HILL SPEAKS BEFORE INTER-RACIAL GROUP

Faculty Member Discusses Nation's Attitude on Disarmament.

"Disarmament and the United States' Attitude Toward the Coming Conference," was the subject of the address of Professor N. L. Hill to the members of the Inter-Racial staff of the Y. W. C. A. at their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at Ellen Smith hall.
United States is in an important position in relation to the other countries; she will be one of the main facilitators as well as compromisers in the coming conference, according to Mr. Hill. United States claims that she has four disarmament needs. The first is to protect her mainland which contains 95 percent of her wealth and population. However, the United States is so situated geographically that little harm can come to her.

Must Protect Canal.
The second United States need is to protect the Panama canal. To protect her far off possessions such as the Philippine Islands and Hawaii, and to protect her commerce are the other problems of this country. It has been proven that a country loses her commerce when she indulges in war, as in the case of the United States in 1918.

"Last year the United States spent more than any other country for the upkeep of her army and navy altho she is situated better geographically and more secure than the rest of the countries," said Prof. Hill. "The United States have, however, taken certain stands or attitudes to reduce armament, but feels that no country can afford to disarm if the country does not have the feeling of security. The United States refuses to guarantee any country security in the future."

Parity Ratio Important.
The ratio of the different countries will also be an important issue at the coming conference, stated Mr. Hill. United States asks for parity with Great Britain. Civil aviation will play an important part in the conference. Germany and the United States have the largest number of airplanes constructed for commercial purposes in the world today. The other countries say that in case of a war, these two countries will use these planes for war purposes and consequently they will have an added advantage, he says.

Other possible issues are the trained reserves of the different countries, and the advisability of creating some international commission to enforce the promise of the different countries made at the coming conference.

The inter-racial group under the leadership of Helen Cassidy meets every Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Ellen Smith hall.

HUSKERS READY FOR HAWKEYES

will carry out the Dad's day theme in silent cheering between the halves of the game. Flaccards saying "Welcome, Dads," have been distributed, and cheers and songs will be led at the luncheon by the varsity yell leaders.
The Innocents society issued the following statement concerning Dad's day: "We wish to take this opportunity thru the columns of the Daily Nebraskan to extend a welcome to all the fathers and mothers who have sons or daughters registered in the university.

"Dad's day has been planned for you. Your son or daughter expects you. They will be disappointed if you do not come. They wish to show you the campus and the places where they live and work. incidentally they want to show you something about their student life and introduce you to their friends."
"The students at the university are proud of their dads and mothers. They have planned to show you a good time. They are in earnest when they send you an invitation. The Iowa-Nebraska game will be a great game. Better say 'yes,' and join the crowd. You will be glad you came."
Tug of War at Half.

Between halves at the game will be the freshman-sophomore tug of war which has been instituted this year to replace the former Olympics as a means of determining when freshmen may lay aside their freshman caps.
The losers in the tug of war will receive a thoro soaking as they are pulled thru a stream of water from a hose which will be held across the line over which the winners must pull the losers. The freshmen, if they lose the contest will incur a double penalty: they will be obliged to wear the freshman caps until the first snowfall.

Lewis Will Referee.
The contest will be staged at the south end of the stadium, and not on the playing field as previously announced. The two teams of twelve men each will be given three trials, the winner of two out of three pulls winning the contest. Jimmy Lewis of the athletic department will referee the struggle.

Both freshman and sophomore teams which were chosen Wednesday by Harold Soderlund and George Sauer, freshman and sophomore class presidents, are being coached on tug of war tactics by Ed Weir, freshman football coach. The teams were chosen from lists of applicants and men recommended by members of Corn Cob organization. The two teams have been meeting together and generating spirit to enable them to work in organized fashion Saturday.
Presidents Name Terms.
The freshman team includes a number of members of the freshman football squad and on the sophomore team are several men who play with the nubbins. The freshman team so far picked includes eleven men, one man originally selected being ineligible. He will be replaced by a new appointment by Soderlund. Walter Johnson, Walter Pflum, Wallace DeBrown, Neal Salughter, Theodore Farnanbruch, William Green, Paul Peterson, Fred Hladky, Duard Jackson, Neal Mehning, and Henry Gosman, composed the team.
On the sophomore team a number of ineligible men were originally appointed and will be replaced by President Sauer. The team thus far elected includes Glenn Jones, Kenneth Lunney, Ed Up- tegrove, Warren Scoggins, Harold Holmbeck, Madison Letts, Frank Crum, Frank Mueller, and Austin Temple.
