

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Official Student Newspaper of the University of Nebraska

VOL. XXIX—NO. 146

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1930.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ENROLLMENT IS ABOUT SAME AS IN OTHER YEARS

Unofficial Reports Show 795 A. S. Students; 800 Last Year.

TEACHERS HOLD LEAD

1461 Enrolled First Term; Only 1377 Listed for Second Semester.

Unofficial reports of registration for the current year 1929-1930 in the various colleges of the university show practically the same enrollment as has been recorded in former years.

There are 795 students registered in the arts and sciences college this year, as compared with 800 last year. Enrollment in this college usually remains around 800 every year. Business administration enrollment shows an increase in the first semester, but a decrease in the second as compared with last year's report. There were 749 students in the first semester of this year, and 700 the second.

Teachers Surpass. Enrollment in teachers college surpassed all other colleges in that there were 1461 the first semester and 1377 the second semester. Engineering, law and dentistry college unofficial reports show practically the same number as have been enrolled in these colleges for the past few years. The first semester there were 718 students registered in the engineering college, and 647 for the second semester.

The approximate total for the entire year was 769. The listed students in law college totaled 157. This is an average for the two semesters of this year. There were 132 students registered in the dentistry college the first semester, and 113 the second. Reports of pharmacy, agriculture and graduate enrollments are not included in the list.

These accounts are tentative, in that in the majority of cases they do not include registration or dropping out after March 26.

MUSICIANS PLAN TO GIVE BAND CONCERT

Association Will Present Program Sunday at Antelope.

Lincoln Musicians' association will feature a massed band for a concert next Sunday afternoon May 18 in Antelope park at 4:30 o'clock. The band will be composed of more than sixty musicians, including vocal soloists with the band.

Fleda Graham Zeigenbein and Jack Wheelock will give vocal solos. Arthur J. Babich will direct the band. The park commission has made improvements in Antelope park for the convenience of the people. A new shell band stand has been erected and more seats have been added in front of the stand. According to the association, the concert is open to the public.

The program follows: "America" (audience singing); march "Semper Fidelis"; Sousa; "Sunny Side Up"; Henderson; vocal solo "El Bacio"; (The Kiss); Arditi; by Fleda Graham Zeigenbein; overture, "Morning, Noon, and Night"; Suppe; "Mother's Voice"; R. Wall by Jack Wheelock; sacred paraphrase, "Pilot Me"; Barnum; "O'ward Christian Soldier"; "Operatic Potpourri"; Broadway Melodies; "Putting on the Ritz"; Lampe; "The Star Spangled Banner."

Female Scribes Eat Beans; One Member Injured in Hurdle

The annual Theta Sigma Phi picnic took place last evening under a cloudy sky with the roof of the Shrine club pavilion intervening. Such conversation as was audible above the consuming of baked beans was literary in character.

The first course which was provided by all the members in general was served on paper plates. The dessert was served on the bottom of the said plates, showing the conservative tendencies of the organization. The whole affair went off smoothly, excepting an injury to Sally Pickard when she tried to hurdle over two chairs at once to save the second installment of beans from burning. She agreed to leave such charitable and athletic acts to the younger and more active members in the future.

The dinner was followed by a sword swallowing contest which was won by Helen Day, and a cake eating contest from which Lyra Tait emerged the undisputed champion.

A christening ceremony closed the evening's activities—its results as follows: Pickard, Beany Boltzford, Topsy Tait, Porky Pizer, Satan Sylvia, Holyoake, Sour Musik, Rapping Robinson, Shady Shroeder, Day sisters, Ivy and Windy, Crash Reckmeyer, Kussed Kieeman and Plugged Nichols.

The organization wishes to express its appreciation to the water hazard for all water used during the meal and the ceremony.

