MIXER DRAWS MORE THAN 400 STUDENTS; COMMITTEE PLEASED

Crowd Jams Way Into Grant Hall; Too Small to Care For All.

Next Entertainment Set for July 11; Orchestra Will Be Hired.

Between 400 and 500 summer session students played games, got acquainted, and danced at the All-Summer-School mixer Friday night in Grant Memorial hall. The entertainment was the second of its sort ever given under university auspices for all summer school students.

A number of group games were played until 10 o'clock when they gave way to dancing. Until this time only the east half of the women's gymnasium was opened and the crowd packed the room. At the beginning of the dance the west part of the gymnasium was opened and music was furnished in both places.

Because the party was free to all students, the faculty committee in charge of arrangements had no funds to hire an orchestra. The phonograph which was used at first could not be heard above the shuffle on the floor so volunteer piano players were called for. Several girls responded and played in relays until shortly after 11 o'clock when the crowd dispersed.

To Hire Orchestra. The phonograph was moved into the west part of the gymnasium where it was used by a smaller portion of the students attending the mixer.

A charge of 10 or 15 cents probably will be made at ensuing mixers to defray expense of hiring an orchestra, according to E. W. Lantz, chairman of the faculty committee.

When it became apparent that music arrangements at the Friday night mixer were inadequate, Miss Frances Ash who took active charge of the entertainment, called the group together to find out if all would be willing to pay 10 or 15 cents for an orchestra for following dances. Acclamation was practically unanimous.

MANY STUDENTS ATTEND GERMAN MUSIC PROGRAM

The German musical program of phonograph records, given on the second floor of Andrews hall Sunday afternoon, was attended by a large group of students and a number of adults. The program, which lasted from 4 to 5 o'clock, included German songs and symphonic numbers by German composers. Other similar programs will be given later in the summer, according to Prof. Laurence Fossler, chairman of the German department.

METHODISTS GIVE LAWN RECEPTION

Sixty Students Entertained; Program Given and Games Played.

Sixty Methodist students in summer school attended the lawn reception given for them Friday evening at the home of Gertrude Marsh, 1645 G street, under the auspices of the St. Paul Epworth league. Japanese lanterns were strung in a circle around the Marsh yard. Garden flowers were used in the decoration scheme.

After an informal program of games, a short program was presented. Miss Roma Harrington sang one song and gave two readings. Herbert Probasco played a clarinet solo and Dorothy Wescott gave a group of readings.

Several picnics are being planned for Methodist students by the St. Paul league to which all were invited.

Fordyce Clinic Will Advise on Selecting Jobs

Do you know what you want to do after you leave the university?

If you have a position already, are you satisfied with it? For what particular kind of work are you best fitted? Are you engaged in an enjoyable vocation?

Attempts to answer these questions correctly at a psychological clinic under Dr. Charles Fordyce will be made this summer by vacation students.

The clinic will open Thursday, July 3. Appointments may be made by consulting Dr. Fordyce. It will continue open the weeks of July 7 and 14, closing with the end of the six weeks sessions. Tests are given free of charge.

These tests have been compiled by Dr. Fordyce for various lines of business and professional service, and are coming into nationwide use. They are designed to show the strong and weak inherent tendencies in the individuals taking them. A number of Lincoln business houses are using them in selecting employees.

The course offered this summer in determining suitable vocations is especially for high school teachers who are confronted with the problem of helping their students select a life work. While the choices then made often are changed, Dr. Fordyce points out that the earlier a student decides upon a vocation, the more time he can devote to preparing for it.

Intelligence tests, accompanied by a large number of aptitude tests, form the bases for predicting suitable vocations for those being examined.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS PICNIC AT ANTELOPE PARK; FORTY ATTEND

DISARMAMENT PICKED AS DEBATE SUBJECT

High School Arguers Will Consider War Issue Coming Season.

"Resolved: That the nations should disarm except for such forces as are needed for police purposes" is the question that will be debated by Nebraska high schools the coming year, according to announcement made today by Prof. H. A. White, president of the Nebraska high school debating league.

Decision on the 1930-31 question for debate was arrived at by Professor White on the basis of returns from a questionnaire sent to all members of the debating league. Three questions were submitted, one dealing with chain stores, one with a state school equalization fund, and the other with disarmament.

Twenty-nine of sixty-two replying voted to use the disarmament question, eighteen for the chain store issue, and fifteen for the equalization fund topic.

In a preliminary questionnaire additional subjects considered included the following: Installment buying as practiced is unjustifiable; advertising as conducted today is more beneficial than harmful; the United States should adopt the Canadian system of liquor control; automobile owners should be compelled to carry personal injury and property insurance.

Material and bibliographies on the disarmament question will be prepared and sent out by the extension under the direction of Prof. A. A. Reed, director. The extension division also will assist next year in the active affairs of the league.

Official Bulletin

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

R. D. Moritz, director of the university summer session and of the teachers placement bureau recommends as a means of professional insurance that all teachers and superintendents keep a set of credentials up to date and on file in the bureau office. Many times calls for teachers are futile because a ready set of credentials is lacking. This often results in an individual losing a position he or she might otherwise have. The university placement bureau stands ready to assist the students and teachers in collecting and filing professional data which may help teachers in obtaining a better position at a later date. The policy of the bureau is to serve the individual seeking employment and to serve the schools by giving them teachers fitted for the positions available.
