Omaha people who favor the

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Station A. Lincoln, Nebraska

OFFICIAL STUDENT PUBLICATION Published Tucaday, 'Wednesday, Thursday, Friday a

Entered as second-class matter at the posterfice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under act of congress. March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103 act of October 3, 1917, authorized January 20, 1922 Under direction of the Student Publication Board

SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2 a year mailed $1.75 a semester mailed $1.75 a year Single Copy 5 cents $1.25 a semester started

EDITORIAL STAFF Editor-in-chief Associate Editor Managing Editors

William McGaffin News Editors Boyd VonSeggern Eugene McKim

BUSINESS STAFF Charles O. Lawlor. Assistant Business Managers. Norman Galleher

Edwin Faulkner

Sports Editor Women's Editor

A PRESS ASSOCIATION

A Little Opposition.

For perhaps the first time, an intelligent adverse comment has drifted in regarding the Mail column today, sets forth what he considers the real motives behind the students' refusal to evince any great interest in the suggestion of such a building.

They will not pay. Why? Because there have been no great advances in the physical plant of the university for years. . . We are still fighting a recalcitrant legislature for an sixty-odd years old. No great changes are thing? taking place in the physical appearance of the campus, except for dog houses, and telephone booths in front of the stadium. Educated for four years in this atmosphere, we cannot blame any senior for refusing to grow excited over just another prospect. He has had prospects for this building, and that, dangled before his eyes ever since he entered the school. As far as he can see, there is not much hope that they will ever be anything else than just that-prospects!

Students, of course, will advance the hardtimes argument for their refusal to contribute to a building campaign fund. But the real reason is outlined above. So says A Senior.

dents cannot be expected to grow all excited and do something. If neither does anything, then no school spirit.

The circle, if it exists, can and must be brobe made in a real building program. There is something wrong, we think, with any arguside should act in like manner. Just because the legislature refuses to recognize the actual years. needs of the school is no reason students should close their eyes.

The administration, according to the senior's priations from the state, and to stir student sentiment to the point of setion on a union school spirit continues to be a mathematical conditions and political conditions school spirit continues to be a mathematical conditions school spirit continues to be a mathematical conditions are uniting with the makers of social and political conditions are uniting with the makers of listerine to bring about happy building project.

It is true that the university is making a desperate attempt to secure appropriations needs of the university. They are trying to break the circle from this angle.

It is not true, we believe, that the administration is so vitally concerned with the union building project. They realize that it is a good thing, but it would help the students, and the students alone. No classrooms in a union. Not an instructor in the whole building. Realizing this, they approve students efforts for such a campaign, and wish it success-and that not pause long enough to formulate the real

We can sympathize, and right heartily, with the senior's attitude. But we disagree, to a certain extent. We think he is right in his statement of the real reasons for students' indifference, but once they realize the basic reasons themselves, they will at the same time realize the weaknesses of such an argument.

At this point, all but the most earnest readers will have become discouraged, and turned to other pages. Hence we get down to busithe s, since there is no place in a building cam- TO THE EDITOR: on for any but those sincerely interested the project. entries of action is advisable. Miss Blank, do this campus as a student union building. you recall just what action was taken by so- Now, however, students seem to be working, ndse during the stadium drive? Is there any- or at least a few of them do, and that is more poisor thing in the files that might help?

ing this policy, the freshman meeting, when cational campaign about student union buildexheduled, should be well attended by one or ings seems to be under way.

If it fails this time, the smashup will retard To build a student union building on this The read thus far, he can tell us what to do history of a great educational institution. next? Shall we try a fling at collecting money? I'll reserve final judgment units stier. But If we wait until the eash is offered us, our long I will concede this much. I've already been white beards will be in our way when we reach | fooled, for people are work! Z.

Our gripe today: The instructor who springs an exam before any of the students have time to prepare crib sheets.

Fraternities at Ohio State made 113 dollars by selling over eleven hundred copies of a scandal sheet on their campus. This is not what committee meeting held last week in Washington, John J. Raskob, chairman of the committee, proposed that the members of that Awgwan editor was asked if jokes on coeds and liquor were barred. "Oh no," he blithely replied. "We're putting out a magazine!"

Feeding the Foreign Devils.

Many hundreds of dollars are raised upon this campus each year to feed Chinese, and other foreign peoples. Foreign devils, as we were once called, are now appearing in the role of Santa Claus to all of Europe, Asia. Africa, and other places we could think of if we had the time.

