STUDENTS LEAVE CITY FOR HOME

Transportation Facilities Overflow With Outward Bound Collegians Enjoying Thanksgiving Vacation Prospects at Homes.

ATTRACTIONS HOLD MANY IN LINCOLN FOR DAY

Breakfasts, Dinners, King Kosmet's Morning Revue, With Kansas Aggie Game as Climax Cause Postponement of Exodus for Some.

Trains and buses leaving Lincoln Wednesday afternoon and evening were filled with students going home for Thanksgiving vacation which officially began Wednesday at 6 p. m. and ends Monday morning at 8. Hundreds of students left Wednesday morning.

Thanksgiving morning breakfasts, dinners, King Kosmet's Morning Revue and the Nebraska-Kansas State football game are the entertainment features that are holding many out-of-town students in Lincoln until Thursday evening. A number of fraternities and sororities are holding special Thanksgiving dinners although most of them closed their tables Wednesday evening for the week end.

A record breaking crowd is expected this morning at the Kosmet Morning Revue according to Carl Hahn, president of the Klub, the attendance at the football game is not expected to be large, however, John Selleck, business manager of athletics, predicts a crowd of not more than 10,000 at the closing game of the season.

The national convalescence of Phi Tau Theta, Methodist fraternity, and the state older boys conference of the Y. M. C. A. are highlights of the weekend in Lincoln. A number of students are staying for those events.

Fair and warmer weather is predicted for today by T. A. Blair, university meteorologist.

After Thanksgiving vacation only three weeks remain until the Christmas holidays which begin Dec. 20 and end Jan. 5.

MUSEUM COLLECTOR WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

'With Pick and Shovel in Nebraska Fossil Beds' Is Subject.

Bertrand Schultz, head collector for the university museum and a student in the university, will speak at the museum's adult program for 4:15 p. m., Sunday, Nov. 30. His subject will be "With Pick and Shovel in Nebraska Fossil Beds."

Mr. Schultz has done field work for the museum during the last three summers, and has found many of its fine specimens. He will illustrate his lecture with slides depicting the operations of discovering and removing the fossils. He is a member of Theta Xi social fraternity, and of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, professional geologic fraternity.

Film Lecture.

The children's program for Nov. 30 will open with a film entitled "Ups and Downs of a Broncho Buster." Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, director of visual education at the museum, will give a talk on (Continued on Page 3.)

QUEEN OF KOSMET'S COURT

LUCILLE CARROTHERS.

Who will occupy the throne along with King Kosmet in the annual Thanksgiving morning revue which will be staged at the Stuart theater this morning, Miss Carrothers was elected Nebraska Sweetheart by the men of the university for the 1929 Thanksgiving show, thus winning the honor of presiding as Queen this year.

A HEADLINER ATTRACTION

Among the attractions of Thanksgiving day for Nebraskans are the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie football game, the Kosmet Morning Revue and, best of all, Mr. Turkey. The Nebraskan presents a picture of Mr. Turkey in all his glory. He is the outstanding figure of the day.

STUDENTS FROM AG COLLEGE GO TO EXPOSITION

Livestock Judging Team Practices Enroute to Chicago.

22 TEAMS TO COMPETE

Grain Judges Enter Lists At International for First Time.

Twenty-one students from the college of agriculture will be in Chicago during the International Livestock exposition which opens Nov. 29. Some will be there as members of university judging teams and others will attend numerous meetings and conventions.

Six of these students compose the senior livestock judging team. They are John Munn, Waverly; Cyril Winkler, Lexington; Howard Ratekin, Rulo; Cliff Jorgensen, Minden, and Merle White, Tecumseh. Don Facka, Hershey, is alternate.

Team Tours Iowa. The livestock judging squad is now touring parts of Iowa and Illinois for practice judging work. The team members will compete against members of teams from twenty-two other colleges in the United States and Canada when they enter the contests at the international.

At the recent American Royal Livestock exposition held at Kansas City, the Nebraska team placed fourth. Not since the year 1924 has Nebraska placed first in the contests at the Chicago exposition. Last year, eighth place was captured by the Cornhuskers.

Grain Team is First. Members of the grain judging team include Glenn Burton, Bartley; Horace Traulsen, Paxton; Melvin Husa, Barneston; and Fred Siefert, Daulton. This squad placed first at the American Royal recently and this is the first time Nebraska is sending a grain team to the international.

A. W. S. BOARD TAKES UP THREE PROBLEMS

Vocational Guidance Week Occupies Attention at Gathering.

