SEVEN SELECTED FOR CORNHUSKER DEBATING TEAM

Second Semester Argument Squad Chosen After Tryout Meet.

LOCAL MEN ARE JUDGES

Two Nebraska and One Iowa Alumni Name Winners Thursday Night.

Seven students were successful Thursday night in the variety debate tryouts held under direction of Prof. H. A. White at University Hall 106. Of the seven, four are to serve as regulars on two teams while the remaining three will be utilized as alternates.

Those chosen are Byron Cherry, Cortland; Woodrow Magee, Lincoln; Earl Fishbaugh, Seward; and Orville Pierson, Omaha; Albert Seck, Creighton; Donald Shirley, Auburn, Ia.; and Cleo Lechlitter, Auburn, in the order given.

Judges were Lloyd C. Chapman, assistant city attorney; James C. McReynolds, attorney; and Lloyd S. Speer. The question was "Government Control of Industry."

These men will compose the variety squad for the second semester. Although only four get the regular team births, Professor White hopes to be able to use all the men chosen during the season's competition.

The entire schedule of contests for the semester has not been announced, but at least part of the meets will be out of town. The men chosen last night will make the trips, representing Nebraska against other schools. The probable schedule will carry the teams thru Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Missouri.

Others who tried out were Barton Baumman, Charles Hood, Clifford Conaway, and Harold Wynkoop.

BIZAD PUBLICATION APPEARS NEXT WEEK

News Will Be Distributed To Students, State High Schools.

PUBLISHED QUARTERLY

The first issue of the Bizad News will be distributed to all of the members of the business administration college Monday, Dec. 14. The publication will be distributed free of charge as it is supported solely by advertising.

This issue marks the first of a series of four issues that are to be published during this school year. In previous years there was only one issue during the year.

Copies of the Bizad News may be obtained on the first floor of social sciences or at Long's Bookstore. News, editorials and features of interest to business administration students will be the contents of the paper.

Over 100 copies will be sent out to high schools in the state to foster interest in the Business Administration school.

The paper will be printed on four pages with four columns to the page. The publication is sponsored by the publication board of the school of business administration and by Dean J. E. LeRossignol.

The staff of the Bizad News is as follows: Pierce Jones, editor; Paul Korff, associate editor; Melvin Adams, managing editor; Joe Shramek and Woodrow Magee, news editors; Business staff: Charles Skade, business manager; Milton Berkowitz and Caryle Benson, assistant business managers.

The advisory board consists of Keith Lightner, Bob Lau, Herman Seifkes and Ruth Shelburn. Faculty advisor is Prof. C. O. Swayzee.

Student organizations which sponsor the publication are: Delta Sigma Pi, Alpha Kappa Psi, Chi Phi Theta (women) and the Commercial club.

Wimberly's Work Draws Attention Of Many Critics

Defining his stories as "distinctive," "powerful," and "individual," critics throughout the United States have commented on the work of Lowry Charles Wimberly, professor of English in the University of Nebraska.

"White Man's Town," a recently written short story of Mr. Wimberly's, has been included in O'Brien's anthology, "The Best Short Stories of 1931." Reviewing O'Brien's collection, the New York Times, issue of Nov. 29, 1931, says: "On the whole—the average is high, and there are at least four stories of very real distinction; 'That Evening Sun, Goes Down,' by William Faulkner; 'White Man's Town,' by Lowry Charles Wimberly; 'Only We Are Barren,' by Alvah C. Bessie, and 'Fifteen from Company K,' by William March."

The December Forum reviews O'Brien's work and states, in like cadence, "The most powerful individual stories—those by William Faulkner, Morey Callaghan, Alvah C. Bessie, William March, Dorothy Farker and Lowry Charles Wimberly—are in the American Volume."

GLOVER GETS APPOINTMENT

Junior Chosen to Fill Post National Pershing Rifles Historian.

Appointment of Robert Glover, Omaha, a junior in the college of business administration, as national historian of Pershing Rifles, honorary military fraternity, was announced yesterday by Claude Gillespie, major general and national commander of the organization.

Glover has been actively connected with the organization for the past two years, and takes the place of Jack Houck, who was appointed national historian and later resigned because of outside interests demanding his time.

The appointment of Glover completes the selection of the national headquarters staff. Other members of the staff are E. Byron Hirst, national adjutant; and Dick Moran and Dan Easterday, clerks in the national office.

MORTAR BOARD SENDS INVITATIONS TO TEA

Bids for Sunday Fete Sent to 370 Sophomore and Junior Girls.

