INTOURIST COMPANY PLANS SUMMER TOUR

Melvin Martin, Nebraska Student, Represents Group Here.

Six weeks of travel—covering many pieces of interest in Russia, as well as London, Berlin and Paris—is in store this summer for a number of University of Nebraska students if enough interest is shown in the proposed trip. Melvin Martin, a native of Russia and a university student here, is a representative of the Intourist company of Russia, which is planning a European tour for American university students. If he finds that a large enough number of students in the University of Nebraska care to make the trip, this school will be one of a number to have student tourists in Europe this summer.

Leave June 17. According to the proposed itinerary, the travelers will sail on the S. S. Leviathan from New York on Wednesday, June 17. Arriving at Southampton, England, on June 23, they will proceed to London where they will spend four days. From there they go on to Leningrad, Russia, to spend four more days visiting historical places of interest there.

During the next six days when the party will be at Moscow, an extensive sightseeing tour will be made of the city, covering many famous art exhibits, historical monuments, and new living conditions. After spending a few hours in Nizhni-Novorog, the tourist party will make a steamer trip of four days to Stalingrad on the Volga, which is world famous and is particularly noted for its scenic beauty.

Return August 8. Leaving Stalingrad on July 18, the students will return to Moscow for one day and will then proceed to Berlin, Germany. Four days of sightseeing in this Prussian city will be followed by the same number in Paris, France. Having taken a special boat train for Cherbourg, the tourists will sail on the S. S. America, arriving at New York Saturday, August 8.

Further information concerning this tour may be secured from Martin at 2223 Q street, or by calling L-9511. He will act as interpreter.

KRAUSE BAND TO PLAY FOR AG FAIR DANCE SATURDAY (Continued from Page 1.) cording to historical periods will work upward to the present day trend of style. Gerald Shick, co-chairman of the parade executive committee, announced last evening that a complete route for the parade Saturday will be available by Wednesday. The 1931 Farmer's fair parade will travel through the main business district of Lincoln at noon.

Big Parade Planned. At the same time Harlan Bollman, head of the parade entertainment committee, announced that his group have their definite plans laid for entertaining the crowds which will jam the streets to see the parade. A clown band along with a Pershing rifle squad will be among the features.

Girls registered in the home economics department are determining who the 1931 Goddess of Agriculture will be by voting on their favorites. The voting started Monday and will conclude this evening. Senior students majoring in home economics are eligible for the honor.

Announce Goddess Friday. The votes in the contest will be counted this evening, announcement of the winner will not be made until Friday evening at the annual pre-fair dance for agricultural college students. Girls in the home economics department are voting for seven coeds. The one having the highest number of votes will be the goddess while the six other high vote getters will be the attendants. Ruth White was the goddess last year.

The final rally before the fair comes on Thursday night. The Manager, White declined to give out any detailed information last night about the rally, he promises that the rally will be different than the rest held this year. Corn Cobs and Tassels will probably assist in creating more spirit for the fair.

Will Fence Campus. Fencing the campus will probably be done by Friday of this week. Herb Host, chairman of the public committee, is making arrangements to have his committeemen deputized. They will ride horses in patrolling the campus Saturday.

Interest and enthusiasm for the fair is probably at a higher pitch than in previous years on the agricultural college campus. Given good weather the senior fair board hopes for a crowd of at least 10,000 people.

'WHY BE GOOD' TOPIC OF JUDGE'S ADDRESS

John Polk Tells B. Y. P. U. Members What Makes Crooks Crooked.

"Following the line of least resistance makes the crook crooked," declared Municipal Judge John L. Polk Sunday evening in a talk to the university B. Y. P. U. group at the First Baptist church. Fourteenth and K streets. His topic was "Why Be Good?" and he emphasized the moral value of life. "In the moral world life is a struggle," stated the judge. "Our lives knit up the coherent out of the incoherent and we direct it by choice." Life itself is making choices.

According to Judge Polk, the value of life rests entirely on how we live it. He defined selfishness as "an ingrown malignancy eating into the soul," and he pointed out that our lives are reflected in the lives of others. "Immortality is attained by serving humanity," he added. Flays Cheating. "Cheating," he continued, "is a very reprehensible practice in university work. The results are disastrous because it teaches dishonesty and dishonesty and dishonesty are the same. It is the duty, therefore, of the student to refrain from such practice." Likewise he showed that dishonesty in business competition is as dishonorable as in the classroom, even if certain questionable practices conform to the accepted business ethics. "We must practice what we preach," he affirmed. "If you are honest and fair in the classroom you command the respect of those who are not and you never know just who is using your life for an example. "Life," concluded Judge Polk, "is a challenge to be an influence for good."

General Electric Contributions to Health

at College at Home at Play

COLLEGE-TRAINED electrical engineers cooperated with the medical profession in developing G-E products that safeguard health. Notable among these are the x-ray tube, the G-E refrigerator, and the G-E Sunlamp. Of these three, the Sunlamp is the latest development, but it has already been acclaimed for its service in helping build that vitality which maintains the happiness of good health. At Cornell University, members of "cold-prevention classes" (under daily, brief, ultra-violet-ray lamp treatments) reported 40 per cent less colds than were reported by classmates in a group without this treatment. Beyond home and college, the use of Sunlamps has extended to swimming pools and indoor golf courses. In the future, you may enjoy the Sunlamp as a standard fixture in offices, trains, clubs, and many other places where people gather. And you may continue to expect new, unusual, and useful developments from G-E engineering and research. Among such products, there will doubtless be further contributions to personal health, comfort, and convenience, as well as to the promotion of industrial efficiency.
