THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Station A, Lincoln, Nebraska OFFICIAL STUDENT PUBLICATION UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday mornings during the academic year.

THIRTY-FIRST YEAR Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under act of congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103 act of October 3, 1917, authorized January 20, 1922. Under direction of the Student Publication Board SUBSCRIPTION RATE

$2 a year Single Copy 5 cents $1.25 a semester $3 a year mailed $1.75 a semester mailed Editorial Office—University Hall 4.
Business Office—University Hall 4A.

Telephones-Chy: B-6891; Night: B-6882, B-3333 (Journal)
Ask for Jebraskan editor.

EDITORIAL STAFF

MANAGING EDITORS

Evelyn Simpson..... Art Wolf Noward Allaway Jack Erickson
Laurence Hall Joe Miller
Murlin Spencer Sports Editor
Berenlece Hoffman Women's Editor

BUSINESS STAFF Jack Thompson...... Business Manager ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

The College Boy Grows Up.

Now that the football season is over and such things would be diesovered the rallies have been laid aside for a while, we discover some things that may or may not be attend rallies any more, or, if they do atterd. they are not inclined to jump up and down and otherwise whoop up the affair.

To anyone who has had the pleasure of making arrangements for a rally this lack of enthusiasm is conspicuous. Graduates come back and are rather disappointed because of this. They say that the students used to come to pep demonstrations in great hordes and at have changed; it is difficult now to get crowds to attend the rallies, and it is stil more difficult to get any display of emotion out of those who do attend . And needless to say the decline of the rally has been lamented by most everyone, even tho most of those who mourn the most are least concerned with what happens. It is said that the football team needs support in the form of student euthusiasm; that the glory of the alma' mater is at stake at every gridiron encounter, and thus it is Implied that students who fail to take active part in the rally are showing their disinterest in the school.

Regardless of how much dismayed the football enthusiasts have become as a result of this situation, the condition gets worse every year it seems. Harvard has abolished the pep meeting as too juvenile for the Harvard intelligence, and in general we note that college yells and demonstrations are becoming a little more conservative in recent years. The goofy, meaningless words such as "Boomalatcha," silly phrases like "Strawberry shortcake blue berrie pie," have become less popular except in high schools.

This apparent sophistication of the undergraduate students; this unwillingness to fly into a frenzy and a series of wierd demonstrations at the command of a cheer leader, indicates a greater stability of mind, a more ma-Some folks who have never been to college have the idea that college students are a bunch of willy-nillies who on the slightest provocation will form into mobs and yell and holler like a tribe of savages doing a religious dance. If this was ever true the time is past now. And if anybody wants to bring back to good old days when college boys were really boys, we sincerely hope that he fails in his underremain "kids" all thru their college days.

university in the country are taught to students of education at New York university.

Mythical

Teams Are a Myth.

The season on All-American football players is drawing to a close. The curtain on the annual farce is lowering slowly and only a few ambitious reporters have yet to name their been filled with All-American teams, All-Conference teams, All-Sectional teams-even All-High Schoool teams. Even the best and worst All-All teams.

ance of their own teams crashed through the received from their team mates they would Coe drew a crowd of only one hundred or so. probably be just as mediocre as the men who are never mentioned. after college? A glimpse at the ranks of the gies have 400 at their Forums regularly. professional footballers does not disclose them from small colleges who are never even seen your thinking apparatus going?

by the writers and pickers of All teams. The classic example of Walter Camp's se- erland, is to talk on "Europe Today." lection of Vic Halligan as a stellar tackle you will get out in time for your one o'clock. from Nebraska a year after Halligan's gradu- Get your ticket at the Y. M. or the Y. W. ation has often been cited. There is no illustra- and bring a half a dozen of your clan along tion anywhere, which demonstrates better how with you. pitifully little these All selections mean. Sport writers and coaches have no possible chance of seeing all the players in action in a season BLUE PRINT ISSUE TO and must take the word of other men for the player's abilities.

Often times the writer may like a player's name, or he may be selected because of ballyhoo from the school for which he plays. At any rate nine times out of ten the best players are missed and the ones who are selected are the ones that had the good fortune to have an All-picker see him in action.

Probably the best plan would be to not select them but that would be like trying to make water run up hill. All-All teams will undoubtedly be inflicted upon us for many years to come and we will have to grin and Love, intoxication and faculty intelligence trol," by William Norris, senior in are the reasons for freshmen flunking out of the College of Electrical Engineerschool, says a dean at Nebraska University .-The Pennsylvanian .

That's my tailcoat and I'll stick to it, said the man in the full dress suit.

A Change of Attitude Is Needed.

