Interest In Activities Found Wanting

CAMPUS LEADERS DEPLORE SPIRIT

Representative Students Given to General Belief That Students Show Dearth of Ambition in Activities Participation.

PUBLICATIONS HARDEST HIT BY CONDITION

Several Declare Extant State of Campus Politics Is To Blame for Decline of Support; Student Criticism Is Also Given Blow.

BY DICK MORAN.

That student interest in the various campus activities is sadly lacking seems to be the general belief of the student leaders, according to a consensus of opinion taken yesterday. The former enthusiasm and willingness to work is all too apparently absent, they say.

Statements from representative men and women on the campus show that activities which come under their observation do not attract students as in past years. The dearth of ambitious students seems to be most apparent around the various student publication offices.

It is generally admitted that at the present time publications of offices and other extra-curricular institutions are highly desirous of a dependable staff of freshmen and sophomore workers. Such men are always welcome and are treated with the greatest respect.

Dick Devereaux, president of the Innocents society, made the following statement concerning the problem: "Although I am not very well acquainted with the situation around the publications offices, it is plainly evident that students are not supporting the many activities in general as they used to do."

"I know of no apparent reason," Devereaux went on, "why this should be the case, and I sincerely hope that the student of the university will look upon the activities open to them in a new and encouraging light."

Organizations Function.

Devereaux pointed out that the major student organizations such as the Student Council, Interfraternity council, Panhellenic council, and other similar organizations have been functioning better than they ever have in the past. He said that, with these bodies running so smoothly, the students may think that the governing groups can run everything on the campus.

"However, this is not the case," Devereaux said. "Student support and willingness to work is absolutely necessary to the existence of every activity. Without their help, the activities are not representative of the students and would soon die out."

CAMPUS IS HOST FOR BOY SCOUTS DURING ROUNDUP

More Than Four Thousand Youngsters Come From Over State.

MEET INSIDE COLISEUM

Taken on Inspection Tour of University Plant by R.O.T.C. Cadets.

More than four thousand Boy Scouts from all parts of the state attended the Nebraska State Round-Up Convention of Boy Scouts yesterday morning and afternoon. The round-up was held under the auspices of the university, the Lincoln chamber of commerce, and the Cornhusker Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Headquarters for all activities of the round-up were in the coliseum. The scouts began coming into Lincoln from all parts of the state about 9 o'clock in the morning and proceeded immediately to the coliseum where all scouts and accompanying officials registered for the convention.

From 9:30 until lunch time, the scouts and officials were conducted around the university campus on a tour of inspection by members of the Pershing Rifles unit and other students of the university.

The tours started from the coliseum at regular intervals.

At 12 o'clock, all of the visiting scouts and officials were served a box luncheon in the coliseum. They (Continued on Page 3.)

CADETS SELECT TWENTY COEDS FOR SPONSORS

Elizabeth Reimers Chosen Regimental Sponsor for R. O. T. C.

WILL HEAD COMPANIES

Mary Elizabeth Long, Mary Alice Kelley, Margaret Mackecknie Named.

Twenty women students at the University of Nebraska have been named sponsors of the R. O. T. C. corps, according to an announcement issued yesterday by the department of military science.

Elizabeth Reimers, Grand Island, has been selected as regimental sponsor. Miss Reimers is a senior in the teachers college.

As sponsors of the three battalions, Mary Alice Kelley, Omaha, senior Elizabeth Long, Buffalo, Wyo., and Margaret Mackecknie, Indianola, were chosen. Miss Kelley, a teachers college junior, will sponsor the first battalion. Miss Long, a senior in the college of arts and science, the second, and Miss Mackecknie, also an arts college senior, the third.

Jane Youngsen, Minden, will act as sponsor of Company A. Miss Youngsen is a junior in the college of business administration.

Margaret Elliot, Des Moines, Ia., a senior in the college of arts and science, will sponsor company B, and Marjorie Pana, Chadron, a sophomore in the school of fine arts, will be the sponsor for company C. Grace Nicklas, Syracuse, a junior in the college of arts and sciences, was selected sponsor of company D.

Ruth Ridnour, Gwendolyn Hager, Carleen Steckelberg, and Aileen Neely, all of Lincoln, will sponsor companies E, L, M, and the headquarters company, respectively. Miss Ridnour is enrolled in the teachers college, while Misses Hager, Steckelberg and Neely are students in the college of arts and sciences. Kathryn Aten, Omaha, has been selected sponsor of the provisional battalion. She is a student in the teachers college.