HONORS HIGH SCHOLARS

Three hundred seventy invitations were issued Thursday morning to sophomore and junior women by Mortar Board for a tea to be given Sunday from 3 until 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. The affair is honoring all sophomore and junior women who have an average of 80 percent or above, and who have no outstanding delinquencies on their scholastic records.

A program of music has been arranged for the afternoon by Aileen Neely. Members of Sigma Alpha Iota will perform. A trio composed of Ethel Amen, violin; Frances Morley, piano, and Garnete Mayhew, cello, will play several groups of selections. Helen Stowell, soprano, Audrey Reed, contralto, and Paige Crawford, soprano, will sing at intervals.

A Christmas motif will prevail in the decorations of the drawing room and court. Palms, ferns and potted plants will bank the fireplace in the court. Poinsettias and tall red tapers tied with green tulle will make the tea table attractive. Tapers will light the drawing room which will be decorated with Christmas flowers.

In the receiving line to greet the guests will be Mrs. F. D. Coleman, national president of Mortar Board; Miss Amanda H. Heppner, dean of women, and Jean Rathburn, president of the active chapter. Members of the active chapter will preside as hostesses in the drawing room.

During the first hour Miss Elsie Ford Piper and Miss Mabel Lee will pour, and Miss Florence McGahey and Miss Pauline Gellatly will serve the guests during the last hour. Active members of Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen women, sponsored by Mortar Board, will serve.

NEW BOOKS RECEIVED BY CAMPUS LIBRARY

Volumes from Many Fields Are Now Available On Shelves.

A number of new books which range in content from writings on political science and economy to constitutional law, education and travel articles, have been received at the university library, according to Mrs. Consuelo S. Graham, circulation librarian.

For lovers of literature, the following books will prove interesting: "Five Masters," a study in the mutations of the novel, by J. W. Krutch; "The Coming Forth by Day of Osiris Jones," by Conrad Aiken; "Marlowe and His Circle," by F. S. Boas; "Translation, an Elizabethan Art," by F. O. Matthiessen; "Wordsworth, the Clark Lectures," by H. E. Read; "The Life and Times of Colley Cibber," by F. Dorothy Senior; "The Elizabethan Hamlet," by John Corbin; "Keats's View of Poetry," by T. S. Eliot; "The Tale of Terror," by Edith Birkhead; "Poetry and the Criticism of Life," by H. W. Garrod; "The Vision Liber Veritatis," by William Beckford; "The Squire's Daughter," by F. M. ### Value of Good Grades Is Discussed by Romance Languages Head.

Ida Sommer of Stanton, sophomore, Margaret Upson of Odell, junior, and Mrs. Harriet R. Zink of Lincoln, senior, were awarded scholarship pins at the Panhellenic convocation Thursday afternoon for having the highest averages in their respective classes during last year.

Miss Sommer had a general average of 95.47 and a weighted average of 97.47 as she was carrying thirty-four hours. Miss Upson scored a general average of 90.83 and a weighted average of 93.83 since she was carrying thirty-six hours. Mrs. Zink topped her classes with a general average of 92.91 and a weighted average of 94.41 because she carried thirty-three hours during her junior year.

Awards were made by Julia Simanek, president of student Panhellenic, at the scholarship convocation Thursday in Ellen Smith hall. Prior to the announcement, Miss Clara Conklin, chairman of the romance language department, spoke on "Fruits of Scholarship." Mrs. F. D. Coleman, national president of Mortar Board, also stressed the value of fine scholarship in college educations and urged women to aspire to it.

Gerayne Crawford opened the program with a saxophone solo which Marie Hanson accompanied at the piano. During the social hour which followed the meeting, Elaine Nichols sang.

Ruth Fox was chairman of the serving committee; Ruth Shelburn, refreshments; Mildred Dole, music; Mary Sutton, publicity; Mary Alice Kelley, invitations and Margaret Upson, hostess, Miss Jean was assistant hostess.

FIVE HUNDRED GRID TICKETS EXCHANGED

Selleck Urges Students Avoid Final Rush Saturday.

Five hundred athletic tickets have been exchanged for season basketball tickets at the student activities office, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon. Tickets will be for the remainder of the athletic season. Identification cards must be presented when tickets are exchanged.

"Those who want to exchange their football stubs for the season athletic books had better do so before the Saturday night rush," John K. Selleck, director of student activities, said.

General public admission tickets may also be secured at the office for the price of $4.50. Individual reserved seat tickets are available at $1 per game, and public general admission tickets will sell for fifty cents.

The first game of the season will be with South Dakota team Saturday evening in the coliseum. Tickets must be exchanged for the game.

Pershing Rifles to Give Annual Spelling Medals

The awarding of annual medals to members of Pershing Rifles rating the highest in the spell-downs held regularly by the organization, was decided upon at the meeting of the group Tuesday evening.

