Brigham Young Trounces Huskers

COUGARS RUN UP 55 TO 44 SCORE

Romney, Forward for Utah Aggregation, Plays Large Part in Cornhusker Defeat; Scores 11 Field Goals; Hunter Totals 18 Points.

FISHER'S 15 POINTS IS HIGH NEBRASKA SCORE

Brilliant Passing and Fast Breaking Offense During Second Half Gives Cougars Decisive Win; First Canto Ends With 20-20 Count.

BY MURLIN SPENCER.

A slim, medium sized young forward by the name of Romney may be named as the main reason for Brigham Young university's 55 to 44 victory over Nebraska at the coliseum Tuesday night. By scoring eleven field goals for a total of 22 points, Romney led the Cougars from Utah to a decisive win in a fast, free scoring game.

Hunter, lanky Brigham Young center, is also a major reason for the Cougar win, scoring eight field goals and two free throws for a total of eighteen points. Fisher was high point man for Nebraska with a total of fifteen points, with Davey close on his heels with twelve.

First Half Slow. The first half started out slow and dragging, with poor passing marring the Nebraska play. Brigham Young, although working the ball close to the basket consistently, was unable to hit the basket with any degree of success and the half ended in a tie, 20 to 20. Hokuf, Nebraska guard, was held on the bench the first part of the first half with a sore foot, but immediately speeded things up when he went into the game.

The second half was an entirely different story. The play was fast with neither team missing any chances for points. Twenty-six points were made by both teams in the first five minutes of the second half, Brigham Young making sixteen and Nebraska ten. After this time, the Cougars gradually pulled ahead and were never headed.

Cougars Pass Brilliantly. Too much cannot be said about the passing of the Rocky mountain team. The Cougars knew exactly where their men were going to be, keeping the ball in their possession until a man was free for a shot. This was one of the feature points in the game and aided materially in the Brigham Young victory. The Cougars were one of the fastest breaking teams that the Cornhuskers have met this season, and used a man for man defense.

Although Maclay, Husker center, controlled the tipoff throughout the entire game, Nebraska was unable to keep possession of the ball for any length of time, and for a while the loss of the ball meant two more points for Brigham Young.

Fisher, Davey and Hokuf were the stars for the Nebraska team. Hokuf, although missing most of the first half, was a big aid in the Husker defense. Fisher and Davey kept the Cornhuskers in the game with their scoring.

Is Fifth Defeat. The defeat last night was the fifth for Nebraska, having lost the last five starts in inter-sectional games. Brigham Young is on its way home after a successful tour of the east, and is rated one of the best teams in the Rocky Mountain conference.

University Student's Father Dies Sunday

A. P. Hedblom, sixty-three, of St. Francis hospital at Grand Island, died Sunday morning at Grand Island. A sudden heart attack was responsible for the death. Mr. Hedblom was recovering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Dec. 13. Mrs. Hedblom who was seriously injured, is also in the hospital. Besides Mrs. Hedblom, Mr. Hedblom is survived by a son, Albert, student of business administration in the university and two daughters, Hazelle Hedblom and Marjorie Kjelson.

Groups Must Arrange for Cornhusker Space

Presidents of all organizations wanting space in the Cornhusker, other than social fraternities or sororities, are to make appointments at the Campus studio for pictures some time this week, according to Kenneth Gammill, yearbook editor. Pages must be contracted before the picture will be taken.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNUS GAINS APPOINTMENT

Pyramid Honors Stanley Bracken, '12, for His Achievements.

ELECTRICITY IS FIELD

Stanley Bracken, University of Nebraska alumnus who has recently been appointed executive vice president of the Teletype corporation of Chicago, is honored in the last issue of the Pyramid, national quarterly of Sigma Tau professional engineering fraternity, which devotes its prominent alumni section to a list of his achievements and his photograph.

HEADS TELETYPE COMPANY

The Teletype company, of which Mr. Bracken is the executive head, is a subsidiary of the Western Electric company. Its manufacturing plant in Chicago employs 1,800 persons. Sales and distributing offices are in all parts of the country. Telephone typewriter apparatus is manufactured by the company. The principle of the telephone typewriter is the application of electrical relays and circuits which enable an operator at a typewriter keyboard to transmit a message instantaneously to any number of distant points where the message is reproduced in typewritten form by the receiving unit.

