

DEBATERS PLAN WESTERN VISIT AS SEASON ENDS

Williams and Feidler Are Debaters Who Prepare Arguments.

BOTH HAVE EXPERIENCE

Nebraskans Will Compete at Three Rocky Mountain Universities.

Nebraska debaters will conclude their season with a squad composed of Alan G. Williams and Ted R. Feidler journeys westward to meet the Universities of Wyoming, Colorado, and Denver, this week.

In each of the three debates the speaker team will uphold the negative side of the free trade question. The subject is officially worded as follows, "That the nation should adopt a policy of free trade."

Both members of the squad have had previous debating experience, Williams having opposed the Oxford team for two years. Feidler, whose home is in Scottsbluff, left for home Sunday, and will meet Williams at Laramie for the Wyoming debate. Williams, who lives in Lincoln, will leave Wednesday night.

Meets Wyoming Thursday. The team will meet the University of Wyoming on Thursday, April 2. On April 3 and 4 it will oppose the University of Colorado at Boulder, and the University of Denver at Denver.

The Nebraska squad upholding the affirmative of the free trade question met the University of Colorado in a debate at Lincoln last Tuesday, March 24. It was broadcast over radio station KFOR. Nebraska was represented by Bernard Ptak and Jack Devoe, both veteran debaters. The Coloradans sent down John Carlson and Charles S. Maddock, who also had fine debating records. It was a non-judgment debate.

According to Professor H. A. White, these western debates will be the last this spring, unless something unforeseen comes up.

Nebraska Library Gradually Adds To Collection of Books; Ockman Is Especially Well Represented

By SEARS RIEPMAN

While most students have become aware, through recent display and campus publicity, of the existence in Nebraska's library of a group of rare volumes of not only historical but artistic interest, it is not so prevalent knowledge that this same collection is being gradually added to, year after year, and already contains a very complete outlay of at least one author of many years before. According to Prof. Gilbert Doane, university librarian, Nebraska is fortunate in possessing these old manuscripts, many of which are capable of awakening memories of many a half-forgotten history class.

"One writer of the fifteenth century, William de Ockman, is especially represented here," said Professor Doane recently. "Ockman's works were mostly theological treatises, called 'dialogues,' which generally were directed against heresy. A copy of his seven dialogues has only recently come into our possession. It was printed in Lyons in 1494, and its brass clasps, affixed to wood covers renewed some years later, show the marks of all these years. The initialing is especially intriguing in its detail and color."

Shows Delicate Work. According to Professor Doane,

AGEE STATES CURES FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Speaker at Bizad Convenc Cites Shorter Hours, Five Day Week.

400 STUDENTS LISTEN

Shorter working hours and possibly the five-day week were described as perhaps the best cures and preventatives to unemployment by John Agee, general manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company when he addressed a group of 400 business administration students Monday morning in Social Sciences auditorium.

The convocation was the first of a series which will be sponsored by the Men's Commercial club of the college. Dean J. E. LeRossignol of the business administration college introduced the speaker.

Mr. Agee's talk dealt almost entirely with the problem of unemployment, which he declared was, in his opinion, the most pressing problem facing the American nation. Among other cures, he mentioned, in addition to shorter working days and the five day week, release of married women gainfully employed unless they are heads of families, replacement of the unskilled by the skilled, and the average family in the United States has decreased from 5.6 to 4.2. This, he declared, means that there are more heads of families who must be gainfully employed if we are to eliminate poverty and absolute want.

Mean More Jobs. Mr. Agee, in speaking of shorter working hours, pointed out that they mean more jobs. He expressed doubt as to the desirability of the five day week plan, saying that when workers had two full holidays every week, they invariably try to find some other way to add to their income by working one or both of the days, and that such outside interests are detrimental to the best interests of their employers.

He also dealt in his talk with unemployment insurance, compensation, and death benefit plans. He described the dole system of Germany, to which employers, employees, and the government all contribute.

GRADUATE VISITS CAMPUS.

Mrs. Alice Pomeroy Frum of South Sioux City, graduate of the university in 1911, visited Mrs. Hattie Plum Williams of the department of sociology last week.

The person who drew these brilliantly "flourished initials" was called a "rubricator," meaning literally "one who works in red."