As sponsor of company F, Bernadine Sterns, Ashby, a senior in the teachers college, was chosen. Marjorie Helvey, a sophomore in the college of arts and science from Sheridan, Wyo., will serve as sponsor for company G, and the sponsor for company H will be Dorothy Ramsey, a teachers college senior from Omaha.

PRaises Husker Conduct

Kansas State Collegian Says Spirit of Students at Game Fine.

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Conduct of Nebraska university students who attended the Nebraska-Kansas State football game last week-end, was praised by the Kansas State Collegian, student newspaper here, which said: "The Nebraska co-eds and men made quite a hit with Kansas State students when they visited here over the week-end. In spite of their opportunity to take advantage of the situation, they conducted themselves very conservatively at the variety."

Of the game-winning touchdown made by Brown of Nebraska the Collegian said editorially: "The boy hero from the northern city was the point of attention during the past week-end. Just as in movie gridiron classics, the lad jumped from the sick bed, watched his team going to defeat, and then in the last quarter saved the day and, of course, rode from the field on the shoulders of his team-mates. But he did an unforgettable thing, and that thing won a football game."

CONTRACT LET FOR ISSUE BIZAD NEWS

Staff Changes Made; Skade Appointed Business Manager.

PLAN FOUR EDITIONS

The contract for printing the first copies of the Bizad News, new official publication of that college, was let yesterday by the business staff, according to Charles Skade, business manager. The subscription list is now set at approximately 800 and includes business administration students and schools throughout the state.

According to Skade, no charge will be made for subscriptions but that all expenses will be taken care of by the advertising department of the News. The first issue of the new publication is scheduled for approximately Dec. 14.

Revised Staff.

The business staff was revised Thursday by the Bizad executive board. Charles Skade was named business manager, replacing Norman Prucka who was first named to that position. Prucka was shifted to hold the office of assistant business manager. No reason for such action was given by the board.

The first issue will contain all business administration news of importance. News contributions are being made by both students and professors of that college.

Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business administration fraternities, and Chi Phi Theta, professional commerce sorority, are sponsoring the publication.

According to present plans, the publication is to be issued four times a year. No changes have been made in the editorial department of the new publication.

AT THE STUDIO.

Monday. Editorial staff Cornhusker, 12. Business staff Cornhusker, 12:15.

Tuesday. Bizad Ex. Board, 12. All seniors in military department, 12:15.

PRUCKA INJURES ARM AS HE LIFTS HEAVY DUMBBELL

Norman Prucka, who was confined in the Lincoln General hospital last Thursday morning with an infected arm is improving and expects to leave the hospital the first of the week. Prucka injured his arm lifting a dumbbell last Sunday. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

DR. TERRY TALKS TO TWO HUNDRED PEACE CONCLAVE

Representatives From All Nebraska Colleges Assemble.

NELSON IS CHAIRMAN

Formal Plenary Sessions Interspersed With Social Hours.

Discussing all of the phases of disarmament, two hundred representatives of the faculty and students in Nebraska colleges gathered for the first state wide student disarmament conference Saturday morning in Ellen Smith hall. Twelve delegates from Washburn college at Topeka, Kas. and from Kansas Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kas. were numbered among the convention members.

Dr. J. William Terry, managing editor of the League of Nations Chronicle, gave the opening address. He firstly demanded that sufficient intelligence be used to construct peace decently and fairly, and secondly that the right spirit of conciliation appear, and that the spirit of war be set aside. Then, he stated, there will be peace.

"The future of civilization is in the hands of the great international disarmament conference," declared Dr. Terry. "The enforcement of the decisions of the conference rests with the students in colleges today." With this Dr. Terry explained the purpose of the student conference and the necessity for student interest in the project.

Model Conference.

This student conference was organized as a model of the first general world disarmament conference which will be held Feb. 2, 1932, at Geneva, Switzerland. Official delegates from each of the Nebraska colleges took the part of one of the fifty great international powers which will be represented at the great conference. With all of the pomp and ceremony of the world meeting they defended the rights and viewpoints of their country. The purpose of the conference was to help students study and understand the principal problems that the world is facing at Geneva.