Imperfect Limbs Mean No Socks For Sally; Too Many Sweets, Not Enough Cigaretts Promote Faults

By SALLY PATICA. Four out of five have two of 'em, three out of five have most of 'em, and about four out of one hundred and twenty-five, so far, have all of 'em. And the rest don't know where to get 'em unless they reduce. If you want to know what they are, they're leg—pardon me—limb measurements. A Lincoln business house is offering free hose to perfect pedal specimens, and the degree of perfection exhibited is quoted as being astounding.

DR. FORDYCE TALKS TO WRITERS' GUILD

Declares Literary Bulletin Should Be Published Quarterly.

MRS. EBERHART SPEAKS

The luncheon of the Nebraska Writers' Guild Thursday was attended by sixty people. A brief talk in which he commended upon the success of the semiannual bulletin published by the organization was made by Dr. Charles Fordyce, president of the guild.

The doctor stated that so much desirable material was received that he believed that the guild could print the bulletin four times a year rather than twice. J. G. Masters, of Omaha made a talk on the work of the Oregon Trail association. A huge map of the western part of United States was displayed on the speaker's table and was used by the speaker to illustrate his talk.

Mrs. Mignon Eberhart of Valentine, author of mystery stories, and Prof. L. C. Wimberly, of the department of English spoke at the luncheon. Leo V. Jacks of Creighton university conducted the fiction round table discussion. The poetry discussion was led by Mrs. Leslie Dykstra, who came from Cedar Rapids, Ia., for the occasion. A collection of books by the guild member were displayed.

STUDENT COUNCIL WILL ELECT NEW HEAD WEDNESDAY

The newly elected Student council will begin its activities officially Wednesday, May 21, when the first meeting of the new body will assemble.

FORMER EDITOR WAS LISTED AS ENGINEER

Wm. Bertwell, Past Head of Nebraskan, Lauds News Work.

That the channels through which men have arrived at the editor's chair of the Daily Nebraskan are exceedingly varied, is evidenced by a letter from William Bertwell, former editor of the Nebraskan, who states that while in school he was enrolled as an engineer.

Mr. Bertwell is enthusiastic concerning the benefits of school news paper work, saying, "My work on the Nebraskan and subsequently on the Lincoln Star gave me a lasting interest in newspapers and writing, and the latter, especially a never-failing concern with happenings in China, Europe, and foreign happenings in general. Very little of this appears to concern many of the newspapers published in the middle west."

News Work Handicaps. Some slight handicaps were brought on by work on the Daily Nebraskan, for Bertwell says, "I am particularly about capitalization, punctuation, spelling and split infinitives to suit most of my 'colleagues' in engineering."

In Mr. Bertwell's opinion, editorial work on a college newspaper is well expended, and any courses or activities which bring one into contact with persons in the newspaper business should be valuable to the aspiring journalist.

As a word of advice the former editor remarks, "You might try to give Nebraska students an idea of what is going on at other universities through the exchanges, just as telegraph news is handled on city dailies."

Suggests Scrutiny. As a further suggestion Bertwell adds, "I might also suggest that the college papers should scrutinize more carefully financial dealings handled by students, and sometimes by others, because, if for no other reason, you will find it impossible to get anything not stated and dull printed once you are out of college."

The on-line chief Nebraskan executive is now engaged in a wholly unjournalistic occupation—bridge engineering in Montana.

unlucky ones are going to land free hose, which will deprive them of the best possible excuse for going bare-legged and comfortable when hot weather comes. Personally the writer is glad that she is a few inches off in the lower extremities.

The chief causes of imperfection were listed as too much diet, too little food, too many sweets and not enough cigarettes. Incurves and outcurves also added to faults. It is rumored that a certain Theta got mad and walked out because the authorities insisted on measuring around the curve instead of straight to the ground from the knee. "I like things to go straight to the point," she said in an interview afterward.

Staffs for Nebraskan and Cornhusker to Be Determined Saturday

Results of the next year's staffs of The Daily Nebraskan and The Cornhusker, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m., according to John K. Sellock, secretary of the publication board. The meeting will be held in the library of the school of journalism.

