PRICE FIVE CENTS.

PLANS MADE TO CARE FOR 1,500 AT ANNUAL BALL

Same Number as Last Year Expected to Attend Military Formal.

MORE CHECKING SPACE

Additional Room for Wraps Promised at Social Premier Dec. 5.

Opening the 1930 formal season at the university, the twenty-second annual Military Ball will be held Friday, Dec. 5 in the coliseum. Considered by the military department as being most successful last year due to patronage of approximately 1,500 couples, arrangements are being made this year to accommodate a like number. Listed among the improvements over the ball last year will be the addition of checking space for all. According to Captain G. W. Spoerry, of the military department, every effort is being made to stage Nebraska's largest party above reproach.

Same Price. Tickets, printed this week, are being held in the offices of the department prior to the short ticket sale which will be conducted by senior, junior, and basic course members of the R. O. T. C. unit. The price will be the same as in previous years, three dollars per couple.

Musie for the "big party" is yet undecided, several leading orchestras in the United States being under consideration. Definite announcement will be made later this week.

One of the features of the Military Ball will be the introduction of the new honorary colonel, elected recently by popular vote, to the student body. Presentation of the honorary colonel will be held during the course of the evening, the manner of which has not been disclosed.

Full Uniform. All seniors and juniors attending the Military Ball will be required to wear full uniform for participation in the grand march which will be led by Cadet Colonel Winston Behn and the elected honorary colonel.

"At the present time," declared Captain Spoerry, "everything points to the most successful Military Ball that has been attempted on this campus. Profiting by experience in planning school parties, we are prepared to give the students exactly what they're looking for in the way of a big party, Dec. 5."

BAND TO GO TO IOWA ON ROCK ISLAND SPECIAL

R. O. T. C. band will go to Iowa City Friday to play at the Iowa-Nebraska game there Saturday, according to an announcement made yesterday by J. K. Selleck, student activities agent. Fifty members will make the trip.

Mr. Selleck also announced that the Rock Island railroad would conduct a special train to Iowa City, which will leave Lincoln Friday. The band will go on this special. Round trip tickets good only in day coaches will be sold for eight dollars, he said. This special train is not being sponsored by the university.

ANN AMSDEN TO RESUME COLLEGE IN A SHORT TIME

Ann Amsden, who was injured in an automobile accident Friday night, will be able to resume her university work within a few days, according to Dr. Flansburg who has charge of her case. She is in St. Elizabeth hospital where she was taken immediately after the accident.

Miss Amsden received two small fractures of the skull when two cars collided at the intersection of Seventeenth and Q streets during a pep rally. She was the only person injured.

As a member of Tassels, girls pep organization, Miss Amsden was taking part in the Friday evening houses to house rally when the collision occurred. Her home is at Omaha and she is a member of Alpha Phi sorority.

Red and White Holstein Calf Is Produced from University Herd; Said to Be Unusual Occurrence

A red and white Holstein bull calf has been produced from the university dairy herd, it was revealed recently by C. W. Nibler, of the dairy department. This departure from the ordinary black and white Holstein is an interesting study in genetics, Nibler stated.

Holstein cattle were originally red and white in color, the instructor recounted. This was many generations ago, for even the Holsteins in Holland have been black for many years.

None of the red and white animals ever reached the United States, however, for the red and white combination in dairy animals seemed to indicate decreased milk production. It was through a cross breeding of black cattle with heavy milk producers of another breed that the modern Holstein was created. Breeders in Holland discovered that long ago and have never allowed red and white animals to enter their herds.

JUNIOR C OF C HOLDS LUNCHEON FOR GRID TEAM

Junior division of the chamber of commerce entertained the Nebraska football team and coaching staff at a luncheon held in the Annex dining room Tuesday noon. Coach Dana X. Bible gave a short talk in which he expressed the thanks of the squad for the fine co-operation given them by the chamber of commerce and John K. Selleck spoke briefly.

The members of the squad were introduced by Marion Broadstone, game captain for the clash with Iowa. In his talk Coach Bible expressed the hope that Nebraska would be successful in their game with the Hawkeyes, adding that Big Six conference members have not had much success with games outside their own circle. Red Krause and his band furnished the music.