Berenice Hoffman, Lincoln, formally opened the conference at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Ellen Smith hall. Dr. Terry, taking the place of Clark Eichelberger who was formerly scheduled for the conference and un-

BEATS CYCLONES 23-0 TO LEAD SIX

Crowd of 15,000 Sees Huskers Win Big Six Title; Brown Gets First Touchdown With Eighty Yard Run; Paul, Masterson Score.

ENTIRE TEAM FUNCTIONS COMMENDABLY IN WIN

Koster, Bauer Make Extra Points; Cornhuskers Get 19 First Downs to Cyclones 5; Nebraska Line Shatters Iowa State Offense.

BY MURLIN SPENCER.

Big Six champions! A powerful, fighting, well-balanced Cornhusker eleven proved without a question of a doubt its right to a conference championship Saturday afternoon in Memorial stadium by soundly trouncing the Iowa State Cyclones 23 to 0. Starting with Brown's 80-yard run for a touchdown in the first period, the Huskers scored in each quarter of the game except the third and held the Cyclone running and passing attack to small gains in their own territory.

There were no outstanding stars in the Nebraska victory. It was a perfectly balanced, well-coached team that Dana X. Bible sent out on the field to turn back the Iowa State invasion. With a line functioning every minute, stopping the Cyclone running attack to a standstill and opening up huge holes on the offense, the Husker backs were given every opportunity to show their best and came thru in great shape. They hit their holes, kicking and backing up the line, backed up the line and broke up the Cyclone passing attack in a brilliant display of offensive and defensive power.

PITT GAME RALLY WILL BE HELD AT FIELD TOMORROW

Last Pep Gathering Will Send Team On Way to Panthers.

STARTS AT 5 O'CLOCK

Band Will Play as Students Honor Cornhuskers on Eve of Departure.

Sending the team away to its last regular schedule game of the season with Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving day, a sendoff rally will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at the south gate of the stadium, according to Art Mitchell, rally chairman.

The afternoon rally is made necessary, Mitchell explained, because the squad leaves early Tuesday morning for Pittsburgh.

At the pep session tomorrow afternoon, the group will form at the south pass gate of Memorial stadium, from where the band will lead a parade onto the field, honoring the team with yells and songs. As the team dashes off the field, the band will play the Cornhusker, according to rally plans.

Urges Attendance.

Urging the entire student body to attend this crucial gathering, Mitchell said: "Besides sending the team to Pittsburgh with the knowledge that the students are behind them, we owe to the whole squad an expression of appreciation for the smashing victory last Saturday, over Iowa State."

"We have the conference title now," he continued, "and we want to send the Huskers to Pittsburgh in a mood to show the easterners (Continued on Page 3.)"

Run Is High Point.

If one were to mention some of the high points of the game, Lewis Brown's 80 yard run for a touchdown would stand out. One might mention the work of Rhea, Ely, Koster and Justice on defense and offense; the work of Petz and Joy and Durkee at the ends. Paul's line smashing, Sauer's running, kicking and backing up the line, Roby's punting passes and running of the Iowa State ends; the pass receiving of Kreisinger and his blocking. Masterson's catch of a pass for a touchdown when surrounded by Cyclone backs and his kicking of the field goal were sensational. Koster dropping back from guard position to kick the extra point after Brown's touchdown. The low, hard hitting of Manley off the Iowa tackles, Bauer's passing. These were some of the points of the game that will long be remembered.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 attended the game. The university was host to some 4,000 Boy Scouts attending the state roundup here.

Huskers Take Offensive.

Nebraska took the offensive early in the game and seldom relinquished it. Iowa State devoted itself mainly to kicking, the strong north wind aiding Bowen in the first period. Nebraska took the ball on her 20-yard line after a Cyclone pass had gone over the goal line. Sauer hit the line for (Continued on Page 2.)

Gillespie Donates Cup to Pershing Rifle Organization

Claude Gillespie, major general of the national organization of Pershing Rifles and captain of the local company last year, has donated to the local organization a cup to be awarded each year to the man who has been the most outstanding to the company.

The cup was awarded for the first time last year. Art Pinkerton, first lieutenant of the company, was announced as the winner of the cup. He was selected by Gillespie after the records of the various men in the company had been checked.