FINAL ISSUE OF BLUE PRINT IS RELEASED

May Copy Leads With 'The Artistic Bridge' By Wilfred Hill.

COVER DESIGN FEATURES

"The Artistic Bridge," by Wilfred G. Hill, instructor in the architectural engineering department, is the lead story of the final May issue of Blue Print, engineering college magazine recently released.

One of the features of the book is its cover piece by LaMonte J. Belnap. This depicts the new state capitol, surrounded by prairie schooners, oxen and frontiersmen, with an airplane flying over the whole. A good deal of comment has been engendered by this page, according to its editors.

THE FRONTISPIECE

Frontispiece of the publication consists of a view of the Sixth street bridge in Pittsburgh. "Members of Two Decades" by Marvin Von Seggern, '32, recently appointed managing editor of the magazine, is a review of a collection of addresses and papers of Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, Dr. Waddell received his engineering degree from the University of Nebraska and is considered one of the world's foremost engineers, according to Von Seggern.

John VanDyke, '31, has contributed an article on a new engineering project entitled "The Proposed Owyne Dam in Oregon." "Testing the Big One" is a story by Bernard Robinson, '30, retiring managing editor. It is concerned with the testing of generators in East Pittsburgh.

SIXTY BIDS ARE ISSUED FOR RAG BANQUET, MAY 22

Sixty workers on The Daily Nebraskan staff will receive invitations to the annual Rag banquet which will be held May 22. Included in this will be members of the business staff and students who have worked most regularly during the entire year, according to Earl Anderson, general chairman of the affair.

The Egyptian room at the Lincoln hotel has been selected as the scene of the banquet. Mary Nichols is chairman of the committee that is making arrangements for the banquet.

AG COLLEGE WOMAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Miss Mary Katherine Arnett, freshman at the college of agriculture, died in a local hospital Wednesday from the effects of an operation she had undergone some time ago. Her home was at Phillips and she is survived by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Arnett of that place. The body is at Castle, Roper and Matthews' pending funeral arrangements.

LEADLEY ADDRESSES JOURNALIST GROUP

Founders Day Is Observed By Sigma Delta Chi At Annual Banquet.

ALUMNI ATTEND AFFAIR

Sigma Delta Chi observed Founders' day of the organization Thursday evening at Sigma Nu house with a dinner, followed by a short program of speaking. About twenty members and alumni guests attended the affair.

The principal speaker of the program was T. A. Leadley, managing editor of The Nebraskan Farmer who addressed the group on agricultural journalism.

Mr. Leadley outlined the history of the agricultural press in the United States, stating that it had carried a large part of the fight for better conditions for the farmer. He named the various obstacles which have confronted the agricultural publisher, due to certain peculiarities of the industry.

OUTLINES GROWTH

He also spoke of the rapid growth of the agricultural press from 1913 to 1929, due to the tremendous increase in value of farm produce, and the advances made by industries closely allied to the farming industry. Mr. Leadley also recalled the slump which began in 1920 continuing until 1925. Since 1925, he stated, the farm journal has made a steady advance.

Mr. Leadley pointed out the fact that the potential market offered by the agricultural population has not been recognized. He stated that the annual revenue amounted to approximately $12,000,000,000.

In discussing the service of the farm journal to its subscribers, Mr. Leadley told of the various activities which are aside from editorial work. Among them are the "Master Farmer" awards made annually by leading farm journals to outstanding farmers in the sections served by the individual publications.

"Protective Service." He also told of the work of the "protective service" which is also offered by farm publications. These are organized, he explained, to protect farmer readers against fraudulent business deals, irresponsible agents of various kinds, and other types of illicit operations.

Enormous sums of money are returned to farmer readers in this manner, he stated, and the service also prevents a great deal of unfair dealings with the agricultural population.

In concluding he outlined the future of agricultural journalism and its opportunities to beginning journalists. He stated that the field was becoming more restricted due to the large number of mergers in the field in recent years, but he also added that with the development of these extra activities in the field that there should be openings for those interested.