HARD TIMES AFFECT YEAR BOOK SECTION

Many Students Not Having Photos in Cornhusker, Gammill Says.

DEADLINE SET NOV. 25

"It is perfectly evident that hard times are affecting the junior and senior sections of the Cornhusker," commented Kenneth Gammill, editor, yesterday.

The yearbook editor pointed out that there are only five remaining days for students to get their pictures taken at Hauck's and Townsend's studios. So far, he declared, the number is a great deal smaller than it was last year.

"It is hard to understand why there should be such a small number of student pictures taken for these sections of the book," Gammill indicated.

Rates Are Low. "As compared with other surrounding schools our photo charge is much lower and yet we have fewer student pictures in proportion to the total attendance than any other midwest university."

"There have been some indications," the editor added, "that certain juniors and seniors have not been notified by the Cornhusker business staff. The reason for this, he pointed out, was that those particular persons had probably been out when the staff members had tried to call them for an appointment."

"We are sorry that we have not been able to reach some members of the junior and senior class but we want every upperclassman to feel perfectly free to make his own photo arrangements at the studio," declared the editor of the annual. "With so few days remaining before our contract with the studio expires we realize that it will be rather hard to accommodate everyone but we have been assured that the photographers will bend every effort in our favor in order to provide for everyone who appears before Nov. 25."

Deplores Student Poverty. It is unfortunate, in the Cornhusker editor's opinion, that the scarcity of funds should affect so many students who are spending their last year or junior year at Nebraska.

"At the time," said Gammill, "the matter of putting a slight strain on the pocket book in order to get a Cornhusker photo taken may seem to be quite a sacrifice. It may mean the giving up of certain pleasures or amusements, but after these particular students have graduated, and the yearbook is the only concrete memory which they can look back upon, the fact that they got their picture for the book will mean a great deal."

PHYS ED SECRETARY TO TALK THURSDAY

J. E. Rogers, field secretary of the national physical education service, will speak in the women's gymnasium, room 101, at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday, Nov. 20, on the subject, "Latest Developments in Physical Education Throughout the Country." All who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Charlotte Peterson Will Give Recital

University convocations committee has scheduled Charlotte Peterson to give a junior recital at an 11 o'clock convocation in the Temple theater, Dec. 2.

DORM FOR 386 GIRLS MAY BE BUILT BY FALL

If Legislature Approves Request for $100,000, Building Assured.

$200,000 RAISED IN '29

Half of Sum Used to Buy Land on Sixteenth For Site.

Dormitory space for 386 freshman women will be available at the opening of the fall term next year if the 1931 legislature passes favorably upon the request of the board of regents for new building appropriations. A grant of $100,000 was asked for the dormitory fund.

The 1929 legislature appropriated $200,000 for the dormitory fund half of which was used to purchase land on North Sixteenth street as a building site for the dormitory. The total cost of the dormitory when completed, as planned by the administration, will be in the neighborhood of $600,000. Space for 800 women will be provided.

First Structure. The first structure will be composed of a central unit and two wings at the front of the unit. The building will be three stories high. The first floor will consist of parlors and dining rooms and the upper floors will be used for study rooms. Dormitory space will be provided for freshman women only, according to Lawrence Pike, secretary to the chancellor. Plans for furthering campus development will receive a boost if the board of regents requests are granted by the newly elected legislators. An increase of $900,000 is being asked in the appropriations of which $435,000 will be used for capital improvements in university property.

Other Desired Improvements. Aside from the money asked for the women's dormitory, the governing boards is asking for appropriations for the construction of a building to take the place of University hall, the construction of a new astronomy building, the construction of a new domestic science hall on the agricultural campus, an addition to Morrill hall, purchase of campus and farm land, and some other improvements at Curtis, North Platte and Omaha.

The new building to take the place of University hall, the oldest building on the University of Nebraska campus, will be situated south of Bessey hall on the present site of the tennis courts. A sum of $300,000 is being asked for this purpose. Building Sites. The new domestic science hall on the agricultural college campus will probably be constructed south of the student activities building and the new observatory will probably be on the same site as the present building. The $125,000 asked for purchasing of campus and farm lands will be used to continue with the buying of condemned property for the extension of the campus.