It is no doubt a great work. It is worth while, and all that. But we can't help thinking, in our own little selfish way, what a great boost all this money would give to unemployment relief. For instance, if we wanted to build a union building, it would provide employment for many laborers. Not that we think a campus building is more important than missionary work. Far from it. We admitted that we were selfish, didn't we!

Maybe we are wrong, and the Chinese will turn around and give us a union building in return. Or the Africans, or the Egyptians, or whatever. Maybe they will, but we doubt it.

It occurs to us that there is one factor in all this great work that perhaps the organizations backing it have overlooked. Is there a bare possibility that maybe the Chinese don't student union building drive, if such it may think they need our money and our missionbe called. A Senior, writing in the Morning aries? Maybe the heathen African doesn't want to be saved, after all!

It's worth considering, even if it is treason.

Announcement of junior class meeting said, Ray Ramsey, talking on a subject of general interest." Wonder how many would have attended if the posters had announced a debate appropriation to replace University hall, some on compulsory drill, or prohibition, or some-

> How in the heck did the Awgwan staff know it would snow just when it did?

MORNING MAIL

They Shall Not Pay!

TO THE EDITOR:

will not bring any results worth boasting of. or not interest in national and gov-It will not work, for one very good reason. The ernmental affairs, and knows less The situation, then, must be some sort of a vicious circle. If legislators do nothing, stuas Ramsay admits, if the students refuse to For one thing, a vast number support the movement whole-heartedly, the of students fail to take the time to alumni will naturally refuse to do it for them.

satisfied to remain as they are. No legislature any of the country, let alone study any of the issues involved. The students will not pay because they are ken. A union building, constructed from student and alumni contributions, would be rather an incentive, we imagine, to a cautious, not overly far-sighted legislature. The legislators of the university is just another state overly far-sighted legislature. overly far-sighted legislature. The legislators legislators, the university is just another state to influence their judgment reexpense account, on which regular payments garding the matter as a national other decade. At any rate, some start would must be made. They have been unable to see issue. Others attempt to make a any possible advantage to the people of the fair and unbiased appraisal of the state in providing really adequate support for their educational structure. And there is no coming more and more of a vital didn't think you had it in you." ing for themselves and for the school, the other reason to believe that the present legislature issue in the governmental circles is any more far-sighted than those of past

As long as the state will not contribute adequate means for maintenance and expansion of the university, the students will not do it for them. This, perhaps a mistaken idea, is argument, must be at present at the center of nevertheless the student attitude, at least as far as I can see. Legislators do nothing . . .

Time was, perhaps, when there was such a thing as real student spirit at Nebraska. But that will, in a measure at least, meet the actual that was long ago, when everyone had visions to vote, or will soon have that of a glorious future for the school. Gradually, right, we have the privilege of the future grew more and more distant, as forming an intelligent opinion on matters of vital importance to the each succeeding biennium saw nothing much accomplished. And gradually, also, school spirit became less and less real. There is no remedy that I can see. Students, and you may be very sure of this. will not support a union building eampaign with any substantial contributions. They will argument favoring their inactivity, but will advance such excuses as "A bad year for such a drive," "Spending more than we can af-ford now," and the like.

We all admit that a union building would be about the greatest thing that the student body could accomplish, both for themselves and for the university. But they will not pay! A SENIOR.

They Might Pay, at That!

It seems that I may have been wrong, after thing in the world is a complete

Pay Ramsay withdraws his objections to an Several times this year, in fact so often that diate campaign for funds. It would be I feel I have possibly abused the privilege, I best way, he believes, to discover whether have written in this column, saying that I bemients are willing to actually contribute for lieved Nebraska students were too well settled served fame never dimmed and ala you building, and to work on the proposal. in their smug complacency to ever work for The chancellor is not quite certain just what anything so important and so much needed on Holmes.

than I ever expected. They seem to be ac- you? crowd than did the senior gathering. Pursu-about such buildings, at any rate, and an edu-ing this policy the freely an action.

