SMITH GRAD SPEAKER FOR CHURCH SUPPER

Congregational Students to Hear Ruth Seabury at Fete Tonight.

Ruth Seabury, world traveler and graduate of Smith college will speak at a Hallowe'en supper for all Congregational students to be held tonight at 6 p. m. at the Plymouth Congregational church 17th and A streets.

Plates for this supper are fifty cents and all interested are urged to attend. It will be over in time for those who come to keep social engagements.

Ruth Seabury is educational secretary in the home department of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. She is widely known among Congregational young people of the country. She was recently appointed national sponsor of a new sorority called the Sigma Eta Chi, and has already installed chapters in the University of Kansas and Nebraska, and visited those in Michigan and Ohio. This sorority, which is for Congregational young women, is based on religious fellowship and service.

At present it is strongest in the midwest, where it originated. Miss Seabury has just completed a world tour, during which she visited stations of the American board in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Greece, Turkey, Syria, India, Ceylon, China and Japan. She was able also to visit Italy, Egypt and the Holy Land.

Dad Will Have His Day Saturday When Sons Turn Host at Annual Reception

By DON CARLSON.
Dad—the fellow at home who has been getting letters while his son or daughter was in college to the effect that "check and double check," meant something more than a characteristic phrase of Almas 'n' Andy—will step into his own when he journeys to Lincoln Saturday to witness the Husker-Pitt pigskin encounter and get a first hand knowledge of where his hard earned money has been going.

Day of Appreciation.
A day of appreciation, so the critics might call it, has Saturday been dubbed, with the expectation that Dad will go home with a pleasant thought that his progeny is preparing for life in one of the great universities, exemplifying a spirit what is nationwide, and an institution which supports true ideals of comradeship and clean living.

True, in times of depression as the past two years seem to have been, to sacrifice a goodly portion of one's yearly income for the education of the boy or girl wonder, is to expect return in the form of progressive manhood and womanhood. And for the father to spend a day in Lincoln, attend the Dad's Day luncheon and view a game which will probably go down in history as one of Nebraska's toughest battles, will be a red letter day in his life, a temporary regression from manhood to boyhood for only a day—but what a day!

At dinner Saturday night at the chapter house, the members of Delta Upsilon are giving a dinner for their fathers at the chapter house after the game.

The Alpha Gamma Rho's will entertain fifteen dads to be present at a dinner given for them at their house.

The members of Alpha Sigma Phi will preside at a banquet at their house in honor of Dad's day. They are expecting fifteen dads to be present.

Beta Theta Pi will stage a dinner in honor of Dad's day. The dining room will be decorated in keeping with the occasion. After dinner there will be a program by members of the chapter.

BUSINESS STUDENTS PLAN HONORS DINNER

Convocation Will Be Held At Lindell November 5; Tickets $1.

Detailed arrangements for the first annual combination dinner and honors convocation of the college of business administration, to be held at the Lindell hotel, Nov. 5, were under way Wednesday.

Ticket sales are under the direction of George Wragge, according to Frank B. Smith president of the Bizad student executive board, on a no profit basis. The sale price of the tickets, which is one dollar, is just sufficient to cover the expense of the table coverage at the hotel, and the minor details such as printing the programs and tickets.

Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett and Dean and Mrs. J. E. Le-Rossignol will be guests of honor at the affair.

It is customary that all honor students of the college of business administration including the freshmen scholarship honors, are announced at a convocation. A change has been made this year, however, and the annual Bizad dinner is being combined with the convocation.

4,000 TEACHERS ATTEND MEETING FIRST DISTRICT

The sixth grade at Elliott school, under the direction of Marie Bourke, gave a geography demonstration.

Mrs. Mignonette Good Eberhardt discussed women writers and poets in a studio meeting. Arthur Gulterman, poet and humorist, also addressed this group. The geography section was addressed by Lotta Oliver, Mrs. R. M. Kildee, Bula Cook, and Dr. Nels A. Bengtson, University of Nebraska. Other sections meeting were, home economics, Latin, manual arts, mathematics, modern language, normal training, primary and elementary, educational measurements and research, English, and school health and psychology.

Thursday Evening Program.
The Thursday evening program was opened by a musical concert, by the Lincoln senior and junior high schools. Following this H. B. Simon, president of the Nebraska State Teachers association, addressed the audience on retirement allowances. Dr. von Kleinsmid was the next speaker on the program. His subject was, "America's Way Out." Dr. von Kleinsmid, was introduced by E. A. Burnett, chancellor of the university.