The discovery last week that someone had been elipping out of the encyclopedias in the library is not in the least surprising, when it tained in the December Blue Print. is considered how general is the disrespect of This is a story of the development the average person nowadays for public prop-erty and the property of others. Perhaps if more of the reference books were inspected more of the reference books were inspected, competition. According to Coffee's and particularly some of the magazines which article, the Schneider cup competes ore not supposed to be clipped from, more

Just what makes people think that they have can look back over the situation and perhaps a right to destroy or mutilate property which is not their own, is a difficult question to anto our liking. It has been admitted by most swer. The condition may not be any worse college folks that interest in pep manifestations now than in previous years, but it certainly is gradually fading out; students either do not is conspicuous at the present time. Also, along the same line we find men in public offices or employed by the government who are wasteful with public funds and who are guilty of gross mismanagement of public affairs.

There is not much we can do about it, of course. Closer supervision is not convenient or practical, and we must have public property. All that anyone can do is to attempt to create a different frame of mind either by the command of the yell leader would whoop a process of education from childhood up or and howl themselves into a frenzy. But times by some other method. At any rate a change of attitude must take place, and perhaps while we are changing attitudes, we can get rid of some of the greed and hoggishness which is back of all our graft and racketeering.

> University of Idaho girls say they "don't get 50 cents worth of pleasure in sitting next to God's great gift to Idaho women" and would rather "go to the show with my roommate" than share expenses.

> If Clara Bow had been married several years sooner she could have had a lot more publicity out of the affair, and think of all the publicity a divorce would have brought.

MORNING MAIL

The World Forum.

and TO THE EDITOR:

Edna Ferber, in a recent interview, stated rated by other studies that the most striking difference between Eu- ties have a real vocational signifiropean and American college students is the contrast in their interest in national and in- dent life deserves more consideraternational problems. One of her recent ar- tion from university authorities ticles tells of a French boy's dismay and disappointment in an American cousin whom he had come to visit, who had no apparent interest ture nature which is certainly to be desired. in the social and political problems that affect consider extra-curricular activities

Before coming to school here, I assumed that the future leaders in this and other schools 63.6 percent of the alumni consider had such an interest. However I found that that extra-curricular activities most everybody was so occupied with social and scholastic interests that little that or in- same amount of time. terest was wasted on discussing and thinking At the conclusion of the report on these subjects.

I don't want to give the impression that taking. This apparent sophistication may be one should think on these subjects because it nothing but sheer laziness and indifference, but is his duty as a future citizen of this great turns gathered in this comprehenit feels good to think that young folks are and influential country. I think that one sive survey hung together with recoming out of their childishness and do not should think and confab on these things beshould think and confab on these things be-cause a person with brains can get a great cational values inhering in and ackick out of it, and because all these things, cruing from extra-curricular activalthe seemingly remote have a great influence ities. It seems likely that extra-Lessons in the alma mater songs of every altho seemingly remote have a great influence on our present and future life.

> won't it continue to become more and more of recognized in 'the great society' a joke if general interest in government by as an attribute of vast importthe intellectuals of the country continues to ance." dwindle?

About the only live group on the campus which leads thought along these lines is the World Forum. The World Forum meets once a week-every Wednesday noon, at the Grand favorites. For two weeks sport columns have Hotel. You get a dandy meal for a quarter and listen to some speaker who really has something to say. The Forum has dealt with foreign problems so far; first with Russia, in of the current humor publications pick their which everyone is interested and prejudiced these days, (prejudiced in one war on an-And after the teams are chosen what have other) and more recently with world peace and yout Eleven individuals, who with the assist- disarmament. There have been dandy speakers, including Martin, a Russian student here, gates to glory after a fashion. The eleven Stoke, Fedde and Le Rossignol, university promen who are chosen would probably be the fessors, and William J. Terry, an international bane of any coach's existence. As individual authority on world peace. The prize speaker stars on their own teams they are very prob- so far has been George Albert Coe, considered ably excellent football players but with an- by Dr. Patterson "one of the outstanding men other team and with other than the support in the field of education today." Yet Dr.

What the heck is the matter with this school? Are we too petty and superficial to And how many All players reach the heights bother ourselves with such things? The Kag-

Let's snap out of it! Aren't you interested in any great numbers. The shining stars of enough to spend the neon hour that you waste those teams are more often than not players anyway in absorbing some sparks that will set

This week Bishop Nuelsen of Geneva, Switz-

A FRESHMAN.

APPEAR NEAR DEC. 15

Number Feature Articles On Radio Patrol and Speed in Air.

Jerry Briggs, editor of the Blue Print, stated that the engineer's publication would appear about Dec. 15. The December issue will contain several articles of unusual interest, according to Mr. Briggs. This number features an article entitled "Uncle Sam's Ether Pa-

ing. His story describes the equipment and operation of the fre-quency monitaring station near Grand Island which is operated by the federal radio commission. This station measures the frequency and wave length of radio stations all over the world to see that each one is operating on its assigned wave length and frequency.

