Geology Course Practical, Schramm Declares, Class Work Proceeds Field Work; Plan Alaskan Inspection Tour

BY GEORGE DUNN.

"The course in geology is an entirely practical course now but it would be more so if more actual field work was done instead of the large amount of classroom work being done now," declared Prof. E. F. Schramm, professor of geology, yesterday. "However, this idea is not practical just at present because it does not fit in with the general university curriculum and also because of theo lack of funds to carry out its pro-visions." "This department rates well with the other university goology courses in the United States," according to Professor Schramm. Among the successful graduates of the university are: Wesley Giab, "22, vice president of the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, Fort Worth, Tex.; L. J. Gude, '20, chief geologist for the Coline Oll company, Oklahoma City, Okla.; E. P. Hindes, '15, special representative of the land and geology department, Empire Gas and Fuel com-pany. Bartlesville, Okia.; A. L. Beekly, '13, chief geologist for the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas company, Tulsa, Okla.; Allan Sedgwick, ex-'03, professor of geology University of Southern California, Los Angeles, Calif.; E. G. "The principal field equipment now being used are telescopic ali-dades and plane tables." Professor Schramm went on, "and field trips are taken on Saturdays and during school vacations. A six weeks' trip is also planned for this summer to Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico and Arizona. Sophomores and juniors especially will make this trip." The trip to six western states will include visits to lead, silver, coal and gold mines and oil and shale deposits. Salt mines and shale deposits. Salt mines and gypsum deposits will be examined during the trip. "All trips are alluring because approved status of an amateur they take in all the different types athlete will come out of the meet- of mines there are." Professor Schram said. "The different methare: fall tennis, junior college rule, freshman participation in games other than football, location of the number of smelters and blast furnaces are visited and each has its own method of handling its work."

Class Work Preliminary,

An attempt is made to have the classroom work all preliminary to outside work so that most practical work will be done in the field during the vacation and Saturday
