squad will get down to serious work with a lengthy scrimmage on tap for Tuesday night and an other scrimmage, open to the pub-lic, on Wednesday.

While the Montana State team does not have a very impressive record, it is hardly likely that the coaching staft will run any chance of a defeat. The game will fur-nish an excellent place to give reserve material experience and will probably be used for this purpose. Young, who was badly battered the Iowans, and Long, who led Stansberry, Penney, Nelson, Packer and other reserve backs will be in the game if the going does not get too tough. The Huskers and Bobcats are not strangers on the gridiron, the Montana eleven taking the short end of a 26 to 6 score here in 1928.
