YEARBOOK SALES CAMPAIGN OPENS MONDAY MORNING

Cobs, Tassels Have Charge Drive for Cornhusker Subscriptions.

ANNOUNCE THREE PLANS

Annuals $5 on Installment Purchase; 10 Percent Cash Discount.

Sales drive for the 1932 Cornhusker begins tomorrow morning and will continue through Nov. 10. Russell Mousel, business manager of the yearbook, announced yesterday. Members of Corn Cobs, Tassels and the staff of the publication will conduct the sale.

Group drives by the Corn Cobs and Tassels will start during the week. Marvin Schmidt and Julie Deetkin, presidents of those two organizations, will be in charge. Sales booths will be placed in social science hall, Andrews hall, temple, and on the walk in front of university hall. In addition the office of the Cornhusker in university hall will be open at all times, Mousel said. Yearbooks may be purchased at any one of these places, and salesmen will canvass the campus through the groups mentioned above.

"We hope to sell at least fifteen hundred books to the students during the sales campaign," Mousel stated. "It is necessary that we sell at least this many books if an engraving contract is to remain in effect under the new plan of management. If we are unable to sell the necessary number of yearbooks, we may be required to work out the book on a less elaborate scale."

Must Order in Advance. "I want to make plain the fact that no books will be available in the spring to the students who do not buy them this fall, he continued. In the past there has been talk of no books for sale in the spring and yet there have been plenty of annuals put on sale after publication. This year, however, this will not be true. It is absolutely necessary to contract every book order in advance and order just that amount, not only because of the financial situation, but also because of the request of the student publication board that this be done."

GLEE CLUB DIRECTOR PLANS REHEARSALS

Hollingsworth Sets Three Practices Per Week For Members.

Plans for three rehearsals a week for the university glee club were decided upon at the meeting of the group Wednesday night. The club will meet Tuesday night at 8, Wednesday night at 7:30, and Friday night at 5.

At the first regular rehearsal Friday afternoon, Harold Hollingsworth, director of the glee club, announced that the group would begin with sight singing at practices. He said that sectional rehearsals probably would be held later to perfect the different parts. "The group is a little unbalanced at the present time, and I would like to have more first tenors in the club," Hollingsworth stated. "If anyone wishes to try out, he should call the school of music and get an appointment for a tryout."

Tug of War Between Halves Saturday Will Decide Fate of New Frosh Caps

By ART BAILEY. Next Saturday, the Saturday of all Saturdays, when the proud Pater will come to the son's alma mater to raise a little college whoopee and feed the pocket books on Dad's Day, when the Huskers will take Iowa State (let's hope), then a line with a tug team on each side of it will determine whether or not the freshmen will continue to carry that little red cap around on the back of their heads or place them among their souvenirs. What a lot of a piece of rope, a line, and a few men can do.

Rather than set a certain date as to when the freshmen may leave their "reminders" at home as they did in the dark past, B. C. O. R. C. (Before Coming of Red Caps), the Innocents society will sponsor a tug of war between the freshmen and the sophomore classes. If the sophomores should pull the freshmen over the line two out of three times the losing freshmen must wear their flaming head covers until the snow flies. In former years the deciding factor was the annual Olympics between the two classes, but a new

Lost: Two Parents 'Girl With Golden Voice' to Rescue

Functioning after the manner of all good lost and found agencies, this service offered by the Daily Nebraskan exclusively for its readers again came into prominence yesterday when it answered an ad in the form of a series of loud wails emitted from the lungs of a future coed, "Lost, One Pair of Parents."

Miss Bernice Hoffman, the Nebraska "lost and found" girl, acted as intermediary in the restoration process. Altho the child objected strenuously in no uncertain terms to Miss Hoffman's suggestion that she call a policeman to look for the child's parents, true to her profession, Miss Hoffman summoned up her tact and curiously sought out Campus Cop Reglar who then entered and monopolized the scene.

The curtain falls on this drama in which the Nebraskan lost and found agency figures so prominently when Campus Cop Reglar escorts lost article out the door in the general direction of the piece she last saw her parents!

This Cornhusker tradition begun in 1922 by the Innocents society brings many fathers of Nebraska students to the campus for the occasion. In an endeavor to promote greater attendance at the affair, the Innocents have issued three thousand invitations to Husker Dads to attend the luncheon and the football game later in the afternoon.

Tickets for the luncheon will go on sale Tuesday, according to Tomson. The price for the pasteboards has been set at fifty cents. A special invitation is extended university girls to bring their fathers.

Contrary to the custom of previous years, the program this year will be very informal, and the Innocents society as sponsors promise an enjoyable time.

D. U. Is Soccer King For a Day; Pi K. A.'s Victors on Decision

There follows a tale in which the maxim concerning the premature counting of chickens is exemplified.