CALL COUNCIL MEETING

Probable vocational guidance speakers, financial matters and the announcement of an A. W. S. council meeting to be held next week to discuss regulations and violations were discussed at the weekly meetings of the A. W. S. board Wednesday noon in Ellen Smith hall.

Letters have been received from various women of prominence throughout the country in reply to inquiries sent out to obtain their services for vocational guidance which is held annually by the board to assist women students to choose a vocation or give them further help in the line of work they have already chosen to follow.

Financial matters in regard to the Co-ed follies, vocational guidance expenses and the Cornhusker party were discussed and settled.

Members of the board talked over A. W. S. rules and decided to hold a council meeting which is composed of the presidents of organized groups Tuesday at 4 p. m. to discuss present rules and accept suggestions and violations offered by the council members.

MAN CONTRIBUTES MUSK-OX FOSSIL TO UNIVERSITY

The university museum has just received from G. O. McClung, of Beatrice, the head of a musk-ox found in a gravel pit on his farm four miles east and two miles south of Beatrice. Included in the shipment were two mammoth teeth and the bones of a large fossil horse.

Ag College Turkeys Become Scarce As Thanksgiving Day Approaches

Twelve-Pounders Are Most Popular Holiday Weight; Large Flock Is Maintained for Benefit of Prospective Poultry Raisers.

BY BOYD VON SEGGERN.

Turkeys became scarce birds at the college of agriculture yesterday, the day before Thanksgiving. At least twelve pound strutters, the most popular weight, could not be had for any price.

A total of 125 turkeys were sold from the flock of nearly 400 birds, according to professor F. E. Mussehl, chairman of the poultry department. The other members of the flock will be kept for breeding and experimental purposes.

Members in the department found difficulty in satisfying the demand for twelve pound fowl. It seems that in the turkey kingdom hens carry from 8 to 11 pounds live weight while toms weigh from 14 to 20 pounds. According to these figures, it is immediately evident that there were not many turkeys scaling twelve pounds.

Hatching Experiments. Experiments with turkeys were first conducted at the college of agriculture in 1923. During the past seven years extensive studies in feed and nutrition have been made and some experiments have been conducted with artificial hatching and brooding.

More recent work in the department relative to turkey culture has been on a management program of sanitation that would not cause too great a cost to the producer. Turkeys can be raised with

NEW ETCHINGS IN MUSEUM EXHIBIT GIVEN BY GREGG

William C. Gregg, a former Nebraska student, recently donated some etchings to the art collection of the School of Fine Arts, which is hung in the corridors of Morrill hall. Mr. Gregg now resides in Hackensack, Bergen county, New Jersey, where he is an influential citizen and noted art collector.

Mr. Gregg owns the railway equipment manufactory of Gregg Co., Ltd., at Lodi, New Jersey. He makes periodic contributions to the Fine Arts collection. When young, Mr. Gregg was active in outdoor geographical work, and the confluence of two water courses in Yellowstone park has been named Gregg Fork in recognition of his efforts.

In error, The Daily Nebraskan recently described the Gregg donations as his own handwork. The etchings were simply selections from Mr. Gregg's private collection.

WISCONSIN STUDENT CONTROL MAY CHANGE

President Frank Favors Giving Collegians Authority.

MADISON, Wis.—Regulation and discipline of students will no longer be handled exclusively by deans of men and women on the university of Wisconsin campus, following action of the board of regents in approving a plan presented by President Frank of the university. A student conduct group, composed of university faculty members, will now be vested with all disciplinary powers.

"This transfer of disciplinary powers from the deans of men and women to a student conduct group is not a radical departure," President Frank stated. "The proposed plan is but a further step in the (Continued on Page 3.)

ALPHA SIGS APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Fight Against Order to Move From Residence Section of City

ATTACK PRESENT LAW

Appealing a decision of a lower court Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity has filed a petition in the supreme court of Nebraska asking that it be permitted peaceful possession of its residence at Nineteenth and D streets, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Logan Jones and rented to the fraternity.

Attorneys for the fraternity contend that the city of Lincoln is exceeding its police power in keeping the fraternities out of that section of the city. Police power, they contend, is restrained to houses which invade the rights of others. They maintain that the court should consistently decline to permit its extension to uses of property involving mere questions of taste or preference or financial advantage to others.

City Wins Action.

The action, won by the city in the lower court, sought to enjoin the fraternity from using the premises as a fraternity house. It took possession in August two years ago, and although notified by the city authorities that the real estate was classified and situated in a residence district, the fraternity declined to move. The city's petition alleges that the use of the residence as a frat house has brought large numbers of students to the neighborhood, who are boisterous, exuberant and hilarious during all hours of the day and night; and that their congregating on street corners, greatly increased fire hazards and depreciated the value of the surrounding property.