Y. W. C. A. SELLS WREATHS

Conference Staff Earns Money to Finance Delegates.

Christmas wreaths of pine, arbor vita, holly and cedar are being sold by the Y. W. C. A. conference staff, under the leadership of Gertrude Clarke. Over 150 wreaths have been sold and, according to Miss Clarke, they are confident of raising the sales to 400.

"Each member of the staff," she said, "heads a committee of five girls, so there are sixty girls altogether working in the campaign."

The proceeds of the sale will be used to send delegates to the Y. W. C. A. national convention which will be held this year at Minneapolis, and to the YM-YW student regional conference which takes place every summer at Estes park.

NEBRASKA STUDENTS WRITE FOR MAGAZINE

Theta Sigma Phi Publication Prints Two Articles by Girl Journalists.

TELL OF LINCOLN PEOPLE

Two University of Nebraska journalism seniors, Bereneice Hoffman and Roseline Pizer have articles in the December issue of the Matrix, official publication of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism fraternity.

Miss Hoffman's contribution, "Murders Are Her Specialty," is the lead article of the magazine. The subject of Miss Pizer's article is "The Prairie Schooner," describing that magazine and the work of Prof. Lowry C. Wimberly as editor of the literary publication.

The author of the lead article is women's editor of the Daily Nebraskan, a member of Theta Sigma Phi, Mortar Board, senior girls' honorary, and is an initiate of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Her sketch deals with Mignon Good Eberhart, mystery story writer and former University Place resident. At present Mrs. Eberhart is in Europe writing another book. Some of her best known works include "The Patient in Room 18," and "While the Patient Slept."

Mrs. Eberhart, according to the magazine story, had never written for publication before her marriage but the words of the biographer, "a ream of typing paper went into her trunk along with her trousseau and three days after she ceased being Mignon Good she had started to use it."

Miss Pizer's article describes the status of Nebraska's best known literary magazine, and in an interview with Professor-Editor Wimberly, the future plans and aims of two Nebraska university graduates, Naomi Buck and Frances Holyoke are on the editorial staff of the Matrix, serving as editor and associate editor, respectively. Both, in their undergraduate days, were prominently connected with campus activities.

REPORT ON THAYER COUNTY

Bulletin Published on Soil And Water Conditions Found There.

A comprehensive survey of the twenty-nine soils of Thayer county, including an interpretation of the same, is included in the soil survey report of that county which has just come from the press. It also includes information about the surveying of the county, something of its climate, agricultural history, statistics, and industries as well as a resume of the agricultural methods and practices of this county.

E. A. Nieschmidt was in charge of the party from the Nebraska soil survey department of the conservation and survey division, assisted by R. H. Lovald and R. L. Gemmell of the division, and R. C. Roberts, United States department of agriculture.

NOTED SCULPTOR SCORES AMERICA IN SPEECH HERE

Nation Has Contributed Nothing to World Culture, Says.

PIONEERS ARE LAUDED

Borglum Praises Political Freedom as Gift of Forefathers.

"America has made absolutely no contributions to the culture of the world," said Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, to a large audience which crowded gallery A of Morrill Hall last night. "It has made scarcely any contribution, he continued, to literature comparable to that of the Greeks or Elizabethans; no contributions to painting and very little in figure work."

"There is little or do drama," he went on, "in any of the art of this country." "It would seem that the soul of the American artist has not yet been awakened. However, something got into our forefathers, and in the youth of our nation a great contribution was made to civilization. They gave the world our political freedom."

Borglum then went on to explain the significance of the Mount Rushmore project upon which he is now engaged and which he termed, "a memorial dedicated to the shaping of the political unit known as the United States." Then he went on to say that on the mountain was depicted the four characters who were instrumental in shaping that unit. Those men, he explained, were Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt. The events which these men represent are the Declaration of Independence, the framing of the Constitution, the preservation of the Union, and the territorial developments made possible by the Panama canal.

NEWSPAPERMEN SPEAK AT SMOKER THURSDAY

Sigma Delta Chi Is Host Journalism School Students.

Approximately thirty-five members of the school of journalism heard talks by Lincoln newspaper men at a smoker held by Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, in the "N" club rooms in the coliseum last night.

The informal smoker, the first affair of its kind held this year, featured a talk by Walter Rundel, former student of the university and now manager of the Lincoln bureau of the United Press, national news gathering association.

Rundel, who has been with the United Press for two years, gave the undergraduate members of the school of journalism a sketch of the workings of a modern large press bureau, and advised a general university course for prospective newspapermen.

BAPTISTS ENTERTAIN NEEDY

Students Plan Christmas Party for Twenty Poor Children.

