

SCARLET ELEVEN WINDS UP YEAR'S DRILL THURSDAY

Final Practice Prepares Squad for Charity Mix Saturday.

SENIORS WILL START

Men Winding Up Careers to Open Fray Against Aggie Men.

The Cornhuskers took their last practice of the year Thursday night in final preparation for the charity game with Colorado Aggies at Denver Saturday. The practice was one of the best this year and promises effective results in the coming game.

Coach Dana X. Bible put his men thru a drill on offense which was composed mostly of kicking and passing practice. Sauer, Masterson, and Kreizinger were throwing the ball and the ends were doing their part almost to perfection.

The varsity squad was divided they meet the Colorado Aggies in the charity game at Denver tomorrow will be the eleven senior men shown above.

Harold Petz, Nelson, has alternated at end with Joy there this year. Clarence Nelson, a letterman from last year's squad, suffered a broken wrist early this year and this kept him out of varsity games. He is from York. Jim Gilbert, hard charging tackle, is another man who will not be back next year. An Omaha boy, he has played three seasons with the Biblemen and received berths on a number of all-conference selections.

One of the seniors whose loss will be heaviest to the Huskers is Hugh Rhea. Rhea has played three years at Nebraska. For two years he has been the outstanding lineman in the Big Six conference and last year was placed on several all-American teams. He is considered one of the great tackles in Cornhusker history. George Koster, all-conference guard, is one of the reasons why Nebraska has taken the Big Six championship twice during the three years he has been here. He was a Lincoln high footballer before coming to the university. Co-starting at guard with Koster has been Chick Justice, Grand Island. Justice is one of the most dependable of Bible's forwards, few gains being registered through his part of the line.

Everett Kreizinger, of Bellwood, a fine all-around back is completing his football career at Nebraska. "Kritz" has plenty of spirit as well as ground gaining ability. He has played a large part in Nebraska's successful season this year and will be missed when Bible makes up his backfield next year.

Lewis Brown, winner of the hero of the Kaggie game at Manhattan this year and started the touchdown parade that sent Nebraska over the Cyclones. Although small, Brown has made up for it in fight and speed. He is a quarterback.

A former Fremont high school star, Marvin Paul will tomorrow complete his best season with Nebraska. He starred in the Iowa University game. He will play his final game at halfback tomorrow.

Jerry Adam, guard, comes from Plattsmouth. Adam is light for a guard but is a hard fighter and never tires. He showed up well against Northwestern and Iowa State games.

Bob Manley is closing his career at the quarterback post. Bob is a fast man, a good drop kicker and did some nice running thru the line in the Cyclone game.

COLORADO U HOCKEY TEAM BEATS HUSKERS

Local Faculty Women Lose By 50-3 Score in Tilt At Boulder.

The women's hockey team of the University of Colorado defeated the Nebraska team 50 to 3 in a game played Nov. 27 at Boulder, Colo. Both teams were composed of faculty members and graduate students.

Presence of two all-American hockey players on the Colorado team plus the effect the great change in altitude had on the Nebraska women, gave the Colorado players a distinct edge over Nebraska, but the game was fast and hard fought from the beginning to the final whistle.

Miss Kerstin Thorin, of the Nebraska team, expressed the hope that the precedent established by this game will arouse more enthusiasm for hockey in the middle west, and that women west of the Mississippi will become as "hockey minded" as women in the east. The Nebraska players were guests in private homes during their sojourn at Boulder, and were entertained at numerous social functions.

into two teams for the practice, and both when sent against the frosh and nubbins showed plenty of fight and much more speed than usual. Kicks and passes were quicker, charging and blocking was faster and harder, and the general functioning of the team was with exact precision.

Veterans in Lineup.

Because of the scarcity of opposition for the varsity, those freshmen and nubbins present for practice were combined into one team. On the first varsity team to oppose them with numerous and diverse passes were Nelson, Paul, Kreizinger, and Penny, backs; Petz and Durkee, ends; Gilbert and McPherson, tackles; Adam and Justice, guards; and Ely, center. Brown alternated with Manley at the quarterback position.

Alternating with the above team in a pass completing contest was a team composed of Mathis, Masterson, Sauer, and Boswell, backs; Nesmith and Joy, ends; Hulbert and Holmbeck, tackles; Bishop and DeBus, guards; and Campbell, center. Mathis and Miller changed at calling signals and both were used to nab short passes over the line.

FOURTEEN WILL BOX IN COLISEUM SHOW

Seven Bouts Scheduled for Ring Exhibition on Saturday.

DECIDES HUSKER TEAM

Seven bouts will feature the boxing exhibition at the Coliseum Saturday, Dec. 5, at 3:00 o'clock. The results of the matches will decide the men to represent Nebraska at the A. A. U. boxing tournament at Omaha Dec. 11. It was announced by Rudy Vogeler, boxing coach yesterday.

Several of the men fighting have already been seen in action by Nebraska fight fans when the all-university tournament was held last spring, and if their work then was any indication, the fights this week should be good.

The fights will be held in the basement ring of the coliseum. All students will be admitted on presentation of their identification cards and 25c. An admission price of 50c will be charged all others.

Following is the schedule of bouts:

Bout 1. Foland or Kinoshita vs. Heady.