The court has previously passed upon the question involved, but (Continued on Page 3.)

KOSMET IS KING AT THIRD REVUE

Klub Business Manager Predicts Complete Sellout of Seats for Annual Thanksgiving Morning Show in Stuart at 8:45 a. m.

SWEETHEART PRESENTATION ENDS REVELRY

Lucille Carrothers, Last Year's Princess, Will Occupy Throne of Queen; Eight Units Make Up Program of Song, Dance and Fun.

Complete sellout of the 1,800 seats for the third annual Kosmet Klub's Thanksgiving morning revue at the Stuart theater this morning was seen by Stan Day, business manager of the Klub, as ticket sales neared a close last night.

In addition to the 300 reserved seats which were sold in ten minutes Monday noon, 750 of the 1,500 regular seats put on sale at 1 p. m. were sold yesterday. The box office in front of the theater will open at 8:15 this morning and Day said a sellout before the doors open is expected.

Sweetheart is Unknown.

Presentation of Nebraska's Sweetheart, selected by a masculine vote of the university Nov. 20 but whose identity will remain a secret until her appearance in the finals of the show this morning, will climax the annual Turkey day revue.

Eight coeds are in the race for the honor this year. Those whose names appeared on the ballot are: Lila Wagner, Bellwood, Kappa Delta; Betty Harrison, Lincoln, Delta Gamma; Marianne Rowe, Beatrice, Kappa Alpha Theta; Evelyn Kroiz, Odell, Phi Mu; Maxine Weiss, Shelby, Ia.; Zeta Tau Alpha; Audrey Gregory, Hastings, Gamma Phi Beta; Aileen McMonies, Lyons, Alpha Phi, and Josephine Buol, Randolph, Chi Omega.

CORNHUSKERS GO THROUGH PAGES IN FINAL DRILL

'Dope' Points to Hectic Struggle With N. U. Holding Edge.

USUAL LINE TO START

Backfield Will Be Long, Brown, Kreizinger And Frahm.

BY CLIFF F. SANDAHL.

Although handicapped in their practices the last few days on account of Old Man Weather, the Nebraska Cornhuskers Wednesday afternoon were determined that they would put all they had in the Thanksgiving spectacle against the Kansas Aggies today.

As a means of showing this determination, three complete squads of Nebraska players were brushing up on their offensive attacks, all the time evincing the best degree of "fire" that had been displayed in their practice periods all season. And the reason is plain to see, for they are not going to allow the neighboring farmers to take them to task.

The kickoff for the last game of the 1930 term has been set for 2 p. m. at Memorial stadium.

'Dope' Points to Struggle. All that the "dope" on the game does is to point to a hectic struggle, with Nebraska holding the edge, if any, because of a record of victories during the years the teams have met. The Huskers point to the fact that the University of Kansas defeated Kansas State, 14 to 0, and that Nebraska trimmed Kansas, 16 to 0.

But then the Wildcat followers come back with a counter something like this: The K-Aggie victory over Missouri and the Husker tie with the Tiger team, as well as the 13-0 victory over Iowa State, a team over which Nebraska barely eked out a 2-point victory.

'Dope' from the Oklahoma games of the two teams was about even, with the Sooners trimming the Huskers by two touchdowns and Kansas State by one.

MISS FEDDE RETURNS FROM CHILD MEETING

Chairman Home Economics Department Tells of Conferences.

Margaret Fedde, chairman of the home economics department, returned Monday from Washington, D. C., where she attended the white house conference on child health and protection, the council of parent education and the meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges.

"The keynote of the conference on child health and protection, which was attended by more than 1,800 delegates from all parts of the country, was the importance of the home in any program for the child," says Miss Fedde, "as well as the need for parent and pre-parent education. We are beginning to realize that schools and colleges need to train for parenthood and successful family life." In a report on family and parent education, Dr. Sanderson, of Cornell university, asked, "Is the time not ripe to lay the foundation of a (Continued on Page 3.)

The team and coach plan to leave Thursday evening after the football game for Chicago and the International crops judging contest. The boys on the team are out to repeat the first place winning they made at the Midwest judging contest in Kansas City a few days ago. "I tell them not to get too cocky," Coach Frolik says. "The competition at Chicago will be keener than that at Kansas City and it is not often that a winner at one show can repeat at another." The university college of agriculture will be represented in international contests at Chicago by the animal husbandry livestock judging team coached by Miss Mae Macintosh of the home economics department and Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel of the animal husbandry department. The girls were first at Kansas City and the livestock team was fourth there.
