AMANDA HEPPER APPROVES LATER CLOSE OF BALL

Military Formal Will End At 12 Instead of 11:30 p. m.

BECAUSE OF ORCHESTRA

Sponsors Think Extra Time Desired on Account of Lee's Band.

Military ball will close at 12 instead of 11:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made by the military department yesterday. An extension of a half hour to the regular closing time for all dances in Lincoln has been approved by Amanda Hepper, dean of women, and has been secured as an additional feature of the ball, stated the sponsors of the affair.

The sponsors said they thought an extra half hour of dancing would be especially desired because of the fact that George E. Lee's Brunswick recording orchestra is playing for the ball. Besides that, they said, the military ball is the opener of the formal season at Nebraska as well as an important activity of the military department, and should be given more time than an ordinary party.

First Time for Years. This is the first time an extension has been made on the closing time of the ball for several years, according to the sponsors. Only a few other major parties have had an extended time limit in the past few years.

Lengthening of the time of the formal will not affect the time when coeds must get in their houses, according to Miss Hepper. The 12:30 rule passed last fall will be observed as usual, according to the women's dean.

Final preparations are now being made for the ball. Erection of decorations, which are to resemble a medieval castle, has begun and expected favors for the large crowd ought to attend have been secured.

OBSERVERS SEE K. U. SEEKING READMISSION

Adoption of Amateur Rule of Big Six Believed to Be First Step.

Approval by the University of Kansas athletic board Monday of the Big Six conference amateur resolution was construed by conference observers to be its first move to get back in the good graces of the other schools.

The Kansas board at a three hour meeting late Monday afternoon emerged shortly before 7 o'clock to announce it had approved adoption of the resolution but to decline to make any comment upon just what this action might mean in the way of declaring any Kansas university athletics ineligible.

The resolution adopted, which was suggested at the special Big Six conference meeting last week of presidents, faculty representatives and athletic directors, is: "Resolved: That it is the sense, and will be the policy of the M. V. I. A. A. that students to be eligible to participate in the University of Nebraska association, shall not receive any subsidy, either directly or indirectly, or any advance payment or guarantee of salary from any source.

"This policy shall not be interpreted to prevent any student from obtaining legitimate employment at reasonable and current rates for the service rendered.

"That membership in the M. V. I. A. A. be limited to the institutions subscribing and adhering to this policy."

Five Members of Chittick Family Have Attended Pharmacy College

When five children from the same family attend the University of Nebraska's college of pharmacy, Dean R. A. Lyman becomes interested in their parents.

Five children of R. E. Chittick, Stuart, Neb., druggist, have come to the University of Nebraska in the past twenty years. All five matriculated in the college of pharmacy. Three have graduated. Dean Lyman is almost as proud of them as his father.

Robert E. Chittick, who graduated in pharmacy in 1915, is now a druggist at Shoshone, Wyo., and is president of the Wyoming State Pharmaceutical association.

Martin B. Chittick, who received his degree in pharmacy in 1916, is chief chemist for the Puroi company with headquarters in Chicago. During a visit to Lincoln last week he visited Dean Lyman and his former instructors on the university faculty.

In the livestock classes competition was among 22 teams from all parts of the United States and Canada. Oklahoma placed first; Kansas, second; Kentucky, third, and Iowa, fourth. Competition between Kansas, Kentucky, Iowa and Nebraska was close for second place.

PROSPECTS FOR 1931 GRID CARD STILL IN DOUBT

Can't Tell About Schedule Until Fate of Kansas Is Determined.

WILL DECIDE THIS WEEK

Gish Still Hoping to Build Season Around Jayhawk And Iowa Tilts.

Prospects for an attractive grid menu to be feasted upon by University of Nebraska football players and fans next fall are still in the "dark." In spite of the attempts made by Cornhusker athletic officials to complete their next season's schedule.

That is what Herbert D. Gish, athletic director, announced Tuesday, adding that there is no possibility of filling in games for the three remaining open dates until after the meeting of the Big Six officials at Kansas City Friday of this week.

At this time the conference officials expect to finish their job with the University of Kansas bad boys. From that time on the Kansans are supposed to know whether they are in or out as far as the Big Six is concerned. And the ultimate decision of the circuit will have a direct bearing on Nebraska's schedule, Gish declared.