A grant of $30,000 is asked by the regents for an addition to Morrill hall. If approved, the money will be used to add a third story to the south side to provide more space for specimens in the museum, according to Pike.

For improvements in Omaha, Curtis and North Platte, $170,000 is being asked. Of this, $35,000 will be used in Curtis and North Platte and the balance will be used for improvements in the medical college and nurses' home and enlarging the heating plant in Omaha.

SIGMA NUS, PI PHIS TO GIVE PERSIAN SKIT

Howard Kruger Is Author Of Oriental Act for Kosmet Revue.

BY JACK ERICKSON. Sigma Nus will demonstrate their love-making powers on a group of Pi Phi proteges in a sultan's harem when they present their skit, "In a Persian Harem," at the Kosmet Klub Thanksgiving morning revue.

One is tempted to expect some touching scenes when the Sigma Nus begin their amorous advances, but that's only half of it—for then the sultan enters!

When a sultan enters his harem, that's not news, that's a habit. But when a sultan enters his harem and finds a bunch of Yankee (not dentist's) apprentices, but Sigma Nus) establishing contacts with his women—that is news!

Sultan's Wrath Aroused. The point is that the wrath of our sultan, Bill Howard in this instance, is thoroughly aroused. "This is one party you can't crash," he cries with gesticulations. (You see, even sultans must have some one to cry with.)

And then when things begin to shape toward a handy guillotining, with every Yankee in the role of head man, the sultan's little dancier—Imo D. Wells in person—sways toward him and starts a movement for reprieve. After the movement is over—and this said movement contains too many details to even mention—the sultan shudders and gives the Yankees a new lease on life.

A new lease on life (and that isn't the plural for lice for if it was we could start a lyceum circuit), (Continued on Page 3.)

HAWKEYE PLAYERS WHOM HUSKERS WILL MEET

These University of Iowa men will be on deck in Iowa City Saturday to furnish Nebraska stiff competition, according to all reports. All three of the above played important parts in Iowa's 19 to 0 victory over Penn State last week.

8 COEDS SET CLEATS IN SWEETHEART RACE

Men of School Will Elect Princess, Who Will Be Revealed at Revue.

POLLS HELD IN TEMPLE

Male students of the university tomorrow will choose a Nebraska Sweetheart. The election, which will be held all day in the Temple under the direct supervision of student council representatives, is sponsored by the Kosmet Klub.

Eight candidates, a rather large number, are in the field for the honor this year and active campaigning has already begun with promise of a closely contested race and a scattered vote.

The candidates are: Lila Wagner, Bellwood, Kappa Delta; Betty Harrison, Lincoln, Delta Gamma; Marianne Rowe, Beatrice, Kappa Alpha Theta; Evelyn Krotz, Odell, Phi Mu; Audrey Gregory, Hastings, Gamma Phi Beta; Maxine Weiss, Shely, Ia, Zeta Tau Alpha; Aileen McMonie, Lyons, Alpha Phi; and Josephine Buol, Randolph, Chi Omega.

Election Supervised. Boyd Von Seggern and Edwin Faulkner, student council members, will be present at the polls all day to directly supervise the election, according to the announcement of the club yesterday.

The girl chosen Nebraska Sweetheart at Thursday's election will as usual be announced at the annual Kosmet Klub Thanksgiving morning revue.

Plans for the revue announced Monday include Ray Ramsay, secretary of the Alumni association, as master of ceremonies for the show and three Lincoln orchestras on the stage in addition to the nine unit program of fraternity and sorority skits. The three orchestras which will appear in the club's show are Leo Beck's, Bill Larimer's and the Collegians.

CALIFORNIA JOE COLLEGE HAS TO TEST HIS BRAKES

BERKELEY, Calif.—Student automobile owners at the University of California will be subjected to brake tests during the next few weeks, J. A. Greening, acting Berkeley police chief, announced yesterday. The tests will be given at various times on the thoroughfares of the city.

"Why any owner will allow his or her car to be driven with faulty brakes is a question difficult to answer," he added. The inspection is a part of a public safety campaign being carried on throughout the state. Operators failing to have faulty equipment fixed will be fined for violation of the law.