Maybe their agitation will lead to some-Evidently, the only way to determine thing, and maybe it won't. I don't know, But whether the move might succeed or not is to at any rate, there seems to be something doing. Outside papers are taking potice of it.

any further action for many years to come campus would be to create a shrine of Ne-And we are already years behind our neigh brasks spirit for posterity. It would be, in bors in such projects. If any persevering soul my mind, the greatest accomplishment in the

LOOSE THREADS By Gene McKim

At the democratic national group consider the advisability of writing into the democratic plat-form for the next presidential election, what is known as the "home plan of distribution of alcoholic beverages, as a form of modiment. This plan would give the individual states the right to distribute liquor if they chose to do Within his party Mr. Raskob stirred up a maelstrom of argu-ment and resentment. Few times, if ever, has a party leader been subjected to the criticism which fication of the eighteenth amend-has been heaped upon his head by the dry democrats. Republican drys were not slow in taking up the challenge. The first call for a renomination of President Hoover for the presidential race in 1932 came from Sena-tor Capper of Kansas. Mr. Capper said: "President Hoover will be nominated and will lead the reis the issue. The republicans are dry. Let us settle it.

The old, old problem of state's rights seems to be on the verge of cropping up again in the political circles of the country, with this suggestion of Mr. Raskob's. Enemies of liquor have signified their desire for Hoover to the republican forces in the 1932 race for the presidency on a prohibition platform.

At the open session of the southern convention of the Antisaloon league, F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the league said "President Hoover said more in the ten minutes following his oath of office and has stood by it more closely than any of the presidents who have preceded him. It is now up to the law abiding citizens of the United States to block any movement for making the prohi-bition question one of state op-

Dr. McBride bitterly condemned the states of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey for their general efforts along the lines of prohibition enforcement.

The league superintendent re-ferred to the State's Rights problems when he said: The multimillionaires of the east are trying to get state control. They come forward now and tell the southern states what they should do and offer state's rights."

Many, many times every year it is said by critics of the Amer-This agitation for a student union building ican collegian, that he takes little about such matters. No doubt such a criticism is partially justified.

so much as glance at the news of the day as portrayed by the pa-

Each year the question is beof the country. While such a thing is improbable, it is not impossible, that some day a serious split might occur between various tar Board. sections of the country, much the same as occurred over the State's Rights arguments regarding slavery preceding the Civil war.

Every question has two sides to it. Usually one of these is right such movements.

As college students and individ- ers." uals who either now have the right country of which we are citizens.

The national prohibition problem offers us a challenge to review conscientiously the whole subject, so that we can cast an honest and intelligent ballot when the time comes.

The work is never done while the power to work remains." Thus spoke Ofiver Wendell Holmes Sunday night in a radio message delivered on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday.

Many fitting tributes were paid to the aged jurist by the various speakers on the program. Of the many things spoken, perhaps the tribute paid by Chief Justice Huges was one of the finest. It might well be taken as the goal for any man's life.

Mr. Hughes said: "Mr. Hoimes was a constant contradiction of all that great age usually implies. The most beautiful and the rarest human life, unmarred, unified intelligent purpose, and uninterrupted accomplishment, blessed by great talent employed in the worthiest activities, with a deways growing. Such a rarely beautiful life is that of Mr. Justice Such a rarely

Customer: "Td like some rat Clerk: "Will you take it with

BUCK'S COFFEE SHOP (FORMERLY DAVIS) SPECIAL STUDENT LUNCH

Hot Rolls and Drink

Miss Mabel Lee Believes College Girl Endangers Health by Using High Heels in Passion for Style

Omaha people who favor the league.

The following persons are enlisting Mr. Eicheberger's aid in organizing a Nebrasska section of the League of Nations; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Throop, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langworthy, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson, Prof. and Mrs. Oldisther, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Hill, Dean and Mrs. J. D. Hicks. Chancellot and Mrs. E. A. Burnett.

Mrs. Morris Deutsch, Miss Laura Pieifer, Miss Olivia Pound, Dean and Mrs. J. E. LeRossignol, Miss Annetts Epruns. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barkley, Mrs. T. J. Doyle, Dr. Inez Philbrick.

Prof. John P. Senning, Prof. and Mrs. A. Bengston, Prof. and Mrs. Robert L. Reynolds, Prof. pond Mrs. Harry F. Cunningham, Rev. and Mrs. Deav R. Leiand, Rev. and Mrs. Ivine linglis, and Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Reynolds, Prof. and Mrs. Mrs. G. H. Doane, Prof. and Mrs. E. L. Hinman, Prof. and Mrs. F. M. Fling, and Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Hertzier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, Prof. Mr. Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, Prof. Mr. Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, Prof. That, in their passionate desire for style, college girls are endangering their health by wearing high-heeled shoes, is the statement of Miss Mabel Lee, director of women's physical education at the University of Nebraska, in an article in the Omaha World-Herald last Sunday. Correct low-heeled shoes may be just as attractive and proper as any others, she declared.

