STAGE PUNTING DUEL DURING FIRST QUARTER

Nebraska's Superior Kicking and Reserve Power Plays Instrumental Part in Win; Husker Line Shows Old Time Form.

BY MURLIN SPENCER.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers, displaying for the first time their real offensive and defensive power, turned back a highly touted Oklahoma eleven by the score of 13 to 0. The win Saturday afternoon in Memorial stadium started the Huskers on their way in the conference race. George Sauer was the main reason for the Husker viewy, scoring two touchdowns and 47 yards

Nebrasha's first score came shortly after the fourth quarter had started. Kreizinger ran Ellback to the Okla-line and on the next strom's munt homa 47 y play, Sauer broke through the line, cut for the sideline and outran and outran the Sconer secondary defense for the goal. Master in kicked the exira point. The Cornhusker's second score came late in the final period when Sauer intercepted a Sooner pass on his own 30 yard line and ran the 70 yards for the score. Masterson failed to con-vert the extra point.

Kicks Prove Valuable.

The game became a punting duel early in the first period, with Roby and Sauer competing against Warren of Oklahoma. The kick-ing of the two Nebraska men paved the way for the Husker vic-tory, their long kicks forcing Ok-lahoma to play in her own terri-tory most of the game. The work of the siker line was outstanding, holding the Sooners to 6 first downs. Rhoa, Justice, game captain. Koster and DeBus were outstanding, and forced Oklahoma to forsake her running attack which was so suc-cessful again." Rice last week.

Weather Slows Up Game.

Hot and sultry weather during the first half showed up the game considerably, and a heavy down-pour during half time made handling of the ball difficult and fumbles numerous.
