parties for boys and girls

BY MARGARET DAY. Thirty years ago in September, an unassuming, unheralded and a very young woman entered the University of Nebraska, who was to have a material influence upon the social growth of a nation.

That young woman was Grace Coppock, of Superior, Neb., then little more than a village. Her spirit and vivacious personality had such a lasting effect upon her associates, that, ten years after her death, the eyes of those who knew her in school sparkle as they relate some clownish prank of her contrivance, or as they try to describe her en-thusiastic idealism, and her warm

Organized Black Masque.

While a student in university she was very active in campus affairs. She was one of the organ-izers of the Black Masque society, later to become a chapter of the national organization, known as Mortar Board. She was an excellent student, and exceedingly well

Following her graduation from Nebraska in 1905 she became very much interested in the situation then existing in China, and decided to enter Y. W. C. A. work there, then a very new field.

For a year she traveled through the state of New York, acquainting herself with the organization and aims of the Y. W. C. A. Then in 1906, she started out to China. Sailing from Seattle, she discovered a day before her boat was to leave that she would be the only woman on board, and the crew was entirely composed of Chinese. Ignorant of the Chinese language she spoke to no one for the three weeks which the journey occupied. She met with no misadventures. however, and plunged into the task of building up a strong organization among Chinese women, as soon as she had disembarked in Shanghai.

Made General Secretary.

In 1907 she was made the first general secretary for the Y. W. C. A. in China. It was necessary for her to face stubborn odds in order to bring Chinese women out of the actual physical bondage to their families and homes; the first step in securing for them some measure of personal freedom, and an opportunity to improve their phy-sical and social welfare.

One of the amusing, if rather distressing conditions with which she had to contend, was an organization of women calling themselves a Y. W. C. A., whose chief function was to secure from the United States motion picture films which were suppressed by censors, and show them before Chinese audiences. These performances were so revolting to the natives. with their highly refined ideals of culture, especially regarding personal relationships, that it was ex-ceedingly difficult to restore the reputation of the Y. W. C. A. even to a position of neutral acceptance.

Until about the time of the World war, the Y. W. C. A. in China provided practically the only means for women to engage in physical education activities, and thruout its history there, has stressed this type of education.

Keynote is Eagerness.

Perhaps the keynote of Grace can't give you any material of that coppock's success in building up nature," he said.

The reporter had snother ours an organization that has stood all of the political and gov-ernmental upsets in China since the early part of the century lay in her eagerness to adapt the association to the deepest needs of the Chinese community, and assist them in avoiding some of the er-rors which have been made in western civilization in industrial progress.

Altho at one time there were ninety American secretaries in the Chinese Y. W., each worked with a native woman, training her to accept executive responsibilities. At the present time there are only thirty-four foreign secretaries in the association, and the number is continually decreasing. Miss Cop-pock always insisted on native leadership wherever and as soon as it was possible. The general secretary now, Miss Ting, who is Miss Coppock's successor, was now associated with the Combus-trained by her for the position, and tion Utilities corporation, Washworked as Miss Coppock's assis- ington, Pa. tant for many years.

Thus was Grace Coppock of Superior deeply cocerned in the progress made by Chinese women in the last three decades, and her name is indelibly associated by persons not only in China, but all over the world, with the splendid organization of the Chinese Y. W. C. A. Despite Coach Schulte's many worries over injuries and that old jinx, ineligibility, the University of Nebraska cinder athletes came through with a decisive 66 to 58 third, Watson (N). Time: 10 minernoon in the stadium.

George Smutny, Schute's ace of sprinters was the shining light for the Huskers, copping three firsts in the 60-yard dash, and in the low and high hurdles. The Seward flyer turned in flyer turned in an excellent per-formance in the 60-yard dash event winning with a time of 6.3, and in so doing came within one tenth of a second of the world's record for that distance. Jerry Lee was right on Smutny's heels giving Nebraska a second as well as a first in the event.

Other outstanding performers in the meet were Hugh Rhea in the shot put, Milton Ehrlich of Kansas State in the high jump, Ostergard in the 880 and Jordan, Kansas State, and Dean, Nebraska, pole

Hugh Rhea, Husker star weight man took an easy first in the shot put, propelling the iron ball a distance of 50 feet, ½ inch. Socolof-sky of the Kaggies was second with a heave of 41 feet 11 inches. The manner in which Rhea continues to get that shot out for distances of 49 and 50 feet is uncanny. On his second trial, Hugh chalked up a mark of 49 feet 2 is a walking museum you see they cover everything. I defy you to find anything that I wouldn't bring into these talks."

Ehrlich was perhaps the most outstanding cinder artist for Coach Ward Haylett's tea, winning first in the high jump with a leap of an even six ffet. In an exhibition, Erhlich, who is considered the class among high-jumpers in Bix Six track circles cleared the bar at six feet one.

The pole vault furnished plenty of fireworks, the final outcome being a tie for first between Dean of Nebraska, and Jordan of Kan-sas State at 12 feet 6½ inches. That this was a very creditable mark is evidenced by the fact that the Bix Six indoor record for the pole vault is 12 feet 9 inches. As a matter of fact, the bar was elevated to a height of 12 feet 91/2 inches, but neither was able to clear the bar, Dean knocking the bar off with his arm as he

"Just remember," he said, "that the talks are just what is going on in the Nebraska State museum" broke the varsity indoor broad jump record with a leap of 23 feet 8½ inches.

Coach Henry Schulte expressed himself as being well pleased with the work of his team in the meet, but declared that the Big Six conference indoor carnival which will be held at Columbia, March 7, will they want. He intimated that much must be accomplished before the end of next week. The Huskers competed without the services of Lamson, star hurdler, who injured an ankle a few days ago.