At the first meeting of the company last fall, Gillespie outlined the plans for competition for the cup. He announced that the cup would be awarded at the end of the school year. It is to be kept by the winner for one year and then given to the winner for the next year.

Judged on Four Points.

The competition for the cup is divided into four classes. Each division is to count toward the final reckoning, and the man having the highest record at the end of the year is declared the winner. The captain of the company and the first sergeant help in the selection.

The four parts of the contest are: attendance; the appearance of the individual as to neatness of uniform and knowledge and performance of the drill; suggestions for plans that may be carried out by the company; and the grade on an examination given at the end of the year on knowledge of the organization, both nationally and locally.

"The results of engaging in this contest should be a benefit both to the individual members of the company and to the company as a whole thru the development of its members," Claude Gillespie, donor of the cup, declared.

M'GAFFIN RETURNS FROM MINNEAPOLIS

Says Sigma Delta Chi Meet Most Interesting One Ever Held.

The most interesting, profitable and entertaining convention ever held by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, was the seventeenth annual which closed in Minneapolis last Wednesday, according to William McGaffin, Nebraska delegate, on his arrival home early Friday morning.

A national honorary membership was conferred on Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, for his crusading journalistic work in the Mooney-Billings case. McGaffin was a member of the honors award committee which recommended Older to the convention.

McGaffin was also chairman of the constitution committee and led an attempt to secure a moratorium on the 1932 convention so as to give a breathing spell for chapters financially hard hit by hard business times. This failed, however, upon being put to vote of all the delegates.

Nebraska received honorable mention in the race for the F. W. Beckman Efficiency cup which was awarded the Iowa State chapter. This cup is awarded for excellence in journalistic activities, professional standards and relations with the national headquarters.

Students, Professors Plan Various Events Thanksgiving Day

By HOWARD AGE.

Thanksgiving draws near and students are planning numerous and different ways of spending the long looked-for holidays. This will be the first breathing spell of the semester, and with all the mid-semester over the tension has relaxed; with the result that thought has been given to ways and means of loafing through the four days of no classes.

Professor E. F. Schramm will conduct a field trip to Weeping Water. His Thanksgiving dinner will be eaten in a tent with wild turkey as the main dish. Professor Collins says that he will remain at home with lots of food, and hopes that he will be able to return on the following Monday.

Mr. Cuneo will not be able to go home until the school makes a special vacation of twenty-one days. The Argentine is a long way off. As it is he will wander over hill and dale, and stuff himself on Thursday. Professor Senning will not leave for Manchuria, because he knows that the weather will not be suitable.

One student was stopped in his progress towards class, and the question was put to him. And what do you think? We picked a lemon! He was going to stay in and study. But, oh well, there's one born every minute according to Barnum. The next person stopped handed out this answer, "I think that I shall get acquainted with all my teachers." Barnum was wrong! There must be two born every minute.

And so on down the line. Everything was handed out from apple sauce to coca-malt. But we had to grin and take it. A little blue-eyed blond told us that what she was going to do was none of our business. And of course that made us wonder wondering thoughts.

After staying up until midnight I think I'll spend my vacation sleeping.

FOOTBALL FANS PAY TRIBUTE TO ROCKNE

Band Forms 'R'; Heads Are Bared; Take Memorial Subscriptions.

As a tribute to the late Knute Rockne, Notre Dame mentor known as the man "who did more for football than any other person in the game's history," 15,000 people stood with bared heads while Nebraska's 130 piece R. O. T. C. band formed a huge "R" on the field and a bugler sounded taps.

Following a program which is being carried on thruout schools of the United States which have had athletic relations with Notre Dame subscriptions were taken from the fans during the Cyclone-Husker tilt. The funds are to be used to erect a memorial to Rockne.

The plans for obtaining the cash subscriptions to the "Rockne Memorial" were carried out under the direction of Prof. K. M. Arndt, Notre Dame alumnus. Prof. Arndt, assistant instructor of economics, was assisted in his plans by the Corn Cobs. They were stationed at each of the exits of the stadium to collect the envelopes which were passed out to the crowd by the subscription money was collected.

D. X. Bible, head football mentor, sponsored the collection of the funds. The Rockne Memorial, which will be built under the direction of Notre Dame alumni will probably be the erection of a new field house for the school, it was indicated Saturday.