Would Fill the Date. If Kansas succeeds in being reinstated, then one of the blank dates on the Husker card will be filled—Oct. 24. This was originally intended for the Jayhawk visit to Lincoln, but when the conference heads began to discuss the rights of the Sunflower, representatives to remain as members in good standing, the date was automatically declared "open."

The chances for filling in the other two dates with headlines might be better, too, after the standing of Kansas is finally determined. The Cornhusker athletic officials, according to Gish, have been holding out, more or less, on games for Oct. 3 and Oct. 17, on account of the uproar from the southland.

The sports directors of Nebraska have been hoping all along to work up their schedule around the Kansas and the Iowa games as the two best home contests for next season, and this, too, has had its effect on possible ticket sales for the 1931 term.

Attendance Drops. During the season just now finished a loss of 18,568 attendants over the years before was experienced at the home games, according to John K. Selleck, business manager of the student athletics.

The total for the 1930 season was 76,967 as compared to 95,535 last year.

"Every school in the country with the exception of Notre Dame has shown a decrease in attendance this year," declared Selleck.

There are four factors, in his opinion, that govern crowds at the games. They are the condition of the home team, condition of the opposing team, general business conditions, and the weather.

Weighted Heavily. All of these factors weighed heavily in the decrease for this term, Selleck believes.

The Pitt game was the drawing crowd this year, 24,985 attending the game. Missouri was second with 15,589. These were considered to be "sellouts" earlier in the season, but fell through, since the stadium will amply seat 30,000.

Other attendance figures: Texas Aggies 15,893; Kansas Aggies, 10,162; Montana State 8,174, and the Nebraska-Oklahoma freshman game, 4,884.

4-H Club Will Meet On Thursday Evening

Empire Model. Magee's Co-Ed Campus Shop is featuring the Empire type of formal with the "drop shoulder." Shoulder straps are narrower and there is much fullness low in the skirt, which is ankle length. White again seems to be the predominating color, with harmonizing accessories.

Orkin Brothers store reports a heavy demand for formal dresses of all types. In general the styles of evening dresses are rather uniform, but the variety of colors will lend atmosphere to the castle setting of the Military Ball.

Those Taking Part In Grand March at Ball Must Practice

Officials for the ball have announced that the cadet officers will be allowed to don their spurs for the ball. In other years they have been forbidden.

Full attendance at the rehearsals is urged for all those who are to take part in the grand march.

CITIES CONTEST LINCOLN CLAIM ON TOURNAMENT

Omaha, Hastings Seek to Be Hosts to State High School Basketeers.

PLANS STILL HANG FIRE

80 Schools Ask Sectional And Regional Meets; 48 Approved.

The site for the 1931 Nebraska state high school basketball tournament will have to be selected from one of three cities, Walter I. Black, secretary of the state association, announced Tuesday. The places applying for the final rounds are Hastings, Lincoln and Omaha.

Nothing definite concerning the place where the "big" meet is to be held will be known until the next few weeks, Black stated. The same holds true with the regional and sectional tournaments, he said.

For the past several years the final rounds have been held at the University of Nebraska coliseum, but with two other places in the running, the chances for holding the next meeting here are far from being cinched.

Many Apply. Fifty outside schools have applied for sectional meets, which are scheduled for Feb. 19 and 21, but only thirty-two of them have been approved by the board of control according to Black. Schools desiring regional meets numbered thirty, but only sixteen were finally sanctioned by the association. The regional eliminations will take place March 5 and 7.

The final designation of the various centers will come later, Black indicated.

"Theoretically," he declared, "all sectional tournaments should be held in towns that are entering a sectional competitor. Last year we found it necessary to deviate in this policy in a few instances. With but one or two exceptions, we are pleased to state that the tournaments for small schools held in the larger towns were very successful.

Gym Facilities. "On the other hand," he continued, "it was our experience that many of our teams would prefer to confine the sectional tournaments to the smaller towns. We shall work out this problem to the best of our ability and judgment, taking into consideration all gymnasium physical facilities, road conditions, support of the chamber of commerce of other years and expressed support for 1931."

