Games This Week.
 Saturday: Nebraska vs. Oklahoma at Norman.
 Iowa State vs. Missouri at Columbia.
 Kansas vs. Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.

By GUY CRAIG.
 Nebraska university's 1931 basketball team showed real class Saturday night when the Huskers downed Missouri 42-32 in the first conference game for both teams. While Nebraska was drubbing the Tigers, Iowa State took Oklahoma into camp, 35-25. While the Sooner defeat was a disappointment, the reversal was not altogether unexpected as the Cyclone quintet this year is composed of veterans and is a powerful team.

Showing is Promising.
 The showing of the Nebraska team in the Saturday night tilt was highly promising and it looks as though the Husker team is stronger this year than it has been for several years. Morris Fisher and Seldon Davey were going nice in the game with Missouri and should develop into a pair of first class forwards before the season ends.

Don Maclay, leading scorer in the Big Six last year, is a much better floor man than he was last year although he does not shoot as much as he used to. Steve Horkuf and Dutch Koster at the two guards, are powers on defense and manage to trickle through the defense and hit the hoop occasionally.

Coach Charley Black will take his charges down to Oklahoma Saturday night for the second conference engagement of the season with the Sooners. Coach Hugh McDermott's flippers should be tough on their own court and will improve with experience. The game will be the third conference engagement of the year for the Oklahoma as they are scheduled to meet Kansas in a Monday night battle.

Kansas Crew Good.
 Kansas, second place winner in the Big Six last year, is back in competition with another fine crew while the Kansas Aggie squad has been quite impressive in pre-season battles.

Jack Roadcap, second high scorer last year; Heitman, Hawk, Riecke and Wilcox, all experienced players make up the lineup for Iowa State. With this crew in action the Cyclones outplayed Oklahoma all the way through and chalked up their first conference victory of the year.

Two Husker forwards, Morris Fisher and Seldon Davey, are in the lead in the race for high scoring honors. Fisher's six field goals and a free throw Saturday night placed him on the peak with Davey one tally behind. Men who have made more than five points:

The Benchwarmer by Guy Craig

BIG SIX basketball teams turned in a much more impressive record in non-conference games than did their mates on the football field. In the thirty games played prior to the opening of the conference season Saturday night, the teams of the Big Six turned in twenty victories.

Kansas and Oklahoma turned in the best performances with six victories and no defeats to their credit while the Kansas Aggies were right behind them. Iowa State won two and lost one while Nebraska gathered one victory in six starts and Missouri lost all four of its games.

This should go quite a ways toward taking the sting from the showing of the football teams last fall and it would seem that the members of the Big Six play a fairly good brand of basketball.

EVERY once in a while some energetic cuss starts a contest of some sort with the idea of getting a suitable yell or song for Nebraska athletic teams. After a lengthy contest and a great deal of hooey, some silly song to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw" is brought forth and everybody settles back with a sigh of relief.

Not long ago the school was aroused by the news that John Phillip Sousa had written a march for Nebraska and it was hoped that this would fill the void. But, alas! This also failed to meet the need.

And Nebraska still finds herself with no song or yell to distinguish it from a high school.

DID YOU ever sit around the radio and listen to a medley of college songs such as "On Wisconsin," "Notre Dame Victory March," "We're Loyal to You, Illinois," and so on down the list? If you have, it's a pretty safe bet that you felt quite disgusted with the assortment Nebraska can boast.

With all the contests and so forth, we still lack a song which seems to throb with the Nebraska spirit and fill us with a sense of pride. They all lack that little spark which would make them a really good college song.

IN THE MATTER of yells, Nebraska is just as bad off. "Three Yea Teams and Three Fight Yells" with an occasional "Nebraska, Rah, Rah, Rah, Nebraska" seems to be the limit. Of course we have the "Old Number One" but even this is becoming tiresome.

It is especially noticeable at the basketball games when the cheer leader stumbles out on the floor and begs the crowd to help him with a yell. Students who have given the same yell since they were kids in rompers are getting tired of them. We have the same old yells that high schools, colleges and universities used years ago and the new has worn off.