Among the other guests were Glenn Buck and R. V. Koupal. A short business followed the speaking program.

THETA NU ELECTS 12 NEW MEMBERS

James Davis Chosen Nu Med Head at Premed Banquet Wednesday Night.

New members of Theta Nu honorary premed fraternity, were tapped Wednesday night at a premed banquet at the Grand Hotel. Dr. S. G. Zemar, Lincoln physician, was the principal speaker of the evening and his subject, "The Place of a Specialist in Medicine," covered the characteristics necessary in medicine and some of the advantages and disadvantages of being a specialist.

The new members of Theta Nu are: William C. Keotel, Gilbert Johnson, Edward W. Zeman, Glenn Brooks, Max Kieselbach, Dale Cameron, Fred C. Schlumberger, Louis Cohen, Darrel Campbell, Marvin Edmond, Ed Shearburn, Lester Urbauer, James A. Smrha, Prof. C. S. Hamilton of the chemistry department was made an honorary member.

At the same banquet the officers for Nu Med, society for premedics, students were elected and James Z. Davis was chosen president, Dale Cameron, vice president, Max Kieselbach, secretary-treasurer.

BLOOD COMMENDS GIRLS ON ABILITY TO WRITE WELL

"Women are naturally fitted to write advertising," declared Prof. F. C. Blood, professor of advertising and sales management at the meeting of the Girls' Commercial club meeting held yesterday noon at the chamber of commerce.

"They not only do most of the buying, but they see merchandise in use all the time and know what-ever satisfaction or benefit it may bring.

BROTHERS ON STUDENT COUNCIL

BOYD AND MARVIN VON SEGGERN.

Brothers who were chosen in this recent election to represent the colleges of agriculture and engineering, respectively, on the student governing body of the university. Both boys are sophomores, from West Point, Neb. Boyd, left, is a member of Alpha Gamma Theta and Marvin is affiliated with Phi Kappa Alpha. According to T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, this is the first time two brothers have been elected to the council at the same time.

Saturday Is Limit for Golf Entries

Women's golf qualifying cards must be into the intramural office by Saturday night, May 16, according to Miss Clarence MacDonald.

Tennis first rounds must be completed by Saturday.

HORSE SHOW DRAWS NUMEROUS ENTRIES

Animals From Many States Will Be Displayed at Annual Fete.

3 PERFORMANCES LISTED

"The best rounded programs and the best horses in this section, not excluding those shown at the Ak-Sar-Ben show in Omaha, are being offered to lovers of horse flesh at the Lincoln Junior League-Chambers of Commerce Horse show to be held at the state fair grounds coliseum, May 16 and 17," declared Douglas Timmerman, publicity manager. "This is not just a so-called society affair, but is for all who are interested in horses."

Performances will be given at 8 o'clock both Friday and Saturday evenings and a matinee will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. At all showings, the complete program of exhibitions will be given, which include the high school horses of Mr. Clyde S. Miller of Waterloo, Ia.; representatives from the stables of Mrs. Mercedes Augustine, Grand Island; George Brandeis, Omaha, and Shannon C. Douglas of Kansas City, Mo. Horses are also to be shipped from Fort Worth and Houston, Tex.; Marysville and Kansas City, Mo.; Belleville and Hadram, Kas., and Nevada, Oranva and Sioux City, Ia.

Six Horse Team Secured

"The famous six horse hitch belonging to the Omaha Stock Yards company is being brought here," declared Timmerman. "These horses have been brought from Canada, Belgium and the Orkney Islands and are very well matched. A couple of $10,000 horses, champions of the ring, will also be shown."

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Wright of Tulsa, Okla., are the judges and will be assisted by Mr. W. J. Kennedy of Kansas City, who will judge hunters, jumpers and ponies. Ray Ramsay, alumni secretary, will be the announcer.

First Show Success

"Lincoln's first annual horse show held last year was a pronounced success," Douglas Timmerman went on, "and this year's show promises to be a bigger, better and more entertaining one than is even anticipated by the backers."