This initialing, and pages of intricate border work besides, are especially well preserved in a small volume titled "The Book of Hours." This beautifully illustrated volume is a prized addition to the collection. Unfortunately, its hand-drawn miniatures, originally inserted in separate pages, have been cut out, leaving parts of the book disconnected.

"The value of these books varies, of course, according to their condition as well as their rarity," Professor Doane continued. "Determining factors are also the origin of the volume, or the quality of its workmanship, whether on cover, illustrations, or printing in general, and of course, largely on its historical connections. For this reason our copy of 'The Book of Hours' is not nearly as valuable as many other volumes which appear much less pretentious, simply because they are comparatively many copies of it in existence. Then again, a small book, 'The Woman Hater,' an original first edition of 1645, has its value, even more enhanced by a later binding of full crunched leather."

PADEREWSKI TO APPEAR HERE IN SPRING CONCERT

Polish Artist Arranges for Coliseum Recital on April 17.

PLANS EXTENDED TOUR

Seventeenth Trip Includes 70 Programs; Will End in West.

Ignace Paderewski, noted Polish artist who is considered by many as the greatest living pianist, will give a recital in Lincoln when he appears at the university coliseum, Friday, April 17.

It has been two seasons since Paderewski last toured the United States. A larger part of last year was spent in touring Europe where he gave many recitals for charity. The proceeds of his entire tour in France he turned over to Marshal Foch's charities, and in gratitude the French government bestowed on him its highest award—the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor. He is one of the most decorated men in the world, holding medals and many honorary degrees from practically every European country.

Plans Seventy Recitals. The present tour of Paderewski includes seventy recitals and it will carry his as far as the Pacific coast. It is his seventeenth tour of this country.

Although Paderewski made his first visit to the United States about forty-eight years ago, his actual debut as a pianist occurred in 1877 in Vienna. In 1890 London paid tribute to his genius and United States recognition followed. His first appearance in Lincoln occurred about thirty years ago when his program opened the old Lincoln auditorium which was destroyed a few years ago by fire which took place while the Kosmet Klub was holding one of its annual musical comedies.

Paderewski is a personal acquaintance of Prof. Orin Stepanek of the Nebraska faculty. A few years ago when Paderewski appeared here Professor Stepanek called on the artist and his wife and was presented with an autographed picture of the pianist.

According to Ray Ramsay and William T. McCleery, who traveled by plane to Columbia last week-end where they were guests of Robert Hill, secretary of the Missouri alumni association, the Missouri Union building will be completed, will add much to the beauty and dignity of the Missouri campus.

A huge lounging room will occupy the entire second floor, the room being furnished as a spacious club room. The third floor will be given over to women's activities, with office space for the various women's organizations.

CRETE PETITIONS FOR HOKUF'S READMISSION

Community Club, American Legion and Rotary Back Move.

INVESTIGATE HIS RECORD

According to word received here Monday, a petition is being circulated in Crete by Mayor F. J. Kobes of that city and President Fred Kind of the Crete Community club for the reinstatement of Steve Hokuf, prominent university athlete. It will be presented to Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of men, early this week.

Hokuf was suspended from the university following a raid on an apartment in which he lived with two other young men, where officers found illicit liquor. Hokuf was not in the apartment at the time, and did not figure in criminal prosecution of those who were in the apartment when it was raided.

Steve Not in Court. "We are requesting the university authorities to reinstate Steve because he was not involved in the liquor case in court, and had committed no crime sufficient to sustain his expulsion from school," said Mayor Kobes.

"We have investigated and found that several students found guilty of drunkenness were suspended and reinstated in a short time. There is no evidence that Steve even took a drink."

Mayor Kobes said not only the Community club, but the American Legion and the Rotary club are behind the Hokuf reinstatement petitions.

Born in Crete. Steve Hokuf was born and raised in Crete and has held that little city for his home ever since. Crete has great faith in him. He has, as the Crete residents point out, a clear record. He has been working his way thru school lately on the staff of a Lincoln newspaper.

If Hokuf's reinstatement is not made soon, he will be ineligible to play football next season, even though he attends a session of summer school. It is generally understood the suspensions are to last the rest of the present term.

Mayor Kobes declares the court hearing at which one of the students declared he alone was responsible for the beer and beer-making apparatus in the apartment, proves that Hokuf had nothing to do with it.