GRADUATES IN 1912

Mr. Bracken graduated from the college of engineering at the University of Nebraska in 1912. He specialized in electrical engineering, and was a member of the Nebraska Alpha chapter of Sigma Tau. From a student in a training course at the Western Electric Hawthorne works, Mr. Bracken rose rapidly and within a few years was sent to Japan for two years to act as a consultant to a Japanese associate of Western Electric. On his return he became superintendent of the Western Electric Hawthorne works and last year was promoted to assistant engineer of manufacture of this plant. From this position he was elevated to the executive vice presidency of the Teletype company.

Mr. Bracken is also active as a civic leader. He is president of the village of La Grange Park, a Chicago suburb, and is a member of the Western Society of Engineers, Sigma Xi, and Sigma Tau. He is married and has a boy and a girl.

PROFESSIONS NOT SO ATTRACTIVE TO PRINCETON ALUMNI

Alumni of Princeton university, during the past fifty years, have swung away from the professions and are entering more and more into business, engineering, science and the arts, according to a recent survey published in the Princeton Alumni Weekly. Half a century ago less than two out of five Princeton men entered business at the conclusion of their college careers. Today, nearly two out of three are active in the business world.

The article stated further that the percentage of men studying ministry had dropped from twelve to two. Dr. R. G. Clapp, head of the physical education for men department, arrived twenty-nine years ago, to take charge of that work. He came from Keokuk, Ia.

Washington University Entertains Husker Basketeers Royally While in Seattle During Holiday Trip

Coach, Squad High in Praise of Western Hospitality Shown Them; Lose Three Games of Series by Close Scores; Play Extra Period.

BY LEONARD CONKLIN.

Ask any Husker basketeer who made the trip to Seattle, Washington, about "western hospitality" and take quick shelter from the deluge of complimentary praise that will descend on you concerning the University of Washington.

In the three game basketball series the Cornhusker representatives registered a blank in the win column. Washington won the first two contests, 41 to 38, and 27 to 24, each time in the closing minutes and then burned up in the extra period of the third tilt for a 38 to 32 victory. Seattle press sketches praised Charley Black's team, lauding it as a constant threat and admitting the hot streak that seemed to infuse the coast club when the gun would be raised to end the battles.

PROVE PERFECT HOST

Aside from proved efficiency at basketball the western school exerted every effort to act as the perfect host. Between loyal Nebraska alumni and the University of Washington the Husker athletes were extended all the courtesies of visiting student princes.

A delegation of some fifteen alumni met the Nebraskans at the train and escorted them to the Olympic hotel, Seattle's finest. Managers opened the doors of the city's theaters to the Husker squad, guest cards to the newly opened Washington Athletic club were extended every player, and too many kindnesses could not be proffered.

Enjoy Sights.

Included in the experiences of the Nebraskan men were: A view of locks second in size only to those in the Panama canal; an introduction to the mayor of Seattle; a fifty mile jaunt into the mountains to see Sndwualmie falls—(incidentally there was no water coming over the fall); an ice hockey game in which a Seattle and Tacoma player staged a hot fast fight using hockey sticks as clubs; and a ferry ride on which Huskers threw bread to swooping sea gulls.

Led by Lieutenant Ripley the Cornhuskers inspected fore and

Students to Register For Second Semester Starting January 12

Second semester registration for resident students will commence on Monday, Jan. 12, and continue until Saturday, Jan. 17. New students will register on Friday, Jan. 30. Second semester classes will begin on Monday, Feb. 2. The schedules for second semester classes will not be available until the end of this week. Dates for the payments of fees will be announced later.

ONE WEEK REMAINS OF COMEDY CONTEST

Kosmet Klub Sets Deadline As Tuesday, Jan. 13, For All Plays.

WINNER WILL EARN $50

One week remains before the final deadline for Kosmet Klub plays. A call for original musical comedies to be used as the spring production of the club was issued before vacation. Deadline for accepting the shows was set at Tuesday, Jan. 13.

Several students have submitted synopses of their shows and are working on them to have them finished by the allotted time. The type of play will have to be adaptable to a male cast and will be of the usual musical comedy style. The show should run about two hours, counting the time taken up by musical numbers interspersing the lines.

Kosmet Klub, in seeking a play for its use, is sponsoring a contest. Any student who desires to enter a play in the contest and the winning play will be awarded a prize of $50 and will be presented as the 1931 production of the club.

Appropriate music written either by the author or someone else, must accompany the manuscript. In case the author writes both music and play, he will be awarded a double prize for an award is to be made for the music as well as for the manuscript. It has not been definitely decided whether the production will be an all male one. Sentiment for it, however, is strong. Until last year, it was the custom for Kosmet Klub to present an all male show each spring.

