More than 3,000 students split the air with their yells Thursday afternoon as the Cornhusker football team pulled out for Lagrence and the crucial Big Six battle with the Kansas Jayhowks this week end. The Nebraska R. O. T. C. unit, the band, Corn Cobs and students gathered on the drill field shortly after 4 o clock and sang and yelled until the team came over from the short workout they had taken earlier in the afternoon.

and game captain Claude Rowley sesured the crowd that the team would give everything they had in the game with Kansas, the train pulling out of Burlington station shortly after 5 o'clock.

The Husker passing offense may give the Kansans something to worry about this week end. In day's workout Buster ong, the galloping cowboy, was ong most of the flipping with reless, Hokuf and Durkee on the receiving end. Pennsylvania took to the air with quite a bit of success in their crushing victory over the Kansans last week and the Cornhuskers may have to take to the passing game as the Kansas line offers one of the strongest barriers the Cornhuskers have been forced to face this season. Averaging 200 pounds, the Kan-sas line was called a "bunch of ele-phants" by sports writers in the east but they will offer a real threat to Nebraska's light backs.

Stop at Beatrice. The Nebraska team stopped in Ecatrice Thursday night for din-ner at the Paddock hotel, continuing their journey that evening. They will arrive in Lawrence today and work out at the Kansas stadium in the afternoon, going to Kansas City to spend the night and returning to Lawrence in time for the game.

The squad that may see action against the Jayhawks follows:
Ends: Prucka, Hokuf, Milne, Durkes and Byrnes.
Tackles: Broadstone, Eno, Hulbert, Petersen and Rhea.

Guards: Adam, Campbell,
Greenberg, Justice and Koster.
Centers: Fly, McPherson, Mass-

Quarterbacks: Mathis, Brown and Manley. Haironcks: Frahm, Kreizinger, Nelson, Penny, Packer, Perry, Stab, Swanson, and Stansberry. Fullbacks: Long, Young and Defeat Chi Omegas 4-3 in Fast Semifinal Game: Excel in Passing.

Phi Mu placed themselves in the Omega by a score of 4 to 3.

The game was fast, and covered a lot of territory. Frequent time-outs were called by Clarice McDonald, referee, on account of the winded condition of both teams. Bunching and losing track of their positions were common errors of all the players.

The game was scoreless at the succeeded in kicking the ball through the goal posts for three points.

Phi Mu, whose passing combination of Catherine Cruze, Dorothy Charleson, and Evelyn Schoonover was especially accurate and almost mechanical in the game played with the Phi Omega Pis a few nights ago, was not working satisfactorily at the and of the guarter. The game was scoreless at the half, but in the early moments of the third quarter, the Chi O team succeeded in kicking the ball
