stealthily he climbed up the grape

HONOR STUDENTS TO BE NAMED IN ANNUAL MEETING

Coliseum Will Be Place of Convocation Tonight at 8 O'clock.

BURNETT TO PRESIDE

'Larger Terms of Culture' Is Topic of Hudson's Address.

Superior scholarship will be recognized by the university this evening at the second annual Honors convocation. All students in the university are invited and urged by Chancellor E. A. Burnett to attend the convocation at the Coliseum, a feature of which is an address by Dr. Jay William Hudson, professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri, who will talk on "The Larger Terms of Culture."

Not only will the university honor individual students but in addition organizations whose memberships have set an unusually fine scholastic record will be officially commended. A large number of special awards will be made as part of the program. It is the special desire of the Honors convocation committee that members of campus organizations sit together.

Burnett to Preside

Chancellor Burnett will preside over the convocation and music will be furnished by the university Fine Arts band.

The purpose of the convocation is to bring together the announcement of honor students of each of the classes and to create a tradition of recognizing superior students. Parents of the students honored for high scholarship have been notified and invited to be guests of the university at the Honors convocation and on Ivy day.

Dr. Hinman, who was an instructor at the University of Missouri for a short time while Dr. Hudson was there, stated that Dr. Hudson is "a remarkably effective speaker." Dr. R. H. Wolcott, who taught at the University of Missouri also, and who knew Dr. Hudson very well, added to Dr. Hinman's statement that the speaker is unusually witty and has an excellent sense of humor.

Speaker Is Author.

Dr. Hudson is a speaker and an author of note. He took his A. B. and A. M. degrees at the University of Missouri.

All active and alumnae members of the sororities are expected to attend. A varied program will follow the dinner, planned by Mrs. Warren Ogden who will be assisted by Mrs. Ray Whatham and Pauline Gellatly.

Mrs. L. Coryell is planning the table arrangement, and Gladys Beaumont is in charge of the menu. Mrs. Kenneth Lawson is in charge of the tickets which have already been distributed throughout the sorority houses.

Decorations are in charge of Mrs. Lyle Holland, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Gramlich and Mrs. Volz. Mrs. C. L. Clark is in charge of charts and prizes.

May 1 Acknowledged.

And ever since then, May 1 has been the acknowledged day for basket hanging. Even now, Bill McCleery has prepared his yearly basket made from the straw of his last summer's bonnet, and has commissioned a freshman to call him early Thursday morning in order that he may pick the dandelions when they are prettiest. Joyce Ayres, it is rumored, has woven a basket from bluebells and goldenrod, and is preserving it in the A. T. O. frigidaire until May 1, when he is expected to depart from his usual routine, arise early, and make tracks for the Alpha Phi house.