800 ATTEND STUDENT FACULTY CONFERENCE

Dr. Patterson With Five Nebraskans Returns From Meeting.

COE HAS OPENING TALK

Dr. C. H. Patterson, Meredith Nelson, Lincoln; Homer Deadman, Fairbury; Gertrude Clarke, La-Grange, Ill.; Lyndell Brumback, Lincoln; and Harlan Bollman, Baroda, were the representatives from the University of Nebraska who attended the Student-Faculty conference at Detroit, Dec. 27 to 31, 1930.

Eight hundred representatives attended from educational institutions all over the United States. Reports on the conference will be made to the university by Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. here in meetings to be held in the near future.

Delegates reported that the high light of the convention was the opening address delivered by Dr. George A. Coe, professor of religious education at Columbia university.

The conference was the second of its kind to be held. The first was held at Princeton in 1928. It was sponsored by the national student Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. operating through the Council of Christian associations.

Dr. C. H. Patterson, of the philosophy department here, was a member of the invitation committee for the conference and was one of the leading workers in getting interest in the work.

WALTER KIENER WILL SPEAK AT VESPERS TODAY

Walter Kiener, assistant in the botany department, will speak at Vespers, today, in Ellen Smith hall at 5 o'clock. Mr. Kiener will show slides of Estes park, some of which will include those taken on Y. W. C. A. conference trips. Special music will be given by the girls' quartet of the Bancroft school. Jane Wickersham will be in charge of the services.

Campus Calendar

Tuesday, Jan. 6. Vesper at Ellen Smith hall, at 5 o'clock. Kosmet Klub meeting in club rooms at 5 o'clock.

AGRICULTURISTS OPEN MEETING ON CAMPUS

Alexander Legge Will Speak to General Assembly Today, 3 p. m.

MURRAY OPENS SESSION

Organized agriculture meetings began on the agricultural college campus yesterday and will continue until Thursday. Everyone interested in the advancement of agriculture is expected to attend the sessions.

Called to order by President C. H. Murray, of Friend, the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation began its meetings at 10 o'clock Monday morning. An address of welcome by W. H. Brokaw, director of the extension service of the college of agriculture, a response by vice president C. Y. Thompson, of West Point, and the president's address, completed the work for the morning.

Chairman Report. Reports of committee chairmen and other directors constituted transactions for the afternoon. An address, "The American Farmer," by E. P. Cromer, of Gering, was an outstanding number during the Tuesday morning session of the federation.

Outstanding numbers on the program of general meetings during the week will be addresses by Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board; Dr. Mary Swartz Rose, of Columbia university; Hon. Duncan Marshall, of Toronto; and M. L. Wilson of Bozeman, Mont.

Legge to Talk.

Chairman Legge will be received with much enthusiasm, reports from the college of agriculture indicate. He is scheduled to appear at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon in the Student Activities building where all general assemblies will be held. Mr. Legge will address other gatherings in special meetings during the week.

Dr. Rose has a message of interest to farm women in connection with problems of home economics. Mr. Marshall will appear two or three times on several subjects. Wilson has two distinct addresses to give, one of which pertains to farming on a big scale and the holding of large farms under

'TEACHING MORE AND MORE ABOUT LESS AND LESS'

Dr. Gilbert H. Doane, University of Nebraska librarian, speaking before the American Library association, criticized public school systems in an address given at Chicago on Tuesday last week.

"The tendency today is to spread thinner and thinner the butter of scholastic training and teach the public school boy or girl more and more about less and less," Dr. Doane said.

"Schools are ridden with the pedagogical theories of professional educators and permeated with the democratic ideal of education for everybody, which in the long run tends to lower the general level of intellectual attainment, rather than elevate it."

Samuel Hall was willing to explain the definition of the word "athletics" to all who inspected his line of athletic goods twenty-nine years ago.

Nearly Forty Faculty Members Attend Meeting Over Holidays; Others See Friends, Relatives

Along with the holiday exodus of University of Nebraska students from Lincoln nearly two score of instructors left for national or sectional professional meetings and approximately that many more visited relatives and friends scattered all over the United States. More than half of those going to conventions read special papers or served on national committees of their organization.

Meetings of the American Psychological association, the American Archaeological association at Iowa City, Dec. 29 to 31 drew the largest number from the university faculty. More than a dozen instructors attended.

A group of eight attended the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Cleveland, O. while several went to professional meetings in New York City, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Washington, D. C., Worcester, Mass., and Des Moines.