THERE is a chance for someone to become great and emblazon his name across the pages of Nebraska history by concocting a good yell or writing a good song. Something like the "Rock Chalk" yell of Kansas would be appropriate and distinctive for Nebraska.

AND THE "Kaydets" are still "breaking records!"

Lambertus, a freshman in Nebraska this year, broke the record for the 50-yard dash when he stepped the distance in 5.8 seconds to break the record held jointly by Harold Petz, George Smutney and Bob MacDonald.

Jerry Lee, not content with three other records, added another to his collection Saturday morning when he stepped the distance in 5.7 seconds to further demolish the old record. Lee now holds the records for the broad jump, high jump and 256 yard run in addition to this new mark.

THE LAST cloud has floated away from the Big Six horizon so far as the Jayhawkers are concerned and the authorities down at Mt. Oread can now settle back in their chairs and draw a deep breath.

After finding two Kansas sophomores guilty of breaking the rules, the faculty committee reinstated the men promptly and everything is quiet along the Potomac.

The Kansas school was rebuked by the faculty heads for their action in recruiting but everything was forgiven and forgotten.

So that storm which threatened to wreck the Big Six horizon and everything is serene and quiet in the conference.

OKLAHOMA AGS PLAY EARLY CAGE GAMES

Win From Grinnell 23 to 16; Lose to Oklahoma U 21 to 35.

STILLWATER.—(Special)—Now that Oklahoma Aggie basketballers have played one game at home and one away, beating Grinnell 23 to 16 in the first, here, and losing by 21 to 35 to Oklahoma university at Norman, in the second, A. and M. college fans will have to wait a long time to see their favorites in action again. Not until Feb. 6 will Coach Rody's men perform on their own court. At that time, Creighton university will invade the cowboy territory for two games.

In the meantime, however, five road battles will be entered by the Aggies.

Rest Two Weeks.
 After a two weeks rest from competition, Rody's squad will go to St. Louis for two encounters, with Washington university on Jan. 23 and with St. Louis uni-

NEBRASKA'S FOES SATURDAY NIGHT

These are the men Coach Charley Black and his Cornhusker basketball team will face Saturday night when Nebraska and Oklahoma meet at Norman. Anderson, Grady, Young, Roberts and Curnutt are forwards; Hatman and Jackson are centers and Captain Meyer holds down a guard post.

Although losing their first conference engagement to Iowa State Saturday night, the Sooners have a strong team and will furnish plenty of opposition for Nebraska.

Backus Announces Business Meeting Of Auggan Staff

All members of the Auggan business staff are requested to report at The Daily Nebraskan office at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Business Manager Backus stated yesterday that the meeting will be short but he is especially anxious that all members turn out.

The advertising campaign for the humor sheet was opened last week, and is now well under way. A few positions are left, and all those interested are asked to report at the staff meeting today.

University Jan. 24. Returning home for a brief stay, the Aggies will journey again, to play Grinnell college at Grinnell on Jan. 30 and Drake university at Des Moines Jan. 31. Still another game is billed before the next at-home affair. A. and M. will enter Big Six country to play Kansas university at Lawrence Feb. 3.

Then will come four games in a row at Stillwater. Creighton will play here Feb. 6 and 7 and St. Louis and Oklahoma will come for return games, the Billions on Feb. 10, the Sooners on Feb. 17.

Only one other trip is slated. The Aggies will play Arkansas university at Fayetteville on Feb. 20 and 21. Thereafter, Washington, Drake and Kansas Aggies will appear in Stillwater, respectively, on Feb. 25 and March 2 and 4.

Aggie fans will not see the Razorbacks in action, as both games are scheduled for Fayetteville, nor will the Aggies play on the Creighton court at Omaha. The only other break in the home and home arrangement, which features the 1931 caging program, is the Kansas Aggie event, the season's finale. A. and M. will not play at Manhattan.

