THIRTY-TWO TEAMS

Black Outlines Plans for High School Basket Competition.

MEET IS IN LINCOLN

Thirty-two teams from Neoraska high schools will compete in the annual state basketball tournament in Lincoln March 17, 18 and 19. Walter I. Black announced yesterday. Sixteen teams will be entered in both class A and class B. Last year only sixteen teams were allowed to compete in the tournament at Hastings, all in class A.

Coaches and member schools of the Nebraska High School Athletic association which sponsors the tournament each year, indicated in answer to a tournament question-naire that they favored the addi-tion of a class B tournament in the state finals. Consequently, in addition to the sixteen district elimination tournaments for class A teams, there will be thirty-two districts selected for elimination tournaments for class B teams.

High schools with enrollments of more than 100 are automati-cally included in class A, and schools with smaller enrollments may elect to enter class A competition if in the opinion of the board of control their season's record is of sufficient merit to justify their played for the most part by subentering the higher class. Other- stitutes, the regulars seeing only wise schools with an enrollment of twenty minutes of play. As a re-less than 100 will automatically sult the Coloradoans are in great compete in class B.

Fifty towns in Nebraska have portant game. already made application to the association to be chosen as district elimination tournament centers. Thirty-two of these towns will be chosen for class B tournaments which will be held Feb. 25, 26 and 27. Two class B teams from each district will then play for the right to enter the state tournament at the same time that the class A elimination tournaments are being held in the sixteen districts. March 3, 4 and 5.

Two Classes Compete.

Sixteen class A and sixteen class B teams will play for the state championship at Lincoln on March 17, 18 and 19. On the same dates will be held the state high school swimming tournaments and wrestling tournament. Both of these latter tournaments are new features and are open to any school which cares to enter. The new university swimming pool will be used for the swimming tournament.

In former years as many as fifteen classes were used in the state basketball tournament with perhaps 150 teams in competition for the state titles in the various classes. Last year for the first time, the preliminary district elimination tournaments were inaugurated and the state tournament limited to entries in the one class. Although another class is being added to the state tournament this year, the district elimination tournaments will continue to be held, thus sending to the state tournament only the best teams in the state yet giving the teams from the smaller schools an opportunity to win the class B tournament without having to compete with the larger schools of the state.

lace are the accents. Another warm red of Spanish suggestion will be seen in Margaret Mackeknie's evening frock. It is cut on diagonal lines and has an extremely full flounce at the hemline. With it she will wear pearls and slippers of white and silver. Tomato red is the color of Alice Krapp's gown, which has rhine-stone straps and buckle. The rhinestones will be repeated in her earrings and the red in her crepe slippers.

Taffetta in a dark wine red tone fashions Gwedolyn Hager's dress, which boasts quaint puffed sleeves and the suggestion of a bustle. Miss Hager will wear black kid gloves, a wine red crepe slippers, and no jewelry. Grace Nichols has chosen a frock of American beauty velvet made along Gretcian lines with a very full skirt. The shoulder straps are gathered and the neckline pointed front and back White kid gloves and gold brock-aded slippers complete her outfit. Cerise taffetta is Dorothy Ram-say's quaint dress, which has a bustle effect in back and two very deep ruffles at the hemline. With it she will wear long brilliant earrings, black and silver moire slip-pers and long black kid gloves.

CHURCH LAYS PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS FETE

Methodists to Hear Bishop Leete of Omaha at Dinner Dec. 10.

Arrangements for the annual Christmas dinner for Methodists students have been completed by the student council of that organization, it was announced yesterday. The dinner will be held at the Grace church Dec. 10 at 6:15 o'clock. At the meeting of the council on Friday of this week Norman Peters, president, will ap-point a committee to work on the details of the party.

There is unusual interest in the party this year as Bishop Fred-erick D. Leete, of Omaha, will be the speaker. He will bring a Christmas message to the pastors of the city and faculty members Parsonage. Reservations must be made in advance.

THREE GRAPPLERS RETURN

Team Around Shirley, Adam, Heady.

Nebraska will have three veterans back when the first wrestling practice of the year gets under way Monday afternoon in the coliseum. Jerry Adams, Don Shirley and Glenn Heady are the returning men around whom Coach Kellogg will build his 1931 wrestling team.

Coach Kellogg urges that a large number of men turn out for this sport in order to furnish plenty of competition for the remaining open places.

Other men who are considered as likely candidates for the team are Burnett, Bishop and McPher-