Three Nebraskans read special papers at the American Psychological association sessions. Prof. D. A. Worcester of teachers college discussed "The Attitudes and Achievements of Only Children."

Dr. J. P. Guilford of the department of psychology read a paper on "The Prediction of Affective Values." Joe L. Hunt, also a member of the psychology department, told about "Introversion-Extroversion in Normal and Pathological Subjects."

Others who attended the psycho-

CAMPAIGN SELLS 1100 MAGAZINES

29 Fraternities and 14 Sororities Sign for Block of 25 Subscriptions as Sigma Delta Chi Members Visit Houses Last Night.

YELLOW JACKETS FULFILL CAMPAIGN PLEDGE

Individual Solicitation Gets Under Way Today With William Taylor in Charge; Unorganized Groups May Obtain Proportional Rates.

The subscription campaign for the new Awgwan, campus humor publication, started off with a proverbial bang Monday evening when twenty-nine fraternities and fourteen sororities announced that they would take advantage of the special offer of blocks of twenty-five for $10. Most of the other organizations indicated that they would probably take block subscriptions.

Fulfilling their campaign pledges in the fall election members of the Yellow Jacket faction took 325 subscriptions. Every fraternity in the faction is buying a block of twenty-five.

Delta Gamma distinguished itself by taking two blocks of twenty-five. The goal of 1,000 set up by the Student publication board is oversubscribed. The individual sales campaign gets under way today with William Taylor in charge. There will be a booth all day in Social Sciences and every member of Sigma Delta Chi will sell single subscriptions.

Sells for 15 Cents. A single subscription will sell for 50 cents and the magazine will be available at the Awgwan office or at one of the bookstores. The new Awgwan will sell for 15 cents on news stands.

Members of Sigma Delta Chi called at every fraternity and sorority during the dinner hour Monday soliciting the support of those organizations. As each group decided in meeting to accept the offer they called in to the Daily Nebraskan office. On account of the basketball game some fraternities and sororities postponed their weekly meetings and it is believed this cut down the subscription list.

May Get Small Block. Students in rooming houses may get smaller block subscriptions at the rate of fifty cents for five issues. Block subscriptions of ten or more will be delivered to the houses. When fewer than ten are purchased the students will have to call for their Awgwans.

The first issue of the new Awgwan will probably come out about the first of February. Elmont White and Lowell Davis are joint editors of the first issue with Bill McCleary having general editorial supervision. Edgar Backus is advertising manager.

SCHOLARSHIP PLAQUE DEADLINE IS JAN. 15

Committee Promises Strict Enforcement of Date Set by Council.

All plans and drawings for scholarship plaques must be in the hands of the Interfraternity council committee by Jan. 15. The deadline, set before vacation, will be strictly enforced, according to Richard Devereaux, committee chairman.

The contest is open to any student. Scholarship award is the idea which must be stressed in the designs. The contest is being sponsored to secure more attractive plaques for annual awarding to fraternities.

The plans should be simple so that casting will be easy. The plaques may be cast in the university foundry, according to present plans. Prizes will be awarded the winners of the best designs.

RAMSAY SPEAKS ON MEMBERSHIP DRIVES

Regional Conference of Alumni Council Meets in Kansas City.

Speaking on membership campaigns, Ray Ramsay, alumni secretary, addressed the regional conference of the American Alumni council at Kansas City Jan. 2 and 3. Ramsay spoke on some of the innovations and features which have been attempted by the local alumni organization recently in membership drives.

The conference was the assemblage of district 6 which takes in all Missouri valley schools. The meeting was held in the Kansas City athletic club. Frank S. Cleckler of the University of Oklahoma, is director of the district.

The first day of the conference was devoted to registration and informal meetings. John G. Olmstead, president of the American Alumni council opened the meeting officially on the second day with a welcome address.

Alumni magazines, alumni clubs, office records and other items of interest to the delegates were discussed. The late afternoon of the second day of the convention was devoted to discussions of alumni problems of organization in endowed colleges and universities, teachers colleges, and state colleges and universities.

Home Economics Office Entertains Graduates

Visitors at the home economics office at the agricultural college during the holidays were Mary Rokahr, '14, in U. S. D. A. extension service, Washington, D. C.; Ruby Simpson, '24, now at the State Teachers college, Buffalo, N. Y.; Vera Armstrong, '14, Wisner, Neb.; Maud Wilson, '13, in home economics research at Oregon State, at Corvallis. Iva Carter, '23, visited the department Monday.