AWGWAN'S FATE WILL BE DECIDED THIS AFTERNOON

Fate of the Awgwan, university humor magazine which was forced to cease publication early last year, will probably be decided at a meeting of the publication board this afternoon. The meeting was first scheduled for last week but has been postponed until today.

Gene Robb, Elmont Waite and Bob Kelly comprise a committee from Sigma Delta Chi which will appear before the board in the interest of the return of the humor publication. The meeting will be held in the reading room of the school of journalism in University hall.

GRAIN JUDGING TEAM TAKES FIRST PLACE

Burton, Traulsen, Siefer and Husa Rank High as Individuals.

Placing first as a team in the grain judging contests at the American livestock exposition Monday and capturing three high positions in individual competition the Nebraska team walked off with a large share of the honors. The Nebraska grain judging team is composed of Glenn Burton, Bartley; Horace Traulsen, Paxton; Fred Siefer, Dalton; and Melvin Husa, Barneston.

Burton was high point maker in the individual contests. Traulsen followed with a third and Siefer placed sixth. One trophy, scholarship and four medals were taken by the team members.

The girls meat judging team placed first in contests during the American Royal on Monday. Annie Brackett, of the Nebraska team, was second in individual points; Christine Carlson, third; and Eva Buel, fourth.

The boys judging team contested Tuesday. Results were not known here up to late last night.

WISEACRES HAVE VARIED GUESSES ON SWEETHEART

Rumor is That Laws Aren't Solidly Behind Audrey Gregory.

Rumors that the law college is voting solidly for Audrey Gregory, freshman law student, for Nebraska Sweetheart were somewhat discounted yesterday when it was learned that another candidate was making a serious bid for law support.

Marie Herney, the only other woman in the law college, is trying to enlist support for her sorority sister, Evelyn Krotz, according to information received at The Daily Nebraskan office. Marie Herney was the law college candidate last year but was defeated by Lucille Carothers who this year becomes queen of King Kosmet's court.

What Forecasters Say. The political forecasters about the campus yesterday were pointing out that the law college can, by voting solidly for one candidate, name Nebraska Sweetheart. Others are inclined to favor the candidates of one of the powerful sororities because of their ability to swing a big fraternity vote.

Kappa Alpha Theta is working hard to duplicate its victory of last year when Lucille Carothers copped the honor. Its candidate this year is Marianne Rowe. The Thetas kept their fingers out in order to concentrate on the Sweetheart election.

Betty Harrison is the Delta Gamma candidate. She has the advantage of having appeared previously in King Kosmet's court at Thanksgiving morning shows.

CHARGES ANSWERED BY KANSAS BOARD

Body Publishes Statement Defending Position in Athletic Muddle.

PAPER ASKS FAIR TRIAL

In a lengthy statement which filled up more than two columns of agate type in the University Daily Kansan the University of Kansas athletic board defended its position in regard to its athletic situation. The statement was released Sunday morning.

The board answered in detail all charges made against Jayhawk football players. The players against whom newspaper charges have been made are Tom Bishop, James Bausch, Ormand Beach and Phil Borrello.

Students at the University of Kansas seemed little concerned over the matter except that they insisted Kansas be given a fair trial upon specific charges.

Noncommittal on Guilt. Editorially the University Daily Kansan is noncommittal on the guilt or innocence of its athletic officials.

"Whether Kansas is justified or not," it says, "the officials of the Big Six owe it the right of a fair trial with definite charges and evidence, a fair judge and jury, the publishing of the facts, and a just punishment if guilt is found, or complete apology and vindication if innocence is the verdict."

"Nobody in Kansas wants to defend it if the other schools are justified. If those schools have made Kansas the goat for their own sins, however, no apology from them can be too elaborate."

Chancellor Dismisses. Chancellor E. H. Lindley in an address before the Kansas editors in convention at Lawrence Friday evening gave something of the background in the Big Six athletic muddle, and expressed his hope that out of difficulty would come a true definition of the term "amateur."

"I want you editors to know," he said, "that we here at the university are more concerned about the good name of the university and of the state of Kansas than about any football team."

