SCHOOL COUNCIL ON RELIGION IS ORGANIZED HERE

University Seeks to Promote Devotional Life by Means Of New Group.

DENOMINATIONS TO JOIN

Expect to Bring Prominent Speakers to Campus For Addresses.

To advance the religious life of University of Nebraska students, a council of religious welfare has been organized under the direct sponsorship of the university, according to announcement made today. While religious influences at the university have been emphasized by college officials for many years, this fall is the first time any comprehensive organization of all religious groups has been affected.

The new council of religious welfare is composed of five faculty members, student pastors and secretaries of religious organizations, and student presidents of religious groups. Suggestion of its organization along these lines came from Chancellor Edgar A. Burnett.

All Denominations to Join.

All denominational and inter-denominational groups on the campus have signified their desire to join the council. It is its purpose to consider constructively the religious life of university students, to recommend such activities as may advance the spiritual life of students and faculty, and to promote a livelier and more generous minded interrelation among all religious organizations.

Within the year it expects to bring a number of prominent speakers to the university and hopes to have several counselors to work among the students. Committees on general survey and study, on interrelation of local groups, on campus problems, on courses and methods of religious instruction, and on church affiliation have been appointed.

Making Investigation.

Religious education is encouraged by the council, which is undertaking an investigation which may lead to the university offering courses in various phases of religious education.

Member groups are cooperating with the council in its program for Oct. 26, set aside as church day by university religious organizations. On this day university students are to be given opportunity to affiliate with local churches.

Dr. O. H. Werner is chairman of the council, C. D. Hayes of the university Y. M. C. A. is vice chairman, and Miss Lucille Ledwith is secretary.

MRS. MCKELVIE GIVES CURIO TO SCHOOL MUSEUM

Mrs. Samuel R. McKelvie has given the university museum a water ouzel's nest, which she brought from her summer home at Mystic, S. D., this fall. The nest is regarded as a rare one and is the second ever presented to the museum.

It was found on a rocky ledge above Slate creek and had been used for fifteen years. Each year the water ouzels would add a little more to the nest. Mrs. McKelvie waited until the nesting season was over this summer before taking the nest to give to the museum.

Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie have been frequent contributors to the museum collections last summer donating an unusual collection of ammonites or fossil nautilus.

WILLIAMS RESIGNS BARB PRESIDENCY

Wants to Break in New Man For Position; Delphin Nash Chosen.

NEW OFFICES CREATED

Alan Williams officially announced his resignation as president of the Barb council Friday at the barb political caucus held at the Grand hotel. Delphin Nash was elected to take his place.

Williams, in announcing his resignation stated that due to the fact he was a senior and would graduate this year, he wished to give another man the opportunity to gain experience in leading the barb party. He stated that Delphin Nash is the man with the best qualifications. Williams has been active in barb activity for three years. It is largely due to his efforts that the barb party has become recognized. He organized the Barb council last year as a body of representative non-fraternity students. Williams is in charge of the university parties and is a member of the student council. He was tapped an Innocent last spring.

Williams stated that his resignation as head of the Barb council did not mean his retirement from barb activities. "I intend to continue to support the barb party as long as I am in school," stated Williams. "However, I do believe that someone else should be given the chance to take the leadership and I think Delphin Nash is the right man."

Two new offices were created in the Barb council, Gordon Williams, brother of Alan Williams, was elected vice president. George Thomas was appointed publicity agent.

Members of the nonfraternity faction went on record as favoring the return of the Awgwan providing nonfraternity students get a fair representation on the staff of the publication.

"We feel that it is no more than just that at least half of the staff should be nonfraternity students," Williams told The Daily Nebraskan. "If the Awgwan is to be a representative university magazine it should represent the barbs as well as fraternity and sorority students."

KICKS DETERMINE OUTCOME OF TILT

Young and Long Bear Brunt of Nebraska Attack; Iowa State Fails to Equal 14-0 Advantage Rolled Up by Biblemen in First Half.

YOUNG TAKEN FROM GAME IN SECOND PERIOD

Forward Passes in Last Half Nearly Spell Defeat for Scarlet and Cream; Weather Near Freezing As Team Battles to Victory.

AMES, Ia.—Piling up a fourteen point advantage in the first half, a fighting Nebraska team converted their two try-for-points after touchdown to win from the Ames Cyclones 14-12. The ability to make good their kicks after touchdowns was the margin that spelled victory for the Cornhuskers.

Two streaks of lightning, Red Young and Buster Long, did the major portion of the ball hugging and were responsible for the two Nebraska scores. Young went over the chalk line for the first touchdown and led the Nebraska offensive until he was injured in the second period. The Wyoming cowboy took up the burden of the work for the rest of the game and placed the ball in position for the second Nebraska touchdown of the game.

Reception for Grid Team Set for 9 at Burlington Station

Coach D. X. Bible and his football squad will arrive in Lincoln at the Burlington station at 9:05 this morning. A welcoming rally is planned by Arthur Mitchell and Betty Wahquist, presidents of the Corn Cobs and Tassels respectively. All members of those organizations as well as other students are urged to meet the team at the train.

Ralph Rodgers and the Nelson twins, varsity cheer leaders, will lead yells.

Young Crosses Line.

Recovering the ball on the Ames 20-yard line in the early minutes of the game, Mathis and Young teamed to carry the ball up to the 2-yard line. Young slipped across the line for the first touchdown of the game. Frann kicked goal to give Nebraska the lead.

Young was injured early in the second period and Long was inserted in the lineup with the ball on Iowa State's 27-yard line. On six successive plays, Long carried the ball to the Iowa State 1-foot line. Frann going over for the touchdown. The try for point was good, giving Nebraska a fourteen point advantage at half time.

Penalty Costly.

Forward passes placed the Cyclones in a threatening position early in the third period with Chris Mathis barely nabbing Bowen when it appeared that the Iowa State man was headed for a touchdown. Working the ball to Nebraska's 6-yard line, the Cyclones received a first down on the 2-yard line when the referee ruled there was interference on a pass. On the next play Tegland slipped through tackle for the touchdown. The kick was low.

The final Ames touchdown came in the fourth quarter when the Simpson team scored on a twenty-nine yard pass, Grebe to Moen, but missed the try for point.

In the dying moments of the game the Cyclones again threatened after a fifty-five yard pass had been completed. Buster Long again broke up the touchdown march of the Cyclones when he intercepted a pass on the Nebraska 3-yard line. The game ended soon after Nebraska had punted out of danger.

Weather Near Freezing.

The two teams played in near-freezing weather with Buster Long galloping around the field barelegged, the only man in Iowa without any socks. The Wyoming contribution to Coach Dana X. Bible's squad was the outstanding man of the game, carrying the ball for several long gains in addition to flipping several successful passes. Long is the first Nebraska backfield man to have much success with his passes this year.

The Nebraska defense, which functioned so smoothly in the first two periods, seemed to crumble at times during the final part of the game. Pass defense was especially weak, the Cyclones accounting for both of their touchdowns by the aerial route.
