LANTZ GIVES PLANS FOR RECREATIONAL ACTIVITY OF SESSION

Parties, Picnics, Sports In Store for Summer School Students.

Student Executive Group To Be Selected for Direction.

Following the success with which last year's summer session recreation program was met, a new and more elaborate plan of student parties and picnics is to be inaugurated this summer, according to Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty member in charge of recreation. "Upon the suggestion of Director Moritz we are going to appoint a student executive committee some time during the current week," Professor Lantz reported. "It will be the first time that such a method has been followed during a summer session and we hope that thru it we will be able to provide better recreational activities than ever before."

Perhaps a Party Friday. If present plans develop an all-university party will probably be held Friday evening, Professor Lantz declared. Arrangements have not as yet been made but plans are being considered and things are awaiting the appointment of the student executive committee which will be made within the next day or two.

In the past, with the possible exception of last summer there has been more or less of a tendency to slight the social program of summer students, in Professor Lantz's opinion. When a number of student parties, two or three picnics, and some tourney competitions turned out so successfully a year ago this time it was decided that definite and progressive attempts to provide more student recreation would be made this year.

Selection of the summer school student committee will be made by Professor Lantz and this group will then draw up a concrete program of regularly organized parties, picnics, sports and games in which all summer students will be invited and urged to participate.

Although a great deal depends upon the decisions of the student executive committee it is quite probable that there will be at least one organized party each week. In addition there will probably be three or four picnics, one or two of them for men, one for women, and one or two for mixed groups. Last year's parties were held in Grant Memorial hall and this building will probably be used again for this year's party affairs.

Chancellor States Advantages Offered At Summer Session

The summer session of the University of Nebraska is of commanding interest to approximately 2,800 students who are registering for a six or nine weeks' term beginning today. Under our present arrangement, most chairmen of departments and leading professors in the departments are available for instruction during the summer. A number of attractive lecturers from leading universities will add strength to summer school courses.

The summer session draws many types of students. Teachers from all portions of the state come back to perfect themselves in some major subject. Many with bachelor's degrees come for graduate study. Several hundred students unable to carry a full load of class-work during the regular school year attend to expedite securing their degrees.

The splendid library and science laboratory facilities which the summer instruction affords make summer instruction especially attractive.

E. A. BURNETT,
Chancellor.

Students Should Read Nebraskan for Announcements, Says Moritz

To Summer Session Students:

All official announcements of importance to the student body will be printed in The Summer Nebraskan, official summer session newspaper. It will serve not only as a news conveyor but also as a general university bulletin. Students will be held responsible for all such announcements.

We believe that The Nebraskan has a real opportunity for service and we urge students and members of the faculty to avail themselves of this service and the opportunity it affords for making the various university activities an integral part of the summer session.

R. D. MORITZ,
Director of Summer Session.

PROF. R. D. MORITZ. Who will direct the work of both the six and nine weeks sessions of the summer school for which registration begins this morning.

Reed, vice president of the Harris Trust Co. of Chicago, who spoke as the representative of the honor class of 1911 at the annual luncheon of the Alumni association which was held last Friday in the Coliseum. Although hard rains over the state materially cut the attendance at the annual Roundup week, about 300 returned to the campus for business sessions, general luncheon, and various class breakfasts and reunions.

SUMMER FROSH GET HEAD START

High school graduates of this spring have several things to be thankful for if they are attending the current session of summer school, in the opinion of R. D. Moritz, director of the summer session.

"The freshman starting in the fall is usually given little attention or consideration during registration because of the rush, but their summer student does not have to worry about this," he pointed out. "A student has a further advantage during the summer because then he may receive more helpful advice since his advisor is not so busy and is consequently able to take a more personal interest in him."

NEBRASKAN MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

Summer Edition of Campus Newspaper Offered for 25 Cents.

The Summer Nebraskan today begins its second year as official summer session newspaper. All activities of summer session students and official announcements will be included in the eighteen issues which will be published on Tuesday and Friday mornings throughout the summer term.

Necessity of subscribing to The Nebraskan is pointed out by R. D. Moritz, director of the summer session, who states that the student paper will be a bulletin of summer school announcements in addition to conveying news and feature stories of general student interest. The Nebraskan is the only means of reaching the general student body and it is hoped by university officials that all students will subscribe.

