

CAFETERIA REMAINS OPEN

Eating Facilities Will Be Provided for Entire Summer School.

In order to serve the needs of summer school students the University Cafeteria in the basement of the Temple will be kept open during the summer and will serve three meals a day to summer students and faculty members.

Fresh vegetables and fruits are served to provide well balanced rations and a variety of dairy products, fresh daily from the university state farm, will be available. All girls employed at the cafeteria and all boys working in the kitchens and dish rooms are University of Nebraska students.

During the regular college year the cafeteria serves approximately 600 meals each day. In the summer this is naturally cut down considerably with less than half the enrollment of the academic year. This summer the cafeteria will again offer special rooms for group meetings and special reserved tables without additional cost altho it is advised to get these reservations a few hours in advance.

GEOLOGISTS TRAVEL WEST

Group Under E. F. Schramm Leaves Saturday For Extended Trip.

One of the most comprehensive tours ever conducted by the department of geology will start tomorrow under the direction of Professor E. F. Schramm, chairman.

Eight students, Herbert Auchmoedy, Dan Dougall, Ed Wolfenburger, Clarence Nelson, August Heldt, Eugene P. Philbrick, and Lloyd Mills are the members of the party.

The group, in their travels will cover points of geological interest in Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, and Wyoming, as well as portions of Nebraska. Among the more interesting places which they will visit are the Carlsbad Cavern in New Mexico, said to be the largest single cavern in the world, and the Boulder dam site. The trip will last six weeks and two weeks of that time will be spent in Marysville, Utah.

ELECTRIC FANS TO COOL LIBRARY

Eight electric fans are being installed in the library to add to the comfort of summer students, according to library officials who are preparing for the summer session. The fans are being used to eliminate the heated conditions during the late afternoon and early evening periods which caused considerable protest among the students last year.

STUDENTS PASS UP BOOKS THAT ARE PAID FOR

Getting students to come after yearbooks which they have already paid for is the job with which Ed Edmonds, business manager of the Cornhusker, is confronted for the next six weeks.

Under a new arrangement inaugurated last fall it was decided by the Cornhusker staff that they would order only as many annuals as were arranged and paid for in advance, rather than order an extra amount and have left-overs. The plan has worked fine except that there are still ninety books which are paid for but not obtained by the students.

Business Manager Edmonds reports that despite the general economic conditions and scarcity of advertising copy the yearbook will show a sizeable profit for the year's activity. This surplus will go into the student activities fund in charge of John K. Selleck.

FIELD MUSEUM AIDES VISIT MORRILL HALL

Classifying Nebraska's museum in Morrill hall as "vastly impressive," two members of the staff of the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago visited here on Monday afternoon.

The visitors, Mr. Elmer S. Riggs, one of the Field Museum curators, and Mr. Bryan Patterson, his assistant, spent their time studying the mural paintings and arrangements of cases. The Nebraska museum is different than any other in the world in that no artificial leaves, trees, flowers, or other aids are used in construction of a background. Instead the only decorative effects are supplied by murals, colored sands, and cemented bases.

LUTHERAN STUDENT PICNIC ARRANGED

A picnic for all Lutheran students and their friends will be held Friday evening, June 26, according to Rev. Henry Erck, Lutheran student pastor, who announces proposed activities this morning for the summer session.

Those wishing to attend the picnic should meet at the Temple building at 5:30 that afternoon. Rev. Mr. Erck requests that as many as possible bring cars. Students will find the Lutheran student pastor in his office at room 103A, Temple, from 10 to 12 o'clock each morning during the summer session.

OTHER CAMPUSES

COLUMBUS—Women students at the University of Ohio have developed a new way to haze senior and freshmen students. The new "modus operandi" is "bathtub ducking." About this time the seniors who are leaving school are being taken off guard and are unceremoniously pitched into a cold tub of water.

NEW HAVEN—Yale's "Daily News" has been busy attacking Harvard because of the decision of authorities at the latter school to keep from a memorial tablet the names of Harvard men who lost their lives in the World war. In an interview Ogden Nash, twentieth century poet and author of "Hard Lines," declared, "One year at Harvard destroyed my mind."

MADISON—Regular university commencement exercises at the University of Wisconsin will be held on June 22.