John T. Coffee, sophomore in the College of Mechanical Engineering, is the author of "Speed and Power another article conin the Air," have furnished the main incentive for the aggressive development of high speed planes.

CHAPIN REPORT SHOWS ACTIVITY OF STUDENTS HIGH

(Continued from Page 1.) vey attempted to trace the corresponding intensiveness of his activity by finding out how many committees he served on and how many offices he held at the same

The conclusion to which this tabulation lead is that the more active a student leader is in campus activities, the more intensive becomes his activity in them.

One of the most interesting division of the study related to the carry-over from student activities into alumni community activities. This part of the study was based upon the returns of 241 alumni who had been very active as stu-dents in extra-curricular activities and organizations, and 167 alumni who had not been so active as students. In both groups the returns came from men and women who had been graduated ten to fifteen years before.

In general, the active group showed a more substantial carryover to adult activity in each spe-cific type than the less active group. Commenting on this result, the author made the following statement: "It seems probable that the greater activity of senior college students previously noted is not wholly the result of academic survival, but is in some measures an indication of social ability or the acquisition by experience and training of participating habits, as well as in part due to the greater opportunities for activity in the senior college."

"If this conclusion is corroboclear that extra-curricular activicance and that this aspect of stuthan it has previously received.

It is perhaps significant that 38 percent of the alumni who replied to the questionnaire sent to them work; 25.6 percent consider them of equal value. In other words, have equal or more value than classroom work that requires the of the survey, Professor Chapin makes this statement: "It is worth pointing out that the results of our various attempts to analyze the remarkable cogency and all seem to curricular activities serve a real function in developing that social Isn't democracy getting to be a joke? And intelligence which has long been

THE BIG GIFT STORE

1123 O St., Lincoln Invites You to Inspect

their showing of useful Christmas Gifts-gifts the recipient will keep and cher-

Special Attention

is drawn to our Complete showing of Ladies' and Gentlemen's

Elgin Wrist Watches, Diamonds, Fine Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware, Hand Tooled Leather Goods, Stationery in Gift Boxes, Fountain Pens. Desk Sets, Brass and Copper

Goods. Christmas Greeting Cards Come in and let us show you our beautiful gift things.

1123 O Street

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Tuesday, Dec. 8.

Pi Lambda Theta, 7:30, home of Minnie Schlichting, 1401 So. 11th. Kosmet Klub at 5 o'clock in Interfraternity council meeting at 7:30, room 9, Morrill hall.

Wednesday.

A. W. S. board meeting at 12 o'clock in A. W. S. office in Ellen Smith hall. Lutheran Bible League, Temple, W. A. A. executive council meetng at 12 o'clock in Armory. Dramatic club, 7:30.

TUITION AWARDS BY DECEMBER 16 (Continued from Page 1.)

states were awarded the scholar-

Consult Deans.

MUST FILE FOR

Ten students in ag college received scholarships, twenty-one in the college of arts and sciences, eight in the school of fine arts, three in the school of journalism, thirteen in the college of business administration, nineteen in teachers college, twelve in the college of

Meeting of Pershing

Rifles Called Today Pershing Rifles will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Ne-braska hall. All members and actives and pledges are to be present. J. K. M'GEACHIN.

the deans or directors of their colleges or schools. Forms for makfrom the deans and directors or from the office of the dean of student affairs. The wish has been expressed through the dean's office that a representative number of students apply for these scholarships in order that the best possible awards may be made. All applications must be filed with the deans or directors by the sixteenth of this month, with the exception of the college of engineering students, who do not need to make application until the twentieth.

ARTISTS PROGRAM PLANNED

Chenoweth, Mrs. Schaefer Feature Convocation Tuesday.

Wilbur Chenoweth, pianist, and engineering, two in pharmacy, and Laura de Wilmar, dramatic sotwenty-two law college students prano, will be featured on the pro-were awarded scholarships. Students interested in these cation which will be held at the scholarships should consult with Temple theater at 4 o'clock this afternoon. This will be one of the series of convocations presented by the university school of music

Mr. Chenoweth will play Brahm's "Sonata, Op. 5," "Allegro Maesto," "Andante, Scherzo," and Chenoweth will these compositions of his own: "Waltz Caprice," "Nocturne," and 'A Frog He Would A Wooing Go." Madame de Vilmer chose as her numbers: "Spiage Amate," by Gluck: "L'Ultima," by Tosti; "Si Mes Vers Avient des Ailes," by Hahn, and "Pleurez Mes Yeux," an ing applications may be secured aria from Massanet's "Le Cid." aria from Massing, Hildach's, "Der She will also sing, Hildach's, "Der Lentz" Roger's, "The Star," and Lentz," Roger's, "The Star," Manna Zucca's "I Love Life."

One Pair Gloves Cleaned FREE

With each dress sent to be cleaned and pressed during December-we will clean one pair of gloves

Modern Cleaners Soukup & Westover

Call F-2377

