

OMAHA SCHOOLS SHOW INTEREST IN TOURNAMENT

Principals Start Move to Re-enter Basketball Competition.

TOWNS BID FOR FINALS Preliminary or Sectional Games Must Be Off by Feb. 19.

Omaha may again be represented at the annual Nebraska state high school basketball tournament next spring according to word received by Walter I. Black, secretary of the association, from J. G. Masters, principal of Omaha Central high school.

Negotiations were started between the two men, Black stated, following a meeting of the Omaha high school principals held recently. Although no official action was taken at that time it is expected that the matter of re-entering the tourney probably will be formally approved within the next few days.

Anxious to Return. "Although we are in favor of re-entering," Principal Masters has indicated, "we shall not ask the state group to hold the tourney in Omaha this season. We feel that conditions at the time of our withdrawal have not been remedied and we are anxious to return, particularly since the association has limited the number of entries to sixteen."

The same feeling concerning Omaha's possibility of returning to the state basketball fold was expressed by Mr. Black, who stated that "the association would be very happy to welcome Omaha back." It is entirely a matter for the metropolis to decide, he said, since the Omaha schools will receive invitations to join the tournament again this year as they have in the past.

All are Welcome. "Every high school in the state is extended an invitation to enter the competition," Black declared. "And Omaha will get her share of invitations just like the rest."

Just where the final rounds will be held is yet to be decided. The same is true with the sectional and regional meetings, the places to be determined, according to Black, within the next few weeks.

Towns Apply. The following towns have already written in asking to be designated either a sectional, regional or state tournament center:

Beatrice, Blair, Brock, Burchard, Beaver Crossing, Cedar Rapids, Columbus, Hartington, Hastings, Humboldt, Kearney, Kilgore, Lincoln, Lodge Pole, Merriman, Mitchell, Omaha, Oshkosh, Garden County High, Peru, Rosalia, Spalding, Trumbull, Wahoo, Wakefield and Norfolk.

Officials Notified. All superintendents, secretaries of chambers of commerce and college authorities in Nebraska towns have been notified by Mr. Black to have their applications on file in his office on or before Dec. 1 in order to be reviewed by the board of control by Dec. 5.

The preliminary or sectional get-togethers must be played Feb. 19 and 21, the state secretary announced, while the regional tourney will take place March 5 and 7, and the finals March 12, 13 and 14. Two days, Feb. 27 and 28, have been reserved for the sanctioned county meets, he stated further.

Means Tourney Entrance. If the Omaha schools do ultimately decide to come back in all probability the high school team winning the city championship there this season will enter the state tournament next spring. It is believed by those close to the association and Omaha schools that the alignment of the metropolis with the state group will add materially to the brand of basketball displayed by the Omahans, since they "will have a definite goal to work toward."

Omaha schools withdrew, Mr. Black said, four years ago, for reasons which the Omaha officials would not disclose. The schools in the city have retained their membership in the association, however, and have always complied strictly to the rules laid down by it, the secretary intimated.

For the past several years, the state tournament has been held at the University of Nebraska coliseum. But whether the university will again be host to the prep lads is not known.

ALPHA SIGS APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

(Continued From Page 1.) Max Beghtol and J. Lee Rankin, attorneys for the defendants, insist that it was erroneous, and that fraternities should not be thus banned. They insist the ordinance is an arbitrary attempt by wealthy property owners to designate just what kind of persons and institutions they wish to have near their homes. The ordinance proscribes fraternities that hold a party possibly once a month, that have a house mother to supervise activities, and that are each just a large family of young men, at the same time that it admits to residence districts schools, with their boisterous merrymaking and larger numbers, churches that have cars parked all about, and hospitals that have the added clamor of ambulances. It is also pointed out that residence owners in that section often have more parties than does the fraternity.

Attack Ordinances. The ordinance is attacked as a confiscation of private property without due process of law, diverting the property from economic and appropriate uses, or diminishing its value by imposing restrictions which have "no other basis than the momentary taste of the public authorities and the desire to cater to the wishes of wealthy property owners." It is urged that a fear that property values in the neighborhood might be decreased is no reason for restricting the owner of property, when the use made of it is not deleterious or doesn't approach a nuisance. It is insisted to be a confiscation of property rights without compensation.

STUDENTS FROM AG COLLEGE GO TO EXPOSITION

Facka Attends Convention. Don Facka, editor of the Cornhusker Countryman and Emory Fahrney, Curtis, business manager, will attend a convention of agricultural college publications which begins Nov. 28.

Fred Siefert, secretary of the Ag club, will represent that organization and the Ag executive board at a national meeting to be held during the International exposition.

Boyd Von Seggern will attend the national Ag club and agricultural executive board meetings. He is president of the local board. As managing editor of the Cornhusker Countryman, Von Seggern will be present at the meeting of staffs of agricultural college publications. Milton Ebers, Seward, will go to Chicago as a representative of the 4-H club. He recently won the state swine championship.

CORNHUSKERS GO THROUGH PACES IN FINAL DRILL

(Continued From Page 1.) against Nebraska last year, he has not been playing the football this season that he displayed then—hence the reason for his absence from the initial kickoff.

Last year McMillin was the only one to score against the Scarlet and Creamers and he may be used today in the hope that he'll be back in the form that made him the outstanding quarterback during the 1929 season.

Brown to Start. Following the good showing made last Saturday by the new backfield combination, Coach Dana X. Bible has resolved to give that same group another try—in fact, the last try this season. Included in the backfield will be Lewis Brown, Wisner, quarterback; Harold Frahm, Liberty, and Everett Kreizinger, Bellwood, halfbacks; Andrew "Bus" Long, Buffalo, Wyo., fullback.