Miss Krekeler's Essay Wins Third in Competition of Chancellor Burnett

Irrgard Krekeler, Gothenburg, won third prize with her essay "What I Aim To Get Out of College," entered in the chancellor's essay contest. The prize winners were announced a short time ago. Following is Miss Krekeler's essay. "What I Aim To Get Out of College"

"My purpose in getting a college education is to learn to live better. I fully expect a reward for my going thru school, and that reward is a richer, happier life.

"Life is such a complex situation that I must analyze it, and separate it into distinct phases which I aim to develop or even sense as a college student. Life without health, friends, an appreciation and knowledge of good literature, art, and music, an interest in science, history, philosophy, and religion, poise, refinement, a social consciousness, and independent thinking on my part, would be most unsatisfying to me.

"I do not presuppose that I shall be the most charming, cultured miss, or a learned person, immediately upon my graduation from this university, but I aim to learn how to learn while I am here. All I ask is an introductory course to Ibsen, Hauptmann, Carl Sandburg, Robert Browning, Joseph Conrad, Swinburne, Millet, Beethoven, Wagner, Verdi, Edison, or Einstein. I can learn to know them better when I am out of university.

BUDGET GROUP ADDS TO BRYAN FINANCE PLANS

House Committee Increases N. U. Appropriation $454,939.

CALLS FOR DORMITORIES

Bill Provides for Domestic Science Building on Ag Campus.

The University of Nebraska fares $454,939 better at the hands of the house finance committee of the state legislature than in the Bryan budget report according to the revised budget bill which was reported out for general file yesterday. The university, however, gets 5,061 less than was recommended by ex-Governor Weaver in his report.

One of the most important single items in the budget calls for the erection of a much needed domestic science building at the agricultural college. The building would cost approximately $150,000.

The report also included an appropriation of $100,000 for new dormitories for girls to be constructed on the campus. Provision for constructing the dormitory with private funds, to be paid for out of rentals during a period of years is provided for by other pending legislation, however.

Other university items allowed include $5,708,000 for maintenance of the university proper, the state college of agriculture, and the various experiment stations; $375,000 for maintenance at the college of medicine, Omaha, and $125,000 for the nurses home and enlargement of the heating plant at Omaha.

The total appropriations for all the work of the state, including the university, appropriations exceeded in some measure those made by the legislature two years ago.

The bills will be taken up in the committee of the whole of the house some time this morning.

K. U. MAN ADDRESSES HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Registrar Believes Group Slavery Epidemic Is Campus Fault.

LAWRENCE, Kan. — "Peaceful seclusion and scholastic quiet are no longer characteristic of American institutions of learning," said George O. Foster, registrar of the University of Kansas, in a radio talk addressed to the 18,000 high school seniors of Kansas. Mr. Foster has been considering problems of selecting a college, and prepared for college work. This morning's talk related to conduct after arriving on the campus.

"The American college to today has become such a whirlwind of 'outside activities'—social, athletic, musical, religious, journalistic, dramatic—that the casual observer, looking from the outside, cannot see where the studying comes in," and many young men who left home to obtain a college education are led by campus pressure to substitute a varied assortment of activities," continued Mr. Foster.

Many Make Mistake. "Many make the harmful mistake of joining too many organizations, without first investigating the merits of each.

Jere Mickle, graduate student of the dramatic department, left Saturday to join the Edwin Stock company with which a company he has contracted to play the lead during the coming spring and summer.

"When I entered university, I had an overestimated opinion of myself, and I thought I knew myself and things in general. Now I have begun to realize how little I know, but how I can grow and improve. Seeing individuals of high calibre and charming personalities has made me come out of this house of mine, walk around it, and examine it from another's point of view. College has made me faintly see this house of mine with all of its homely and unpleasing blemishes, and it has made me feel the need of improving my personality. A personality colored with poise, culture, sympathy, kindness, modesty, and cheer is absolutely necessary in the line of work I am to learn university, in my association with other people, and in my own home.

"I expect college to give me a training which will enable me to make a living, of course, but I expect much more than that—that it make me happy in my work.

"All my aims seem to 'culminate in one outstanding aim, and that aim is to learn to be an ideal homemaker. I want to be able to make my home beautiful, artistic, cheerful, and comfortable to delightfully and hospitably entertain my friends, to be the very best kind of mother, and to have fine, healthy children—and so live a happy life.