Local firms are offering two $500 prizes for three and five gaited horses and two $250 prizes for ponies. The classes shown include five gaited, three gaited and combination horses, saddle ponies and owners classes. A prize will also be given for the best lady rider.

43 APPLICATIONS ARE ON FILE FOR STAFF POSITIONS

Forty-three applications were received for positions on the Cornhusker and The Daily Nebraskan at the deadline, 5 o'clock last night. They applied as follows: Three for managing editor; two for business manager; two for editor and three for assistant business manager of the Cornhusker. The Daily Nebraskan had two filings for editor; two for business manager; five for assistant business manager; three for sports editor; four for managing editor and seven news editors.

The publication board will meet at 1:30 Saturday afternoon in the school of journalism office.

Miss Haverfield Chosen As Vestals President

At a meeting of Vestals of the Lamp, Thursday noon, Miriam Wigggenhorn, newly elected president of the organization, resigned her office because of too many activities. Elaine Haverfield was elected to fill her place.

CEREMONIES HELD FOR BIG SISTERS

MISS JOYCE IN CHARGE

Two hundred ten undergraduate women were created big sisters last evening when the Big Sister board conducted its annual initiation ceremony in the Student Activities building on the agricultural campus. Officiating was Charlotte Joyce, acting in her capacity as president of the organization.

210 Initiated into Order at Ag Campus; Dinner Is Held.

Assistants in performing the ceremony were Lucille Ledwith, vice president, who pinned ribbons of scarlet and cream symbolizing University of Nebraska service, on each girl; Katherine Williams, Mrs. Herbert Gray, sponsor, and Ruth Diamond.

A Responsibility

"Your little sister," states Miss Joyce in her opening address to the big sisters-to-be, "will be both a pleasure and a responsibility. You will, by your effort in being a friend, make them love their work at Nebraska; you will help them through the difficulties of their first registration, their first lonesome Sunday afternoon, and be a sister in every sense of the word during the first year."

Following the initiation service, the entire number of newly initiated big sisters and about forty senior women who, by reason of graduation, are unable to take part in the movement next year, adjourned to the second floor for dinner. During the interval when the long line was being served, many of the girls entertained themselves by dancing.

Dinner Is Served

Esther Boyer and Edith Stahl were in charge of the food for the dinner, and other board members assisted in serving. Gertrude (Continued on Page 3.)

MISS HAVERFIELD IS VESTALS PRESIDENT

Miriam Wigggenhorn Resigns In Accordance With Points System.

Elaine Haverfield, junior in the arts and science college, was elected president of Vestals of the Lamp, arts and science honorary for women. Miss Haverfield is a member of Chi Omega and fills the position vacated by Miriam Wigggenhorn, Delta Gamma, who was forced to resign the position in accordance with the Associated Women's point system.

Admittance to the organization is based on scholarship and an interest in the college of arts and science as the source of a well rounded education. Margaret C. Hochdoerfer, associate professor of German languages, is sponsor of the organization.

Other officers elected at the meeting held last Thursday evening were: vice president, Helen McAnulty; secretary, Eleanor Demming; treasurer, Berneice Hoffman.

TASSELS ELECT NINETEEN GIRLS TO MEMBERSHIP

Nineteen women have been elected members of Tassels and will be entertained at the annual pledge picnic to be held at Capitol Beach on Thursday, May 22. Each year new persons are elected to fill vacancies caused by graduation of the old members.

The new members are Jane Ax-toll, Alpha Chi Omega; Winifred Rastode, Alpha Delta Phi; Lucille Kunselman, Alpha Delta Phi; Ann Amaden, Alpha Phi; Harriett Nesseldecker and Lucille Hendricks, Alpha Omicron Phi; Gretchen Hastings, Alpha Xi Delta; Phyllis Ruggler and Thelma Uter, Gamma Phi Beta; Grace Nickolas, Delta Delta Delta; Jane Youngson, Kappa Alpha Theta; Alice Quiggle, Phi Mu; Maxine Weiss, Zeta Tau Alpha; Oda Vermillion, Phi Omega Pi; and Lucille Ambrose, Esther Abbott, Margaret Chevrton, Josephine Orr and Ardeth Pierce, non-sorority.