The line, however, will have the same personnel that has carried the brunt of the work this season. Frank Prucka, Omaha, and Steve Hokuf, Crete, will be the ends; Elmer Greenberg, Omaha, and George Koster, Lincoln, guards; Hugh Rhea, Arlington, and Marion Broadstone, Norfolk, tackles; and Lawrence Ely, Grand Island, center.

Three Face Last Game. Three of these linemen will be in the starting string for the last time in the name of the Scarlet and Cream. They are Prucka, Greenberg and Broadstone. In the backfield there will be two seniors playing their final game for Nebraska—Frahm and Long. The Kansas Aggies, under the direction of their coach, Bo McMillin, staged a short and snappy workout on Memorial field Wednesday afternoon, preparatory to the big game. Only a few plays were attempted by the visitors, the drill being mainly set aside for rehearsing the signals.

Practice Passing. Coach Bible was devoting a good deal of the time to passing as a zero hour practice, using all three squads on aerial plays most of the time.

As usual, the field cover was spread over the sod after the Huskers had finished their workout and the cover will remain there until shortly before game time in order to prevent any ill effects from stormy weather.

That the visitors will have plenty of "moral" support is indicated by reports from Manhattan which have it that a special train bearing Kaggie rooters, the college band and a big delegation of fans will arrive in Lincoln Thursday noon.

Following are the probable line-ups: Nebraska—Prucka (175).....14.....Farbank (180).....12.....Koster (190).....10.....Krebs (155).....8.....Ely (185).....6.....Norton (168).....4.....Greenberg (185).....2.....Errington (25).....1.....Broadstone (200).....rt.....Cronkite (195).....1.....Hokuf (190).....1.....Pier (175).....1.....Brown (155).....1.....Niro (170).....1

WISCONSIN STUDENT CONTROL MAY CHANGE

Reports Unfounded. Newspaper reports that the offices of the dean of men and women have been abolished are without foundation, he reported. The regulatory problems, such as eligibility for social life, will go to the student conduct committee. Student advisors, as well as the deans, will likewise be shorn of their previous powers.

Disciplinary matters such as classroom violations and all other matters will be handled by the two deans, however.

To Have Faculty Jurisdiction. It is President Frank's idea to bring the counseling, disciplinary, and regulatory divisions of student relations together under the jurisdiction of a faculty conduct committee.

"I feel that we can act with assurance in inaugurating the new system," he said. "For several years such a board has existed. Dean of Men Goodnight furthermore has employed a system similar to the new plan for a number of years, and is in complete accord with the change."

Agitators for student self government on the Nebraska campus are seeking much the same system, leaders report, except for one difference: the student conduct group is to be a Student council, with student membership. The faculty check will act upon the rulings of this group, which will not be made up of faculty members as upon the Wisconsin campus.

MUSEUM COLLECTOR WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

(Continued from Page 1.) zoological hospitals and how animals are treated for sickness in the great zoos. She will accompany her talk with slides of operations and treatments at the zoos of New York City and Rome, Italy. Frank B. O'Connell, state game warden, will speak for the adult entertainment on Dec. 7. He will describe the methods of conservation of wild life in Nebraska, and illustrate his talk with slides showing the state work. The Christmas Children's program will be given on Dec. 14, and will be devoted to amusing features. Kenneth Carlson, a fifteen year old boy from Council Bluffs, will attempt ventriloquism and magic.

MISS FEDDE RETURNS FROM CHILD MEETING

Colleges Study Problems. At the meeting of land grant colleges mostly administrative problems were taken up. A report on giving the students a voice in what they need and want in college courses was given by Miss Flora Rose, of the college of home economics, Cornell university. "We need to develop an inner sanction to outside control," said Miss Rose.

En route Miss Fedde attended a dinner at Chicago which was planned by a group of Nebraska university home economics graduates now studying or teaching at Chicago university. Graduates attending the dinner were Maude Wilson, on leave of absence from Oregon State; Hester Chadderton, who will resume teaching at Ames next semester; Bernice Tucker, teaching in the teachers training school at Chicago university; Grace Henderson, former home extension agent who plans to re-enter extension work; Mrs. W. Snyder and Birdie Voorhees, on leave of absence as state vocational education supervisor of home economics in Nebraska.

In Washington Miss Fedde visited with Beulah Coon, who taught at Nebraska and is now doing home economics research; Jane Hinkley, former university faculty member, now regional supervisor of home economics education, and Mary Rokahr, now home management specialist in government extension service.

The use of the Stuart, Lincoln's largest and best equipped theater, for the show makes it possible for a larger number than usual to see the show this year and has made possible stage and lighting facilities not previously available.

Greeks Have Breakfasts. A number of fraternities and sororities will have pre-show breakfast dances this morning and attend the show in a body.

Presentation of the Sweetheart will come as the climax to the morning's program of revelry. A special device to facilitate the presentation will be used. Brilliant lighting effects made possible by the special equipment of the Stuart will be used as the identity of Princess Kosmet, as the Sweetheart will appear in the show, is made known. Beck's orchestra will play during the presentation.

Miss Carrothers Queen. Lucille Carrothers, Falls City, Kappa Alpha Theta, Nebraska Sweetheart in last year's show, will sit beside King Kosmet as queen of the royal court today. Miss Carrothers is making a special trip from Falls City to take part in the show.