Two Greek clubs, it appears, met each other on the field of combat and the stronger of the two teams, Delta Upsilon, emerged victorious in games of soccer, and straightway planned a great dinner and killed the fattest calf to celebrate the event.

Disillusionment, however, lurked outside the windows watching the successful warriors inking merry. He laughed in a sneering, confident manner, drew his black cloak closer around him, and slunk away into the darkness—alas, but temporarily.

Two weeks later Disillusionment made his appearance again. The victory of Delta Upsilon over their opponents, Pi Kappa Alpha, was declared invalid inasmuch as the Delta Upsilon combatants were not all qualified because they had failed to have a physical examination. And now the Pi K. A.'s are celebrating!

MISSOURI READY TO SCORE WHEN GAME ENDS

Final Gun Saves Biblemen When Mizzou Has Ball on 1-Foot Line With Three Downs to Go After Passes Function in Last Half.

By MURLIN SPENCER. MEMORIAL STADIUM, COLUMBIA, Mo.—

The Missouri Tigers, termed the Kittens up until today, rose up in full strength, outplayed and outpassed and outfought Nebraska only to lose 10 to 7 here Saturday afternoon. Coming into the fourth quarter on the low end of a 10 to 0 score, Missouri displayed the greatest passing attack seen in many years, put over one touchdown and was only a foot from the winning score as the game ended.

The victory advanced the Cornhuskers another notch in the Big Six race and brought the traditional Missouri-Nebraska bell back to Lincoln for another year.

The Huskers started out Saturday as though they intended to go places. On the opening kickoff Nebraska recovered a Tiger fumble on the 16 yard line, lost the ball on downs, took a Missouri kick on the Nebraska 45-yard line and again marched down the field to the 15-yard line. Masterson dropped back and kicked a field goal, putting the Huskers in the lead, 3 to 0.

Stubber Gains. Shortly after the Husker score, Stubber worked the ball down to the Nebraska 7-yard line but failed by inches to make the first down. The half ended with Nebraska still leading 3 to 0 and outplaying the Tiger.

The second half was a different story. Shortly after the start of the period, Kreizinger hit off the Missouri right tackle evaded the Tiger secondary and raced fifty-four yards to the Tiger 4-yard line before being tackled from behind by Johanningsmeier. Nebraska failed to gain through the line so Masterson dropped back and flipped a pass to Kilbourne for the touchdown. Masterson kicked the goal making the score 10 to 0 for the Huskers. At this time Nebraska's offensive stopped and the Tiger took the game in its hands. Yard after yard was gained thru the line with Johanningsmeier and Bittner doing the running. Each time, before the Huskers were able to stop the threat, it was in dangerous territory.

As the fourth quarter got under way, Missouri took the ball on her 45-yard line. Favas dropped back, flipped a long pass to (Continued on Page 4.)

'Scotch Twins' by University Players Pleases Children's Theater Audience

BY LYNN LEONARD. "The Scotch Twins," the play presented by the dramatic department in the children's theater of the Temple building, yesterday met with the approval of one of the largest audiences ever attending one of these performances.

This is the first of a series of children's plays which will be presented during the year. The university players present these under the auspices of the Lincoln junior league. The players conducted an advance sale of season tickets which resulted in a complete sell-out.

The two Scotch twins, which were played by Sally Green and Neil McFarland, won the admiration of every child present. Pat McDonald, who played the part of Alan MacRae, another lead, also helped make the play a success. Francis Brandt played the part of Angus Neil, the villain, in a manner that aroused the hatred of nearly every member of the junior audience.

The other members of the cast were: Barney Jerre; Sandy Crumpet; Don Crow; Robin Camp-

CORNHUSKER STAFF REQUESTS PICTURES

Editor Detrick Announces No Photos Accepted After Deadline.

Although the members of the Cornhusker staff have not yet set a deadline for student pictures, they urge all juniors and seniors and those having pictures taken for the sorority and fraternally sections to have their pictures in immediately.

When a deadline is set, it will really be a deadline and no pictures will be accepted after the time stated, according to Ovis Detrick, editor. "The fact that many students have been asking about the deadline seems to indicate that they intend to delay having their pictures taken as long as possible," said Detrick.

Plays for Children. The university players have presented these plays for children for a number of years but they have never before met with the approval and patronage with which they are meeting this year, according to officials of the organization. The excellent sale of the tickets and the interest which was shown at this play presented yesterday indicate brilliant prospects for one of the best seasons in the history of the entertainments.

The officials hesitated before choosing "The Scotch Twins" as the initial production of this season, due to the skill required in making the play a success. They thought this would be difficult to obtain at the beginning of the season. However the ability of those playing yesterday proved that this doubt was ill-founded. The play was one of the best ever produced by the organization, according to the audience.