STEWART WANTS WITHDRAWAL OF REGENT MARSH

Federation Secretary Terms Official as 'Cat's Paw' for Enemies.

M'KELVIE SENDS LETTER

Questions School Head's Attitude on the Farm Relief Program.

Because Fred A. Marsh, regent of the University of Nebraska, has allowed his name and official connection to be used as a "cat's paw" for the enemies of the farm co-operative movement in Nebraska, C. B. Steward, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation, demanded his immediate resignation from the board of regents. This demand was made in a letter to John H. Webster, president of that board.

Samuel K. McKelvie, member of the Federal Farm board, has also written Mr. Marsh, questioning his attitude toward co-operative marketing and the Hoover farm relief program.

This discussion arose from an advertisement which appeared in the Central City Republican in which Mr. Marsh allowed his official title to appear. The advertisement opposed the farm board and co-operative marketing.

McKelvie Questions Stand. Mr. McKelvie remarked in his letter: "I cannot conclude without remarking upon the strange anomaly when a regent of the state University of Nebraska, an institution that receives hundreds of thousands of dollars of federal funds to promote education and practice in improved methods of farming and marketing," he said, "places himself squarely in opposition to another agency of the government that is designed to do the same thing. I might better have expected that such outpouring would emanate from the United States chamber of commerce."

Steward Protests

Mr. Steward in his letter to Mr. Webster said: "I wish to protest against the use by Mr. Marsh of his position as a regent of the University of Nebraska to secure publicity and act as a cat's paw for the enemies of the farmers' co-operative movement in Nebraska, the Nebraska Grain Dealers' association."

Nebraska is pre-eminently an agricultural state. The support of agriculture comes very largely directly or indirectly in the form of taxes paid by agriculture. In addition to that I wish to point out that the university derives considerable financial support from the federal government, and that this financial support is included in the appropriation made for the department of agriculture and is expended by the department of agriculture, of which the secretary is a cabinet member, is also a member of the farm board, which Mr. Marsh is criticizing.

Accuses Association

"Now of course, we have very good reason to believe that the advertisement attacking the farm board and co-operative marketing, which Mr. Marsh signed as a regent of the university, was inspired by the Nebraska Grain Dealers' association, and that they paid for the advertisement and for its distribution. Will Mr. Marsh on his honor say that this was original with him, and that he bore the expense?"

"I am very sorry indeed that a regent of the university would so far belittle the high position which he occupies by making the use of that office in order to spread propaganda detrimental to the interests of the co-operative movement among farmers in Nebraska, and I especially condemn it because Mr. Marsh was represented on the board of regents for his district. Certainly he has acted in a very unethical and reprehensible manner in permitting his position as a regent of the university to be used for such a contemptible purpose."

Urges Action

"I hope you will bring this matter to the attention of the board of regents at the next regular meeting of the board, and that the board will see fit to officially place its stamp of disapproval upon such a use of the high position as a regent of the University of Nebraska. Otherwise the just criticism of farmers may be leveled at the board of regents as a whole. In my opinion Mr. Marsh should relieve the board of regents of the University of Nebraska of such an embarrassing situation as has come about because of his unwise actions by immediately resigning from the board, as he certainly has proven unfaithful to the interests which he was supposed to represent."

Marsh's Reply

Mr. Marsh's letter in reply follows: "I have a copy of the letter sent to you by Mr. C. B. Steward of Lincoln, complaining of unethical conduct upon my part. His point is well taken. However, there was no authorization upon my part for affixing my official status to that article. I expressed regret when I first saw the paper, and a few days later, in replying to a party who wished to reprint the advertisement, said that I could not consent to its further use without (Continued on Page 3.)