PALLADIANS PLEDGE FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Jesse Livingston of Weeping Water, a sophomore in the agricultural college, Jeanette Martin of Millard, a freshman in the agricultural college, Florence Stevenson of Lincoln, a freshman in the arts and science college, and Norse Ender of Ponca, a sophomore in the agricultural college have been pledged by Palladian literary society.

BY JACK ERICKSON. "Phone finger" is the latest college malady.

A weird disorder of the flesh, known as "phone finger" in the popular jargon, is sweeping the campus and among the members of the Cornhusker yearbook staff it is making serious inroads. If the malformation progresses at its present stride it will soon rank as a popular rival of "athletes foot."

Speaking strictly (but not too strictly) "phone finger" is a very highly technical disease, common to those who are in constant contact with a dial telephone. Calling junior and senior students for studio appointments keeps certain members of the Cornhusker staff in "touch" with a telephone and thus they are highly susceptible to the malady.

Staff Editors Suffer. Irene Dawson and Elizabeth Reimer, editors of the junior and the senior staffs respectively, are the latest victims to display symptoms of the dread disease. If these symptoms develop they may be forced to don bandages on the forefinger of their right hand, and that would never do.

COUNCIL SETS NEW AVERAGE FOR INITIATION

Seventy-Two or Better to Be Percent Necessary For Future Greeks.

EFFECTIVE AFTER JAN. 1

Rule Comes as Result of Discussion to Raise Frat Scholarship.

A scholastic average of 72 percent or better was set last night by the Interfraternity council as the future requirement for fraternity initiation. The new rule which is to go into effect for all initiations after Jan. 1, 1930, comes after a prolonged discussion begun in the council last spring as to some method of raising the scholastic standing of fraternity men.

At last night's meeting the proposal stated in a letter from Dean T. J. Thompson that the Interfraternity council send a representative to the National Interfraternity conference which will meet in New York, Nov. 27-29 with a view towards affiliating with the National Undergraduate Interfraternity council was voted down.

Applies to All. The new scholarship requirement for initiation will apply to all candidates for initiation whether freshmen or upperclassmen. The change was aimed especially at preventing the initiation of upperclassmen who were unable to make their scholastic requirement while freshmen, but were eligible for initiation after acquiring twenty-four credit hours regardless of their grades the previous semester.

The 72 percent requirement is to apply to grades for the semester immediately preceding initiation. At a previous meeting, three proposals as to what the required grade for initiation should be were put before the council. One stipulated that the candidate for initiation should have made an average of at least 70 percent the semester immediately preceding his initiation.

The second was the flat 72 percent requirement. The third was a 72 percent requirement with the provision that at least four-fifths of the hours should be in the sciences.

Chapters Discuss. The three proposals were then taken by the representatives in the council to their respective chapters where the proposals were discussed and the representative instructed as to his chapter's wish.

At the meeting last night the representatives, voting in accordance with their instructions from their respective houses, adopted the straight 72 percent requirement.

The scholarship committee of the council, composed of Marvin Von Seggern, Neal Gomon, Richard Bell, Maurice Akin, and William Comstock, were instructed to provide for the operation of the rule. The rule will probably operate through the office of the dean of student affairs.

Dean Commends Work. In a letter read to the meeting last night from Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, the council was commended on its work in handling the rushing problem this fall. The council this year, said the dean, "is a going concern" and can be assured of the administration's assistance whenever it is necessary.

Dean Thompson recommended that the council send a representative to the National Interfraternity conference in New York, Nov. 27. This proposal along with a proposal that steps be taken toward affiliation with the national organization, of which the Nebraska Interfraternity council is not now a member, were indefinitely tabled.

Plaque Contest. A report from the committee on plaques stated that letters are to be sent out to all fraternities and to the school of fine arts and college of engineering announcing the contest for a design for the new plaques. A $10 prize will be given to the person designing an acceptable insignia for the plaques. The contest closes Jan. 15. Entries are to be sent to the council office, room 4-B, University hall.

A proposal to limit the price which fraternities could pay local orchestras for downtown parties on regular nights to $100, was tabled.