Subscription prices for the eighteen issues are 25 cents on the campus and 50 cents mailed. Copies of The Nebraskan may be obtained regularly on mornings of publication at Long's Book stores and the Co-op Book store.

Oscar Norling, Lincoln, is the executive editor of the summer paper. Jack Erickson, of Newman Grove, is editorial assistant, and Bernard Jennings, Lincoln, is the business assistant.

2,800 STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED TO ENROLL IN SUMMER SESSION

Practice Teaching, Six and Nine-Week Combinations Introduced.

Special Courses Lasting One, Two and Four Weeks Offered.

Approximately 2,800 graduate and undergraduate students are expected to enroll today for the thirty-seventh annual summer session at the University of Nebraska. A number of features and a group of new courses have been added which are expected to draw large enrollments because of their practical nature.

Chief among these is the new arrangement whereby students may take courses in both the six and nine-week sessions, completing the work in certain nine-week classes by extension if desired. Additional courses have been included in practically every branch of academic work so that students who are able to attend only the shorter period may have the opportunity of taking academic work which would not be available under the former plan.

Special features include: Four weeks course in vocational agriculture, June 8 to July 3.

Two weeks courses in vitalized agriculture for rural schools, rural school administration and supervision, Parent-Teachers association, June 15 to 26.

Two weeks course in social case work, July 27 to August 6.

One week course in operation and care of school plants, June 22 to 27.

Additional instructors secured

In order to meet more adequately the professional needs of Nebraska teachers, practically the entire staff of the Teachers college will be on duty carrying full work. In addition, a number of visiting instructors have been secured among whom are men and women of national standing in their own specified fields. A special effort has been made during the past year to secure visiting instructors who are superintendents of high schools in Nebraska.

"These superintendents who have been secured for the summer session are able to make a real contribution owing to the fact that they come with the practical experience of school men trained in the field in school administration and supervision," stated R. D. Moritz, director of the summer session, discussing the visiting instructors.

WOMEN'S RULES ISSUED BY DEAN AMANDA HEPPNER

Definite house rules will be in force for women students during the summer session, according to Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, who is giving a copy of those rules to each girl who sees her at Ellen Smith hall. There are slight variations in these rules from those in force during the regular school year.

In the first place the summer rules have no special restrictions for freshman and sophomore students. Another difference is in the time element. During the regular school year 10:30 is the closing hour for week nights for upperclassmen (freshmen must be in at 8 o'clock) and 12:30 for Friday and Saturday. For the summer session 11:00 is the closing hour on week nights while 12:00 is the limit on Friday and Saturday.

The rules as given out by Miss Heppner follow:

1. The residence of men and women in the same lodging house is not approved and is not permitted unless the circumstances are unusual. In this case permission must be granted by the dean of women.

2. A lady, rooming students (women), is expected to provide for their use until 11 o'clock, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening, a reception room on the first floor, properly lighted. All rules refer (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1.)

HOW TO REGISTER

Students who have not registered for summer school at Nebraska before, or who have forgotten the details of the registration process, may find the following information on registration routine helpful.

Graduates report to office of Dean Upson, Chemistry 202, between June 8 and 12 for all registration.

Undergraduate registration Monday, June 8, 8 to 12 and 2 to 5.

Undergraduates first go to Social Sciences, first floor, to secure admission slips to Memorial hall where actual undergraduate registration takes place.

Registrants are admitted to Memorial hall according to the number on the admission slip. This is to eliminate crowding at the registration tables.

Once inside, locate table which is being used for registration in the college you wish to enter. College and departmental signs are to be found in front of these tables. Consult faculty advisors at these (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1.)

GUEST INSTRUCTORS PRESENT AT SESSION

Visiting Professors Will Give Special Aid to Teaching Needs.

Summer school students are to be provided with one particular advantage over students of the regular school year in that they are to have opportunities to study under a number of visiting instructors of national standing who have been secured in order to meet more adequately the professional needs of Nebraska teachers. In addition practically the entire staff of teachers college will be on duty, carrying on full work.

The outstanding visiting professors who will offer courses here this summer are Dr. W. L. Carr, of Columbia university; Charles S. Thomas, director of the work of the commission on English appointed by the college entrance board; Dr. F. B. Knight, professor of psychology and education at the University of Iowa; Dr. M. E.