Twenty children from needy families will be entertained Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 by students at the First Baptist church. A Christmas tree, Santa Claus, games, presents, and lunch have been planned by the committee.

The children have been selected from five families in Lincoln who are known to be in financial need. One student from the group has been selected for each child and will bring a gift which will be useful and practical. All others attending will be charged for the lunch. A toy will be presented to each child.

This affair will take the place of the regular monthly party for the student group. All students are invited, according to Helen Dahlman, chairman of the committee.

ROUND ANNOUNCES AG MAGAZINE OUT SOON

December Countryman Will Feature Article by Salley Seeley.

KOZELKA DRAWS WORK

With all copy turned into the printers, the December issue of the Cornhusker Countryman will be ready for distribution about the middle of next week according to an announcement made this morning by Editor George Round. The December issue features hobbies of students and faculty members.

One feature of the Countryman is the story written about Miss Steele of the home economics department. Sally Seeley, the author, tells of Miss Steele's photography work and her paintings. The story is illustrated with a full column cut, showing Miss Steele at work in her studio.

Another feature article, written by Arthur Kozelka tells how Glenn Winne is working his way through school by operating a cafe near the college of agriculture. In the article Kozelka marvels at Winne's ambition and the fact that his grades are always far above the average. Kozelka has also contributed a full page drawing, depicting the dreams of vacation by the college student and those of his parent.

Round contributes story. Editor Round has written a story about a college of agriculture student, Duane Ayres, who worked his way through school and his actual expenditures were $1,902.44. Expenses of summer living were also included in the budget. Round compares Ayres to some of Horatio Alger's heroes in story books.

The December issue of the Countryman also prints a story written by Eva Buel telling of the unusual habit of Lois Turner in keeping close attention to the stock market quotations. A picture of Miss Turner also appears in the Countryman.

Winners in the Countryman essay contest will be announced in the December issue. Through the cooperation of Prof. R. T. Prescott of the English department the magazine has sponsored the contest this year. Cash prizes are being paid the winners. The winners (Continued on Page 4.)

Price Heusner, York, a senior at Swarthmore college, Swarthmore Penn., was one of the three students to be chosen from the middlewest to receive the Rhodes scholarship. Heusner was one of the two Nebraska candidates for this district which includes six states.

S. A. Benn, Minneapolis and Lynn Eyster of St. Paul were the other two to receive scholarships amounting to $2,000 annually for three years.

800 WOMEN WILL ATTEND COSTUME PARTY IN ARMORY

A. W. S. Giving Awards for High Grid Game Candy Sellers Tonight.

BEST GARBS WIN PRIZES

Judges to Decide Cleverest, Funniest, Prettiest Dresses Worn.

More than eight hundred women are expected to attend the annual Cornhusker girls' costume party given by the A. W. S.'s board in the Armory this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. A feature of the affair will be the awarding of prizes to W. A. A. salesmen who sold the most candy at the football games this fall. Bereneice Hoffman, president of the A. W. S. board, and Helen Baldwin will present the awards.

The awards to the two high sales girls will be an oil painting and a box of candy. The second, third and fourth prizes will be large boxes of candy. Six smaller awards will also be given.

Dorothy Weaver, last year's master of ceremonies, will act in that capacity again this year. She will introduce the different numbers of the program consisting of a dance by the members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma pony chorus, skit by the Tassels, songs by a trio composed of Zua Warner, Eleanor Burwell and Louise Correa, and a folk dance by Julienne Deetken and Charlotte Goodale. Helen Hampton and her orchestra will play for the dancing. The program was arranged by Aileen Neely.

DEADLINE NEARS FOR SCHOLARSHIP FILINGS

Students Must Apply for Second Semester by December 16.

Applications for tuition scholarships for the second semester, with the exception of those in the college of engineering, must be handed in to the heads of the various colleges and schools by Wednesday, Dec. 16, according to an announcement from the office of the dean of student affairs.

Applications for tuition scholarships in engineering college will be received until Dec. 20. Students interested in applying should consult with the deans or directors of their colleges or schools, the announcement said. Forms for making application may be secured from the offices of the deans or from the dean of student affairs.

Students, to be eligible for the awards must have at least sophomore standing in the university, should have made at least twenty-four hours during the two previous semesters with a weighted average of eighty percent, and must submit evidence of actual economic need.

The scholarships cover only course tuition fees and do not include nonresident fees. The recipient of a tuition scholarship must carry at least twelve hours during the semester for which the award is made. Otherwise the scholarship will be withdrawn.

Tuition scholarships were instituted three years ago by the university and are awarded upon the basis of scholarship and financial need. The general specifications established for the awarding were decided upon by a selected committee of university officials.