Numerically, the sixteen games are equally divided, six at home, six away, but the first half of the season is marked by foreign games, the latter half by home engagements.

BIG SIX APPROVES EIGHT K. U. PLAYERS

Eligibility O. K. is Placed On Athletes in Question At Lawrence.

LAWRENCE, Kan.—Athletic prospects at the University of Kansas are brighter following announcement that the eight K. U. football and basketball players had been given a stamp of approval by the Big Six faculty eligibility committee.

The committee met at Lawrence and after a lengthy consideration, beginning last Friday, finally gave all the Jayhawk athletes a clear slate. Although there was any substantial evidence lacking that Kansas had disobeyed any rules of the conference, the faculty group censured the attitude of the K. U. officials in recruiting.

Technical Violations.
 Two basketball players were held to have technically violated conference rules by participating in an outside game but these men were reinstated immediately. They are William and Kenneth Johnson of Oklahoma City, sophomores at Kansas whose eligibility was challenged by Hugh McDermott, University of Oklahoma coach.

Expressing a belief that both official and unofficial representatives of the school had violated the letter and spirit of the law against recruiting, the committee added in a statement:

Doubt Kansas Attitude.
 "The committee is in grave doubt as to whether or not the attitude of the athletic authorities of the University of Kansas toward recruiting is in accord with the ideals of this conference."

Despite the committee's denunciation of Kansas for alleged recruiting, Dean George C. Shaad, the Kansas faculty representative, said at Lawrence that the reaction of the statement seemed favorable there. Dean Shaad said Kansas did not expect to reply to the committee's charges.

GERMAN PROFESSOR WRITES ON FAUST

RODY BUILDS SLOW BREAKING OFFENSE

Strengthens Defense of Cowboys Which Has Proved Weak.

STILLWATER, (Special). Sure that he has developed a slow-breaking offensive that will click against any team in the Missouri Valley, Coach George Rody set about this week building an Oklahoma Aggie defense strong enough to match it.

It was not on the offense but on the defense that the Cowboys weakened enough to lose an early lead and with it a game to the University of Oklahoma last Wednesday night.

There were few times in the game that the A. and M. quintet was unable to advance the ball through the Sooner defense for a shot at the goal.

Rallying in the last half, however, O. U. Bucketmen pierced the Rody defense with a fast-breaking drive, and the Cowboy morale crumpled under the onslaught.

If the Stillwater team can develop a consistently airtight defense, fans believe the score with the university may be evened when the two teams meet on the A. and M. court, Feb. 17.

Not until Jan. 23 will the Rodymen have another game. At that time they will be in St. Louis, to play Washington university in a conference tilt.

FOUR SORORITIES REMAIN IN COED BOWLING MATCH

Four teams tonight will enter the semi-finals of the women's bowling tournament to determine who will enter the finals Wednesday night.

Sigma Eta Chi, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega and Gamma Phi Beta, or Delta Zeta will bowl tonight. Sigma Eta Chi and Gamma Phi Beta or Delta Zeta will bowl against each other while Chi Omega and Alpha Delta Pi contest each others score.

Chi Omega with a score of 419, last night, won from their opponents Alpha Phi (2) who had 338 pins, Sigma Eta Chi with their score of 330 were able to eliminate from competition their opponents, Pi Beta Phi who totaled 341. Alpha Delta Pi with 481 pins eliminated Sigma Kappa who had 423 pins.

The Nebraska ball tournament will continue tonight at 5 o'clock when Pi Beta Phi will play Phi Mu.

Wednesday at 5 o'clock Delta Gamma will play Sigma Kappa.

AID TO FARMERS IS GOAL OF SOILS PROGRAM AT IOWA

AMES, Ia.—To aid farmers who wish to use the methods which will best conserve soil fertility and maintain maximum crop yields on their farms is the goal of the soils program being arranged for Farm and Home week, Feb. 2 to 7, at Iowa State college.

