All varieties of costumes were seen at the annual girls' Cornhusker party Friday evening. Grotesque costumes ranging from a hunter with a nose like Sherlock Holmes, thigh boots and a foul smelling pipe to a striped pair of pyjamas with a bustle and trousers, a bit too short and tight, vied with the funny variety. These included a typical "Topsy" clad in a purple and yellow bathing suit reaching below the knees. Those dressed in more elaborate manner lent a touch of beauty to the affair. A lovely old pink silk dress with a loosely woven knitted pink shawl and muff was noticeable.

Formal Dinner Given

A large poinsetta centered the table at a formal dinner given by Prof. E. F. Schramm, club advisor, to thirteen members of the Kosmet club Friday evening in the Cornhusker hotel. Professor Schramm was first on the program with a short speech. He was followed by Carl Hahn, president, Ray Ramsay, and Sherman Wheelton. Guests at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsay. Following the affair the party attended the formalis.

DRIVES ARE ORGANIZED

Benefit Grid Games, Balls, Goodwill Chests Will Raise Large Sums.

College students in all parts of the United States are taking cognizance of the unemployment situation and by various means are contributing to charity funds. Exchange papers received at The Daily Nebraskan office reveal the fact that practically every college in the country is doing something, either to help needy families or to provide a Christmas for youngsters who would otherwise be deprived of one.

Most widely publicized of the charity events was the Army-Navy game played in New York yesterday. The estimated gate receipts amounted to approximately one million dollars, most of which will provide unemployment relief. Northwestern university has offered to donate $100,000 from its athletic fund to unemployment relief provided it is permitted to play Notre Dame next year in the Soldiers' field with its large seating capacity. Several other schools have played charity football games this season.

All Schools Help.

On a smaller scale practically every university and college has been doing something for charity. The Nebraskan will attempt to tell of only a few of them.

At the University of Washington at Seattle the proceeds of the championship interfraternity basketball game between the Theta Chi's and Phi Deltas will be used for charity. At the same university the Red Cross has been conducting a drive to help needy families.

University of Indiana professors headed a citizens' committee at Bloomington to collect funds for the relief of unemployed. Donations there ranged from $1 to $75 and came from citizens of the town and students. Coeds at the University of Indiana under the sponsorship of the home economics department dressed 100 dolls to be distributed among the poor children of Bloomington.

Greeks Give Aid.

Fraternities at the University of Oregon are being solicited for funds and at the same time a charity ball is being staged, the proceeds to relieve the financial stress of unemployed.

At the University of Wisconsin a campaign was conducted for the University Goodwill chest. A charity ball was also sponsored and considerable funds were made available for charity.

The men's student council at the University of Kansas has initiated a plan for the relief of its own unemployed students. The plan calls for a centralization of employment agencies.

Most schools, according to exchange news stories, have active Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. organizations that are collecting funds for charity purposes.

Gifts will be presented the little tots and games have been arranged for their benefit before dinner is served. The gifts will be obtained from the party which the pledges are giving for the mothers and alumnae Tuesday evening.

Alpha Omicron Pi has many plans for making Christmas a real one for twenty children whom they will entertain at a Christmas party Thursday afternoon. Santa Claus will present the children with gifts and a tall Christmas tree is to be erected for them. They have also made arrangements to fill a basket with Christmas foods for a Lincoln family.

A novel practice is made annually by members of Delta Zeta to help make Christmas a cheery event for the children of a school at Vest, Ky. Money contributions are sent from every chapter to the school, called "The Little Lamp" to make Christmas for the kiddies attending the school.

Pi K. A. Plans Evening.

Members of Pi Kappa Alpha have planned a full evening for several poor children. The children will be entertained at dinner and presented with toy gifts following the dinner. A large Christmas tree will carry out the Christmas theme for the enjoyment of the kiddies.

Several children will enjoy a Christmas party given for them by members of Phi Gamma Delta Thursday afternoon. After the party they will be given a real Christmas dinner by the chapter and receive toys during the evening.

Salvation Army Cooperates.

Twenty children, invited by the Salvation Army, will be entertained by the members of Chi Omega at an evening party at the chapter house Thursday. Luncheon will be served to the guests. Santa Claus will appear to distribute gifts among the children. A huge Christmas tree will be featured among the decorations. The Chi Omega are also giving $10 to the support of a needy family for a week.

On Thursday evening Alpha Xi Delta will give a party for school children at the chapter house. Each child will be given gifts and during the evening games will be played. Refreshments will be served to the guests.

Theta Phi Alpha have not laid definite plans, but are contemplating entertaining a group of children.

Zeta Tau Alpha to Give.

An unusual project is sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha. The national organization conducted a health center for children in the mountains of Virginia. Each year the local chapter sends a box of toys and clothing to the hospital. At intervals throughout the year aid is given to the health center.

Sigma Kappa will entertain the children from the county detention home and several others at a Christmas party at the chapter house Wednesday evening. There will be a large Christmas tree surrounded with gifts which will be presented to the children. A program will be presented and refreshments will be served.

Some Plans Indefinite.

Members of Sigma Delta Tau will provide a Christmas basket of food for a needy family this year. No definite plans have been made by Phi Omega Pi for their Christmas contributions.

Members of the Industrial staff of the Y. W. C. A. under the leadership of Evelyn Adler are conducting a campaign for funds on the campus to relieve some families in Lincoln who are hard pressed due to the unemployment situation.

was: "The University of Kansas, Lincoln, Nebraska"—and the letter turned out to be for the Medical college in Omaha! The ladies have received nothing more interesting for analysis than bad well water.

A student anxious to cater to two great human appetites is at once a journalist and waiter. A farmer on the division's records designates himself as "a pastor who sows seeds of goodness from the church rostrum when he is not pursuing the regular duties of an agriculturist," while a cattle stockman divides his time between the cow barn and the little red schoolhouse. Educated cows as well as contented ones may some day be in order, if we can judge by a cow tester and an ice cream maker who are taking courses in European history.