"Girls wear high heeled shoes because they consider them more of five were found to be troubled attractive," said Miss Lee. "They hope that such shoes will make their feet look smaller. I can't with faulty arches. Swank shoes were also the cause of severe blame any girl for wishing to be as attractive as possible, but it is caused by falling or tripping are directly due to high heels. silly to sacrifice health and pos-ture for a misguided idea of "We have a class which deals with the strengthening of those abused muscles and the correction

May Be Attractive.

Miss Lee explains that it does not mean that girls must wear ugly clod hoppers, because low heels may be very becoming, especially since sport costumes have come into popular favor. She is greatly encouraged by the appearance of a greater number of more sensible shoes on the Nebraska campus. She believes that physical education classes and intramural publican party to victory in 1932 sports programs have done much on a prohibition platform. That to contribute to this change.

One of the harmful effects of high heels is that constant wear, especially between school and the men in a poor position to participate in constructive sports, or to home, makes the coeds stride unnatural. Her steps are suited neither to her leg length nor her physique. Low heels allow one to walk naturally and to derive more pleasure from walking. Miss Lee encourages the practice of long walks and hikes in the outdoors. This, she states, is the proper forevils of high heels. mula for health and beauty, as it will put a sparkle in the eye and the importance of correct shoes, they would walk more comfortably natural rouge on the cheeks.

Conducts Examination. In order to determine the connection between correct shoes and feminine health, the physical education department conducted a special examination last year among girls just entering the uni-It was discovered that versity. It was discovered that gentlemen friends. Attractiveness about 80 percent wore incorrect and proper dress can just as easily shoes. Out of this group, four out be obtained with correct shoes.

Breathes there the man with soul

Who never to himself hath said-to use what would have been, per-hans, her most logical argument.

know what she was getting into.

Now if an Innocent would re sign and make Mortar Board that girl. Every time he kissed her he Florists throughout the country listerine to bring about happy some lover" is to "say it with flow-

Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, is at present working as a la-see that one athlete has made

She was the belle of the town-but none of the boys could "ring" fashion it crept up and up and up.

He felt its cool touch on his neck.

In a little wave it brushed under his chin. There was a strange light in his eyes-higher, higher crept the water. But he didn't Boys will be boys, and girls girls . . when they're 10 or 60! They can be themselves in es night. But they do settle down to some set exting three times a deg.

rollicking, feelicking Tourist chief cabin on IMM liners. They start having fon in the morning, have fun all day, and laugh themselves to sleep

$105 up too CLASS DISTINCTIONS on the Tourse third cabin liners de luxe. Preniend and Witters feed. Their entire cabin accommodations are deupped esclusively to Tourist. The only stramets of their kind in the world.

Also delightful Tourier third cabin accommoda-tions on such famous liners at Martier, world's largest thip, Olympic, Flammic, Beigenland, Lap-land, Britannic, Adriatic, Ballic, Cadric, etc.

Several sailings each week to the principal por of Europe and the British Isles.

Send for fuscinating literature describer Tourist third cabin in detail.

ollicking could see a hand loom in sight.

would be some more news.

bunch of swells!

so dead

Ah! 'tis Spring!

BEHIND

DOOR

have his water-wings, so reached over and turned off the shouldn't take any stock in.

have the "king's gestures."

tar Boards resigning, if from put-ting up with the governor and the resigned (the salary, please) failed legislature, if from seeing your fellow students rise through "suck-As the girls were all masked she cess," if from being disappointed could have said that she didn't in love, if from suffering from spring fever, you should possibly be down in the mouth, remember Jonah, he came out all right.

EICHELBERGER WILL SPEAK HERE FRIDAY

One fraternity has ten members down with the mumps. What a dent, and a former justice of the supreme court of the United States; George W. Wickersham, As the college widow said when she accepted the frat pin,—"Such popularity must be reserved."

States; George W. Wickersham, chairman of the federal law enforcement commission president. Charles H. Strong, vice president; "Well, well," said the man from Raymond B. Fosdick, executive Scotland yard as the nervy crimchairman; Philip Nash, executive inal coughed up the diamond, "I Eastern college girls roll hoops in festive fun just before gradua-tion day. There's an idea for Mor-

He called her his woven rug of the League of Nations.

According to Laura B. Pfeiffer, associate professor of European borer for $4 a day. We're glad to

Twelfth and H Streets

a Creed"

March 15 - Eugene Slowly the water rose. Inch by inch it kept getting higher and O'Neill's "Strange Interlude. higher. It rose above his armsover his shoulders. In snake-like backache and faulty postures. In addition to this many injuries as of those abnormalities, but that is not enough." Miss Lee complains.