The results of co-operative field experiments on approximately 100 soil experiment fields located on the principal soil types of the state will be discussed. Special emphasis will be laid on the effects of various fertilizing materials on soils and crops in the hope of aiding the

STRONG TO ADDRESS SIGMA XIS TONIGHT

Says State Has Rich Field For Anthropological Research.

Nebraska is comparatively untouched in its rich field of material for anthropological research and possesses a fertile field for this kind of work, according to Dr. William D. Strong, university anthropologist who will lecture tonight at an open meeting of Sigma Xi.

The meeting will open this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Morrill hall auditorium, the subject of discussion by Dr. Strong being, "Anthropology in Nebraska."

In Charge of Survey.
 Dr. Strong for the past year has been in charge of the university's archaeological survey which has uncovered many interesting facts of prehistoric and historic life in the state. He has found two types of archaeological remains, one relating to plains Indians still here, and a second to prehistoric cultures, remains of which have not yet been excavated.

Dr. Strong declares the work of the archaeological survey last year was very satisfactory and has revealed noteworthy scientific results. He will illustrate his talk with lantern slides showing the survey at work last summer.

COACH CHOOSES 23 OF IOWA FROSH FOR FIRST SQUAD

AMES, Ia.—Twenty-three Iowa State freshmen have been picked from the hundred who reported for basketball at the beginning of the season to serve on the freshman varsity squad. From this squad Coach Carl Rudi will develop the yearling quintet which is to offer the Cyclone varsity competition as the season progresses.

The men picked are: Beyer, Blake, Davidson, Dooley, Eberly, Gilman, Guse, Hall, Hoo, Horning, Kremenak, McCreary, Pirie, Porter, Scharfroh, Shoemaker, Sieben, Stark, Stubbe, Taylor, Templeton, Wegner and Wisgerhof.

RADIATED WARMTH LOWERS MORTALITY RATE AMONG PIGS

Little pigs, born out of season on a cold December day, are making perfect hogs of themselves, in a barn near Greensburg, Pa. They are protected against the cold by the heat from an electric heater. It has been found that this cuts the present mortality rate approximately in half.

The warm air is directed on the little pigs just like it is directed on a person who is dressing in a cold room. Heat is supplied by radiation only where it is needed and none wasted.

COED WINS FIRST IN IOWA STUDENT CORN AND GRAIN EXHIBIT

AMES, Ia., Jan. 10.—Miss Bertha Mae Bailey, Ottumwa, student in farm crops and soils at Iowa State college, won the grand championship on a ten ear exhibit of corn in the annual student's corn and small grain show which closed here today. She was awarded the purple ribbon and the cup offered by the Corn Products company.

Other winners of trophies and the companies or individuals offering them follow: George Strayer, Hudson, W. H. Stevenson trophy for best group of legume seeds; Leonard Ankerstjerne, Turin, the farm crops and soils department trophy for the best group exhibit and the Henry Field trophy for the best half peck of soybeans; Paul Crockett, Ames, Quaker oats trophy for best half peck of oats.

Intramural Cage Tournaments Enter Final Play Tonight

The closing round of intramural basketball will be played Tuesday night. The Phi Gamma Delta team will mix with Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the Varsity court at 7:00 o'clock. Alpha Gamma Rho and Beta Theta Pi will play immediately afterward. Delta Tau Delta and the winner of League III will fight for the championship of Class B, at 8:20. White and Milne are referees.

Every team must report to the intramural office and get tickets to admit his team to the coliseum, according to Rudolf Vogler, director.

We Want Help

Scores of people come to us every day, looking for something they have lost. Many articles are returned every day, but there are still a great many things lost that are not turned in to us. Consequently, many people do not find their valuables.

If the student body is to realize the full advantage of our service, we must have co-operation. We want help, in other words, and here's how you can do it:

1. If you find anything turn it in to this office and we will find the owner or the goods will be returned to you.
2. If you KNOW where to find articles, let us know.

If everyone helps, we can do a great work for the unfortunate fumbler.
