INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL ACTS

Scholastic Honorary Seeks to Affiliate

Organization, Sponsored by Mortar Board, Of First Year Women Outstanding in Scholarship, Desires Charter With National.

NINETY PERCENT IS REQUIRED FOR ELIGIBILITY

Constitutions of Sigma Epsilon Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta Are Investigated by Former Society Members Last Year.

Fourteen women have been named as members of the freshman scholastic honorary organization for women which has been established by members of Mortar Board this fall in an effort to encourage high scholarship among freshmen women.

An average of ninety percent or more is a prerequisite to membership in the group. The fourteen women named at a meeting Tuesday evening to decide definitely to which organization they wished to apply for membership.

Begin Last Spring. The establishment of this new honorary was begun last spring by last year's Mortar Board members who named nineteen freshmen as eligible to membership, fourteen of which have returned to school this fall. Delays prevented the establishment of the group last year, but members of Mortar Board definitely assured the charter members of the organization of such a group and gave them the opportunity to petition for membership in the honorary of their own choosing.

Mortar Board investigated constitutions submitted by similar groups at various universities, one of which was Sigma Epsilon Sigma. This honorary has chapters at the University of Colorado and at the University of Missouri. It has proven very successful in raising the averages among freshmen women. Another honorary investigated was Alpha Lambda Delta.

The following girls are members of this new honorary: Pauline Nelson, Lincoln. Hildegard Batz, York. Leta Wempe, Frankfort, Kas. Lidusa Ninger, Humboldt. Ruby Schewmley, Wray, Colo. Aileen Warner. MRS. ELLERY DAVIS ADDRESSES WOMEN

Speaker Tells Purpose of Voters' League To College Group.

Mrs. Ellery Davis, president of the State League of Women Voters, addressed the college group on the "Problems, History and Aims of the Organization" Thursday afternoon in Ellen Smith hall.

"Problems of the county health unit and the county welfare unit will be brought before the next meeting of the Nebraska league and send their suggestions and requests to the legislators," Mrs. Davis stated.

In giving the history of the league she said that women have fought for suffrage for sixty years and have voted for ten years.

After they secured education for women they wanted woman suffrage. The league is the only group confining itself to government and politics with a view to being good citizens. It assists women in voting wisely, and women have more time now to spend on such things.

Ethel Sievers, the new president, presided at the meeting. A short program consisted of a whistling solo.

GEORGE RUSSELL WILL SPEAK AT STUART THEATER

University Secures Irish Writer for Program Next Tuesday.

AUTHOR FAMOUS AS A. E.

Philosophy of Rural and Community Life Is Topic of Talk.

George Russell, known to the world as the "sage of Ireland," will deliver a public address at the Stuart theater next Tuesday.

The Stuart theater has been obtained through the courtesy of Charles Shire to enable a large audience to hear Mr. Russell, writer of fame under the name of "A. E."

Invitation to attend the convention is extended to farmers in this section of the state and to Lincoln townpeople. Many university classes will be dismissed so students may hear him.

Illustrates the Practical. Mr. Russell will speak on "Philosophy of Rural and Community Life." He will illustrate the practical application of poetry and economics in every day life.

Brought to the United States from Ireland by a committee of fifty noted Americans, Mr. Russell is making a six-months tour of the agricultural section of the country addressing university and farm audiences on the theory of agricultural co-operation which brought him fame in his native land.

Advocates Co-operation. In agricultural co-operation Mr. Russell sees the only cure for farmer ills. He contends that co-operative marketing makes a contribution over and above the economic advantage which it offers the individual farmer and pays great dividends in increased contentment and general well-being.

He believes that the co-operative agricultural community will be the soil out of which a national culture will grow.

A. E., as he is known to the literary world, rode a bicycle through the Irish countryside as a representative of the Irish Agricultural Co-operative society, establishing banks, forming creamery and poultry groups. He feels his work at home is now at an end. Its remarkable success has brought him international attention.

Mr. Russell's visit to America has been arranged in the belief that he will be able to give a striking insight into the larger implications of the economic co-operation and to help American farmers set a new goal in contentment and prosperity as he did in Ireland.

Mitchell Reports. Art Mitchell, president of the Corn Cobs reports that many of the members of his society, complain that there are a great many students who think they shall be able to buy a yearbook in the spring as in the past.

According to the official report of the publication board the group of students is going to be sadly surprised for this year's annual has been planned to order only as many books as have been contracted for this fall.

Down Payment Plan Popular. Many have bought books on the new down payment plan inaugurated this fall, whereby it is possible to obtain a book by paying $1 down, $1 Nov. 15, $1 Dec. 15, and $2 next spring upon receiving the book. This payment plan was devised in order that students who are going to school on an allowance basis may get their yearbooks without getting into financial straits, according to the business manager.

The last stage of the campaign will take place today and Saturday. This is the last opportunity to obtain the liberal 10 percent discount and it is the last chance for the student body to support the annual collectively, Edmonds asserts.

YEARBOOK SALE SHOWS GAIN AS SATURDAY NEARS

Two Days Remain to Buy 1931 Annual at 10 Percent Discount.

STAFF IS ENCOURAGED

Plan of Selling Book on Installments Meets Popular Favor.

Students have only one day left to purchase their 1931 Cornhusker annuals at a discount. The week's campaign has been sponsored by the yearbook business staff, working with the aid of the Corn Cobs and Tassels societies. It closes Saturday night.

It is hoped that at this time the quota of 1,500 books will have been reached in order that the original plans for the production of the yearbook will not have to be modified.

Staff Encouraged. "The Cornhusker staff is very much pleased with the encouraging response which Nebraska's student body has shown during the last two days," stated Business Manager Edmonds Thursday.

"We sincerely hope that we shall reach our 1,500 mark by tomorrow night for if we do it will mean that one of the best annuals ever published will be ready for next spring. If we continue to get the support of the undergraduate body as we have recently we shall in all probability reach our quota."

OLD HEATING PLANT WILL BE TORN DOWN

Work Started on Removal Of Smokestacks and Four Boilers.

The old university heating plant soon will be torn down. Workmen started Thursday taking down the steel smokestack, an old campus and city landmark, will be taken to the heating plant at the agricultural college along with two of the boilers from the old plant. Two other boilers will be used by the medical college at Omaha.

The old brick smokestack will be removed immediately, but the old plant itself may not be demolished until spring unless favorable weather makes its immediate removal possible. All four boilers which will be used at the other two Nebraska campuses are in good condition according to L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the university.

While the present cold snap has made necessary the heating of the campus buildings and capitol, the high pressure main supplying heat to the capitol is being repaired. Consequently, heat from the low pressure campus main is necessarily diverted to the capitol while the university buildings are receiving less heat than they ordinarily will. Only a few complaints of lack of heat have reached the office of the operating superintendent, however, and the capitol main will be ready for use within two weeks.