March 12, 13 and 14 have been tentatively set aside for the state finals, wherever they are to be held. Feb. 27 and 28 have been reserved for sanctioned county meets, but if invitational basketball tournaments are to be conducted by the high schools, they must be played prior to Feb. 8.

STUDENTS URGED TO WRITE FOR CONTEST

League of Nations Sponsors Compet; Dr. Pfeiffer in Charge in State.

Dr. Laura B. Pfeiffer of the department of history urges ambitious Nebraska students to enter the First National College Contest of the League of Nations Association for theses on the League. Miss Pfeiffer is Nebraska's representative on the national committee for the contest, and will be glad to advise interested students as to the proper procedure.

The first prize offered in the competition is a trip to Europe of over a month's duration, including some time in Geneva while the Assembly of the League of Nations is in session. Second and third prizes of $100 and $50 are also promised.

Association Aids. The League of Nations association of New York City, sponsors the contest and will send complete information to those who register on the requirements, as well as some reference books and papers. This first annual college contest is being held concurrently with the sixth national high school contest, and the third national normal school competition.

The program presents a choice of seven topics concerning the League of Nations for the thesis, and offers to consider any other related topic for approval before the time of judgment. The deadline for registration in the contest is Feb. 2, with the typewritten papers due exactly a month later.

"People dislike those things of which they know nothing," said Dr. Pfeiffer, "and the reason why so few Nebraskans like the League of Nations is because they know so little about it."

BENGTSON TO APPEAR BEFORE GEOGRAPHERS

Department Head Prepares Material on Unknown Venezuelan Parts.

MEET IS IN WORCESTER

Dr. Neils A. Bengtson, professor of geography and chairman of the department, has been invited to present one of the principal papers at the coming meetings of the Association of American Geographers which will convene at Worcester, Mass., Dec. 29 to 31 inclusive.

The feature of the report, "Physiography of the Upper Maracaibo Basin of Venezuela" by Dr. Bengtson will be his presentation of a large scale map showing the exact locations of lake shores, principal streams and tributaries of the region. To date all maps which have been published of this area have been based on conjecture rather than actual field work.

Based On Field Work. The paper as a whole will be based on original field work which the doctor carried on during a leave of absence of five years ago. It will issue fundamentals of the structure and topography of an area that is attracting wide attention because of its petroleum production and possible stores waiting development.

While on leave to do this original research work, Dr. Bengtson was in charge of various mapping parties. In addition to giving general supervision of the several parties it was the doctor's task to correlate the previous work with that in progress. From this he has been able to formulate an original map based on facts. It will be disclosed for the first time at the coming convention.

Twelve students were elected to Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics society, at November meeting of the Nebraska Alpha chapter. They are: Hubert Arnold, George W. Berry, Richard T. Brackett, Harold P. Brown, Charles R. Bulger, Ellery H. Davis, Norma Goudy, Arthur Jenny, Herman Koch, Albert Lightbody, Pauline E. Lowe and Violet M. Wochner.

These students will be initiated at a banquet to be held Dec. 12, according to officers of the chapter here. The requirements for election to the society are that the student must have completed or must be successfully carrying integral calculus, and must have an average of 80 percent in mathematics courses and an average of 85 percent in all other courses if a sophomore. If above sophomore ranking, the student must have an average of 85 percent in mathematics and 80 percent in all other courses.

BIG SISTER BOARD CONDUCTS VESPER

Rev. Mr. McMillan Speaks; Evelyn West Summarizes Board's Activities.

Vesper services, which were held last night under the sponsorship of the Big Sister board, had as their speaker the Rev. L. W. McMillan, student pastor of the University Episcopal church.

Rev. McMillan spoke on Friendship using as an example the Biblical story of Ruth and Naomi, which portrays one of the truest friendships known. He stressed the point that a true friend is the one who helps you when you are in need and not the person who is your friend when you have everything and deserts you when you have lost everything.

Evelyn West presided and gave a short summary of the Big Sister work and expressly welcomed those big and little sisters who were present.

"This is a customary affair," Miss West stated, and has been held every year for the past five years." She also said they sponsored other affairs.

"The responsibility of a big sister of a little sister is very important, and one of which she should feel the importance. She should help the new student to adjust herself to the change of environment that is effected by her enrollment in the university."