"We have the girls for a few hours each week, but if they continue to wear harmful shoes every Frowns on Long Skirts.

The physical education expert frowns on the growth of popular-ity of the long skirt. Even though they do lend grace to the feminine figure, the large street sweepers are not conducive to health and leave the well dressed young wo-develop her body and thus main-

Miss Lee does not disapprove of high heels for formal or informal parties, as the gentle art of dancing puts the weight of one's body on the toes or the ball of the foot, and has no connection with the and be healthier, and not be troubled with foot ills. As far as the masculine sex is concerned, their dislike for high heels and limping coeds overbalances their distaste for clod hoppers. So girls need not fear for the disapproval of their gentlemen friends. Attractiveness

If college girls were to realize tain her health.

day our work is torn down."

Most of the stories you hear about Wall Street are the kind you man shakes his little baton we

So, dear, dear little co-eds and co-edders, if from reading of Mor-

(Continued from Page 1.)

Y's Support Plan.

Both the university Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., as well as a large number of university professors, are supporting the League of Na-

Mr. Eichelberger comes to Lincoln from Denver where he appeared before the Colorado section history, many answers have been received from city superintendents throughout the state in response to letters sent to them. Miss Pfelffer is sponsoring the league on the university campus. She has received names of a large group of

The UNITARIAN CHURCH

"The Church Without

Winners of Every Meeting of

Prof. and Mrs. E. L. Himman, Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Hertzler.

Mrs. F. M. Fling, and Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Hertzler.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. Lane W. Lancaster, Prof. and Mrs. R. D. Moritz, Dean and Mrs. H. E. Foster, Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Patterson, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Scalock, Dean and Mrs. W. C. Sawyer, Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Upson, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Weatherly, Mrs. A. J. Sawyer, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. McNeill, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Fawell, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. M. Buckner, Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Kirschman, Prof. and Mrs. Jas. L. Sellers, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Diers.

Rabbi and Mrs. Jacob Ogie, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Allen, Prof. and Mrs. G. Mrs. W. B. Comstock, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Wolcott, Judge and Mrs. C. M. Skiles, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Lehnhoff, Mrs. Sam Wessel, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cline, Chancelor and Mrs. Samuel Avery, Dr. and Mrs. H. Winnett Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Woods.

Intellectual Giants Are Alone at Peak.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. -- Three vears ago Yale went down in glorious defeat before the hard-thinking mental champions of Harvard in the inaugural brain battle of 1928, which took the form of an English literature examination given simultaneously in Cambridge and New Haven, Conn. Incidentally, Harvard, holder of the intellectual title, can't resurrect a worthy foe for 1931.

The hand-picked Harvard team of 100 mental giants sought to avenge, in the peaceful atmosphere of a local lecture hall, a few of the defeats handed to the Crimson on the football field. The challengers thoroughly whipped their oppo-nents and definitely established their claim to superiority on the intelectual gridiron. In their quest for new foes to conquer, however, the Harvard defenders have met with considerable difficulty. All advances have been rejected, whether from fear of annihilation And every time Paul White- or for other reasons, and the inaugurators of the new sport can find no one to play with them.

A fund of $125,000, established by Mrs. William Lowell Putman, sister of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, for the purpose of providing yearly awards to the winning team, seemed adequate assurance that the brain skirmish would take its place among the annual Harvard traditions. this, coupled with the admirable spirit which a large group of undergraduates displayed (and still do), in indicating their willingness to lay down ther lives on the in-tellectual battlefield for the dear old Crimson, seems insufficient motive power to overcome the insurmountable obstacle of finding an opposing team.

Yale severed relations with the Harvard brainsters after dropp the decision in the initial bout, and refuses to consider a future contest. An invitation was extended to Princeton, a trifle hesitantly, in view of the fact that football relations have long since been severed between these former Three"rivals. Doubts were justified, for the Tiger, too, declined to participate in the intellectual con-test. A like challenge to Cambridge university, England, was also rejected. In the past few weeks approaches have been made to other colleges without satisfactory results. It would seem, that unless

PREFERENCE

Tasty Pastry Shop

Of Course, There's Price to Consider

We've considered it very seriously. And as a result we suggest to you the most popular hat of the season . . . Snow Pearl . . . narrow brim . . . snaps down in front . . . and rolls up in back.

